(2) After such examination and check as may be made, such affidavit or a copy thereof, together with a report of any violation shall be transmitted to the U. S. Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with § 411.503 of this title.

(3) Each contractor or subcontractor shall preserve his weekly payroll records for a period of 3 years from date of completion of the contract. The payroll records shall set out accurately and completely the name, occupation, and hourly wage rate of each employee, hours worked by him during the payroll period, the full weekly wages earned by him, any deductions made from such weekly wages, and the actual weekly wages paid to him. Such payroll records shall be made available at all times for inspection by the Contracting Officer or his authorized representative (29 CFR 3.4 (b)).

(d) Authorized payroll deductions. (1) Deductions for the following purposes are permissible:

(i) Where required by Federal, State, or local statutes or ordinances to be made by the employer from the wages earned by the employee.

(ii) Bona fide prepayment of wages without discount or interest.

(iii) Deductions required by court process provided that the contractor or subcontractor will not be permitted to make such a deduction in favor of the contractor, subcontractor, or any affiliated person or where collusion or collaboration exists (29 CFR 3.5 (a)).

(2) Any deduction is also permissible which in fact meets the following standards and with respect to which the contractor or subcontractor shall have made written application by registered mail to the Secretary of Labor, a copy of which application shall be sent to the contracting agency by the contractor or subcontractor, setting forth all the pertinent facts indicating that such deductions will meet the following standards:

(i) That such deduction is not prohibited by other law.

(ii) That such deduction is (a) voluntarily consented to by the employee in writing and in advance of the period in which the work was done, and that consent to the deduction is not a condition either for the obtaining of or for the continuance of employment; or (b) that such deduction is for the benefit of the employees or their labor organization through which they are represented and is provided for in a bona fide collective bargaining agreement.

(iii) That from such deduction no payment is made to, nor profit or benefit is obtained directly or indirectly by the contractor or subcontractor or any affiliated person, and that no portion of the funds, whether in the form of a commission or otherwise, will be returned to the contractor or subcontractor or to any affiliated person.

(iv) That the convenience and interest of the employees are served thereby, and that such or similar deductions have been customary in this or comparable situations (29 CFR, 3.5 (b)).

(3) After application in good faith, the deduction may be made in accordance with the foregoing standards; provided, however, that if the Secretary of Labor, on his own motion, or on the application of any person or agency affected by the granting of the application, shall conclude at any time, after written notice to the applicant and an opportunity for him to present his views in support of the deduction, that the deduction has not met the foregoing standards, such deduction shall cease to be "permissible" 7 days after the applicant and the Federal agency concerned have been notified of the Secretary's decision.

(4) Upon application to and prior written permission from the Secretary of Labor, and subject to the standards set forth in subparagraph (2) (i), (ii), and (iv) of this paragraph, deductions may be made by a contractor or subcontractor or any affiliated person, for membership fees in group benefit or retirement associations; for board and lodging; or for other purposes where the Secretary of Labor concludes the deduction is required by compelling circumstances; provided, however, the contractor, subcontractor, or any affiliated person does not make a profit or benefit directly or indirectly from the deduction. A copy of the Secretary's decision shall be sent to the applicant and the Federal agency concerned (29 CFR, 3.5 (d)).

(5) In accordance with and subject to the standards set forth in subparagraph (2) (i) through (iv) of this paragraph, general permission is hereby granted to make payroll deductions for—

(i) The payment of the purchase price of United States Defense Stamps and Bonds and United States Tax Savings Notes.

(ii) The repayment of loans to or the purchase of shares in credit unions organized and operated in accordance with District of Columbia, Federal, or State credit union statutes.

(iii) Contributions to a Federal governmental or quasi-governmental agency.

(iv) The payment of dues or premiums to unaffiliated insurance companies or associations for medical or hospitalization insurance where the employer is not required by Federal, State or local laws to supply such insurance or benefits (29 CFR 3.5 (e)).

(6) In any case in which the employee does not have full and actual freedom of disposition of his wage payment, whether made in cash or by check, any restricted payment made to the employee is considered a deduction under the regulations in this part (29 CFR 3.5 (f)).

(7) Nothing herein shall be construed to permit any deduction which the contractor or subcontractor knew, or in the exercise of good faith should have known, did not meet the foregoing standards. In order to insure compliance with this part, the Secretary of Labor may notify the contractor or subcontractor that the deduction will be permitted only if certain conditions with respect thereto are observed. The contractor or subcontractor or any affiliated person shall also comply with such general rules and regulations concerning the deductions as the Secretary of Labor shall make from time to time, notice of which shall have been given to the contractor or subcontractor or any affiliated person making the deduction and to the Federal Agency concerned either directly or through publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER (29 CFR 3.5 (g)).

SUBPART F—WALSH-HEALY PUBLIC CONTRACTS ACT

§ 601.602 Applicability. Subpart F, Part 411 of this title, and this subpart are applicable only within the continental United States (the 48 States and the District of Columbia), its Territories (Alaska and Hawaii) and since November 1, 1950 Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

§ 601.603 Responsibilities of Contracting Officers—(a) Publications to be furnished Contracting Officers. The Secretary of Labor has published a document entitled "Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act, Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, October 1, 1945." This publication, as amended, contains a compilation of the text of the act, the regulations of the Secretary of Labor relating thereto, and pertinent rulings and interpretations. Amendments to this document are published from time to time. The Heads of the Procuring Activities are responsible for furnishing these publications to each of their Contracting Officers.

(b) Forms. By arrangement with the Department of Labor and based on the Procurement Action Reports (see § 590.804 (b)), submitted to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army, the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, will forward the necessary Department of Labor forms PC–12 (Rev. 3/49) and PC–13, (Rev. 1/50) to applicable contractors. It will, therefore, not be necessary for Contracting Officers to furnish such forms to applicable contractors. The Contracting Officer, when the Walsh-Healey Act is applicable, will submit to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, (Attn.: Chief, Current Procurement Branch) two additional copies of the Procurement Action Report as required by § 590.804 (b).

(c) Substitute procedure. The Department of Labor has agreed that for each unclassified or restricted procurement action having a value over $10,000 and subject to the Walsh-Healey Act, two additional copies of DD Form 350 will be prepared and forwarded with the original to the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4 (Attn.: Chief, Current Procurement Branch), who will transmit the pertinent parts thereof to the Department of Labor in lieu of Standard Form 99 (Notice of Award of Contract) which has superseded Labor Department Form PC–1. These additional copies will not be prepared for actions bearing a security classification higher than restricted.

(d) Report of violations of the act. Report of any violation of representations or stipulations required by the Walsh-Healey Act will be made through channels to The Judge Advocate General for transmission to the Department of Labor.

§ 601.650 Interpretations not found in publications forwarded contracting Officers. (a) It has been held that dry powdered whole milk and dry ice cream mix are perishable, except when packed with inert gas in hermetically sealed cans, and that these two products when packed with inert gas in hermetically sealed cans are not perishable.

(b) The Department of Labor, under date of April 11, 1947, amended section 40 (e) (1), page 25 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, October 1, 1945, with respect to coverage of truck drivers employed by oil dealers, to read as follows:

Where the contractor is a dealer, the act applies to employees at the central distributing plant, including warehousemen, compounders, and chemists testing the lot out of which the Government order is filled, the crews engaged in loading the materials in vessels, tank cars or tank wagons for shipment, and truck drivers engaged in the activities described in section 37 (m) above. However, the contractor is not required to show that the employees at the bulk stations, including truck drivers, are employed in accordance with the standards of the act. (Bulk stations as the term is used herein are intermediate points of storage between a central distributing plant and service stations.)

(c) The Department of Labor, effective September 17, 1948, added a new Article 105 (following Article 104) on page 56 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, reading as follows:

ARTICLE 105 (Protection against unintentional employment of underage minors). An employer shall not be deemed to have knowingly employed an underage minor in the performance of contracts subject to the Act if, during the period of the employment of such minor, the employer has on file an unexpired certificate of age issued and held pursuant to Regulations issued by the Secretary of Labor under section 3 (l) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (29 CFR, Part 401), showing that such minor is at least 16 years of age, if a male, or at least 18 years of age, if a female.

(d) The Department of Labor, effective September 17, 1948, amended paragraph (b) of Article 501 (Records of Employment) on page 56 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, to read as follows:

(b) Date of birth of each employee under 19 years of age; and if the employer has obtained a certificate of age as provided in Article 105, there shall also be recorded the title and address of the office issuing such certificate, the number of the certificate, if any, the date of its issuance and the name, address and date of birth of the minor, as the same appears on the certificate of age.

(e) The Department of Labor, under the date of October 15, 1948, amended the list of perishables contained in section 11 (h), page 7 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, so as to change the item of "Eggs, shell, frozen or dehydrated" to read "Eggs: shell, frozen; dried, powdered or dehydrated (except when packed with inert gas in hermetically sealed cans)." The amendment further adds to the list of nonperishables contained in section 11 (i), page 8 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3 the item: "Eggs: dried, powdered, or dehydrated when packed with inert gas in hermetically sealed cans."

(f) The Department of Labor, effective January 20, 1949, amended paragraph (b) of Article 101 (Manufacturer or Regular Dealer) beginning on page 54 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, by adding subparagraphs (5) and (6) reading as follows:

(5) A regular dealer in raw cotton may be a person who owns, operate or maintains a store, warehouse, or other place of business in which materials, supplies, articles or equipment of the general character described by the specifications and required under the contract are bought for the account of such persons and sold to the public in the usual course of business, and whose principal business is such purchase and sale of such materials, supplies, articles or equipment.

(6) A regular dealer in green coffee may be a person who owns, operates or maintains a store, warehouse, or other place of business in which materials, supplies, articles or equipment of the general character described by the specifications and required under the contract are bought for the account of such persons and sold to the public in the usual course of business, and whose principal business is such purchase and sale of such materials, supplies, articles or equipment.

(g) The Department of Labor, under date of March 15, 1949, has amended section 11 (h), page 7 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, by adding the commodity "edible tallow" to the list of perishables contained therein.

(h) The Department of Labor, under date of April 1, 1949, has amended the second paragraph of Article 103 (overtime), page 55 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3 to read as follows:

Until otherwise set by the Secretary of Labor the rate of pay for such overtime shall be one and one-half times the basic hourly rate received by the employee. The basic hourly rate shall be the quotient obtained by dividing the total compensation for the work week, less overtime premium, by the total number of hours worked for which such compensation is paid.

§ 601.651 Exceptions not stated in the publications furnished Contracting Officers. Certain of the exceptions stated in the publications furnished Contracting Officers which contain no specific expiration date may have been rescinded by the Secretary of Labor since date of publication. In case of doubt inquiry may be directed to the appropriate Regional Director, Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, indicated in § 601.655, or to The Judge Advocate General.

§ 601.652 Other information not found in publications furnished Contracting Officers. The administrative exemption contained in Article 603 (e), page 57 of Rulings and Interpretations No. 3, October 1, 1945, relating to contracts negotiated with States or Territories of the United States, or with corporations, commissions, or authorities wholly owned and controlled by such States or Territories, was rescinded by the Secretary of Labor on April 1, 1947.

§ 601.653 Procedure for obtaining exemptions with respect to stipulations required by the act. Section 6 of the act permits the Secretary of Labor to make exceptions to the requirement that the representations and stipulations of section 1 of the act be included in department proposals or contracts which are subject to the act.

(a) Requests for exceptions and review thereof. All requests of present or prospective contractors for exceptions under section 6 of the act will be addressed to the Head of the Procuring Activity concerned. Such requests will be in writing, and will be transmitted through the appropriate Contracting Officer, and will set forth all pertinent information, including the nature of the requested exception, the need therefor, and any action already taken by the contractor to avoid the necessity for the exception. The Contracting Officer will review each request received from a contractor for:

(1) The urgency of the particular procurement.

(2) The relation of existing production schedules to Army requirements.

(3) The relation of present and past deliveries to production schedules.

(4) The extent to which labor supply is a limiting factor in production and the reasons therefor.

(5) The steps, if any, which have been taken either by the contractor or by any government agency to resolve the labor supply problem.

(6) The extent to which factors inherent in the production processes involved necessitate the requested exception.

(7) The extent to which the productive capacity of the facility or facilities in question is being utilized for Army procurement; and

(8) Any other pertinent data.

(b) Consultation with regional directors, Department of Labor, and forwarding requests to Heads of Procuring Activities. (1) If the Contracting Officer believes that the requested exception is appropriate under the circumstances and necessary to meet vital procurement schedules,

(i) He will inform the appropriate regional director of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, United States Department of Labor, of the request for exception and the necessity therefor (a list of such regional directors is given in § 601.655).

(ii) After joint consideration with such regional director, the Contracting Officer, if still of the opinion that the requested exception is appropriate, will transmit the request, together with (a) his written recommendation relative thereto (b) a statement of all the information upon which the recommendation is based and (c) a recital of the steps taken in compliance with the procedure set forth in paragraph (a) of this section and this paragraph to the Head of the Procuring Activity concerned.

(2) This procedure of consulting with such regional directors will be complied with unless such compliance would result in undue delay. The Contracting Officer, in consulting with appropriate regional director, will furnish the Director any pertinent information in his possession which the Director may require for rendering a report in connection with the need for the exception to the Administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions.

(c) Review and processing of requests by Head of Procuring Activity. If the Head of the interested Procuring Activity concurs in the recommendation of the Contracting Officer, after review of the request and consideration as to whether the need for an exception can be avoided by utilization of alternative facilities, he will forward the request to The Judge Advocate General, through the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army (Attn.: Chief, Current Procurement Branch), together with:

(1) A statement of all pertinent data.

(2) His recommendation.

(3) A draft of a letter setting forth the need for the exception, addressed to the Secretary of Labor and prepared for the signature of the Secretary of the Army.

(4) Accompanying draft of a Findings of Fact as required by section 6 of the act, prepared for the signature of the Secretary of the Army.

§ 601.654 Lists of disqualified persons and firms. (a) This includes the list of—

(1) Persons or firms found by the Secretary of Labor to have breached or violated contractual representations and stipulations required by the Walsh-Healey Act, published by the Comptroller General.

(2) Persons and firms which have been held ineligible to be awarded contracts subject to the Walsh-Healey Act, published by the Department of Labor.

(b) These lists are prepared and issued, from time to time, by the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army (Chief, Current Procurement Branch), for the use and guidance of all interested agencies of the Department of the Army (§ 590.303 (d) of this chapter).

§ 601.656 Minimum wage determinations. The latest compilation of minimum wage determinations of the Secretary of Labor under the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act as set forth in 15 F. R. 4634, et seq., dated July 20, 1950.

SUBPART G—FAIR LABOR STANDARDS ACT OF 1938

§ 601.701 Basic statute. Section 6 (a) of the act requires every employer to pay to each of his employees "who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce" not less than 75 cents per hour. Section 7 (a) of the act prohibits every employer from employing any of his employees "who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce" for a workweek longer than 40 hours, unless such employee receives compensation for his employment in excess of such 40-hour workweek at a rate not less than one and one-half times the regular rate at which he is employed. The act is applicable within the United States, its territories and possessions. The United States Supreme Court also has ruled that the act is applicable to the Bermuda defense area leased to this country in 1940. The provisions of sections 6 and 7 of the act, however, do not apply with respect to certain categories of employees enumerated in the act, nor under certain circumstances also enumerated in the act.

§ 601.750 Regulations of the Administrator. The act provides that the Administrator shall by regulation define certain terms used in the act and may grant certain exemptions from its provisions. Regulations issued by the Administrator, as revised from time to time, should be consulted in these respects.

§ 601.751 Reimbursement of cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors for payments in accordance with the act. (a) Any employer who violates the provisions of sections 6 or 7 of the act is liable to the employee or employees affected in the amount of their unpaid minimum wages, or their unpaid overtime compensation, and may be liable in an additional equal amount as liquidated damages; and in the event the employee institutes suit therefor, the costs of the action and a reasonable attorney's fee as allowed by the court. Violations also may be restrained by injunction and may subject the employer to criminal penalties. In this connection, however, attention is invited to the Portal-to-Portal Act of 1947 (act of May 14, 1947; 29 U. S. C. 251) which limits the liability of an employer under certain circumstances.

(b) Determinations of the liability of the Government to reimburse contractors for any amounts paid in settlement of claims under the act will be made by the Head of the Procuring Activity after appropriate coordination with The Judge Advocate General. Attention is invited to the Comptroller General's decision of December 15, 1943 (B–38642, 23 Comp. Gen. 439) to the effect that amounts paid in settlement of such claims may be reimbursed even though the settlements necessitated a compromise of disputed questions of law or fact, provided that such settlements are in amounts less than the total amounts (including liquidated damages, court costs, and attorneys' fees) which would be required to be paid in the event the employee sued and obtained judgment and that it is administratively determined that the settlement in each instance was fully warranted as being in the best interest of the Government. Vouchers covering such payments should be supported by evidence setting forth the basis for such administrative determination and any questions of law with respect to the application of the act should be determined only after thorough consideration has been given the matter by competent Government attorneys and a showing to that effect should also be made a part of the evidence submitted with the vouchers.

§ 601.752 Investigations and inspections. (a) The act provides that each employer subject to the act must make and preserve certain records of the persons employed by him and of the wages, hours and other conditions and practices of employment maintained by him. The act also provides that the Administrator, or his designated representatives, may investigate and gather data regarding the wages, hours and other conditions and practices of employment in any industry subject to the act and may enter and inspect such places and such records, question such employees and investigate such facts, conditions, practices or matters as he may deem necessary or appropriate to determine whether any person has violated any provision of the act, or which may aid in the enforcement of the act.

(b) With respect to cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors, to the extent consistent with security and other regulations governing admission of visitors to plants and projects, representatives of the Administrator should be accorded access to the facilities and records of Army contractors for the purpose of making investigations to determine applicability of and compliance with the act. Investigations will be conducted at such time and in such manner as to interrupt or interfere least with operations. They should be confined whenever possible to the inspection of records in the office of the contractor. Inspections of the areas in the facility where construction or production is in progress will be held to a minimum. Necessary interviewing of employees should, whenever possible, be conducted outside work hours or at such other times as will interfere least with construction or production operations. The Administrator has stated that his investigators will advise cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors approximately one week before they plan to arrive at the project to make an investigation under the act.

(c) If the Administrator is of the opinion that any such investigation discloses violation of section 6 or 7 of the act he will transmit a report of the investigation to The Judge Advocate General who will transmit it to the appropriate Procuring Activity. The Head of the Procuring Activity will cause the matter to be examined and, if such examination confirms such violation, will advise the contractor to take appropriate steps to comply with the law. The Head of the Procuring Activity promptly will report to The Judge Advocate General as to his examination of the matter and as to the action taken. If the question as to whether a violation exists depends upon a construction of the provision of the act which has not been construed by the courts or by the Attorney General, The Judge Advocate General will be consulted as to the construction to be followed:

(d) Cost-plus-a-fixed-fee contractors and subcontractors should be advised that immediately upon receipt of process in any legal action filed against them they must furnish a copy of all papers to the Contracting Officer. The Contracting Officer will make immediate report of the legal action direct to The Judge Advocate General, Washington 25, D. C.

SUBPART H—NONDISCRIMINATION IN EMPLOYMENT

§ 601.801 Basic requirement. The requirement is applicable in the United States, its territories and possessions, except as indicated in § 601.850 (j).

§ 601.850 Interpretations of Executive Order 9346 by the Committee on Fair Employment Practice. Pursuant to the authority vested in it by Executive Order 9346, the Committee on Fair Employment Practice has issued the following interpretations under the Order (29 CFR, 1202.1):

(a) The words "all contracts hereafter negotiated or renegotiated" include all contracts made, amended or modified.

(b) A nondiscrimination provision is required in leases, grants or easements, rights of way, etc., to the same extent that it is required in other contracts.

(c) The obligation to include the nondiscrimination clause exists even though the contract involves non-war (or non-defense) activity.

(d) The obligation to include the nondiscrimination clause exists even though the contract is required to be awarded to the lowest bidder.

(e) The obligation to include the nondiscrimination clause exists even though the contract is between a Federal Government agency and a State agency or subdivision of a State.

(f) The obligation to include the nondiscrimination clause does not depend on the amount of money or other consideration involved in the performance of the contract.

(g) The nondiscrimination provision required does not refer to, extend to or cover the activities or business of the contractor which are not related to or involved in the performance of the contract entered into.

(h) Inclusion of a nondiscrimination provision is not required in contracts the performance of which does not involve the employment of persons.

(i) Inclusion of a nondiscrimination provision is not required in contracts with foreign contractors for work to be performed outside the continental or territorial limits of the United States where no recruitment of workers within the said limits of the United States is involved.

(j) The nondiscrimination clause is not required in contracts renewed pursuant to an option to renew, in accordance with the terms, conditions and provisions contained in the original contract.

(k) The requirement that parties to contracts with the Government of the United States (or agencies of said Government) include a nondiscrimination clause "in all subcontracts" is not applicable to lessors of space in buildings except in cases where the Government of the United States (or any agency thereof) is the only tenant involved, or unless a subcontract is entered into solely for the purpose of performing an obligation (or obligations) imposed by the Government lease.

(l) The requirement that parties to contracts with the Government of the United States (or agencies of said Government) include a nondiscrimination clause "in all subcontracts" is applicable only in those cases in which the subcontract is entered into solely for the purpose of enabling the prime contractor to fulfill an obligation (or obligations) imposed by the Government contract.

SUBPART I—EMPLOYMENT RESTRICTIONS FOR SECURITY PURPOSES

§ 601.950 Administration. Administrative implementation of the policy governing the security clearance of private contractor employees and industrial facilities is set forth in detail in SR 380–405–1 (special regulations governing security clearance of private contractor employees and industrial facilities).

DERIVATION: Army Procurement Procedure, March 15, 1951.

§ 602.000 Scope of part. This part applies to property provided by the Army Establishment for use by contractors in connection with military procurement.

§ 602.001 Policy. It is the policy of the Department of the Army that contractors will be required to furnish materials, special tooling, and industrial facilities, except that the Government may furnish such materials and industrial facilities when it is considered essential to meet necessary production or program schedules, or when otherwise considered to be in the best interest of the Government. When determined to be necessary or in the interest of national defense, the furnishing of materials, special tooling, and industrial facilities may be in the form of (a) Government property for incorporation in an end item, (b) for installation in the contractor's plant to aid in the production of supplies or services, (c) sales, gifts, and loans by the Army Establishment of property related to national defense, (d) sales of property by contractors, and (e) sale and/or exchange of property for like items. Paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will be furnished with appropriate reduction in contract price; paragraphs (c) and (d) of this section are authorized by appropriate statutes and utilized only when applicable; paragraph (e) of this section is authorized by P. L. 152, 81st Congress, and is utilized when in the best interests of the Government for replacement of items obsolete or in an unusable condition. As a general policy, available special tooling shall be furnished contractors only when such furnishing does not interfere with essential production or program schedules. This section will be subdivided in accordance with Part 412 of this title, and will be implemented from time to time for the inclusion of those provisions not included in this basic regulation. Until such time as Part 412 of this title, is published, existing regulations and implementing instructions contained in this Procedure will govern.

SUBPART A—GENERAL

§ 602.101 Definitions. As used in this part, the term in § 602.101–1 has the meaning stated therein.

§ 602.101–1 Contractor inventory. The term "contractor inventory" means (a) any property acquired by and in the possession of a contractor or subcontractor (including Government-furnished property) under a contract pursuant to the terms of which title is vested in the Government, and in excess of the amounts needed to complete full performance under the entire contract; and (b) any property which the Government is obligated or has the option to take over under any type of contract as a result either of any changes in the specifications or plans thereunder or of the termination of such contract (or subcontract thereunder), prior to completion of the work, for the convenience or at the option of the Government.

NOTE: The balance of this subpart will be published subsequent to the issuance of Part 412 of this title.

SUBPART B—MATERIAL

NOTE: To be issued subsequent to the publication of Part 412 of this title.

SUBPART C—SPECIAL TOOLING

NOTE: To be issued subsequent to the publication of Part 412 of this title.

SUBPART D—INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES

§ 602.400 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies governing industrial facilities provided by the Government for use by contractor in the performance of contracts for supplies or services.

§ 602.450 Contractor operated motor vehicles. Certain Government installations are being operated by private contractors who are given full operating control of the plant facilities, including vehicles, by the terms of their contracts with the Government. Vehicles which are thus operated by private contractors, but are owned by the Government, are classed as "Contractor Vehicles," in order to distinguish them from "Military Vehicles." The operation, maintenance, supply, and control of contractor vehicles are, by provisions of contract, in the hands of the private contractor, and fall within the category of Government-furnished property. The term "Contractor Vehicle" as used herein is defined as any vehicles, supplied under written contract to contractors, for use at Class II contractor-operated installations and other Government-owned Army Establishment controlled industrial facilities, and/or contractor-owned facilities under contract with the Army Establishment.

(a) It is the basic policy of the Department of the Army that contractors will, to the greatest practicable extent, procure their vehicles, fuels, lubricants, tires, and repair items in the open market. However, when necessary, Army Establishment items may be reclassified and supplied as Government-furnished property. Prior to the negotiation of contracts or amendments thereto, Contracting Officers will ascertain through their command channels probable availability of the necessary vehicles within the Army Establishment. Request for the furnishing of any of the items listed in this section will be made by the Contracting Officer, through channels to the appropriate supply source. Nothing in this section shall preclude a contractor from being reimbursed for such items which he may procure when properly allocable to the contract.

(b) When a standby industrial installation is reactivated and operated by a contractor under a contract, the terms of which require and authorize the furnishing of vehicles by the Government, the Army Commander shall transfer such vehicles as are on hand at the installation and which have been determined by the technical service concerned as suitable for the functions to be performed by the contractor. Vehicles transferred will be reclassified as Contractor Vehicles and transferred to the contract account as Government-furnished property. Vehicles which are not authorized under the terms of the contract or are not suitable for use thereunder will be declared excess to the needs of the installation and returned to appropriate supply channels.

(c) When an industrial installation is placed in a stand-by status the owning technical service shall prepare and furnish the Army Commander a list of the vehicles at the installation which are necessary to its operational activities and which should not be removed or replaced unless authorized by the technical service concerned. The disposition of all other vehicles which have not been included in the above list will be made in the following order, (1) as requested by the Army Commander concerned, for use in the maintenance of the installation, (2) as required by the owning technical service for use in the performance of other contracts, (3) turned into appropriate supply channels. Vehicles which have been determined by the Army Commander as suitable for the purpose of maintaining the installation in a stand-by status will be reclassified as Military Vehicles and transferred to the appropriate account. Vehicles which the owning technical service requires for use in the performance of other contracts will be transferred to such contract accounts if authorized by the terms thereof. All remaining vehicles will be turned into appropriate supply channels.

(d) Contractor vehicles will not be included in the bulk allowances of administrative vehicles. When applicable, requests for changes in these allowances caused by compliance with paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section will be made by Army Commanders in accordance with SR 700–105–2 (Special Regulations pertaining to supply and reporting of vehicles for administrative use).

(e) When Military Vehicles are transferred to Contractor Vehicle classification, their Army Establishment registrations will be suspended, for possible reinstatement in case of reversion to military control. These vehicles, when properly classified as contractor vehicles, are not under the control of the Army Commander but are the responsibility of the technical service administering the contract. The supervision and accomplishment of all functions and obligations assumed by the contractor in connection with the operation, utilization of minimum essential vehicles, maintenance, storage, etc., as well as the protection of the Government's interest with respect to contractor vehicles rests with the Contracting Officer.

(f) Whenever license plates are required for Government-owned contractor-operated vehicles and existing laws prohibit the purchase of same by the contractor, arrangements may be made through channels to procure United States Government license plates. The request will be directed to the Chief of Transportation, Attention: Highway Transport Service. Information to be forwarded with the request will include the name of the technical service administering the contract, name and location of project and/or name and address of the contractor, proper nomenclature of vehicle(s), and the U. S. A. registration number(s) if previously assigned and known.

(g) Statutory restrictions limiting the use of Government-owned vehicles to official business are equally applicable to contractor vehicles. Information governing the use of such vehicles under Army Establishment control is contained in Army Regulation pertaining to motor vehicles. Contractor vehicles including buses will not be used to transport employees or any other personnel between their places of residence and employment. In the absence of adequate public transportation facilities, service can be augmented or inaugurated under AR 55–90 (Army Regulation pertaining to bus transportation to and from employment), provided the other conditions therein set forth are satisfied.

NOTE: The balance of this subpart will be published subsequent to the issuance of Part 412 of this title.

SUBPART E—CONTRACT CLAUSES

NOTE: To be issued subsequent to the issuance of Part 412 of this title.

SUBPART F—SALE OF PROPERTY

§ 602.600 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies governing the sale of Government property to contractors.

§ 602.601 Sales of materials and special items. The Heads of Procuring Activities are authorized, when it is determined by them that such action is necessary in the interest of the national defense, to make contracts by negotiation for the sale of, and to sell to contractors, manufacturers, and suppliers of Army Establishment contractors, and to employees of the Government engaged in military production or construction, any uniforms, safety clothing and equipment, plant protective clothing, and other special articles necessary to persons employed in or otherwise connected with national defense industry or establishments. The furnishment and sale of safety clothing and equipment, etc., was approved by the Comptroller General, Decision B–23306, January 30, 1942.

§ 602.602 Exchange or sale of personal property and application of proceeds to purchase of similar items. Sections 602.602 through 602.602–3 prescribe rules under which the Army Establishment may exchange or sell similar items and apply the exchange allowance or proceeds of sale in whole or in part payment for the property acquired. The transaction shall be evidenced in writing.

§ 602.602–1 Scope. Exchange of personal property by the Army Establishment and the application of the exchange allowance or proceeds of sale of personal property in the acquisition of personal property by the Army Establishment under section 201 (c), Public Law 152, 81st Congress, shall be made only in accordance with the provisions of this section.

§ 602.602–2 General authorization. Subject to the provisions of §§ 602.602 through 602.602–3, heads of technical services are hereby authorized, in acquiring personal property within the United States or elsewhere, to exchange or sell similar items and apply the exchange allowance or the proceeds of sale in such cases, in whole or in part payment for the property acquired.

§ 602.602–3 Restrictions and limitations. (a) Sections 602.602 through 602.602–3 authorize the application of exchange allowances or proceeds of sale in whole or part payment for personal property acquired only when:

(1) The items sold or exchanged are similar to the items acquired (see paragraph (b) of this section for clarification of the word similar);

(2) The items acquired are to be used (whether or not intended for additional uses) in the performance of all or substantially all of the tasks or operations in which the items exchanged or sold would otherwise be used, but the items acquired need not be the same in number nor used in the same location as the items sold or exchanged: Provided, That the limitation prescribed in this section shall not apply with respect to parts or containers: And provided further, That detailed cross-identification between old and new items will not be required in the absence of specific requirements of law, but in the absence of such cross-identification, there shall be furnished to the General Accounting Office sufficient accounting data to establish that the items acquired were similar to the items exchanged or sold, that any exchange allowances or proceeds of sale applied in whole or part payment of property acquired were in fact available for such application, and that the transaction was otherwise in accordance with the provisions of this part; and

(3) There has been at the time of transfer or sale an administrative determination to apply the exchange allowance or proceeds of sale in acquiring property in accordance with §§ 602.602 through 602.602–3, which determination shall support each schedule of collections covering such proceeds of sale.

(b) Items shall be deemed "similar" for the purpose of §§ 602.602 through 602.602–3 when:

(1) They are substantially alike in all material aspects and characteristics, excluding, however, condition, year, model, size or capacity, and manufacturer; or

(2) The chiefs of the technical services, or their representative duly authorized for the purpose, finds in writing that they resemble each other in most material aspects and characteristics and are adaptable to the same or comparable uses, which finding shall support each purchase document covering property acquired pursuant thereto; or

(3) They constitute parts of or for assembled items, or containers for items, which items are similar within the meaning of subparagraph (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

(c) Sections 602.602 through 602.602–3 shall not be construed to authorize:

(1) The acquisition of personal property by a technical service when such acquisition is not otherwise authorized by law;

(2) The acquisition of personal property by a technical service in contravention of (i) any restriction upon the procurement of a commodity or commodities, or (ii) any replacement policy or standard, prescribed by the President or by the Administrator of General Services Administration pursuant to the act.

(3) The purchase or acquisition of personal property otherwise than under a consolidated purchasing or stores program or Federal Supply Schedule contract where procurement under such program or contract is required by regulations or other directives prescribed by the Administrator: Provided, That a technical service acquiring an item or items under and in accordance with such program or contract may sell or exchange similar items and apply the exchange allowance or proceeds of sale as provided in §§ 602.602 through 602.602–3; or

(4) The sale, transfer, or exchange of excess or surplus property in connection with the purchase or acquisition of personal property: Provided, That a Department obtaining items of excess or surplus property as authorized by law may thereafter exchange or sell such items and apply the exchange allowance or proceeds of sales in accordance with §§ 602.602 through 602.602–3.

§ 602.603 Exchanges and transfers between Executive Agencies. In acquiring personal property Executive Agencies may exchange similar items with, and transfer similar items to, other departments upon such terms as may be agreed upon by the agencies concerned, transfer funds in accordance with such terms, and apply the exchange allowance or proceeds of transfer in whole or part payment for personal property acquired. Funds transferred as representing the difference in value between items so exchanged shall be covered into miscellaneous receipts by the transferee agency unless (a) other disposition is authorized by law, or (b) acquisition of items in addition to the items received in exchange is required for the performance of the tasks or operations in which the similar items exchanged would otherwise have been used.

SUBPART G—RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT

§ 602.700 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies and special procedures governing material, special tooling, and equipment provided by the Government for the use in research and development contracts or projects.

§ 602.701 Loan of equipment. Government property acquired for research and development may be loaned to private industrial firms and educational institutions for use in privately financed research and development programs, if such programs are of interest to the Government, and the results of the research will be furnished the Government without cost to the Government. Any such loan should be reflected in a written agreement setting forth the terms of the loan, and the benefits to be derived by the Government.

§ 603.000 Scope of part. Supplementary to, but consistent with Part 413 of this title, this part deals with requirements for the inspection and acceptance of supplies and services procured by the technical services and all other authorized Procuring Activities of the Army Establishment.

§ 603.002 General policy. All supplies and services procured by the Army Establishment (including those manufactured in the plants owned and operated by it) shall be inspected and accepted in accordance with the procedures set forth in this part, with the exception of those instances where it has been determined to be in the best interest of the Government to utilize the inspection services of another Government Agency (see § 603.005). In arranging for inspection, consideration will be given to the utilization of the inspection services of other Government Agencies to assure that inspection operations are carried out in the most economical fashion consistent with the best interest of the Government. Supplies and services shall be inspected by or under the supervision of an inspector representing the Government unless otherwise expressly provided in the contract.

or other statement of quality or quantity may be considered, at the discretion of the Procuring Activity, a proper element in determining whether supplies and services are in conformance with the contract, but such certificate or other statement shall not be considered as eliminating the necessity for inspection. When a public exigency will not permit all required inspection, the Procuring Activity may reduce inspection to a level consistent with the circumstances. When the contract provides for inspection at source and it has been determined to be in the best interest of the Government to ship prior to inspection, such shipment may be made if the contractor agrees to bear the costs which may be incurred as a result of a rejection upon completion of the required inspection.

§ 603.004 Points of inspection. Inspection on behalf of the Government shall be conducted in all cases prior to acceptance, except as otherwise permitted by Part 413 of this title, as implemented by this part. To the extent practicable, inspection of supplies shall be made at such times and places (including the stage and period of manufacture and including subcontractors' plant) as are necessary to determine that the supplies will conform to the contract.

(a) Purchases will normally be inspected at origin when the situation meets one or more of the following descriptions:

(1) Items in continuous volume production at a given plant.

(2) Where plants are so grouped geographically as to make visits by inspectors practicable and economical.

(3) Where quality control and inspection are inseparably related to the production methods at a particular plant;

(4) Where it is necessary to determine compliance with contract requirements as items are produced, or as soon thereafter as possible, to eliminate considerable expense to the contractor or to the Government resulting from delay in correcting the item and from manufacture and shipment of unacceptable products.

(5) Products where hidden defects could be located only during process of manufacture.

(6) Where special instruments, gages, or facilities for inspection are available only at the manufacturer's plant.

(7) Where it would be necessary to replace costly special packaging and packing which would be destroyed by destination inspection.

(8) Such other purchases as may be determined by the Procuring Activity to be in the best interest of the Government.

(b) Purchases will normally be inspected at destination, provided the interest of the Government is adequately protected thereby when the situation meets one or more of the following descriptions:

(1) Off-the-shelf purchases from distributors rather than manufacturers.

(2) Small onetime purchases that do not require special equipment for inspection.

(3) Plants where the volume of procurement is not sufficient to justify a full time inspector and the increase in cost caused by inspection at origin would be unwarranted.

(4) Where necessary specialized testing equipment is located only at destination.

(5) Biologicals processed under direct control of National Institute of Health or the Federal Food and Drug Administration.

(6) Perishable subsistence.

(7) Such other purchases as may be determined by the Procuring Activity to be in the best interest of the Government.

(c) Perishable subsistence destined for oversea shipment will be inspected for condition and quantity at ports of embarkation. The Transportation Corps will call on the Quartermaster Corps to make such arrangements as may be necessary to provide the technical inspection required.

(d) Brand name items purchased for authorized resale normally will be inspected and accepted at destination. Inspection of such supplies at ports of embarkation will be accomplished by Contracting Officers on the basis of a tally-sheet signed by the Port Transportation Officer evidencing receipt of shipment.

§ 603.005 Responsibility for inspection. Inspection is the responsibility of the Procuring Activity concerned. In instances where it is desirable to have inspection performed at destination, arrangements will normally be made to have the activity requiring the supplies perform the necessary inspection. Ports of embarkation will not be required to perform procurement inspections of a technical nature for other activities on supplies received in transit for oversea shipment. Inspection at installations or bases normally will be limited to quantity checks and checks of quality not requiring technical training or special equipment. The activity responsible for inspection may utilize the inspection services of other Government activities provided satisfactory agreement may be reached with the other activity concerned. Such agreements will be in accordance with the following polfcies and procedures:

(a) When made with other military department activities they will normally be on a reimbursement-in-kind basis.

(b) When made between Procuring Activities of the Army Establishment and Government activities outside the military departments they will be on a reimbursement basis acceptable to the activities concerned.

(c) They will include agreements on the following procedural matters:

(1) Inspection practices.

(2) Reporting of shipments.

(3) Accomplishment of paper work.

(4) Processing of shipping documents.

(5) A definite understanding concerning which agency is to furnish the inspection gages, measuring instruments, and laboratory facilities; the location of such facilities as well as the expected delivery date of inspection gages and measuring instruments, if such devices are required.

§ 603.006 Acceptance. Acceptance is the act of an authorized agent of the Government by which the Government acknowledges and agrees that the supplies or services are in conformance with the contract as to quality and quantity. Inspection prior to acceptance shall be for the convenience of the Government and should not be construed as indicating acceptance. Acceptance is the responsibility of the Procuring Activity. Where desirable, for reasons of urgency or economy, supplies which fail to meet all contract requirements may be accepted under special circumstances, subject to equitable adjustment of the contract price or such other adjustments as may be provided for by the contract. If, as a result of inspection, supplies are not accepted, they will be returned to the contractor or held for his disposition at no cost to the Government.

§ 603.007 Joint procedures. All inspection of supplies and services by Army Procuring Activities will be consistent with approved standards promulgated by the Department of Defense.

§ 603.008 Contract provisions. The contract clauses required for use in this part are set forth in parts 406 and 596 of this title.

SUBPART A—INSPECTION ORGANIZATION

§ 603.100 Scope. This subpart sets forth the general policy of the Department of the Army as to organization within the technical services regarding procurement inspection activities.

§ 603.101 Responsibilities for inspection staffs in the technical services. (a) The Headquarters Inspection organization of each technical service will be staffed to perform the following:

(1) Maintain continuous and close liaison with Standards Branch, Procurement Division, G–4, Department of the Army.

(2) Formulate and supervise technical service inspection policies and procedures adhering to Department of Defense and Department of the Army policies to effect:

(i) Elimination of duplication of inspection.

(ii) Adequate quality assurance of all defense procurement.

(iii) Uniformity of standards of quality assurance and quality control.

(iv) Simplification of relations with industry.

(v) Facilitation of rapid expansion in emergency.

(vi) Training of inspection personnel.

(3) Serve as contact point with inspection organizations of other technical services of the Army Establishment, Navy and Air Force.

(b) The inspection organization of each technical service, either locally or centrally will be staffed to accomplish the following:

(1) Inspect the supplies and services procured by the technical service.

(2) Establish inspection point.

(3) Select and train personnel to whom the task of determining acceptability of supplies and services procured will be assigned.

(4) Properly assign inspection personnel to specific tasks in accordance with qualifications.

(5) Maintain historical records of the assignment of each inspector.

(6) Maintain continuous liaison with procurement authorities for determining inspection requirements in future procurement.

(7) Determine inspection requirement for mobilization planning.

(8) Determine adequacy of contractor's inspection methods and procedures for maintaining acceptable quality.

(9) Cooperation with Research and Development and Engineering organizations in determining sampling inspection and test requirements in specifications.

(10) Preparation of written standard inspection procedures for all standard items of procurement.

(11) Recommendation of approval or disapproval of requests for deviation from specification requirements.

(12) Visit bidder's plant, upon request of the Contracting Officer, to make preaward surveys of their capacity to produce supplies and services in accordance with requirements of Invitation for Bids.

(13) Disseminate information regarding rights and obligations of the Government and the contractors, respectively, with regard to performance of the inspection mission.

(14) Determine and present all facts pertinent to the inspection mission relative to claims for refund or remission of liquidated damages or in connection with the Disputes or Default Clauses of the contract when requested by the Contracting Officer.

(15) Recommend new contract clauses and revisions of old contract clauses insofar as may be deemed necessary in the light of experience in the field of Government inspection.

(16) Initially report frauds, suspected frauds, and other suspected criminal conduct in connection with Government contracts to the Contracting Officer.

(17) Report noncompliance with Government contracts such as improper employment or inadequate compensation of labor, improper labor, improper maintenance of records, etc. to the Contracting Officer.

SUBPART B—INSPECTION PERSONNEL

§ 603.200 Scope. This subpart establishes the over-all Army policy for the procurement, training, and assignment of inspection personnel.

§ 603.201 Procurement. Vacancies in inspection organizations will be filled whenever possible by procurement of surplus inspectors from other technical services.

§ 603.202 Training. Each technical service will prepare and publish an organized program for the training of inspectors. This program shall be applicable to both peacetime and emergency situations.

(a) Types of inspectors to be trained. The training program shall include the material needed for training line inspectors, technical inspectors, and administrative and supervisory inspectors.

(b) Types of training. Normally maximum use should be made of "on-the-job" training procedures in order that:

(1) Rapid expansion will be possible in the event of an emergency.

(2) No transitional period will be required from classroom to the actual job.

§ 603.203 Assignment and administration of inspectors. (a) Certain principles that apply particularly to the assignment and administration of inspectors are set forth in the belief that careful observance will result in more effective utilization of trained manpower and a greater concentration of the inspection effort along productive lines.

(b) Assignment of the inspection personnel to any given job will be most effectively carried out if those responsible for planning are able to specify the number and types of inspectors needed, and furnish details about the work that will permit analysis of each position from the standpoint of qualifications necessary for fulfillment.

(c) To assist in the proper placement of qualified personnel, and to provide records of current assignments, each inspection office of the technical service having assignment jurisdiction over inspectors will keep a historical record of the assignments of each inspector. In addition to recording previous experience and training, this record will contain such information as present assignment, estimate of when next available, status regarding clearance to handle classified information, and any other data that will be helpful in determining proper placement of personnel.

(d) Assignment should be based on both geographical and technical qualifications. By placing authority and responsibility near points of action, closer administrative supervision will be exercised, savings in inspection man-hours, per diem and travel expense through reduced travel will be effected, and inspector morale will be improved through the more satisfactory working conditions thus established.

(e) When, by reason of lessening of work at one inspection level point, a surplus of inspection personnel occurs and the inspection authority having jurisdiction indicates that the surplus cannot be effectively utilized, information of the available personnel will be given by the personnel office of the Procuring Activity involved to the personnel officers of the other Procuring Activities in the same vicinity for possible utilization. Similarly, when additional personnel are needed, the personnel officers of the Procuring Activities involved will make inquiry of other such personnel officers to ascertain if trained inspection personnel are available before additional personnel are employed and trained. This liaison between personnel offices, to determine the current availability of personnel, is essential to the effective utilization of inspection manpower in the various Activities, and shall be established as a continuing method of operation.

SUBPART C—INSPECTION OPERATIONS

§ 603.300 Scope. This subpart establishes those phases of the inspection of procured supplies and services wherein uniformity in the operation of the various technical services is essential if maximum efficiency and economy of the over-all Army Establishment inspection function is to be achieved. It implements Subchapter A, Chapter IV of this title generally rather than a specific part or section thereof.

§ 603.301 Documents essential for inspection. (a) The inspection organization of each technical service shall prepare and supply the inspectors such manuals, handbooks, and such Standard Inspection Procedures as are needed for the efficient performance of the job to manuals, handbooks, and such other Standard Inspection Procedures shall be considered tentative until reviewed and approved by the Assistant Chief of Staff, G–4, Department of the Army (Chief, Standards Branch).

(b) Each inspector in charge of inspection operations in a plant shall be supplied with the following:

(1) Extract of the contract, letters of intent, memorandum of awards, change orders, etc., that include all the data necessary for the performance of inspection.

(2) Copies of the applicable specifications.

§ 603.302 Amount of inspection. (a) The amount of inspection will vary depending upon the importance of items and dimensions and the past quality history of the contractor from a very thorough inspection of each item or dimension to the inspection of relatively small samples drawn from the items offered for inspection and acceptance.

(b) Under certain conditions it is uneconomical to have inspection performed each time a shipment is made from a contractor's plant. When the monetary value and functional importance of the supplies shipped are relatively low and the contractor's past quality history is high, inspection may consist of inspections made, without prior announcement to the contractor, at such times as deemed necessary by the cognizant inspection agency. Shipments of such supplies made between inspection visits will be certified as acceptable by the inspection agency on the basis of vendors' invoices supported by a receipted bill of lading, a prepaid railway express slip or an insured Government parcel post receipt, and on the basis of the quality history of the contractor as judged by the past inspection visits.

(c) Sampling procedures, when utilized, will in general be of the following types:

(1) Samples drawn and tested in accordance with specification requirements.

(2) Sampling procedures in accordance with MIL–STD–105. The use of sampling inspection plans with their associated Acceptable Quality Levels and Classifications of Defects has an effect on the cost of producing and delivering supplies contracted for by the Government, therefore, all invitations for bids and subsequent contracts shall include or reference the applicable Acceptable Quality Levels and Classifications of Defects when they are to be used in the inspection of the supplies being procured.

(3) Sampling procedures that utilize analysis of the results of inspection on a variable basis. (Standardization of this method is in process currently in Munitions Board Material Inspection Agency. Until such time as a Military Standard is published covering this method, locally developed plans should be utilized when applicable and in the best interest of the Government.)

§ 603.303 Place of inspection. (a) Wherever feasible, Government inspection of the end product will be employed, and in-process inspection by Government inspectors will be minimized without excessive loss of quality assurance.

(b) Normally Government inspection will be conducted at points of final assembly of prime contractor.

(c) The prime contractor is responsible for the quality of the raw materials, components, parts, and subassemblies incorporated in his finished product, except as to items of Government Furnished Property or where contrary contract provisions exist. However, in many cases it will be found to be in the interest of the Government to apply inspection to such raw materials as steel, copper, brass, etc., at the plant of the producer. Likewise, in some cases, it will be found essential or highly desirable to apply inspection at the plant of the manufacturer of parts and subassemblies under subcontract. The technical services will establish the detailed procedures for determining when and where such subcontractor inspection will take place. Whenever inspection is performed prior to final inspection for acceptance purposes, the stamps, tags, and other marking devices used to indicate such inspection shall be designed and/or their meaning so defined as to indicate without question that the inspection was entirely for the convenience of the Government and that such approval implied or otherwise is provisional in nature. This provisional approval requirement is essential in order that the Government will never be in the position of interfering with the prime-subcontractor relationship and further so that the Government will never be in such position that it is unable to reject supplies not in accordance with requirements of the contract at the time final inspection for acceptance purposes is made.

(d) When raw material, components, parts, or assemblies have been subjected to earlier Government inspection and approval, they are not to be Government inspected again upon being received at the plant of the contractor, unless specifically provided for, except when check inspection indicates evidence of possible damage or deterioration in transit. Such check inspection to determine proper identity, quantity, and condition will always be made upon receipt of shipments.

(e) The principle that will govern inspection at Government manufacturing installations is that those responsible for process inspection of production will not be responsible for approving Government acceptability of product.

§ 603.304 Deviations and modifications. Each Procuring Activity will clearly define the extent to which its subdivisions are authorized to approve deviations from contract requirements and will prescribe the procedures and channels for obtaining such approvals.

§ 603.305 Rejections. (a) Notification of rejections will be given the contractor and will include the reasons for the rejection, and if deemed advisable, any suggestions that might help him in correcting the cause of rejection.

(b) Suitable methods for properly identifying rejected material will be established by the Procuring Activity and will be employed by inspectors in order to eliminate any possibility of the contractor's resubmitting rejected supplies on which the deficiencies have not been corrected. Such methods will also include provisions for tagging, marking, or isolating provisionally rejected supplies until accepted or finally rejected.

(c) Each procuring Activity will clearly define the extent to which its subdivisions are authorized to suspend work on contracts involving the use of Government Furnished Property when it appears that considerable spoilage will result. The technical service will prescribe in detail the channels for reporting such conditions. In each case, the contractor shall be notified in writing to suspend any work on the item which includes or follows the operation responsible for the defect until the dispute is resolved by higher authority.

§ 603.306 Marking and shipping. (a) Each service will prepare and disseminate to their inspection organizations detailed instructions covering proper handling of shipments at Government expense, Government bills-of-lading, parcel post shipments, shipment by Government owned transportation, emergency shipments, guarding of shipments containing classified supplies and services (see AR–380–5 (Parts 505 and 509 of this chapter)), shipment at contractor's expense, and all other necessary instructions.

(b) At the time supplies are finally accepted by the inspector, they will be adequately marked with the stamp of the inspecting technical service to show evidence of acceptance (see § 596.303 (c) of this chapter).

§ 603.307 Security. (a) The importance of strict observance of security regulations imposed for the safeguarding of vital information will be impressed upon inspection personnel at all levels.

(b) Whenever the development, production, or procurement of an article of supplies and services is classified, information regarding these projects will be considered to be information affecting the national defense within the meaning of the provisions of the Espionage Act. Contract, specifications, drawings, correspondence, and reports pertaining to a classified project, as well as many other papers containing information requiring classification, bear the marking—Secret, Confidential, or Restricted. Provisions for handling, transmitting, and storing such papers are made in AR 380–5, of which copies or pertinent extracts are obtainable. (See also § 596.104–12.)

(c) Extreme care will be taken by all inspection personnel who are required to use such papers in the course of their work to prevent unauthorized individuals from obtaining access to them or the information contained therein. Inspectors are to be particularly careful not to discuss their work with nor give any information concerning it to anyone except authorized persons.

SUBPART D—INSPECTOR-CONTRACTOR RELATIONS

§ 603.401 General responsibilities. The inspector at a contractor's plant will be responsible for those Government inspection operations, records, and personnel under his jurisdiction within the plant. He will take all necessary steps to insure compliance with the principles and policies set forth in Parts 590–603 of this chapter and procedures prescribed in the inspection manuals and related publications of his technical service. After inspection begins in a contractor's plant, the inspector is to be considered as the contact point for the service on all inspection matters. He will be advised promptly of any contract interpretations or other official changes affecting the discharge of the inspection functions. These will be sent to the contractor through the inspector, or to the inspector at the time the contractor is notified. During the course of inspection in a contractor's plant, the inspector will pay particular attention to the following:

(a) The contractor's inspection methods will be observed continually to detect any laxity or other factors which might adversely affect the quality of supplies and services to be submitted to Government inspectors for acceptance.

(b) The inspector, having in mind the contractor's inspection procedures necessary for maintaining quality, may assist him, in a cooperative and advisory manner only, in making improvements in his inspection methods and procedures.

(c) The inspector will assure that a clear understanding exists with the contractor on all inspection matters in which they are mutually interested, and he will endeavor at all times to build up a spirit of cooperation.

(d) The inspector will promptly and discreetly report to his superiors all information on conditions in the plant of a contractor which are detrimental to the interest of the Government. Such reports should state the source(s) of the information and will cover the following subjects:

(1) Use of substandard quality of supplies.

(2) Any treatment or manipulation of supplies or equipment inconsistent with approved practice.

(3) Factors contributing to a falling off in production.

(4) Failures to meet delivery schedules.

(5) Interference with prompt and effective Government inspection.

(6) Actual or potential labor troubles detrimental to the Government's interest.

(7) Evidence of sabotage, espionage, subversive activities, or intent to defraud.

(8) Deliberate and repeated manufacture of substandard supplies, with a view toward supplying rejects to civilian customers.

(9) Bribes or attempted bribes.

(10) Offering of favors of any kind with intent to influence an inspector's decision.

(11) Threats of violence or action to remove an inspector with intent to intimidate an inspector or to influence an inspector's decisions.

§ 603.402 Compliance with contractor's rules and regulations. The inspector will observe the applicable rules and regulations pertaining to personal conduct, safety, and security established in the contractor's plant, and will not make inspection where proper safety precautions are not observed by the contractor.

§ 603.403 Standards of conduct. In all phases of the inspector's activities the following rules of conduct policy will be followed:

(a) The inspector will be tactful and courteous and will cooperate with the contractor within the limits of his duties and responsibilities.

(b) The inspector will be impartial in action and judgment and render prompt decisions on inspection problems.

(c) The inspector will avoid undue familiarity with officials and employees of the contractor.

(d) The inspector will not disclose to any unauthorized person any information whatsoever concerning the design, production, movement, quantity, condition, or disposition of supplies.

(e) The inspector will not discuss the contractor's affairs or plant operations, except as authorized by his organization.

(f) The inspector will not accept from the contractor contributions of any kind for the benefit of himself or any other person, firm, or organization. He will not accept gifts, loans, favors, meals, beverages, tickets of admission to theaters or sporting events, housing accommodations, facilities for week-end trips, transportation, etc.

(g) Where plants are located in such places and under such conditions that meals and housing accommodations are available only at contractor-owned or contractor-sponsored facilities, inspectors may arrange for meals, and housing at such facilities upon payment of adequate reimbursement therefor.

(h) The inspector will not accept any other thing of value or service from persons or firms transacting business with the Army Establishment or from persons or firms with which the inspector might have been concerned in any way.

(i) An employee of the inspection organization will not suffer or permit any member of his immediate family to accept or do any of the things which are prohibited with respect to the employee himself, and which might bring discredit to the Army Establishment.

(j) Such other standards of conduct as given in § 590.455 of this chapter.

TITLE 15—COMMERCE AND FOREIGN TRADE

Chapter III—Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce

Subchapter C—Office of International Trade

[5th Gen. Rev. of Export Regs., Amdt. P. L. 46]

PART 399—POSITIVE LIST OF COMMODITIES AND RELATED MATTERS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Section 399.1 Appendix A—Positive List of Commodities is amended in the following particulars:[1]

1. The following revisions are made to clarify the wording of the commodity descriptions without making substantive changes:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
735500	Pumping equipment: Centrifugal pumps (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with any of the following characteristics: (a) designed delivery pressures at pump discharge of 300 pounds per square inch and over; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures of 220 degrees Fahrenheit and over; (c) fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A."[1]	No.....	CONS	None	RO
735500	Centrifugal pumps (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with all of the following characteristics: (a) designed delivery pressures at pump discharge of 75 to 300 pounds per square inch; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures under 220 degrees Fahrenheit; and (c) not fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A."[1]	No.....	CONS	None	R
735600	Rotary pumps (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with all of the following characteristics: (a) designed delivery pressures at pump discharge of 75 to 300 pounds per square inch; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures under 220 degrees Fahrenheit; and (c) not fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A."[1]	No.....	CONS	None	R
735800	Reciprocating steam pumps (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with any of the following characteristics: (a) designed delivery pressures at pump discharge of 300 pounds per square inch and over; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures of 220 degrees Fahrenheit and over; (c) fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A."[1]	No.....	CONS	None	RO

[1] This revision affects characteristic (a) only.

[1] This part of the amendment was published in Current Export Bulletin No. 617, dated April 27, 1951.

3. The following revisions are made in commodity descriptions. The revisions include changes in validated license control.

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
735800	Pumping equipment—Continued. Reciprocating steam pumps (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with all of the following characteristics: (a) designed for delivery pressures at pump discharge of 75 to 300 pounds per square inch; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures under 250 degrees Fahrenheit; and (c) not fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A".[1]	No.	COS3	None	R
736910	Pumps, n.e.s. (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with all of the following characteristics: (a) designed for delivery pressures at pump discharge of 75 to 300 pounds per square inch; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures under 250 degrees Fahrenheit and over; (c) not fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A".[1]	No.	COS3	None	RO
736990	Pumps, n.e.s. (delivering liquids separately or in combination with solids and/or gases) with any of the following characteristics: (a) designed for delivery pressures at pump discharge of 75 to 300 pounds per square inch; (b) designed to operate continuously at temperatures under 250 degrees Fahrenheit and over; (c) fabricated of, or lined with, any corrosion-resistant materials as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A".[1]	No.	COS3	None	RO
736990	Pumps for pumps included on the Positive List under Schedule B Nos. 735800 through 736990 for which validated license is required to R and O country destinations.	.....	COS3	100	R
736990	Parts for pumps included on the Positive List under Schedule B Nos. 735800 through 736990 for which validated license is required to R country destinations.	.....	COS3	None	RO

[1] This revision affects characteristic (a) only.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of April 27, 1951.

2. Certain commodities are changed from R to RO commodities as follows:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
20r 60 70r 120	Natural and synthetic rubber manufactures, n.e.s.: Water-fabricated bearings ..... Electrical industrial annealing and heat-treating furnaces, and parts.	.....	RUBR ELME 1	250 100	RO RO

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of 12:01 a. m., May 2, 1951.

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
775050	Chemical and pharmaceutical machinery and parts: Complete processing equipment installations or unit components thereof, operating at pressures over 300 psi, including special designed items of processing equipment installations, e.g., autoclaves and digesters.[1]	.....	GIEQ 2	None	RO
775050	Complete processing equipment installations for concentrating mineral acids or unit components thereof, n. e. s., and including specially designed items of equipment for same.[10]	.....	GIEQ 2	None	RO
775050	Destructive distillation equipment and parts.[11]	.....	GIEQ 1	None	R
775050	Driers for chemical processes of the following types: continuous screen; cylinder; drum; rotary; spray; vacuum; and parts.[12]	.....	GIEQ	25	R
775050	Fractionating, rectifying and dephlegmation columns, and parts.[13]	.....	GIEQ 1	None	R
775050	Liquid solvent, extraction equipment, and parts, other than centrifugal counter-current solvent extractors, and parts.[14]	.....	GIEQ 1	None	R
775050	Pyrites roasters.[15]	.....	GIEQ 1	None	RO
775050	Sulfur burners.[15]	.....	GIEQ	None	RO
775050	Tanks, vats, kettles, piping and allied fixtures made of or lined with any corrosion-resistant material as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A" (report steel storage tanks in 604300 if unlined; 620915 if lined).[16]	.....	GIEQ	None	RO
775050	Vacuum stills (report operating vacuum in millimeters mercury pressure absolute).[16]	.....	GIEQ 1	None	R
775098	Industrial machinery and parts, n.e.s.: Complete processing equipment installations or unit components thereof, operating at pressures over 300 pounds per square inch including specially designed items of processing equipment installations, e. g., autoclaves and digesters.[2]	.....	GIEQ	None	RO
775098	Tanks, vats, kettles, piping and allied fixtures made of or lined with any corrosion-resistant material as defined in the "General Notes to Appendix A" (report steel storage tanks in 604300 if unlined; 620915 if lined).[3]	.....	GIEQ	None	RO
775098	Jacks, industrial, and parts, with lifting capacity of 10 tons or more (report jacks for construction use in 725100; jacks for garage use in 783180; and jacks, hand-operated in 617898).[17]	.....	GIEQ	25	R
783180	Other automobile service appliances, and parts (report air compressors under 770100 and 770500 according to capacity): Jacks for garage use, and parts, with lifting capacity of 10 tons or more (report jacks for construction use in 725100; jacks for industrial use in 775098, and jacks, hand-operated, in 617898).[3]	.....	GIEQ	25	R

[1] The above revised entry is substituted for the seventh and twenty-fourth entries under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect of this amendment is the same as noted in footnote 7 above.

[2] The above revised entry is substituted for the first entry under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect is to change from R to RO control unit components, n.e.s., of the equipment covered by this revised entry; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit from $150 to "None."

[3] The above revised entry is substituted for the sixteenth entry under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect is to remove the limitations as to pressure and metals; to delete from this entry distillation equipment other than "destructive"; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit from $100 to "None."

[4] This amendment establishes a separate entry for certain commodities included in the last entry under Schedule B No. 775050, other chemical and pharmaceutical machinery and parts, validated license required, R. The effect is to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for the commodities in the above new listing from $100 to $25.

[5] The above revised entry is substituted for the twenty-second entry under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect of this amendment is to remove the limitations of pressure on fractionating columns; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for the commodities in the above revised entry from $100 to "None."

[6] The above revised entry is substituted for the thirty-second and thirty-third entries under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect of this amendment is to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for solvent recovery machinery from $100 to "None."

[7] The two above revised entries are substituted for the thirty-fourth entry under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect of this amendment is to clarify the description; to change the controls for both of the revised entries from R to RO; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limits from $100 to "None."

[8] The above revised entry is substituted for the second and fifth entries under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect of this amendment is to extend the coverage to include all tanks, vats, kettles, piping and allied fixtures made of or lined with any corrosion-resistant material; to change the controls for the commodities included in the above revised entry from R to RO; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limits from $100 to "None."

[9] The above revised entry is substituted for the thirty-sixth entry under Schedule B No. 775050. The effect is to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for vacuum stills from $100 to "None."

[10] The above revised entry is substituted for the second entry under Schedule B No. 775098. The effect is to add to the Positive List as RO commodities complete processing equipment installations or unit components thereof, operating at pressures over 200 pounds per square inch, including specially designed items of processing equipment installations except autoclaves and digesters which are included in the second entry presently on the Positive List; to delete autoclaves and digesters between 100 up to and including 200 pounds per square inch, and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit for the commodities in the present entry from $100 to "None."

[11] The above revised entry is substituted for the first entry under Schedule B No. 775098. The effect is to change the controls for the commodities included in the present entry from R to RO; to extend the coverage to include all tanks, vats, kettles, piping and allied fixtures made of or lined with any corrosion-resistant material; and to reduce the GLV dollar-value limit from $100 to "None."

[12] The above revised entry is substituted for the fifteenth entry under Schedule B No. 775098. The effect of this amendment is to add to the Positive List parts for jacks covered by this entry, and to increase the GLV dollar-value limit for such jacks from "None" to $25.

[13] The above revised entry is substituted for the third entry under Schedule B No. 783180, "jacks for garage use." The effect of this amendment is to add parts for jacks covered by this entry, and to delete from the Positive List jacks with lifting capacity of less than 10 tons; and to increase the GLV dollar-value limit from "None" to $25.

In the foregoing notes, some entries are identified as, for example, "the second and third entries," "the sixteenth entry," etc., under a single Schedule B number. This identification is a reference to the sequence in which the entries appear on the Positive List as published in the Comprehensive Export Schedule immediately prior to Apr. 27, 1951.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of 12:01 a. m., May 2, 1951.

Shipments of any commodities removed from general license to Country Group R or Country Group O destinations, or whose GLV dollar-value limits were reduced, as a result of changes set forth in Parts 2 and 3 above which were on dock, on lighter, laden aboard an exporting carrier, or in transit to a port of exit pursuant to actual orders for export prior to 12:01 a. m., May 2, 1951, may be exported under the previous general license provisions up to and including May 27, 1951. Any such shipment not laden aboard the exporting carrier on or before May 27, 1951, requires a validated license for export.

Section 399.2 Appendix B—Interpretations: Positive List of Commodities is amended by adding thereto the following new interpretation: [2]

Interpretation 3: Ball and roller bearings and parts

(1) A ball or roller bearing physically incorporated in a segment of a machine or in a complete machine prior to shipment loses its identity as a bearing and the machine or segment of machinery containing the bearing is the item subject to export license requirements.

(2) A ball or roller bearing not incorporated in a segment of a machine prior to shipment but shipped as a component of a complete unassembled (knocked-down) machine is considered a component of the machine, and the complete machine is the item subject to export license requirements.

(3) Ball and roller bearings shipped as spares or replacements are classified in Schedule B Nos. 769100–769315 (Ball and roller bearings and parts). This applies to separate shipments of ball and roller bearings and ball and roller bearings shipped with machinery or equipment for which they are intended to be used as spares or replacement parts.

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 655—NEEDLEWORK AND FABRICATED TEXTILE PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

MINIMUM WAGE ORDER

Pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C., Sup., 1001) notice was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on April 11, 1951, (16 F. R. 3191–3194) of the Administrator's decision to approve the minimum wage recommendations of Special Industry Committee No. 8 for Puerto Rico for the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico, and the wage order which he proposed to issue to carry such recommendations into effect was published therewith. Interested parties were given an opportunity to submit exceptions.

Exceptions have been filed by several interested parties. The arguments and materials presented in the exceptions were considered at the time the Administrator made the decision to approve the recommendations of the industry committee. The exceptions raise no new matters requiring any change or modification of the previous decision.

It has been requested that approval of the recommended rates be withheld until action is taken by the Office of Price Stabilization with reference to the ceiling prices applicable to the products of this industry. The matter of such ceiling prices is presently under consideration by the Office of Price Stabilization. That agency will take such action in the matter as it considers appropriate.

Under the circumstances, the requests which have been received for a postponement of the effective date of this order or for a reopening of the hearing in this matter are hereby denied.

Accordingly, pursuant to authority under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, as amended; 29 U. S. C. 201), the said decision is hereby affirmed and made final and the said wage order is hereby issued, to become effective June 4, 1951.

Sec.
655.1 Approval of recommendations of industry committee.
655.2 Wage rates.
655.3 Notices of order.
655.4 Definitions of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico and its divisions.

AUTHORITY: § 655.1 to 655.4 issued under sec. 8, 52 Stat. 1064; 29 U. S. C. 208.

§ 655.1 Approval of recommendations of industry committee. The Committee's recommendations are hereby approved.

§ 655.2 Wage rates. (a) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 21 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the woven and knitted fabric glove division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(f) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 17½ cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the needlepoint division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, embroidering and embellishing by hand and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 30 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the needlepoint division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, stamping, sorting, finishing, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(g) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 17½ cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the household art linen division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 30 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the household art linen division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, machine operating, stamping, sorting, ribboning, washing, finishing, pressing, examining, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(h) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 17½ cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the handkerchief and square scarf division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 30 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the handkerchief and square scarf division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, machine operating, stamping, sorting, ribboning, washing, finishing, pressing, examining, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(i) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 28 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the children's dresses division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 31 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the children's dresses division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, machine operating, stamping, sorting, cleaning, finishing, pressing, examining, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(j) Wages at a rate of not less than 33 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the corsets, brassieres, and allied garments division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(k) Wages at a rate of not less than 32 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the crochet slipper division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(l) Wages at a rate of not less than 35 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the crochet beading division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(m) Wages at a rate of not less than 35 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the bullion embroidery division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(n) Wages at a rate of not less than 36 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the corde and bonnaz embroidery and corde handbag division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(o) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 28 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the women's blouses, dresses, and neckwear division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 35 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the women's blouses, dresses, and neckwear division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, machine operating, stamping, sorting, cleaning, finishing, pressing, examining, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(p) Wages at a rate of not less than 45 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the fur garment division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(q) (1) Wages at a rate of not less than 21 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the miscellaneous division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in hand sewing operations, including, but not by way of limitation, hand drawing, hand rolling, and embroidering and embellishing by hand, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

(2) Wages at a rate of not less than 30 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the miscellaneous division of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in other operations, including, but not by way of limitation, cutting, machine operating, stamping, sorting, cleaning, finishing, pressing, examining, and packing, and who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

§ 655.3 Notices of order. Every employer employing any employees so engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico shall post and keep posted in a conspicuous place in each department of his establishment where such employees are working such notices of this order as shall be prescribed, from time to time, by the Wage and Hour Division of the United States Department of Labor and shall give such other notice as the Division may prescribe.

§ 655.4 Definition of the needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico and its divisions. (a) The needlework and fabricated textile products industry in Puerto Rico, to which this part shall apply, is hereby defined as follows: The manufacture from any material of all apparel and apparel furnishings and accessories may by the knitting, crocheting, cutting, sewing, embroidering or other processes, and the manufacture of all textiles and textile products except the manufacture of hooked rugs and products or activities included in the following industries in Puerto Rico as defined in the wage orders for such industries: The shoe manufacturing and allied industries, the textile and textile products industry, the button, buckle, and jewelry industry, the hosiery industry, the hairnet industry, the artificial flower industry, the men's and boys' clothing and related products industry, and the handicraft products industry. This definition includes, but without limitation, handkerchiefs, scarves and mufflers; gloves; women's, misses', girls' and infants' outerwear, underwear, and nightwear; women's and misses' corsets and allied garments; millinery; handbags (except handbags made by hand out of raffia, maguey, straw, or similar materials); household art linens; needlepoint; embroideries and trimmings; curtains, draperies, and bedspreads; and miscellaneous fabricated textile products.

This definition supersedes the definitions contained in any and all wage orders heretofore issued for other industries in Puerto Rico to the extent that such definitions include products or operations covered by the definition of this industry.

(b) The separable divisions of the industry, as defined in paragraph (a) of this section, to which this part and its several provisions shall apply, are hereby defined as follows:

(1) Woven and knitted fabric glove division. The term woven and knitted fabric glove division shall mean the manufacture of all gloves and mittens from woven or knitted fabrics.

(2) Leather glove division. The term leather glove division shall mean the manufacture of all gloves and mittens from leather or from leather in combination with woven or knitted fabrics.

(3) Silk, rayon and nylon underwear division. The term silk, rayon and nylon underwear division shall mean the manufacture, from any woven or knitted fabric except cotton or from any woven or knitted fabric containing a mixture of cotton and other fibers, of women's, misses' and children's underwear and nightwear, including, but not by way of limitation, slips, nightgowns, negligees, panties, step-ins, pajamas, and similar articles.

(4) Cotton underwear and infants' underwear division. The term cotton underwear and infants' underwear division shall mean the manufacture from cotton of women's, misses' and children's underwear and nightwear, including, but not by way of limitation, slips, nightgowns, negligees, panties, step-ins, pajamas, and similar articles, and the manufacture of underwear and nightwear for infants under three years of age.

(5) Infants' wear division. The term infants' wear division shall mean the manufacture of dresses, rompers, creepers, sportswear and play apparel, for infants under three years of age.

(6) Needlepoint division. The term needlepoint division shall mean the manufacture of needlepoint on canvas or other material.

(7) Household art linen division. The term household art linen division shall mean the manufacture of household art linens including, but not by way of limitation, table cloths, napkins, bridge sets, luncheon cloths, table covers, sheets, pillow cases, and towels.

(8) Handkerchief and square scarf division. The term handkerchief and square scarf division shall mean the manufacture of plain, scalloped or ornamented handkerchiefs and square scarves.

(9) Children's dresses division. The term children's dresses division shall mean the manufacture of dresses for children over three years of age.

(10) Corsets, brassieres, and allied garments division. The term corsets, brassieres, and allied garments division shall mean the manufacture of corsets, brassieres, brassiere pads, girdles, sanitary belts, foundation garments, and similar items.

(11) Crochet slipper division. The term crochet slipper division shall mean the manufacture of slippers, slipper socks, mukluks, and similar types of footwear (except infants' bootees) made by a crocheting or knitting process.

(12) Crochet beading division. The term crochet beading division shall mean the embroidery of any article by a crochet beading process and all operations directly incidental to such embroidery.

(13) Bullion embroidery division. The term bullion embroidery division shall mean the manufacture of emblems and insignia made of bullion embroidery and the embroidery of any other articles with bullion threads and all operations directly incidental to such embroidery.

(14) Corde and bonnaz embroidery and corde handbag division. The term corde and bonnaz embroidery and corde handbag division shall mean the manufacture of corde handbags, corde plates for handbags, and other articles or trimmings made on a bonnaz embroidery machine.

(15) Women's blouses, dresses, and neckwear division. The term women's blouses, dresses and neckwear division shall mean the manufacture of women's and misses' blouses, waists, dresses, smocks, aprons, neckwear (including collar and cuff sets) and scarves (except square scarves).

(16) Fur garment division. The term fur garment division shall mean the manufacture of fur coats and other fur garments, accessories and trimmings.

(17) Miscellaneous division. The term miscellaneous division shall mean all products and activities included in the needlework and fabricated textile products industry, as defined in paragraph (a) of this section, which are not included in any of the other divisions of the industry as defined in this section.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 3d day of May 1951.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 6, Amdt. 6]

CPR 6—FATS AND OILS

RAW AND ACIDULATED SOAPSTOCKS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 6 to Ceiling Price Regulation 6 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment establishes specific ceiling prices for raw and acidulated soapstocks derived from domestic vegetable oils. Soapstock is the residue resulting from the refining of vegetable oils and is used principally in the production of fatty acids. The key price is 6¢ a pound for raw soapstock which is on a 50 percent total fatty acid basis. Corresponding to this 6¢ price for raw soapstock is a ceiling of 12½¢ a pound for acidulated soapstock. This differential reflects concentration to a 95 percent total fatty acid basis and the cost of acidulation and recovery. Provision is also made for differentials for point of delivery, grade and type of container.

Two major considerations were involved in selecting the 6¢ level.

To the refiner of vegetable oils, soapstock is a by-product obtained in the alkali refining process. The higher the value of the soapstock, the lower the cost of refining. Savings in refining costs mean savings to the consumer on such important end products as shortening, margarine, salad oil and salad dressings. This consideration was taken into account when the specific ceilings were established on refined cottonseed oil, soybean oil and corn oil and the 6¢ ceilings on soapstock established by a number of refiners under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, were used in calculating refining differentials. It was recognized by the refiners and the OPS that in no sense was a by-product credit equal to 6¢ a pound a guarantee, but rather was only permitted.

To the manufacturer of fatty acids, on the other hand, soapstock is one of several alternative raw materials. The degree of interchangeability of fatty acids made from vegetable oil soapstock and those made from tallows and greases differs from product to product in which fatty acids are used. Where vegetable and animal fatty acids are closely competitive, the former will be at a disadvantage provided soapstock sells at the 12½¢ ceiling (acidulated basis). This is the case since when fatty acids are made from acidulated soapstocks, no glycerine is obtained as a by-product. When, on the other hand, fatty acids are manufactured from tallow, for which the ceiling price is 15¢ on the fancy grade, about 4¢ worth of glycerine is obtained as a by-product. In the manufacture of products in which vegetable fatty acids are superior, no problem will arise because of their higher cost as against animal fatty acids. After full discussion of these considerations with representative groups of both refiners and vegetable fatty acid producers, it was concluded by this Office that market factors would obviate any dangers of substantial hardships.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 6 is amended in the following respects:

1. A new section 17 is added to the regulation to read as follows:

SEC. 17. Vegetable oil soapstocks.—(a) Ceiling prices of raw soapstocks. The ceiling prices of the following raw soapstocks, delivered in tank cars or tank wagons, shall be the following prices:

RAW SOAPSTOCKS—BASIS 50 PERCENT T. F. A.

[Cents per pound]

	New York	Chicago and Cincinnati	Los Angeles and San Francisco
Domestic vegetable oil soapstock (foots) including but not necessarily limited to cottonseed, soya, corn, peanut or any mixture thereof	6.125	6	6

(1) Where any of the above soapstocks (foots) are delivered to other destinations, the ceiling price shall be the price set forth above for the city nearest the point to which the soapstock is delivered, plus or minus the usual normal differential that prevailed prior to January 1, 1951, between the point to which the soapstock is delivered and the nearest city named in the above schedule.

(2) The usual or normal differentials for grade, above or below the listed grades, shall continue to apply.

(b) Ceiling prices of acidulated soapstocks. The ceiling prices of acidulated soapstocks, delivered in tank cars or tank wagons shall be the following prices:

ACIDULATED SOAPSTOCKS—BASIS 95 PERCENT T. F. A.

	New York	Chicago and Cincinnati	Los Angeles and San Francisco
Domestic vegetable oil acidulated soapstock including but not necessarily limited to cottonseed, soya, corn, peanut or any mixture thereof	12.625	12.5	12.5

(1) Where any of the above acidulated soapstocks are delivered to other destinations, the ceiling price shall be the price set forth above for the city nearest the point to which the acidulated soapstock is delivered, plus or minus the usual or normal differential that prevailed prior to price control between the point to which the acidulated soapstock is delivered and the nearest city named in the above schedule.

(2) The usual or normal differentials for grade, above or below the listed grades, shall continue to apply.

(3) The usual or normal differential for type of container shall continue to apply.

(4) The terms "domestic vegetable oil soapstock" and "domestic vegetable oil acidulated soapstock" mean soapstocks derived from fats and oils not enumerated in section 14 of General Ceiling Price Regulation.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date: This amendment shall be effective May 3, 1951.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 22, Amdt. 1]

CPR 22—MANUFACTURERS' GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

ADDITIONAL INSTRUCTIONS FOR COMPLETING OPS PUBLIC FORM NO. 8

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment is an addition to the Instructions for completing OPS Public Form 8. By the use of appropriate codes, selected from the list set forth in this amendment, each manufacturer reporting in accordance with the provisions of sections 46 and 48 of CPR–22 will fill in the box in the upper right-hand corner, labelled "Code for item 1." The prior insertion of designated codes by manufacturers will facilitate analysis and examination of reports by the Office of Price Stabilization. It should be noted that the codes cover the entire range of manufacturing industries, which means that a number of commodity classifications not subject to CPR–22 are also included. Appendix A is, therefore, still controlling as to commodities and transactions exempt from CPR–22.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 22 is amended by this addition to instructions for completing OPS Public Form No. 8, contained in Appendix D of CPR–22.

ITEM 9 CODE NUMBER. (a) When you complete this form, insert in the box in the upper right-hand corner the appropriate 6-digit code for the category or product line covered by the report. Determine the code applicable to your report from the list of codes given below.

(b) The first two digits represent the OPS price branch concerned with your category or product line and the next four digits represent the industry class in the Standard Industrial Classification now widely used by private as well as Government agencies.

(c) Your careful selection of the appropriate 6-digit code from the list will expedite the sorting, classification, and analysis of the forms upon receipt in this office.

(d) Although a number of commodity classifications not subject to CPR–22 are included in the codes, Appendix A is nevertheless controlling as to commodities and transactions exempt from CPR–22.

NOTE: If prior to May 4, 1951, the date of issuance of this amendment, you mailed to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., Public Form No. 8, you need not mail another form relating to the same category or product line solely for the purpose of inserting the code.

73-2562 Window shades.
73-2563 Venetian blinds.
72-2591 Restaurant furniture.
73-2599 Furniture and fixtures, not elsewhere classified.

PAPER AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

13-2611 Pulp mills.
13-2612 Paper and paperboard mills (except building-paper and building-board mills).
13-2613 Building-paper and building-board mills.
13-2641 Paper coating and glazing.
13-2651 Envelopes.
13-2661 Paper bags.
13-2671 Paperboard boxes: folded, set-up, and corrugated.
13-2674 Fiber cans, tubes, drums, and similar products.
13-2691 Die-cut paper and paperboard; and cardboard.
13-2693 Wall paper.
13-2694 Pulp goods, pressed and molded.
13-2699 Converted paper products, not elsewhere classified.

PRINTING, PUBLISHING, AND ALLIED INDUSTRIES

13-2711 Newspapers.
13-2721 Periodicals.
13-2731 Books: publishing, publishing and printing.
13-2732 Book printing.
13-2741 Miscellaneous publishing.
13-2751 Commercial printing.
13-2761 Lithographing.
13-2771 Greeting cards.
13-2781 Bookbinding.
13-2782 Blankbook making and paper ruling.
13-2783 Library and loose-leaf binder manufacturing.
13-2789 Miscellaneous work related to bookbinding.
13-2791 Typesetting.
13-2792 Engraving and plate printing.
13-2793 Photoengraving.
13-2794 Electrotyping and stereotyping.

CHEMICALS AND ALLIED PRODUCTS

93-2811 Sulfuric acid.
93-2812 Alkalies and chlorine.
93-2819 Industrial inorganic chemicals, not elsewhere classified.
64-2821 Cyclic (coal-tar) crudes.
93-2822 Intermediates, dyes, color lakes and toners.
93-2823 Plastics materials and elastomers, except synthetic rubber.
92-2824 Synthetic rubber.
52-2825 Synthetic fibers.
93-2826 Explosives.
93-2829 Industrial organic chemicals, not elsewhere classified.
93-2831 Biological products.
93-2832 Botanical products.
93-2833 Inorganic and organic medicinal chemicals.
93-2834 Pharmaceutical preparations.
22-2841 Soap and glycerin.
22-2842 Cleaning and polishing preparations.
22-2843 Sulfonated oils and assistants.
42-2851 Paints, varnishes, lacquers, japans, and enamels.
93-2852 Inorganic color pigments.
42-2853 Whiting, putty, wood fillers, and allied paint products.
93-2861 Hardwood distillation.
93-2862 Softwood distillation.
93-2863 Gum naval stores.
93-2864 Natural dyeing materials.
93-2865 Natural tanning materials.
24-2871 Fertilizers (manufacturing and mixing).
24-2872 Fertilizers (mixing only).
22-2881 Cottonseed oil mills.
22-2882 Linseed oil mills.
22-2883 Soybean oil mills.
22-2884 Vegetable oil mills, not elsewhere classified.
22-2885 Marine animal oils.
22-2886 Grease and tallow.
22-2687 Fatty acids.
22-2889 Animal oils, not elsewhere classified.
93-2891 Printing ink.
93-2892 Essential oils.
93-2893 Perfumes, cosmetics, and other toilet preparations.
93-2894 Glue and gelatin.
93-2895 Bone black, carbon black, and lamp black.
93-2896 Compressed and liquefied gases.
24-2897 Insecticides and fungicides.
93-2898 Salt.
93-2899 Chemicals and chemical products, not elsewhere classified.

PRODUCTS OF PETROLEUM AND COAL

63-2911 Petroleum refining.
64-2931 Beehive coke ovens.
64-2932 Byproduct coke ovens.
42-2951 Paving mixtures and blocks.
42-2952 Roofing felts and coatings.
64-2991 Fuel briquets and packaged fuel.
63-2992 Lubricating oils and greases not made in petroleum refineries.
63-2999 Products of petroleum and coal, not elsewhere classified.

RUBBER PRODUCTS

92-3011 Tires and inner tubes.
92-3021 Rubber footwear.
92-3031 Reclaimed rubber.
92-3099 Rubber industries, not elsewhere classified.

LEATHER AND LEATHER PRODUCTS

54-3111 Leather tanning and finishing.
44-3121 Industrial leather belting and packing.

54-3131 Boot and shoe cut stock and findings.
54-3141 Footwear (except house slippers and rubber footwear).
54-3142 House slippers.
53-3151 Dress and semidress leather gloves.
53-3152 Leather work gloves and mittens.
74-3161 Suitcases, briefcases, bags, trunks, and other luggage.
53-3171 Women's handbags and purses.
74-3172 Small leather goods.
54-3192 Saddlery, harness, and whips.
54-3199 Leather goods, not elsewhere classified.

STONE, CLAY AND GLASS PRODUCTS

42-3211 Flat glass.
42-3221 Glass containers.
74-3229 Pressed and blown glass and glassware, not elsewhere classified.
74-3231 Glass products made of purchased glass.
42-3241 Cement, hydraulic.
42-3251 Brick and hollow tile.
42-3253 Floor and wall tile, except quarry tile.
42-3254 Sewer pipe.
42-3255 Clay refractories.
42-3259 Structural clay products, not elsewhere classified.
42-3261 Vitreous and semivitreous plumbing fixtures.
74-3262 Vitreous-china table and kitchen articles.
74-3263 Fine earthenware (whiteware) table and kitchen articles.
42-3264 Porcelain electrical supplies.
74-3265 China decorating for the trade.
74-3269 Pottery products, not elsewhere classified.
42-3271 Concrete products.
42-3272 Gypsum products.
42-3274 Lime.
42-3275 Mineral wool.
44-3291 Abrasive products.
42-3292 Asbestos products.
42-3293 Steam and other packing, and pipe and boiler covering.
43-3294 Natural graphite: ground, refined, or blended.
43-3295 Minerals and earths: ground or otherwise treated.
43-3296 Sand-lime brick, block and tile.
43-3297 Nonclay refractories.
43-3298 Statuary and art goods (factory production).

PRIMARY METAL INDUSTRIES

43-3311 Blast furnaces.
43-3312 Steel works and rolling mills.
43-3313 Electrometallurgical products.
43-3321 Gray-iron foundries.
43-3322 Malleable-iron foundries.
43-3323 Steel foundries.
43-3331 Primary smelting and refining of copper.
43-3332 Primary smelting and refining of lead.
43-3333 Primary smelting and refining of zinc.
43-3334 Primary refining of aluminum.
43-3335 Primary refining of magnesium.
43-3339 Primary smelting and refining of nonferrous metals, not elsewhere classified.
43-3341 Secondary smelting and refining of nonferrous metals and alloys.
43-3351 Rolling, drawing, and alloying of copper.
43-3352 Rolling, drawing, and alloying of aluminum.
43-3359 Rolling, drawing, and alloying of nonferrous metals, not elsewhere classified.
43-3361 Nonferrous foundries.
43-3391 Iron and steel forgings.
43-3392 Wire drawing.
43-3393 Welded and heavy-riveted pipe.
43-3399 Primary metal industries, not elsewhere classified.

FABRICATED METAL PRODUCTS (EXCEPT ORDNANCE, MACHINERY AND TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT)

43-3411 Tin cans and other tinware.
74-3421 Cutlery.
74-3422 Edge tools.
74-3423 Hand tools (except edge tools, machine tools, files, and saws).
74-3424 Files.
74-3425 Hand saws and saw blades.
74-3429 Hardware, not elsewhere classified.
42-3431 Enameled-iron and metal sanitary ware and other plumbers' supplies.
42-3432 Oil burners, domestic and industrial.
42-3439 Heating and cooking apparatus (except electric), not elsewhere classified.
42-3441 Fabricated structural steel and ornamental metal work.
42-3442 Metal doors, sash, frames, molding, and trim.
44-3443 Boiler shop products.
42-3444 Sheet-metal work.
74-3461 Vitreous-enameled products.
45-3462 Automobile stampings.
44-3463 Stamped and pressed metal products (except automobile stampings).
43-3464 Powder metallurgy.
44-3465 Enameling, japanning, and lacquering.
44-3466 Galvanizing and other hot-dip coating.
74-3467 Engraving on metal.
44-3468 Electroplating, plating, and polishing.
42-3471 Lighting fixtures.
43-3481 Nails and spikes.
43-3489 Wirework, not elsewhere classified.
43-3491 Metal shipping barrels, drums, kegs, and pails.
72-3492 Safes and vaults.
44-3493 Steel springs.
43-3494 Bolts, nuts, washers, and rivets.
43-3495 Screw-machine products.
43-3496 Collapsible tubes.
43-3497 Gold, silver, tin, aluminum, and other foil.
74-3499 Fabricated metal products, not elsewhere classified.

MACHINERY (EXCEPT ELECTRICAL)

44-3511 Steam engines, turbines, and water wheels.
44-3519 Diesel and semi-Diesel engines; and other internal-combustion engines, not elsewhere classified.
44-3521 Tractors.
44-3522 Agricultural machinery (except tractors).
44-3531 Construction, mining and similar machinery (except oil-field machinery and tools).
44-3532 Oil-field machinery and tools.
44-3541 Machine tools.
44-3542 Metalworking machinery (except machine tools).
44-3543 Machine-tool accessories, other metalworking-machinery accessories, and machinists' precision tools.
44-3551 Food-products machinery.
44-3552 Textile machinery.
44-3553 Woodworking machinery.
44-3554 Paper-industries machinery.
44-3555 Printing-trades machinery and equipment.
44-3559 Special-industry machinery, not elsewhere classified.
44-3561 Pumps, air and gas compressors, and pumping equipment.
44-3562 Elevators and escalators.
44-3563 Conveyors and conveying equipment.
44-3564 Blowers, exhaust and ventilating fans.
44-3565 Industrial trucks, tractors, trailers, and stackers.
44-3566 Mechanical power-transmission equipment (except ball and roller bearings).
44-3567 Industrial furnaces and ovens.
42-3568 Mechanical stokers, domestic and industrial.
44-3569 General industrial machinery and equipment, not elsewhere classified.
72-3571 Computing machines and cash registers.
72-3572 Typewriters.
72-3575 Vending, amusement, and other coin-operated machines.
72-3576 Scales and balances.
72-3579 Office and store machines and devices, not elsewhere classified.
72-3581 Domestic laundry equipment.
44-3582 Commercial laundry, dry-cleaning, and pressing machines.
72-3583 Sewing machines.
72-3584 Vacuum cleaners.
72-3585 Refrigerators, refrigeration machinery, and complete air-conditioning units.
45-3586 Measuring-and-dispensing pumps.
72-3589 Service-industry and household machines, not elsewhere classified.
44-3591 Valves and fittings (except plumbers' valves).
42-3592 Fabricated pipe and fittings.
44-3593 Ball and roller bearings.
44-3599 Machine shops (jobbing and repair).

ELECTRICAL MACHINERY, EQUIPMENT, AND SUPPLIES

44-3611 Wiring devices and supplies.
44-3612 Carbon and graphite products for use in the electrical industry.
44-3613 Instruments for indicating, measuring, and recording electrical quantities and characteristics.
44-3614 Motors, generators, and motor-generator sets.
44-3615 Power and distribution transformers.
44-3616 Switchgear, switchboard apparatus, and industrial controls.
44-3617 Electrical welding apparatus.
44-3619 Electrical equipment for industrial use, not elsewhere classified.
72-3621 Electrical appliances.
44-3631 Insulated wire and cable.
44-3641 Electrical equipment for motor vehicles, aircraft, and railway locomotives and cars.
74-3651 Electric lamps.
74-3661 Radios, radio and television equipment (except radio tubes), radar and related detection apparatus, and phonographs.
44-3662 Radio tubes.
74-3663 Phonograph records.
44-3664 Telephone and telegraph equipment.
44-3669 Communication equipment, not elsewhere classified.
44-3691 Storage batteries.
44-3692 Primary batteries (dry and wet).
44-3693 X-ray and therapeutic apparatus and non-radio electronic tubes.
74-3699 Electrical products, not elsewhere classified.

TRANSPORTATION EQUIPMENT

45-3711 Motor vehicles.
45-3712 Passenger-car bodies.
45-3713 Truck and bus bodies.
45-3714 Motor-vehicle parts and accessories.
45-3715 Truck trailers.
45-3716 Automobile trailers (for attachment to passenger cars).
44-3721 Aircraft.
44-3722 Aircraft engines and engine parts.
44-3723 Aircraft propellers and propeller parts.
44-3729 Aircraft parts and auxiliary equipment, not elsewhere classified.
44-3731 Ship building and repairing.

74–3732 Boat building and repairing.
44–3741 Locomotives and parts.
44–3742 Railroad and street cars.
45–3751 Motorcycles, bicycles, and parts.
74–3799 Transportation equipment, not elsewhere classified.

PROFESSIONAL, SCIENTIFIC, AND CONTROLLING INSTRUMENTS; PHOTOGRAPHIC AND OPTICAL GOODS; WATCHES AND CLOCKS

72–3811 Laboratory, scientific, and engineering instruments (except surgical, medical, and dental).
44–3821 Mechanical measuring and controlling instruments.
72–3831 Optical instruments and lenses.
72–3841 Surgical and medical instruments.
72–3842 Surgical and orthopedic appliances and supplies; and personal safety devices, not elsewhere classified.
72–3843 Dental equipment and supplies.
72–3851 Ophthalmic goods.
74–3861 Photographic equipment and supplies.
74–3871 Watches, clocks, and parts (except watchcases).
74–3872 Watchcases.

MISCELLANEOUS MANUFACTURING INDUSTRIES

74–3911 Jewelry (precious metal).
74–3912 Jewelers' findings and materials.
74–3913 Lapidary work.
74–3914 Silverware and plated ware.
74–3931 Pianos.
74–3932 Organs.
74–3933 Piano and organ parts and materials.
74–3939 Musical instruments, parts, and materials, not elsewhere classified.
73–3941 Games and toys (except dolls, and children's vehicles).
73–3942 Dolls.
74–3943 Children's vehicles.
74–3949 Sporting and athletic goods, not elsewhere classified.
72–3951 Pens, mechanical pencils, and pen points.
72–3952 Lead pencils and crayons.
72–3953 Hand stamps, stencils, and brands.
72–3954 Artists' materials.
72–3955 Carbon paper and inked ribbons.
74–3961 Costume jewelry and costume novelties (except precious metal).
74–3962 Feathers, plumes, and artificial flowers.
74–3963 Buttons.
74–3964 Needles, pins, hooks and eyes, and similar notions.
74–3971 Fabricated plastics products, not elsewhere classified.
74–3981 Brooms and brushes.
42–3982 Cork products.
13–3983 Matches.
74–3984 Candles.
93–3985 Fireworks and pyrotechnics.
74–3986 Jewelry cases and instrument cases.
74–3987 Lamp shades.
72–3988 Morticians' goods.
72–3991 Beauty-shop and barber-shop equipment.
54–3992 Furs, dressed and dyed.
72–3993 Signs and advertising displays.
74–3994 Hair work.
74–3995 Umbrellas, parasols, and canes.
74–3996 Tobacco pipes and cigarette holders.
72–3997 Soda-fountain and beer-dispensing equipment.
44–3998 Models and patterns (except paper patterns).
74–3999 Miscellaneous fabricated products, not elsewhere classified.

ORDNANCE AND ACCESSORIES

[Ceiling Price Regulation 30]

CPR 30—MACHINERY AND RELATED MANUFACTURED GOODS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 30 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

In general this regulation covers the following types of commodities: Prime movers, industrial power apparatus, material working and fabricating machinery, machine tools, farm equipment, automotive equipment and parts (with the exception of passenger automobiles), insulated electric wire and cable, construction and mining machinery, electrical equipment, railroad and street railway equipment, auxiliary industrial equipment, forgings, screw machine products, stampings, fabricated structural steel shapes, plates and bars, industrial, pharmaceutical, optical and laboratory glassware, marine equipment, aircraft parts, related equipment of various kinds, and adjuncts, subassemblies and parts for the foregoing. While the industries dealing in these types of commodities are comprised of many groups, each with special problems, these industries are so closely integrated by force of common marketing practices and production problems that a uniform treatment for these industries as a whole is appropriate. This regulation also covers installation and erection services performed by the manufacturer, or a parent, affiliate or subsidiary of the manufacturer, of the particular commodity which is being installed or erected. This has been done because of the practice of the affected industries of pricing both the commodity and the installation or erection services in substantially the same manner.

This regulation is a companion measure to CPR 22, the Manufacturers General Ceiling Price Regulation. The pricing methods used in this regulation are substantially the same as those used in CPR 22 with certain exceptions which are made necessary by the nature of the industries covered by this regulation. Accordingly, the Statement of Considerations involved in the issuance of CPR 22 is equally applicable to this regulation.

The only substantial area of difference between the pricing technique of this regulation and of CPR 22 is in the determination of base period prices. In the first place, because of the fact that a very substantial number of manufacturers in this area have customarily published list prices, the first base period price, which is required to be used, is the published list price. Beyond that the base period price technique recognizes the long cycle operations common to a majority of the industries and provides for the use of the delivered price only if there was no contract price or written offering price available to the manufacturer as a basis for his price determinations.

One of the most important characteristics of the industries covered by this regulation is that a large proportion of the production is devoted to specially engineered or specially designed commodities. Accordingly, it is necessary in devising price controls for these industries to establish a method by which such commodities may be priced in accordance with industry practice. The pricing methods of this regulation are designed to price such commodities. Further, the pricing method used by this regulation for both modifications of base period commodities and entirely new commodities is adapted to the special problems of the industries producing the commodities covered by this regulation.

For commodities that are modified, the regulation provides that the manufacturer shall determine his base period price by adding or subtracting the increase or decrease in factory cost due to the modification. These costs are determined on the basis of costs in effect to the manufacturer during his base period. For entirely new commodities, the manufacturer determines his base period price by use of the costs and the method of determining price by relation to cost which were in effect during his base period for similar commodities. The additions for increases in costs of manufacturing materials and labor from the end of the base period are made to these base period prices.

The elements of permitted "labor costs" which are recognized for the purpose of determining additions to the pre-Korea base period prices differ from CPR 22 in that field erection and installation labor and product engineering, which is expended directly in the production of a particular commodity, are recognized as elements of "labor costs". This is done because this regulation covers these services and because of the widespread use of such product engineering and its importance as a cost factor in the industries covered by this regulation.

This regulation, like CPR 22, recognizes the cost of expendable tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, and like items as an element of manufacturing materials costs, and for sake of clarity specifically lists these items, which are important to the manufacturers of the commodities covered by this regulation.

Ceiling prices at the resellers' level are not established by this regulation. However, resellers' ceiling prices for the commodities covered by this regulation will be established by a supplementary regulation following closely upon the issuance of this regulation. Until such a supplementary regulation is issued, ceiling prices for sales by resellers of commodities covered by this regulation will continue to be established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

While this regulation is designed to meet the problems of the industries it covers, it is recognized that there may be problems peculiar to some of these industries which may require some variation from the standard methods. Where this necessity is demonstrated by an affected industry, it is proposed to issue a supplementary regulation to treat with such problems.

The wide coverage of this regulation made it impossible to consult in detail with representatives of all the industries affected. However, in the preparation of this regulation conferences were held with many industry and trade association representatives.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable to buyers and sellers alike and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

CEILING PRICES ESTABLISHED

2 Ceiling prices established by this regulation.
3 General description of the pricing technique.

BASE PERIOD PRICES

4 Base period.
5 Category.
6 How to obtain your base period price.
7 Base period prices for commodities offered or delivered during the base period.
8 Base period prices for modified commodities.
9 Base period prices computed by formula.
10 Computation of ceiling price where you are unable to determine your base period cost.

HOW TO CALCULATE THE LABOR COST ADJUSTMENT

11 General description of how to calculate the "labor cost adjustment."
12 How to calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business.
13 How to calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of a unit of your business.

HOW TO CALCULATE THE MATERIALS COST ADJUSTMENT

14 Manufacturing material.
15 General description of the methods available.
16 Omission of certain manufacturing materials from your calculations.
17 Method 1 (Aggregate method).
18 Method 2 (Individual commodity method).
19 Method 3 (Product line method using best selling commodity).
20 Method 4 (Composite bill of materials method).

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BE FOLLOWED IN CALCULATING THE MATERIALS COST ADJUSTMENT

21 General nature of these instructions.

Sec.
22 How to compute the net cost to you of a manufacturing material as of a prescribed date.
23 How to compute net cost as of the applicable prescribed dates where you are using a substitute material not used during the base period.
24 Inclusion of transportation costs in the computation of net cost of a manufacturing material as of a prescribed date.
25 How to calculate the "materials cost adjustment" for joint products or by-products.
26 How to calculate the change in net cost of a manufacturing material which is produced in one unit of your business and transferred to another unit of your business.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CEILING PRICES

27 General nature of these provisions.
28 Rounding ceiling prices.
29 Retention of GCPR ceiling price where the change in price is less than 1%.
30 Requirement for reduction of your ceiling price as otherwise determined for any increase in value of scrap or waste material.
31 Adjustment of ceiling prices quoted on a delivered basis for increases in transportation costs.
32 Optional method for determining a uniform ceiling price for a commodity manufactured in more than one plant.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

33 Export sales.
34 Excise, sales and other similar taxes.
35 Prohibition against redetermination of ceiling prices.
36 Modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization.
37 Recalculation of ceiling prices and announcement of "materials cost increase factors".
38 Adjustable pricing.
39 Petitions for amendment.
40 Supplementary regulations.
41 Adjustment of ceiling prices where overall loss in operations results.
42 Use of "conversion steel" in calculating the "materials cost adjustment".
43 Temporary adjustments to carry out existing contracts.
44 Records and reports.
45 Definitions and explanations.
46 Prohibitions.
47 Transfers of business or stock in trade.
48 Charges lower than ceiling prices.
50 Violation.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 50 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

COVERAGE

SECTION 1. Sellers and sales covered by this regulation—(a) Commodities. This regulation covers you if you are a manufacturer located in the United States, its territories or possessions, or the District of Columbia. It applies to any sale of any new and unused commodity listed in Appendix A as to which you are the manufacturer, except sales at retail. With this exception, this regulation supersedes any regulation previously issued by the OPS, in so far as transactions covered by this regulation are concerned.

(b) Installation or erection services. If you are a manufacturer of a commodity covered by this regulation, or a parent, affiliate, or wholly owned subsidiary of the manufacturer, and you both sell that commodity and furnish the services required to install or erect that commodity, your ceiling price for the installation or erection service, when performed by you, is also established by this regulation.

CEILING PRICES ESTABLISHED

SEC. 2. Ceiling prices established by this regulation. This regulation establishes ceiling prices for commodities dealt in between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950, for modifications of such commodities, for new commodities introduced subsequent to June 24, 1950 and for the services of installation and erection of those commodities. There are also special provisions relating to (a) rounding ceiling prices, (b) retention of ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation where the change is less than 1 percent, (c) reduction of ceiling prices to reflect any increase in the value of scrap or waste material, (d) adjustment of ceiling prices quoted on a delivered basis for increases in transportation costs, and (e) adjustment of ceiling prices for commodities manufactured in more than one of your plants.

SEC. 3. General description of the pricing technique. (a) Your ceiling price to your largest buying class of purchaser for sale of any commodity covered by this regulation is your base period price for the commodity, plus the "labor cost adjustment" and the "materials cost adjustment". Section 45 (Definitions) explains the meaning of your "largest buying class of purchaser". Sections 4 through 9 tell you how to obtain your base period price. Sections 11 through 13 tell you how to calculate the "labor cost adjustment". Sections 14 through 26 tell you how to calculate the "materials cost adjustment". If you do not wish to make either of these calculations, you may use your base period price as your ceiling price to your largest buying class of purchaser. If you wish to calculate only one of the adjustments, you may do so, in which case you will add only the amount of that one adjustment to your base period price.

(b) Your ceiling price for the sale of the commodity to your largest buying class of purchaser must be consistent in every respect with your base period price; that is, it must carry all customary delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees, servicing terms and other terms and conditions of sale.

(c) Your ceiling price for sale of the commodity to your other classes of purchasers to whom you made sales during your base period is determined by applying your price differentials last used during your base period. In the event you made no base period sales to a particular class of purchaser, you apply your customary differentials in effect during your base period, or if none, then those last in effect before your base period. If you are selling to an entirely new class of purchaser you determine your base period price for that class of purchaser under section 9 of this regulation. For each class of purchasers you must maintain all delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees, servicing terms and other terms and conditions of sale last in effect prior to the end of your base period. An explanation of what is meant by "class of purchaser" is found in section 45 (Definitions).

BASE PERIOD PRICES

SEC. 4. Base period. "Base period" refers to the period April 1, through June 24, 1950 or any previous calendar quarter ended not earlier than September 30, 1949, which you may elect to use. Whatever base period you elect must be used for all commodities in the same category. There is an exception in case of a commodity for which you cannot establish a base period price under sections 7, 8 or 9 during the base period you select. In that case, you may use for that commodity any other base period permitted under this section during which you can establish a base period price under the provisions of sections 7, 8 or 9.

SEC. 5. Category. "Category" refers to a group of commodities which are normally classed together in your industry for purposes of production, accounting or sales. This is the same definition as used in section 4 (c) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. You may, however, exclude from any category any commodity or group of related commodities for which the base period you have elected to use for the category is unrepresentative because of special seasonal characteristics of that commodity or group of related commodities. In that case, treat the commodity or related group of commodities as constituting a separate category.

SEC. 6. How to obtain your base period price. The following sections 7, 8 and 9 tell you how to establish your base period price. You must use the first of these sections which is applicable to the commodity being priced. You should note in particular that you may use section 9 only in the event that it is impossible for you to obtain a base period price under the provisions of sections 7 or 8 at any time between July 1, 1949 and June 24, 1950. The following provisions of this section must be applied to every base period price.

(a) If your base period price includes any excise, sales, or other similar tax which is not separately stated, you must follow the instructions contained in section 34.

(b) If your base period price is expressed as a list price less discounts, you make the adjustments of the base period price under section 3 (a) upon the basis of the net price to your largest buying class of purchaser.

Example: Your base period "list" price for commodity A is $12.00 less a 20 percent discount to your largest buying class of purchaser. The "labor cost adjustment" and the "materials cost adjustment" which you are permitted to add to your base period price total $3.84. You first take 80 percent of $12.00, thus applying the 20 percent discount. The resulting amount, $9.60, plus $3.84 equals $13.44, your "net" ceiling price to your largest buying class of purchaser. You can figure your "list" ceiling price by dividing your "net" ceiling price ($13.44) by the same percentage (80 percent), giving $16.80. Applying the 20 percent discount to your largest buying class of purchaser gives you $13.44, or your "net" ceiling price to that class of purchaser.

(c) If, during the base period, you customarily produced the same commodity from two or more manufacturing establishments of your business and sold it at different prices depending upon the place of production, you must obtain a separate base period price and determine a separate ceiling price for each such establishment.

SEC. 7. Base period prices for commodities offered or delivered during the base period. This section refers to prices which you established during the base period by delivering or offering to deliver to a buyer a commodity or an erection or installation service. For these commodities and services you establish your base period price by selecting the first of the following prices which is available with respect to the commodity or service you are pricing:

(a) The highest published list price which you had in effect for your sale of the commodity or service during the base period, adjusted to reflect all applicable extra charges, discounts, or other allowances to your largest buying class of purchaser last in effect prior to the end of your base period.

(b) The highest price at which you either contracted to sell the commodity or service during your base period or made a written offer during your base period to sell the commodity or service. However, such a written offer may be used only if it was accepted in writing prior to October 1, 1950. This price must be adjusted to reflect all applicable extra charges and discounts or other allowances to your largest buying class of purchaser last in effect prior to the end of your base period.

(c) The highest price at which you delivered the commodity or service during your base period, adjusted to reflect all applicable extra charges and discounts or other allowances to your largest buying class of purchaser last in effect prior to the end of your base period.

SEC. 8. Base period prices for modified commodities. The provisions of this section refer only to a commodity (new and unused) for which you are able to establish a base period price under section 7 and which you have substantially modified subsequent to the end of your base period. (If the modification constitutes only a minor change in design or construction which does not substantially affect unit manufacturing materials cost or materially alter the services given by the commodity, your base period price for the modified commodity shall be the same as your base period price for the commodity before modification.) The increase or decrease in your cost resulting from any substantial change in design, specifications or equipment which you make in such a commodity shall be figured under this section and shall be added to or subtracted from your base period price of the commodity before modification. The resulting figure shall be your base period price for the modified commodity to your largest buying class of purchasers. The method for computing this change in cost is as follows:

(a) You first figure the increase and decrease in the costs listed in this paragraph (a) which are attributable to the change in design, specifications, or equipment. This change in costs shall be figured by using:

(1) Factory labor cost at straight time labor rates in effect in your plant at the end of your base period for the labor cost added or eliminated. (In this computation you must use the method set forth in section 9 (d)).

(2) Direct material cost determined by using material and parts prices in effect to you at the end of your base period for the materials and parts both added and eliminated. (In this computation you must use the method set forth in section 9 (e). If you are unable to determine your base period cost for any material in accordance with the provisions of section 9 (h), you must apply the provisions of section 10.)

(3) Your base period cost for subcontracted services, determined under the method set forth in section 9 (f), plus transportation costs which you paid for shipment to you from the subcontractor. These transportation costs must not be in excess of the cost of transportation determined on the basis of the rates in effect at the end of your base period.

(4) Royalty payments, if any, determined at the rate you actually paid.

(5) If you sell the commodity on a freight allowed or a delivered price basis, transportation charges not in excess of those you had in effect at the end of your base period. These charges must be computed on the basis of the practice you had last in effect prior to the end of your base period.

(6) Where you sell the commodity on an installed or erected basis, the increase or decrease in the cost of installation or erection due to the modification of the commodity, figured in accordance with subparagraphs (1), (2), and (3), inclusive, of this paragraph.

(b) You shall then add or subtract the net increase or decrease in cost calculated under the provisions of paragraph (a) to or from your base period price for the commodity before modification.

SEC. 9. Base period prices computed by formula. This section is applicable only to a commodity (new and unused) or to an installation or erection service for which you cannot determine the base period price under sections 7 or 8 of this regulation. You determine your base period price for such a commodity or service by using either the price determining method which you last had in effect during your base period, or if you had no price determining method in effect during your base period, by using a price determining method approved by OPS. You use this price determining method to determine a base period price for the commodity or service to your largest buying class of purchasers.

(a) Price determining method where you had one in effect during your base period. You shall use the method of determining price by relation to cost that you last had in effect during your base period for determining the selling prices of commodities or services of the same or a similar type. This means that you must use the overhead rates, machine hour rates, if any, rates for general administrative and selling expenses, profit markup, discounts, and allowances, and any other bases of computing price by relation to cost that were last in use in your plant, or in your field operations, during your base period and are applicable to the commodity or service being priced.

(b) Price determining method where you had none in effect during your base period. If you had no method of determining price by relation to cost in effect during your base period for commodities or services of the same or a similar type, you must file a proposed price determining method with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., before you deliver any commodity, or furnish any service, which is covered by this section. This price determining method must relate to labor and material costs, shop overhead rates, administrative and selling expenses, other cost factors, and profit margins, insofar as they are applicable, which you had in effect in your plant, or in your field operations, during your base period, for comparable commodities or services. As soon as you decide upon such a price determining method, you shall file a report by registered mail with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

(1) Report. This report shall set forth a detailed description of the proposed price determining method; a detailed explanation of all factors included in the proposed price determining method and the manner in which they were determined and are applied; and a representative sample of prices computed in accordance with the proposed price determining method, showing in detail how they were computed.

After receipt of this report, OPS may approve the proposed price determining method, require you to file a revised price determining method, or establish a different price determining method. If the OPS fails to act within thirty days after it receives the required report (or any verification of the facts stated in the report that may be requested), the proposed price determining method shall be deemed to be approved. However, OPS may disapprove this price determining method at any time. Such disapproval will not be retroactive as to any deliveries made before the date of the disapproval. In the event that the OPS finds that your production experience does not yet warrant the establishment of a permanent price determining method, it may either establish, or give temporary approval to, a price determining method and require further filing under this paragraph at a later date.

(2) Interim pricing. Prior to receipt of approval by the OPS of the proposed price determining method, or prior to the expiration of the thirty day period after receipt by the OPS of the required report (or of any verification of the facts stated in the report that may be requested), you may quote or charge prices determined in accordance with the proposed price determining method. However, until a price determining method has been established under this paragraph (b) not more than 75 percent of this price may be paid or received.

(c) Application of price determining method. You must apply your base period price determining method, or the price determining method approved by the OPS, in accordance with paragraphs (d) to (j), inclusive, of this section 9.

(d) Direct labor costs—(1) Method of determining base period direct labor costs. You shall determine direct labor costs by multiplying the straight-time labor rate for each classification of labor last in effect during your base period (see subparagraph (2) of this paragraph) by the estimated number of clock hours of that classification of labor. This estimate of the number of clock hours shall be based on previous production experience. If, during your base period, you used an average rate to determine labor costs, you shall determine labor costs by using the method of computing the average, last in effect during your base period, and labor rates determined in accordance with subparagraph (2).

(2) Labor rates. The rates used in determining allowable direct labor costs shall be the rate in your plant, or in your field operations, for each classification of labor that was last prevailing during your base period. If you require the use of labor of a classification not employed by you in your plant or in your field operation during your base period, you shall use as the rate for that classification of labor, the rate last prevailing during your base period in the locality in which the manufacturing, or erection or installation, is to be performed. If labor of that classification was not employed in that locality during your base period, you shall use the rate last prevailing during your base period in the most comparable locality, as accurately as you are able to determine that rate by the use of reasonable diligence.

(3) Overtime and shift premium. In calculating a base period price computed by formula, generally you are required to use as elements of the formula only straight-time labor rates. After you have calculated a base period price in this way, you may add an amount for overtime or shift premium, if that will be required to produce the commodity. You may not add overtime or shift premium, however, where the commodity is one which will be sold by you pursuant to a published list price or will be sold by you to a person who will resell the commodity without substantially altering its form.

The amount to be added for overtime or shift premium shall be determined by multiplying the estimated number of overtime or shift premium hours, which you expect will be required to produce the commodity, by the overtime or shift premium rate in your plant, or in your field operations, for each classification of labor that was last prevailing during your base period. If you require the use of labor of a classification not employed by you in your plant, or in your field operations, during your base period, you shall use as the rate for that classification of labor, the rate last prevailing during your base period in the locality in which the manufacturing, or erection or installation, is to be performed. If labor of that classification was not employed in that locality during your base period, you shall use the rate last prevailing during your base period in the most comparable locality, as accurately as you are able to determine that rate by the use of reasonable diligence.

(e) Material costs. You shall determine the allowable cost of purchased raw materials, processed and fabricated materials, and parts or subassemblies as follows: Multiply the base period cost for each material, part or subassembly by the estimated quantity of that material, part or subassembly. This estimate of the quantity of the material, part or subassembly, which is to be used in the production, or installation or erection, of the commodity shall be based upon your previous production experience.

(f) Subcontracted services. If, during the base period, you processed a material or produced a part in your own plant, you may not use in your computations any cost for subcontracting of the processing of the material or the making of the part in excess of your base period cost of the processing of the material or the making of the part in your own plant. In all other cases, if you have materials processed or parts made by a subcontractor, you shall use your base period cost for such subcontracted services.

(g) Expendable tools, etc. To the extent that your base period price determining method includes, or is based upon, prices paid for expendable tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, moulds, patterns or work-holding devices, you must use your base period cost for such items in calculating your base period price.

(h) Base period cost. To determine the base period cost to you for materials, parts, subassemblies, subcontracted services, or expendable tools, dies, jigs, fixtures, moulds, patterns or work-holding devices, you use the first of the following prices available to you. In no event may the price you use be in excess of the ceiling price under the applicable ceiling price regulation. If you use subparagraphs (2), (3) or (4) of this paragraph, you must disregard any price based upon a departure from your normal buying practices. Such a departure would include quantities smaller than those you usually purchase or contract for, or use of a more distant or different class of supplier (other than the United States), or use of subcontracted services in an amount in excess of that used in your base period. For example, you must disregard any price based upon a change in your source of supply from a manufacturer to a reseller or warehouseman or from a domestic to a foreign source of supply. Likewise, you must disregard any price which is based upon a purchase of conversion steel, except as permitted in section 42. If you are unable to determine your base period cost in accordance with the methods set forth in subparagraphs (1) to (4), inclusive, you must apply the provisions of section 10.

(1) The exchange quotation for the nearest monthly contract as of the close of business on the last date in your base period (or the nearest preceding date for which such a quotation is available) for any commodity traded regularly upon a commodity exchange operating under the jurisdiction of the Commodity Exchange Authority.

(2) The net price per unit of the material, part, subassembly, or expendable tool, die, jig, fixture, mould, pattern or work-holding device shown on the invoice for the last delivery of the particular commodity or service to you prior to the end of your base period. If, however, the delivery was received more than thirty days prior to the end of your base period or was pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than sixty days prior to the end of your base period, you need not use this subparagraph (2). If within thirty days prior to the end of your base period, you received more than one delivery of the same commodity or service, you must use an average cost. You obtain this average cost by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the commodity or service during the thirty-day period preceding the end of your base period by the total number of units of the commodity or service delivered to you during that period.

(3) The net price per unit of the commodity or service stipulated in the written contract for the commodity or service last prior to the end of your base period, provided that it was entered into not more than sixty days prior thereto.

(4) The net price per unit of the commodity or service stipulated in the written offer for sale of the commodity or service to you made last prior to the end of your base period, provided that the offer was made within sixty days of the end of your base period and that you still have the written offer or obtain a copy of it from the offeror.

(i) Transportation costs. If you pay any transportation costs for inbound shipments, you may add these costs to the materials cost or cost of subcontracted services determined by you under (e) and (f). In determining these transportation costs you must use freight rates last in effect during your base period. If during your base period you had in effect a method of averaging transportation costs, you may continue to use that method of averaging transportations costs. The addition of transportation costs is, of course, subject to the limitations in paragraph (h) with respect to obtaining commodities or services from normal sources of supply.

(j) Purchaser's allowance for scrap or waste. Where your base period price determining method included an allowance to the purchaser for scrap or waste, generated during the manufacturing process, this allowance shall be determined as follows:

(1) If, during the base period, you determined the amount of this allowance by the current market price, you shall multiply the estimated quantity of scrap or waste by its last market price during your base period.

(2) If, during the base period, you determined the amount of this allowance by a percentage of the current market price, you shall first multiply the last market price in effect for the scrap or waste during your base period by the percentage of the market price you were using during your base period, and then multiply the result by the estimated quantity of scrap or waste.

SEC. 10. Computation of ceiling price where you are unable to determine your base period cost. This section applies if you are unable to determine your base period cost of any material, part, subassembly, subcontracted service, or expendable tool, die, jig, fixture, mould, pattern or work-holding device, which you use in the production of a commodity for which you must obtain a base period price under sections 8 or 9. This material, part, subassembly, subcontracted service, or expendable tool, die, jig, fixture, mould, pattern or work-holding device will be referred to in this section as the "item". You must apply paragraph (a) of this section if you are using section 8 and you must apply paragraph (b) if you are using section 9.

(a) If you are obtaining a base period price for a modified commodity under section 8:

(1) You compute the increase or decrease in cost attributable to the modification under the applicable provisions of section 8 but you disregard the cost of the "item" in calculating this increase or decrease in costs.

(2) Using the figure you find under subparagraph (1), you complete the calculations required by section 8.

(3) Using the figure you derive under subparagraph (2) as your base period price for the modified commodity, you compute your ceiling price under section 3 (a).

(4) You determine your current cost, not in excess of the applicable ceiling price, for the "item" you disregarded in subparagraph (1).

(5) You add the figures you find under subparagraph (3) and (4). This is your ceiling price for the modified commodity.

(b) If you are obtaining a base period price for a new commodity under section 9:

(1) You compute the base period price of the commodity in accordance with your base period price determining method or your OPS approved price determining method, as the case may be, but you disregard the cost of the "item" in computing your base period price.

(2) Using the figure you derive under subparagraph (1) as your base period price, you compute your ceiling price under section 3 (a).

(3) You determine your current cost, not in excess of the applicable ceiling price, of the "item" you disregarded in the computation under subparagraph (1) and add to this your markup over total costs, less selling and general administrative expense, which is provided in the price determining method you used in subparagraph (1).

(4) You add the totals found under subparagraphs (2) and (3). This is your ceiling price for the new commodity.

HOW TO CALCULATE THE LABOR COST ADJUSTMENT

SEC. 11. General description of how to calculate the "labor cost adjustment." Sections 12 and 13 tell how to calculate the "labor cost adjustment." The calculations under both sections are designed to yield an average percentage increase in your factory labor cost based upon net sales and factory payroll data for your last fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950. The percentage is referred to as your "labor cost adjustment factor." Under section 12, the net sales and factory payroll data are for your entire business and the labor cost adjustment factor will be applied uniformly to the base period prices for all of your commodities. Under section 13, the net sales and factory payroll data are for a unit of your business and the labor cost adjustment factor will be applied uniformly to the base period prices of all commodities produced in that unit. If the commodities produced in the several units of your business have experienced significantly different labor cost increases, it will probably be to your advantage to use section 13 so as to reflect these differences more appropriately.

SEC. 12. How to calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business. To calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business, you do the following:

(a) Find the dollar amount of your net sales, and of your factory payroll for your entire business for your last fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950. You may not include in factory payroll labor costs which are part of general and administrative expenses, sales and advertising expenses, distribution costs, purchasing costs, cost of major repairs or replacement of plant or equipment, cost of expansion of plant or equipment, or general research not directly applied to current production. You may include in factory payroll, however, such items as—direct labor, factory supervision, factory service labor (including ordinary maintenance of plant or equipment), factory stores labor (including materials control), factory quality control labor (including testing or inspection), painting, packaging, and crating labor, field erection and installation labor, and product engineering and development labor which is directly applied to current production or to current installation or erection.

(b) Divide the dollar amount of your factory payroll found under (a) by the dollar amount of your net sales found under (a). This will show what percentage your factory payroll is of your net sales. This percentage is referred to as your "labor cost ratio."

(c) Find the dollar amount of your factory payroll, as limited in paragraph (a) of this section, for your last payroll period ended not later than the end of your base period (if your base period is April 1 through June 24, 1950, you should use your last payroll period ended not later than June 30, 1950). The term "end of your base period" is explained in section 45 (Definitions). This payroll is referred to as "your base period payroll." Compute what the dollar amount of your base period payroll would have been upon the basis of your wage rates in effect on March 15, 1951. This is referred to as "your recomputed payroll." You may add to your recomputed payroll a dollar amount to reflect, for the labor covered by that payroll, any increase between the end of your base period and March 15, 1951, in the cost to you of insurance plans, pension contributions for current work, paid vacations and similar "fringe benefits." You may make the calculations called for by this paragraph in whatever appropriate way is best adapted to your accounting records and your basis of wage payments, e. g., hourly rates, piecework, or any other system of wage payments used by you.

(d) Divide the dollar amount of the difference between your recomputed payroll and your base period payroll by your base period payroll. The resulting percentage is referred to as your "wage increase factor".

(e) Multiply your labor cost ratio derived under (b) by your wage increase factor derived under (d). The resulting percentage is referred to as your "labor cost adjustment factor".

(f) Multiply the base period price of the commodity being priced by your labor cost adjustment factor. The resulting amount is the "labor cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

(g) If you use this section, it must be used for all of your commodities.

Example:

(1) Your fiscal year is the calendar year. Your net sales for the twelve months ended December 31, 1950, were $1,000,000. Your factory payroll for the year was $300,000 (the required exclusions having been made in arriving at this figure).

(2) $300,000 divided by $1,000,000 is 30 percent. This is your "labor cost ratio".

(3) Your factory payroll for the week ended June 24, 1950, was $6,000 (the required exclusions having been made in arriving at this figure). At wage rates in effect March 15, 1951, the payroll would have been $6,500. In addition, you have also granted longer paid vacations and a more liberal insurance plan which amounts to the equivalent of two and one-half cents per hour. The number of hours covered by your base period payroll was 4,000. Consequently the increased "fringe benefits" add an extra $100 per week to your factory labor cost for the March 15, 1951, period. This makes your recomputed payroll at March 15, 1951, wage rates $6,600, or a total increase of $600.

(4) $600 divided by $6,000 is 10 percent. This is your "wage increase factor".

(5) 30 percent multiplied by 10 percent is 3 percent. This is your "labor cost adjustment factor."

(6) If your base period price was $100, you multiply $100 by 3 percent, giving $3, the "labor cost adjustment".

SEC. 13. How to calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of a unit of your business. To calculate the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of a unit of your business, you do the following:

(a) Find the dollar amount of your net sales, and of your factory payroll for your last fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950, relating to a unit of your business for which you regularly maintain separate accounts and in which the commodity being priced is produced. You must include in net sales the value, as shown on your records, of any transfer of a commodity or material from that unit to another unit of your business. If your records do not show a value you may not use this section. The provisions of section 12 (a) as to what may be included in factory payroll apply.

(b) Using the data found under (a) you make the calculations prescribed in paragraphs (b), (c), (d), (e) and (f) of section 12, for the unit of your business to which the data relate. This will give you the "labor cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

(c) This section may be used only for commodities produced in the particular unit of your business to which the net sales and factory payroll data relate, and must be used for all commodities produced in that unit.

HOW TO CALCULATE THE MATERIALS COST ADJUSTMENT

SEC. 14. Manufacturing material. You will need to become familiar with the term "manufacturing material" in the following sections. The term "manufacturing material" does not include materials or subcontracted industrial services used in replacing, maintaining or expanding your plant or equipment, or other materials or supplies, the use of which is not directly dependent upon the rate at which you manufacture the commodity being priced or install or erect the commodity. It refers to a material entering directly into the commodity being priced or used directly in the manufacturing processes from which the commodity results, or used directly in the installation or erection of the commodity, together with packaging materials, containers (other than returnable containers), purchased fuel, steam or electric energy, and subcontracted industrial services which are directly related to the manufacture of the commodity, or which are directly related to the installation or erection of the commodity. It also includes the following tools, supplies and materials if they are expended directly in the production of the commodity being priced or in the installation or erection of the commodity:

Binders (such as oil, pitch, paste, etc.).
Chalk.
Core sand and core oil.
Cutting oils and compounds used in processing departments.
Cutting tools (such as drills, saws, reamers and grinding wheels).
Deoxidizing agents (such as aluminum, copper chromium, beryllium, phosphorus, etc.).
Facings (such as graphite, soap stone, sea-coal, etc.).
Flux.
Laboratory supplies or photographic supplies used for quality control purposes.
Molders sand.
Polishing compounds.
Slushing oil.
Timber.
Welding rods and supplies.

It also includes the following commodities only if they are permitted to be included as expense items for Federal tax purposes:

Core boxes.
Dies.
Foundry flasks.
Jigs or fixtures.
Patterns.
Plate shop and sheet metal holders.
Templates.

SEC. 15. General description of the methods available. (a) There are four alternative methods available to you for calculating the "materials cost adjustment". You should use the one best suited to your particular situation. Only manufacturing materials may be taken into account in your calculations and you will measure their change in cost to you between prescribed dates. You are permitted, however, to omit any manufacturing material which is not significant or whose cost has not decreased between the prescribed dates. This section only contains general descriptions, as an aid to understanding. The exact provisions which are in the following sections are controlling.

(1) Method 1. Method 1 allows you to measure the increase in your manufacturing materials costs upon the basis of a unit of your business not larger than a plant, or, if you have only one plant, upon the basis of your entire business. Under this method, which is set forth in section 17, you calculate a percentage increase in your manufacturing materials costs upon the basis of net sales and materials put into production during a yearly accounting period. If you make the calculations upon the basis of your entire business, you apply the percentage increase uniformly to all of your commodities. If the calculations are upon the basis of separate units of your business, you apply the percentage increase for each unit uniformly to all of the commodities produced in that unit. There are specific limitations upon the use of this method where you have had significant substitution of materials.

(2) Method 2. Method 2 is for an individual commodity and is based upon the increase in your unit manufacturing materials cost for that commodity. Under this method the "materials cost adjustment" will ordinarily differ for each commodity. You should probably use this method, therefore, if the various commodities you produce have had substantially different material cost increases since the end of your base period, or vary widely from each other in the ratio between unit manufacturing materials cost and sales price. This method, however, is more burdensome because it requires a separate calculation for each commodity.

(3) Method 3. Method 3 is for a product line and is based upon the increase in your unit manufacturing materials cost for the best selling commodity in the product line. A percentage figure for this increase is derived which is applied to the base period price of each commodity in the product line. This method may be more appropriate than Method 2 if you have a number of closely related commodities whose material cost increases have been about the same.

(4) Method 4. Method 4 may also be used for a product line, or it may be used for a category. It is based upon the increase in the cost of the bill of materials used in producing the goods sold during an accounting period of three months or less. Like Methods 1 and 3 it yields a uniform materials cost adjustment factor for all commodities in the product line or category. If your records are in a form which permits you to use this method, you may find it simpler to apply than Method 1.

(b) You may select whichever one of the four methods you consider best suited to the nature of your business and most adaptable to the records you maintain. If you select the first, third or fourth method, you must use it for each commodity in the particular unit of your business (or for all of your commodities if your calculations are based upon your entire business), product line or category involved.

SEC. 16. Omission of certain manufacturing materials from your calculations. Under any of the four alternative methods which you use for calculating the "materials cost adjustment" you may omit from your calculations any manufacturing material which is not significant or whose cost to you has not increased between the prescribed dates. Consequently, a reference to "each manufacturing material" under any of the four methods means each such material you are including in your calculations.

SEC. 17. Method 1 (Aggregate method). To calculate the "material cost adjustment" under this method, you do the following:

(a) Find the dollar amount of your net sales for your last fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950, for your entire business, or for a unit of your business for which you regularly maintain accounts and in which the commodity being priced is produced. You may not, however, use your entire business for this calculation if you operate more than one plant. Nor may you use a unit of your business which includes the output of more than one plant, although you may use a unit less inclusive than a plant. If you use a unit of your business, you must include in net sales the value of any commodity or material transferred from that unit to another unit of your business. The value shall be that shown in your records. If your records do not show a value, you may not use that unit of your business for making your calculations.

(b) Multiply the physical amount of each manufacturing material which you used during the same fiscal year either in your entire business or in a unit of your business, whichever you are calculating on, by the dollars-and-cents amount of the change in net cost per unit of the material to you between the end of your base period and December 31, 1950. The term "end of your base period" is explained in section 45 (Definitions). For any material listed in Appendix B you may figure the change to March 15, 1951. Before starting to figure the change in net cost per unit of the material, you should read carefully the instructions contained in sections 21 through 26.

(c) Add together the resulting figures derived under (b) which represent increases in net cost. Do the same with the resulting figures which represent decreases in net cost. Subtract the total of the decreases from the total of the increases.

(d) Divide the final figure derived under (c) by the amount of your net sales found under (a). The resulting percentage is referred to as your "materials cost adjustment factor".

(e) Multiply the base period price of the commodity being priced by your materials cost adjustment factor. This will give the "materials cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

(f) If you use this section and your calculations are based upon your entire business, the materials cost adjustment factor which you derive must be used for all of your commodities. If your calculations are based upon a particular unit of your business, the materials cost adjustment factor which you derive must be used for all commodities produced in that unit and may not be used for commodities produced in any other unit of your business.

(g) You may not use this section if you have replaced, in any significant degree, the materials used by you during the base period with lower-priced substitute materials. (For example, if you are a manufacturer of automotive parts and you are now using a significantly large percentage of steel to replace the copper and brass you used during your base period, you may not use this method.)

SEC. 18. Method 2 (individual commodity method). To calculate the "materials cost adjustment" under this method, you do the following:

(a) Find the physical amount of each manufacturing material which you normally used in the base period per unit of the commodity being priced.

(b) Multiply this physical amount of each of these manufacturing materials by the change in its net cost per unit to you between (1) the last day of the base period you elected for the commodity being priced and (2) December 31, 1950. For any material listed in Appendix B you may figure the change to March 15, 1951. Before starting to figure the change in net cost, you should read carefully the instructions contained in sections 21 through 26.

(c) Add together the resulting figures derived under (b) which represent increases in net cost. Do the same with the resulting figures which represent decreases in net cost. The difference between these totals is the "materials cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

Example: The commodity you are pricing uses three different manufacturing materials. For each unit of the commodity, you require 5 pounds of material A, 10 pounds of material B, and 1 pound of material C. Before the end of your base period material A cost you $1.00 per pound, material B $2.00 per pound and material C $0.50 per pound. Your net cost per unit of material A on your last invoice before December 31, 1950, was $1.50 and for material B it was still $2.00. Material C is listed in Appendix B; your last invoice prior to March 15, 1951, was $1.00 per pound. Your increase for material A was, therefore, 5 multiplied by 50 cents (the difference between $1.50 and $1.00) or $2.50. Material B has not changed in price and may, therefore, be omitted. For material C, 1 pound multiplied by 50 cents equals 50 cents. In addition, the commodity was heat treated for you by an outside contractor at a cost of $1.00 per unit before the end of your base period and the price for this service as of March 15, 1951, was $1.25, a difference of 25 cents. Your materials cost increase for the commodity is, therefore, $2.50 for material A, 50 cents for material C, and 25 cents for the heat treating service, or a total of $3.25. This is the "materials cost adjustment".

SEC. 19. Method 3 (product line method using best selling commodity). This method is essentially the same as Method 2 except that the calculations are made for the best selling commodity in a product line. To calculate the "materials cost adjustment" under this method, you do the following:

(a) Select the best selling commodity in the product line of which the commodity being priced is a part.

(1) "Product line" refers to a group of closely related commodities which differ in such respects as model, size or brand name and which are normally classed together as a product line in your industry. Generally speaking, each commodity in the same product line must serve the same purpose and must be made by the same manufacturing process from substantially the same materials. A product line may never be broader than a category and usually will be narrower. The relationship between the commodities will normally be substantially closer in a product line than in a category. For example, milling machines, lathes and screw machines are separate product lines, but a single category of machine tools.

(2) The "best selling commodity" refers to the commodity in a product line which accounted for the greatest dollar volume of sales in the product line in your base period.

(b) Using the best selling commodity, make the calculations prescribed in section 18. This will give the "materials cost adjustment" for the best selling commodity, i. e., the amount to be added to its base period price.

(c) Divide the "materials cost adjustment" by the base period price of the best selling commodity. The resulting percentage is referred to as your "materials cost adjustment factor".

(d) Apply your materials cost adjustment factor to the base period price of each commodity in the product line. The resulting figure for each commodity is the "materials cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price of that commodity in accordance with section 3 (a).

(e) If you use this section it must be used for each commodity in the product line for which you have made your calculations.

Example: You have three commodities in a product line, whose base period prices were $8, $10 and $12, respectively. The best selling item was the $10 commodity. The "materials cost adjustment" for that commodity calculated under section 18 was $2, or 20%. The "materials cost adjustment" for the $8 commodity is, therefore, 20% of $8, or $1.60, and for the $12 commodity, 20% of $12, or $2.40.

SEC. 20. Method 4 (composite bill of materials method). Under this method you make your calculations for the increase in your manufacturing materials cost for a product line or a category. To calculate the "materials cost adjustment" under this method, you do the following:

(a) Find the total net sales of all commodities in the product line or category for your last complete accounting period of three months or less ended not later than the last day of your base period (or if your base period is April 1 through June 24, 1950, ended not later than June 30, 1950). You must include in net sales the value, as shown in your records, of any transfer of a commodity in that product line or category to another unit of your business. If your records do not show a value, you may not use this section for that product line or category.

(b) Find the total physical amount of each manufacturing material used in producing the commodities in that product line or category sold in that accounting period. (Note that, in contrast to Method 1, you find here the physical bill of materials used in producing the goods sold in a short accounting period; while, under Method 1, you find the aggregate quantities of materials used, i. e., put into the production process, in an annual accounting period.)

(c) Multiply this total physical amount by the dollars-and-cents change, between (1) the end of your base period and (2) December 31, 1950, in net cost to you per unit of the material used. For any material listed in Appendix B you may figure the change to March 15, 1951. Add together the resulting figures which represent increases in net cost. Do the same with the resulting figures which represent decreases in the net cost. The difference between these totals is your increase in manufacturing materials cost. Before starting to figure the change in net cost you should read carefully the instructions contained in sections 21 through 26.

(d) Divide your increase in manufacturing materials cost derived under (c) by the amount of your net sales found under (a). This percentage is referred to as your "materials cost adjustment factor."

(e) Apply your materials cost adjustment factor derived under (d) to the base period price of the commodity being priced. The resulting figure is the "materials cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

(f) You may use this section only if you use it for each commodity included in the product line or category.

SPECIAL INSTRUCTIONS TO BE FOLLOWED IN CALCULATING THE MATERIALS COST ADJUSTMENT

SEC. 21. General nature of these instructions. Section 22 will apply to your calculations irrespective of which of the four alternative methods you use. Sections 23 through 26 may be applicable to you depending upon whether you are covered by certain described situations which are briefly indicated by the section headings and opening sentence of the section.

SEC. 22. How to compute the net cost to you of a manufacturing material as of a prescribed date. Under any of the four alternative methods you may use for calculating the "materials cost adjustment," you must figure the change, between prescribed dates, in the net cost to you per unit of each manufacturing material included in your calculations. (The earlier "prescribed date" is June 24, 1950, or another date depending on the base period you elected. The later "prescribed date" is December 31, 1950, or March 15, 1951.) To determine the net cost to you per unit of a manufacturing material as of a prescribed date, you use the first of the following prices available to you. In no event may the price you use be in excess of the ceiling price under a ceiling price regulation in effect on the date of issuance of this regulation. If you use paragraphs (c), (d) or (e) of this section, you must disregard any price based upon a departure from your normal buying practices. Such a departure would include quantities smaller than those you usually purchase or contract for, or use of a more distant or different class of supplier (other than the United States) or use of subcontracted industrial services in an amount in excess of that used in your base period. For example, you must disregard any price based upon a change in your source of supply from a manufacturer to a reseller or warehouseman or from a domestic to a foreign source of supply. Likewise you must disregard any price which is based upon a purchase of conversion steel, except as permitted in section 42.

(a) The exchange quotation for the nearest monthly contract as of the close of business on the prescribed date (or the nearest preceding date for which such a quotation is available) for any commodity traded regularly upon a commodity exchange operating under the jurisdiction of the Commodity Exchange Authority and you must use the quotation for both of the prescribed dates. Also, you must use the same commodity exchange for both of the prescribed dates. If the commodity is one which is not itself quoted on such an exchange but another grade of that commodity is so quoted, you may use the exchange quotation for such other grade provided you do so for both of the prescribed dates.

(b) The net price per unit of the material shown on the invoice for the last delivery of the material to you prior to the prescribed date. If, however, the delivery was received more than 30 days prior to the prescribed date or was pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into more than 60 days prior to the prescribed date, you may not use this paragraph (b). If within 30 days prior to each of the applicable prescribed dates, you received more than one delivery of the same manufacturing material, you must use an average price for each such date. You obtain this average price by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the material during each of the 30-day periods by the total number of units of the material delivered to you during each period. The average price for each period is the price you use for each of the respective prescribed dates.

(c) The net price per unit of the material stipulated in the written contract for the material which you entered into last prior to the prescribed date, provided that it was entered into not more than 60 days prior thereto.

(d) The net price per unit of the material stipulated in the written offer for sale of the material to you made last prior to the prescribed date provided that the offer was made within 60 days prior to the prescribed date and that you still have the written offer or obtain a copy of it from the offeror.

(e) If none of the foregoing is available to you for one or both of the applicable prescribed dates, you may apply to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for an appropriate increase in the cost of the manufacturing material for use in your calculations. If you make such an application, you must refer specifically to this paragraph; you must describe the commodity being priced and the manufacturing material; you must propose the amount of increase per unit of the manufacturing material you consider appropriate based upon what you would have paid for the material if you had purchased it on each of the applicable prescribed dates, you must set forth in detail supporting reasons and why this paragraph is applicable; and you must state the base period price of the commodity and the ceiling price you propose. You must file this application before using the increase you propose. Although you need not await a reply from the Director of Price Stabilization before using the increase you propose, he may at any time disapprove the increase you propose, stipulate the amount of increase which he will approve or request additional information.

SEC. 23. How to compute net cost as of the applicable prescribed dates where you are using a substitute material not used during the base period. In the case of a substitute material not used by you during the base period (or used in lesser quantities or proportions) in the manufacture of the commodity being priced, you must, if you are using Methods 2, 3 or 4 for calculating the "materials cost adjustment," compute the net cost to you as of the end of your base period of the physical amounts of the materials normally used by you in your base period and the net cost to you as of December 31, 1950, or March 15, 1951, whichever date is applicable, of the physical amounts of the materials normally used by you now. Since this calculation cannot be made accurately under Method 1 (section 17), you may not use that method for any unit of your business in which you are now using significant quantities of a substitute material whose current unit cost is lower than the current unit cost of the material used by you during the base period. However, if the current unit cost of the substitute material is the same or higher than the current unit cost of the material used by you during the base period, you may use Method 1 but without making any allowance for the higher cost of the substitute material.

SEC. 24. Inclusion of transportation costs in the computation of net cost of a manufacturing material as of a pre- scribed date. If a quotation, invoice, contract or written offer which you use under section 22 did not include transportation costs for delivery of the material to you, you may add the actual amount of the transportation costs which you paid or would have paid for delivery of the material to you, provided that you include them in your determination of the net price of the material as of both dates.

SEC. 25. How to calculate the "materials cost adjustment" for joint products or by-products. This section will concern you only if you manufacture joint products or by-products. If two or more commodities result from the same manufacturing operation or from common materials and you are unable to compute the unit manufacturing materials costs for each under section 18, you calculate the "materials cost adjustment" for each as follows:

(a) Establish an appropriate combined unit of production in which are represented the several commodities in the proportions in which they result from the same manufacturing operation or from common materials.

(b) Find the dollar value of the combined unit of production using base period prices for each commodity, determined in accordance with sections 7, 8 or 9, as the case may be.

(c) Using the same calculations as in section 18 (substituting, of course, the combined unit of production for the unit referred to therein), compute the increase in manufacturing materials cost per combined unit of production.

(d) Divide the increase in manufacturing materials cost per combined unit of production by the dollar value of that unit as determined under (b) above.

(e) Apply this percentage to the base period price of each of the commodities being priced. The resulting figure for each commodity is the "materials cost adjustment" to be added to the base period price in accordance with section 3 (a).

SEC. 26. How to calculate the change in net cost of a manufacturing material which is produced in one unit of your business and transferred to another unit of your business. (a) You will be concerned with this section if you are a multiunit organization and in your operations you transfer products for further processing or assembly between units of your business for which you regularly maintain separate records. By way of illustration, such transfers may be between departments, plants, branches or divisions. This section deals specifically with a manufacturing material which you produce in one unit of your business and transfer to another unit of your business where it is used in producing the commodity being priced. Such a manufacturing material (which is referred to as a "transferred material") may also be sold to another person. This section provides three methods for figuring the change in cost of a transferred material in your calculations of the "materials cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced. The method you use depends first on how you calculated the "labor cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced and second, on whether you also sell the transferred material to other persons.

(b) If you calculated the "labor cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced upon the basis of your entire business or of a unit of your business that included the unit in which the transferred material is produced, you may not in calculating the change in cost of that material include any increase in your factory labor cost. Your calculation of the change in cost of the transferred material will therefore only take into account changes in the costs of the manufacturing materials directly related to the transferred material. Such change in cost of the transferred material will be included in your calculation of the "material cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced.

(c) If your calculation of the "labor cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced was not based upon your entire business or upon a unit of your business that included the unit in which the transferred material is produced and if the transferred material is one you sell to other persons, you calculate its change in cost as follows:

(1) Find its base period price (i. e., to your largest buying class of purchaser).

(2) Find its ceiling price under this regulation or other applicable regulation to your largest buying class of purchaser.

(3) The difference between the figure found under (2) and that found under (1) is the increase or decrease in the cost of the transferred material which you use in calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced.

(d) If your calculation of the "labor cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced was not based upon your entire business or upon a unit of your business that included the unit in which the transferred material is produced, and if that material is not one you sell to other persons, you calculate its change in cost as follows:

(1) Find the value as shown in your records at which the transferred material was transferred, last prior to the end of your base period (i. e., the base period for the commodity being priced), to the unit of your business in which the commodity being priced is produced.

(2) Using that transfer price as your base period price, determine what the ceiling price would be under this regulation or other applicable regulation.

(3) The difference between the figure found under (2) and that found under (1) is the increase or decrease in cost of the material to be used in calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced.

Example: You are pricing a motor for which you produce the wire. The following paragraph illustrates the application of the three methods prescribed in section 26:

(a) You have treated the department in which the motor is produced and the department in which the wire is produced as a single unit in computing the "labor cost adjustment" for the motor. You purchase on the outside the copper and insulating materials used in producing the wire. The "material cost adjustment" for the wire may include, as far as the wire is concerned, only the change in cost of the purchased copper and insulating materials.

(b) In calculating the "labor cost adjustment" for the motor you used only the department in which the motor is produced. You also sell the wire to others and calculated the "labor cost adjustment" for the wire upon the basis of the wire department. Therefore, in calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for the motor, the change in cost of the wire will be the difference between your ceiling price for the wire under this regulation to your largest buying class of purchaser, and your base period price for the wire to that class of purchaser.

(c) Assume the same facts as in (b) except that you produce the wire exclusively for your own use. You must compute what the ceiling price for the wire would be under this regulation, using the value at which the transfer between departments was made on your books last prior to the end of the base period. The difference between your computed ceiling price and your base period transfer value is the amount you use in calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for the motor.

SPECIAL PROVISIONS RELATING TO CEILING PRICES

SEC. 27. General nature of these provisions. Sections 28 through 32 relate to adjustments of your ceiling prices under certain circumstances. Section 28 relates to rounding ceiling prices. Section 29 relates to retention of ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation where the change in price is less than 1 percent. Section 30 requires that you reduce your ceiling prices to reflect any increase in the value of scrap or waste material generated in your manufacturing processes. Section 31 permits you to adjust your ceiling prices quoted on a delivered basis for certain increases in transportation costs. Section 32 provides an optional method for adjusting your ceiling prices for commodities manufactured in more than one of your plants.

SEC. 28. Rounding ceiling prices. You may round your ceiling prices determined under this regulation so that they will be expressed in the nearest cents or fraction of a cent you normally employ. If you elect to do so you must similarly round the ceiling prices for all your commodities normally priced by you upon the same basis, to reflect decreases as well as increases. In no event may the increase be greater than 1% of your ceiling price prior to rounding. For example, if you normally quote to the nearest quarter of a cent and your ceiling price for commodity A is 21.20 cents, you may round that ceiling price to 21¼ cents. However, if you round your ceiling price for commodity A and your ceiling price for commodity B is 27.30 cents you must round its ceiling price to 27¼ cents.

SEC. 29. Retention of GCPR ceiling price where the change in price is less than 1 percent. If your ceiling price for a commodity as determined under section 3 differs by less than 1 percent from that under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, you may continue to use your GCPR ceiling price. However, you may use this section only if you apply it to all your ceiling prices determined under section 3 differing by less than 1 percent from the GCPR ceiling prices, regardless of whether decreases or increases result. For example, your GCPR ceiling price for commodity A is $10 and your ceiling price under section 3 is $9.95. Your GCPR ceiling price for commodity B is $8 and your ceiling price under section 3 is $8.05. You may continue to use $10 as your ceiling price for Commodity A, but if you do so you must continue to use $8 as your ceiling price for commodity B.

SEC. 30. Requirement for reduction of your ceiling prices as otherwise determined for any increase in value of scrap or waste material. (a) You will be concerned with this section if in the manufacturing process relating to the commodity being priced you generate any scrap or waste material which you will sell to other persons or which is transferred from one unit of your business to another, and if, between the end of your base period and March 15, 1951, there has been an increase in the value of such scrap or waste material. However, you need not make the adjustment called for in this section unless your sales of scrap or waste material are significant. They will be considered significant if, for the plant or other unit of your business in which the commodity being priced is produced, the value of your sales or transfers of scrap or waste material exceeded 3 percent of the total value of your sales or transfers of all commodities, during your most recent fiscal year ended not later than December 31, 1950.

(b) In the circumstances described in paragraph (a) where your sales of scrap or waste material are significant you must make an appropriate reduction in the ceiling prices for each of the commodities resulting from your manufacturing process to reflect the dollars-and-cents amount by which the value of the scrap or waste material generated in the manufacturing process has increased between the end of your base period and March 15, 1951. In calculating this increase in value you should use a method comparable to the one you employed for your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment" for the commodity being priced. For instance, if you used Method 2 (section 18) you should calculate the increase in value of your scrap or waste material per unit of the commodity being priced; if you used Method 1 (section 17) you should calculate the increase in value of your scrap or waste material by an aggregate method. The resulting dollars-and-cents amount reflecting the increase in value of your scrap or waste material per unit must be subtracted from your ceiling price as otherwise determined under this regulation.

SEC. 31. Adjustment of ceiling prices quoted on a delivered basis for increases in transportation costs. If your base period price was, and therefore your ceiling price is, a delivered price, you may adjust your ceiling price to reflect any increase, between the end of your base period and March 15, 1951, in transportation costs incurred by you (not including warehousing charges). You may include in this adjustment only increases resulting from transportation charges paid by you to other persons (excluding any person who is an employee, subsidiary or affiliate of yours or of whom you are a subsidiary or affiliate). This adjustment is made in the following manner:

(a) Where your base period price for the commodity being priced included full transportation costs from point of shipment to point of delivery, you may adjust your ceiling price by the exact amount of the increase in transportation rates to you between such points, charged by the same carrier or class of carrier for the same class of transportation. You may not include any increase due to changing the class of carrier (e. g., from water or highway to rail) or to changing your customary method or quantity of shipment.

(b) Where your base period price was uniform within defined geographical zones but you maintained an established differential between each zone, you may calculate a transportation cost increase adjustment to be applied to the ceiling price for sales to each zone. This calculation is made in the following manner:

(1) Find the average transportation charge paid by you for deliveries of the commodity being priced to each zone during your last accounting period of not less than three months, ended not later than the end of your base period. If your base period is April 1 through June 24, 1950, you should use your last accounting period of not less than three months, ended not later than June 30, 1950.

(2) Find what the average transportation charge paid by you for deliveries of that commodity to each zone would be, using the transportation rates actually in effect on March 15, 1951.

(3) The dollars-and-cents amount of the difference between the average transportation charge found under (2) and that found under (1) for each zone may be added to your ceiling price for sales to that zone.

(c) Where your base period price was uniform for all sales of the commodity being priced to any destination within the United States, you may calculate a single transportation cost increase adjustment to be applied to the ceiling price for all sales within the United States in the same manner as under paragraph (b) of this section, treating the United States as a single zone.

SEC. 32. Optional method for determining a uniform ceiling price for a commodity manufactured in more than one plant. If the commodity being priced is manufactured in more than one of your plants and is customarily sold by you at a uniform price, but in adjusting the base period price for each plant different ceiling prices result, you may compute a uniform ceiling price. To do this, you first determine the ceiling price for each plant and multiply it by the number of units of the commodity sold from that plant during the last quarter of 1950. You then divide the total dollar amount of such sales from all plants by the total number of units sold from all plants. The resulting figure is your uniform ceiling price for the commodity. If sales from any of your plants in the last quarter of 1950 were not substantial, you may use the last three consecutive months of substantial sales in 1950, provided that you use the same period for all of your plants.

Example: You are producing the same commodity in two plants, and customarily charge the same price from each. However, due to a difference in your wage rate changes, your ceiling price for plant A is $2.00, and for plant B is $2.10. Sales during the last quarter of 1950 were 1500 units from plant A and 1000 units from plant B. 1500 multiplied by $2.00 is $3000; 1000 multiplied by $2.10 is $2100; 1500 plus 1000 is 2500; $3000 plus $2100 is $5100; $5100 divided by 2500 is $2.04. You may therefore use the uniform ceiling price of $2.04 for sales from both plants.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

SEC. 33. Export sales. Your sales for export are subject to the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 34. Excise, sales and other similar taxes—(a) Where the tax is included in your base period price. If your base period price for a commodity you are using to determine your ceiling price either for that commodity or another commodity includes any excise, sales or other similar tax which is not separately stated, you must first ascertain the amount of any such tax and exclude it from your base period price. Your base period price, with any such tax so excluded, may then be used in making any appropriate computations for determining your ceiling price. After completing the computations, you may then add on the appropriate amount of any such tax for inclusion as part of your ceiling price. In the case of any increase in such a tax subsequent to the end of your base period, you may include the appropriate amount of any such increase as part of your ceiling price. Likewise, in the case of any similar tax first imposed subsequent to the end of your base period and included in your selling price thereafter, you may include the appropriate amount of such tax as part of your ceiling price.

(b) Where the tax is separately stated and collected. In addition to your ceiling price determined under this regulation, you may collect the amount of any excise, sales or other similar tax paid by you as such only if it has been your practice to state and collect such taxes separately from your selling price for the same or similar commodities. In the case of such a tax imposed by law which is not effective until after the effective date of this regulation, or of any increase in such a tax subsequent to the effective date of this regulation, you may collect the amount of the tax actually paid as such by you, if not prohibited by the tax law. You must in all such cases state separately the amount of the tax.

SEC. 35. Prohibition against redetermination of ceiling prices. Once you have reported your ceiling price or proposed ceiling price for a commodity as required by this regulation, you may not thereafter redetermine it. A purely arithmetical error may, however, be corrected, but the correction must be reported to the Director of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 36. Modification of ceiling prices by the Director of Price Stabilization.

The Director of Price Stabilization may at any time disapprove or revise downward ceiling prices proposed to be used or being used under this regulation so as to bring them into line with the level of ceiling prices otherwise established by this regulation. Such downward revisions may, of course, be accompanied by upward revisions—as in a case where the Director of Price Stabilization requires an apportionment of the "materials cost increase" for a unit of your business to avoid any inequities resulting from the application of sections 17 or 20.

SEC. 37. Recalculation of ceiling prices and announcement of "materials cost increase factors". The Director of Price Stabilization expects in due course to issue an amendment to this regulation providing for a recalculation of your ceiling prices hereunder. The primary purpose of this recalculation would be to reflect more accurately the materials prices established by this and other ceiling price regulations. The Director of Price Stabilization may also from time to time announce "materials cost increase factors" for certain materials in order to provide greater uniformity in the calculation of their change in price since the end of your base period. These factors will be percentage figures based on studies of some categories of important basic materials and parts. If such a factor is announced, it must be used in place of any change you have had in the price of the material covered by the factor, regardless of whether the factor is higher or lower. These "materials cost increase factors" may be announced by amendments or by supplementary regulations to this regulation.

SEC. 38. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit your making a contract or offer to sell a commodity at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. You may not, however, deliver or agree to deliver a commodity at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with any increase in a ceiling price after delivery.

SEC. 39. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1 (15 F. R. 9955).

SEC. 40. Supplementary regulations. The Director of Price Stabilization may issue supplementary regulations modifying or implementing this regulation as he deems appropriate.

SEC. 41. Adjustment of ceiling prices where over-all loss in operations results. (a) This section permits you to apply for an upward adjustment of your ceiling prices established by this regulation, if as a result of these ceiling prices, you would operate at a loss.

(b) You may apply under this section if:

(1) Your total manufacturing operations have been conducted at a net loss for a period of operation under this regulation of at least one month, or would have been conducted at a loss if you had manufactured the commodities covered by this regulation in your customary quantities and proportions;

(2) The loss was attributable to the level of prices established by this regulation, and not to any of the following:

(i) Seasonal, non-recurring or temporary factors affecting your operations; or

(ii) A reduction in volume of production below the normal economical capacity of your plant; or

(iii) The payment of unlawful wages or excessive salaries or of unlawful or excessive prices for materials; or

(iv) The incurring of factory overhead costs or of selling, administrative and general costs which are abnormally high relative to sales or other costs unless such excess is demonstrated by clear and convincing evidence to have been unavoidable in the exercise of sound business judgment and management; or

(v) Any transactions with affiliated corporations or businesses which either are of a kind which would not result from arm's-length bargaining or differ from the transactions which you have customarily had with such affiliated corporations or businesses; or

(vi) Reserves for contingencies.

(3) The adjusted prices for which you apply will not be substantially out-of-line with the ceiling prices for similar commodities established for other sellers under this regulation.

(c) If you make application under this section, you must supply:

(1) Your name, address, a description of your manufacturing facilities and of the commodities you manufacture, and a statement of the principal types of customers to whom you sell;

(2) A detailed annual profit and loss statement for your firm for the years 1946 through 1949, and both an annual profit and loss statement, and if you regularly prepare them, quarterly profit and loss statements covering the year 1950 and each quarter since then;

(3) A detailed profit and loss statement covering a period of operations of one month or more under this regulation, together with a careful explanation of how it was prepared, including particularly a justification of any estimating procedures used in its preparation;

(4) For commodities covered by this regulation, either (i) a statement of your base period and ceiling prices to your largest buying class of purchaser (including delivery terms, cash, trade and volume discounts, allowances, premiums and extras, deductions, guarantees, servicing terms and other terms and conditions of sale) and a schedule of your price differentials to your other classes of purchasers; or (ii) a copy of the report required and submitted to the Office of Price Stabilization; together with (iii) a statement of the section or sections under which you establish your ceiling prices.

(5) A showing that the loss in your current operations was not due to any of the six factors in paragraph (b) (2) of this section.

(6) A list of your principal competitors, and a statement of their ceiling prices under this regulation for commodities similar to yours, together with data showing the past relationship of your prices to those they have charged for the same or similar commodities.

(7) A proposed schedule of adjusted ceiling prices for commodities covered by this regulation, and a demonstration that, if these prices were charged, your operations would be at a break-even position.

(8) The application must refer specifically to this section of the regulation, must be signed by a responsible officer of your company, and must be sent to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

(d) Within thirty days of the receipt of your application, the Director of Price Stabilization will grant or deny your application in full or in part, or request further information. The Director of Price Stabilization may, as a condition of granting your application in full or in part, require you to submit reports of subsequent operations and may revoke or modify the adjustment at any time. If, thirty days after the acknowledgement or receipt of your application (or of any additional information that may have been requested), none of the actions listed above has been taken, you may sell at your proposed ceiling prices until such time as the Director of Price Stabilization shall notify you that these prices have been disapproved.

SEC. 42. Use of "conversion steel" in calculating the "materials cost adjustment".—(a) Purpose of this section. In calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for a commodity under this regulation, you are not permitted to reflect in your calculations any increase in materials cost occasioned by use of so-called "conversion steel". However, if you believe that this requirement imposes upon you a serious inequity because you are required by NPA Order M-47 (16 F. R. 3130) of the National Production Authority to use more conversion steel than you used in your base period, you may apply for permission to reflect such increase in your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment".

(b) How to apply. Under the circumstances described above, you may make application, signed by a responsible officer of your company, and sent by registered mail, to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., referring specifically to this section and supplying the following information:

(1) A statement describing the nature of your manufacturing operations, and, particularly the commodities in which conversion steel is used.

(2) A detailed statement showing all of your purchases of steel (whether conversion steel or not) in your base period, and in the three months ended March 31, 1951, listing, for each such purchase, the date, the name and address of the supplier, the exact specifications of the steel purchased, the price paid (including all discounts, extras, terms, delivery charges, etc.), and the amount purchased.

If you sold any steel in either of these periods, you must give full details as to such sales.

(3) A detailed statement establishing the amount of "conversion steel" you are required to use under NPA Order M-47 of the National Production Authority.

(4) A detailed statement showing how you propose to reflect in your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment" the increase, since the end of your base period, in the cost of steel (including conversion steel), in the amount and to the extent that you are required to use such steel under NPA Order M-47 of the National Production Authority.

(c) Action on your application. Within thirty days after the receipt of the application described above, the Director of Price Stabilization will grant or deny, in whole or in part, your application, or notify you that further information is required. If, at the end of thirty days, the Director of Price Stabilization has done none of the above, you may begin to sell at ceiling prices calculated in accordance with the "materials cost adjustment" you propose. (In the meantime you may, after the effective date of this regulation, sell at a ceiling price calculated without reference to your use of conversion steel.) At any time thereafter, the Director of Price Stabilization may notify you that further information is required or may deny your application, in whole or in part, but such denial shall not be retroactive as to deliveries previously made.

SEC. 43. Temporary adjustments to carry out existing contracts.—(a) Who may apply for adjustment. If at any time prior to the issuance date of this regulation, you entered into a bona fide contract for delivery of a commodity at a firm price subsequent to the effective date of this regulation, and if your ceiling price as determined under this regulation is lower than the contract price, you may apply to the Director of Price Stabilization for an adjustment of your ceiling price, provided:

(1) The contract for future delivery was required by seasonal demands or normal business practices.

(2) The contract, if entered into subsequent to January 26, 1951, called for deliveries at a price which was lawful under ceiling price regulations in effect at that time.

(3) You acquired needed raw materials or component parts after the date of the contract at lawful prices in reliance upon and in order to fulfill the terms of the contract.

(b) Calculation of the amount of the adjustment. The adjusted ceiling price will be fixed in the following way:

(1) Take the total price of the quantity of raw materials or component parts acquired in reliance upon, and necessary in order to fulfill, the contract.

(2) Compute what the total price of the same quantity of raw materials or component parts would be as of the later of the two applicable prescribed dates used for your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment". In computing what the total price would be, you will, of course, apply the provisions of section 22.

(3) Subtract the figure arrived at in subparagraph (2) from the figure in subparagraph (1). The result is the total amount of the adjustment. If the figure arrived at in subparagraph (1) is no higher than that arrived at in subparagraph (2), you cannot apply for adjustment under this section.

(4) Divide the total amount of the adjustment by the number of units of the commodity called for by the contract. This gives you the adjustment per unit of the commodity. If the contract calls for the delivery of more than one commodity, the total amount of the adjustment may be distributed in any appropriate way among the several commodities.

(5) Add the adjustment per unit of the commodity under (4) to your ceiling price for that commodity. The result is your adjusted ceiling price. In no event, however, may you obtain an adjusted ceiling price higher than the contract price.

Example: You contracted in January, 1951, to supply a mail-order house 1,000 units of a commodity at $10.00 per unit, delivery to be made during the months of June, July, and August of 1951. Your ceiling price under this regulation is $9.00. In order to comply with the terms of your contract, you purchased raw material sufficient to produce 600 units at a total cost of $4,200. The cost of acquiring the same raw material as of December 31, 1950 (the later of the two applicable dates used in your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment") would be $3500. The total adjustment is $700 ($4200 minus $3500 equals $700). The total number of units called for in the contract was 1000. Divide $700 by 1000. This gives you 70 cents. The adjustment per commodity becomes 70 cents and your adjusted ceiling price for the contract $9.70. Subsequent sales to the contract purchaser and all sales to other purchasers must be at the regular ceiling price of $9.00.

(c) What your application must contain. Applications for adjustment under this section must be filed on or before August 1, 1951, with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Attached to the application should be the following:

(1) A copy of the contract;

(2) Copies of invoices covering the raw materials or component parts acquired in reliance upon and in order to fulfill the contract;

(3) Copies of invoices or other supporting data which indicate your net cost as of the later of the two applicable dates you used in computing the "materials cost adjustment".

(4) A copy of the work sheets used in the calculation of your ceiling price.

(5) A report of your adjusted ceiling price and a detailed calculation showing how this price was determined.

(d) Action on your application. You may not receive payment of any amount in excess of your ceiling price until 30 days after receipt by the Office of Price Stabilization of any application filed under this section. If the Director of Price Stabilization does not revise or modify the adjusted ceiling price reported by you or notify you that further information is requested, you may after these 30 days have elapsed receive payment at the adjusted ceiling price for all deliveries made since the date of filing, or modify the adjusted ceiling price, but such revision or modification will not apply to deliveries already made.

SEC. 44. Records and reports.—(a) Record-keeping requirements. (1) With respect to any commodity covered by this regulation the provisions of section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation are hereby continued in effect insofar as they apply to the preparation and preservation of "base period records" and such "current records" as have been made as a result of sales between January 26, 1951, and the effective date of this regulation.[1]

SEC. 16. (a) Base period records. (1) You must preserve and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization those records in your possession showing the prices charged by you for the commodities or services which you delivered or offered to deliver during the base period • • •

(2) In addition, on or before March 22, 1951, you must prepare and preserve a statement showing the categories of commodities in which you made deliveries and offers for delivery during the base period • • •

(3) On or before March 22, 1951, you must also prepare and preserve a ceiling price list, showing the commodities in each category (listing each model, type, style, and kind), or the services, delivered or offered for delivery by you during the base period together with a description or identification of each such commodity or service and a statement of the ceiling price. Your ceiling price list may refer to an attached price list or catalogue • • •

(4) You must also prepare and preserve a statement of your customary price differentials for terms and conditions of sale and classes of purchasers, which you had in effect during the base period.

(b) Current records. If you sell commodities or services covered by this regulation you must prepare and keep available for examination by the Director of Price Stabilization for a period of two years, records of the kind which you customarily keep showing the prices which you charge for the commodities or services. In addition, you must prepare and preserve records indicating clearly the basis upon which you have determined the ceiling price for any commodities or services not delivered by you or offered for delivery during the base period • • •

"Base period" as used in section 16 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation means December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive.

(2) You shall prepare and preserve for the life of the Defense Production Act of 1950 and for two years thereafter all records necessary to determine whether you have computed your ceiling prices correctly, including (but not limited to) records showing base period prices and material and labor costs, and records showing costs, prices and sales, for the other applicable periods and dates referred to in the regulation.

The records to be preserved under this paragraph must include appropriate work sheets. The work sheets to be preserved must include all data and calculations required to determine your ceiling prices.

(3) You shall preserve for a period of two years all records showing the prices at which sales of commodities subject to the regulation have been made.

(b) Reports. (1) You must file with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., on or before the effective date of this regulation one or more reports on Public Form No. 8 in accordance with the instructions contained in Appendix C. Copies of the form may be obtained from any Regional or District Office of the Office of Price Stabilization. If you report a ceiling price for any commodity higher than your ceiling price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, you must file your report by registered mail, and you must wait fifteen days before selling as provided in section 46.

(2) The Director of Price Stabilization may from time to time require additional information or reports subject to the approval of the Bureau of the Budget under the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 45. Definitions and explanations—(a) Automotive parts. This term means all engine parts, body parts, chassis parts, motors, electric equipment and wheels, and all other component parts and subassemblies, of automobiles, trucks, busses, trailers, semi-trailers, and motorcycles (except rebuilt bodies of trucks, busses, trailers or semi-trailers) and all accessories and optional, extra and special equipment designed for use on, or with, such motor vehicles, and unfinished parts and components thereof, when in such form as to permit their use only as automotive parts, but does not mean any service or maintenance accessories such as anti-freeze, body polish, tools, etc., or tires, tubes, sheet or other non-processed glass.

(b) Category. This term is defined in section 5.

(c) Class of purchaser or purchaser of the same class. Class of purchaser is determined in the first instance by reference to your own practice of setting different prices for sales to different purchasers or groups of purchasers. The practice may (but need not) be based on the characteristics or distributive level of the buyer (for instance, manufacturer, wholesaler, individual retail store, retail chain, mail order house, government agency, public institution). It may (but need not) be based on the location of the purchaser or the quantity purchased by him. If you have followed the practice of giving an individual customer a price differing from that charged others, that customer is a separate class of purchaser.

If in your industry a practice prevails of charging different prices for sales to groups of buyers based on their characteristics or distributive level, any such group to whom you did not make sales during your base period and for whom you did not have a customary differential in effect during or before your base period, is a separate class of purchaser as to you.

(d) Commodity. This term includes any item, object, material, article, product or supply.

(e) Delivered. A commodity shall be deemed to have been delivered if it was received by the purchaser or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to the purchaser.

(f) Director of Price Stabilization. This term also applies to any official (including officials of Regional or District offices) to whom the Director of Price Stabilization by order delegates a function, power or authority referred to in this regulation.

(g) End of your base period. This term means June 24, 1950, if your base period is April 1 through June 24, 1950, or if you elected a previous calendar quarter as your base period in accordance with section 4, it means the last day of that quarter. If, however, you have elected different base periods for different commodities or categories in accordance with sections 4 or 5, the date you will use as the end of your base period is determined as follows:

(1) If you are calculating the "labor cost adjustment" or the "materials cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business or of a unit of your business and your base period is the same for all commodities produced in that unit, the last day of that base period is the end of your base period.

(2) If you are calculating the "labor cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business or of a unit of your business and your base period for all of the commodities being priced is not the same, the last day of the particular base period you have elected which covers the group of commodities having the largest aggregate dollar volume of sales in calendar or fiscal year 1950 is the end of your base period for your calculation of the "labor cost adjustment."

(3) If you are calculating the "materials cost adjustment" upon the basis of your entire business or a unit of your business and your base period for all of the commodities being priced is not the same, the last day of the particular base period you have elected for the group of commodities having the largest aggregate dollar volume of sales in calendar or fiscal year 1950 is the end of your base period for your calculation of the "materials cost adjustment".

(4) If you are calculating the "materials cost adjustment" for a commodity under method 2 (section 18) or method 3 (section 19) the end of your base period is the last day of the particular base period you are using.

(h) Farm equipment. This term means any mechanical equipment, attachment or part used primarily in connection with the production and farm processing for market and farm use of agricultural products, and also the categories of non-mechanical equipment, attachments and parts included in the partial list of farm equipment mentioned below. The term "farm equipment" does not include automobiles, trucks, general purpose tools, hardware items, hand tools, prefabricated farm buildings, grain bins, building materials, electrical equipment (except electrically motivated farm equipment and fence controllers), lawn mowers, sprays or other chemicals, commercial processing machinery, livestock, seeds, feeds or any other agricultural products. A partial list of "farm equipment" follows: farm tractors; garden tractors; planting, seeding and fertilizing machinery; plows and listers; harrows, rollers, pulverizers, and stalk cutters; cultivators and weeders; harvesting machinery (combines, binders, pickers, potato diggers, pea and bean harvesters, beet lifters, etc.); haying machinery (mowers, rakes, hay loaders, stackers, balers, etc.); manure loaders; dairy farm equipment (milking machines, farm milk coolers (except mechanically refrigerated), farm cream separators, etc.); poultry farm equipment (incubators, brooders, feeders, waterers, etc.); bee keepers' equipment; agricultural spraying equipment; weed burners for farm use; barn and barnyard equipment; mechanical hog feeders; ironed singletrees, doubletrees and neck yokes; electrical fence controllers; farm water pumps and water systems; irrigation systems and equipment for farm use; windmills; windmill generating sets; portable farm grain elevators; wood slat corn cribbing woven with wire; silos; wood-sawing machines intended for farm use; machines for farm processing for market or farm use (farm size cane mills, cider mills, corn shellers, corn huskers and shredders, ensilage cutters, feed cutters, feed grinders and crushers, fruit presses, grain cleaners and graders, grain threshers, hammer mills, hay pressers, peanut pickers, potato sorters and graders, syrup evaporators, etc.); farm wagons; and attachments and parts for all the foregoing.

(i) Installation or erection service. This term means the service of installation or erection required to install or erect a commodity covered by this regulation, where such service is performed by the manufacturer of the commodity, which is installed or erected, or by a parent, affiliate or a wholly owned subsidiary of the manufacturer of that commodity.

(j) Largest buying class of purchaser. This term refers to the "class of purchaser" of a commodity which bought from you the largest dollar amount of that commodity during your base period. It does not, however, include the United States or any agency thereof, any foreign purchaser, or any person to whom the only sales made during your base period were made under a written contract of at least 6 months' duration entered into prior to the base period, unless the United States or any agency thereof, any foreign purchaser or such contract purchaser was your only class of purchaser.

(k) Manufacturer. This term means any one of the following:

(1) Any person engaged in one or more operations in the fabrication, processing or assembly of the commodity being priced, including subcontractors.

(2) Any person who sells a commodity which has been produced on his account from materials or parts owned by him.

(3) Any person who sells a commodity under his own brand or trade name.

(l) Manufacturing material. This term is explained in section 14.

(m) Net cost or net price. Each of these terms refers to the cost or price to you of a manufacturing material, less any discount (other than a customary cash discount) or allowance you took or could have taken. It does not include separately stated charges such as freight, taxes, etc.

(n) Net sales. This term refers to gross sales after trade discounts, less returns and allowances. In the case of sales where the selling price is a delivered price, transportation charges should not be deducted.

(o) OPS. This means the Office of Price Stabilization.

(p) Person. This term includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successors or representatives of the foregoing, and the United States or any other Government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(q) Plant. This term refers to a single physical location where business is conducted or industrial operations are performed, for example, a factory or a mill. If such a single physical location comprises two or more units, with separate payroll and inventory records, engaged in distinct industrial activities, each unit shall be treated as a plant.

This definition of "plant" is based on the definition of "manufacturing establishment" in the Standard Industrial Classification which is consistent with that used by the Bureau of Census in the 1947 Census of Manufacturers and subsequent surveys.

(r) Product line. This term is explained in section 19.

(s) Records. This term means books or accounts, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading, and other papers and documents.

(t) Sale at retail. Sale at retail means any sale to an ultimate user, other than an agricultural, commercial, industrial, governmental or institutional user.

(u) Sell. This term includes sell, supply (with respect to either commodities or services), dispose, barter, exchange, transfer and deliver, and contracts and offers to do any of the foregoing. The terms "buy" and "purchase" shall be construed accordingly.

(v) Service. This term includes any service rendered or supplied otherwise than by an employee.

(w) Written offer or written offer for sale. Each of these terms refers to an offer for sale made by means of the seller's price list or, if he has no price list, a written offer otherwise made in the seller's customary manner. The term does not include an offer at a price intended to withhold a commodity or service from the market or used as a bargaining price by a seller who usually sells at a price lower than his asking price.

(x) You. "You" means the person subject to this regulation. "Your" and "yours" are construed accordingly.

SEC. 46. Prohibitions. (a) On and after the effective date of this regulation, regardless of any contract or other obligation, (1) you shall not sell any commodity or service subject to this regulation at a price exceeding your ceiling price as determined under this regulation, and (2) no person shall buy from you, in the regular course of business or trade, any commodity or service subject to this regulation at a price exceeding your ceiling price as determined under this regulation.

(b) On and after the effective date of this regulation you shall not sell any commodity or service subject to this regulation unless you have complied with the report requirements of section 44, where you are required to do so.

(c) In the event your ceiling price for a commodity or service under this regulation is higher than your ceiling price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation you shall not sell the commodity or service at a price exceeding your ceiling price under the General Ceiling Price Regulation, except under the following conditions:

(1) You must send by registered mail a report, relating to that commodity or service, on Public Form No. 8 (in accordance with the instructions shown in Appendix C) to the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C. Copies of this form can be obtained from any Regional or District office of the Office of Price Stabilization.

(2) You must wait 15 days after the date of receipt by the Office of Price Stabilization of the report, as shown on your return receipt.

(3) At the end of that 15-day period, or on or after the effective date of this regulation, whichever is later, you may deliver that commodity or service at your ceiling price as determined under this regulation, unless and until notified by the Director of Price Stabilization to continue using your GCPR ceiling price, or such higher ceiling price as he may permit, either because your ceiling price proposed under this regulation has been disapproved in whole or in part, or because more information is required.

SEC. 47. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade are sold, or otherwise transferred, after the issue date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodity or service, in an establishment separate from any other establishment previously owned or operated by him, the ceiling prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 48. Charges lower than ceiling prices. Lower prices than those established under this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

SEC. 49. Evasion—(a) In general. The price limitations set forth in this regulation shall not be evaded, whether by direct or indirect methods, in connection with an offer, solicitation, agreement, sale, delivery, purchase, lease of, or relating to, commodities or services covered by this regulation, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity or service, or by way of commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tying-agreement or other trade understanding, or otherwise.

(b) Specific practices. The following practices are, specifically but not exclusively, among the practices prohibited by paragraph (a) and are itemized here only to lessen the frequency of interpretative inquiries which experience indicates are likely to be raised under the general evasion provision:

(1) Paying a purchase commission, if the sum of the commission and the purchase price exceeds the ceiling price.

(2) Requiring a customer to furnish material for processing not in accordance with previous practice.

(3) Entering into a joint venture with any other person subject to this regulation for cross-selling, cross-purchasing or cross-servicing.

(4) Reducing the period of any guaranty or warranty of performance in effect during your base period.

(5) Eliminating or reducing any maintenance, repair, replacement or installation service in effect during your base period.

(6) Granting less than a reasonable allowance for commodities received in trade.

(7) Eliminating or reducing rental or trade-in credits on purchases.

(8) Renting or leasing a commodity with an option to purchase, when the sum of the rental and the sale price exceeds the ceiling price established by this regulation for the sale of the commodity.

SEC. 50. Violation—(a) Civil and criminal action. Persons violating any provisions of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

(b) Record-keeping and filing violations. If any person subject to this regulation fails to keep the records or file the reports required by this regulation, or if any person subject to this regulation fails to establish a ceiling price or apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for the establishment of a ceiling price, if he is required to do so, the Director of Price Stabilization may issue an order fixing ceiling prices for the commodities or services such person sells. Any ceiling price fixed in this manner will be in line with ceiling prices established by this regulation. The order fixing the ceiling price may apply to all deliveries or transfers for which a ceiling price was not established in accordance with the provisions of this regulation, including deliveries or transfers completed prior to the date of issuance of the order. The issuance of such an order will not relieve the seller of his obligation to comply with the requirements of this regulation or of the various penalties for failure to do so.

Effective date. The effective date for this regulation is May 28, 1951.

NOTE—The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

MAY 4, 1951.

APPENDIX A—COMMODITIES COVERED BY THIS REGULATION

The commodities covered by this regulation are listed below:

Abrasive products, including coated, bonded, natural stone and artificial abrasives.

Air-conditioning equipment, condensing units of 25 tons capacity and over.
Anchors, marine, earth and rock.
Antennas, radio and television, except built-in antennas included within the cases of domestic radio or television receivers.
Anvils, except jewelers' anvils.
Arresters, lightning, including lightning rods.
Asphalt mixing plants and attendant plants.
Attachments and accessories for machinery and machine tools, including the following illustrative list:
- Adapters.
- Arbors.
- Blocks, machine tool.
- Brakes, spindle.
- Centers, bench.
- Centers, lathe.
- Chucks, all types.
- Clamps.
- Collets.
- Die heads.
- Die sets.
- Dogs, work driving.
- Edges, straight.
- Electric etchers and de-magnetizers.
- Feeding devices.
- Glass, level.
- Grinders.
- Ground steel stock for punches, dies, jigs, fixtures, etc.
- Guides, adjustable.
- Heads.
- Holders, tool and work.
- Mandrels, all types.
- Plates, all types.
- Posts, tool.
- Saw accessories (sets, swages, guides, clamps, bracing tools).
- Sockets.
- Stops, machine.
- Templates.
- Torque wrenches.
- Wheels, buffing and polishing.

Augers, earth.
Automotive parts (See definition in section 45).
Automotive testing and maintenance equipment, mechanical and electrical.
Automotive trucks (including fire trucks), motorcycles, busses and house and truck trailers.
Batteries, storage.
Battery chargers.
Bearings, antifriction (ball, roller, needle, etc.).
Bearings and bushings, ferrous and nonferrous.
Belting, leather and textile.
Bimetallic thermal strips, fabricated.
Blocks and tackle.
Boilers, power, industrial and marine, 100 p. s. i. and higher working pressure.
Broom-making machinery.
Brushes, industrial, power-driven.
Brush-making machinery.
Bushings, porcelain, glass and steatite, for electrical uses.
Cable, insulated, electrical.
Cable accessories, electrical.
Can-making machinery and equipment.
Capacitors, electrical.
Carbon graphite and metal graphite for electrical uses.
Carriers, lumber, steel, etc., specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Cars, freight, including all types of flanged wheel mining and industrial cars.
Cars, passenger, for surface, subway or elevated lines.
Casters.
Cement-making machinery.
Ceramics machinery.
Chain, power transmission, including chain fittings and assemblies.
Chemical processing machinery.
Circuit breakers, electrical.
Clamps of the C and bar type, except those used for medical or dental purposes.
Clevises.
Clockwork systems, industrial, used in connection with mechanical instruments.
Coal preparation equipment.
Compressors, except those used with condensing units under 25 horsepower or 25 tons.
Concrete products machinery and equipment.
Condensers, synchronous, electrical.
Conduit fittings.
Conduit.
Control equipment, electrical, industrial.
Convertors, synchronous, electrical.
Conveyors and conveying systems, industrial.
Core drilling and core making machinery.
Cotton-ginning machinery.
Cranes, crawler, overhead bridge, locomotive, revolving, truck and others.
Cutting tools, including the following illustrative list:
- Augers, machine.
- Bits, machine.
- Blades, hacksaw—all types.
- Blades, power-driven saw.
- Blades, machine, shear, etc.
- Broaches.
- Chasers.
- Chisels, machine.
- Counterbores.
- Countersinks, machine.
- Cutters.
- Dies, cutting and threading.
- Dressers, abrasive wheel.
- Drills.
- Extractors.
- Files, rasps and burrs.
- Form tools.
- Hobs.
- Knives, machine.
- Knurling tools.
- Punches, machine.
- Reamers.
- Rules, creasing, cutting and perforating.
- Scraper blades, machine.
- Taps.
- Tips: tool, tungsten carbide, stellite, etc.

Cylinders, power, hydraulic, pneumatic and hydropneumatic.
Derricks.
Diamond tools: core bits, dies .002" and larger, dressing tools, shaped tools, wheels, etc.
Dies, jigs, and fixtures.
Die-casting machinery.
Distribution boards, electrical.
Doilies, industrial.
Dozers, angle, bull and push.
Dredging machinery.
Dry-cleaning and clothes-pressing machinery, except domestic.
Ducts for electrical uses, except those manufactured from asbestos, cement, ceramic materials or clay.
Dust-collecting equipment, industrial, portable and stationary, including industrial vacuum cleaners.
Economizers, steam, industrial and marine.
Electrodes.
Electroplating and hot-dip metal coating equipment, including preparatory and finishing equipment used in connection with metal coating processes.
Electro-therapeutic apparatus and supplies.
Electronic devices, equipment and parts (other than radio and television receivers).
Elevators, passenger and freight.
Engines, diesel and oil.
Engines, gas.
Engines, gasoline and kerosene, except toy and portable and outboard motors.
Engines, steam, except toy.
Engine-generator sets.
Escalators (moving inclined stairways for raising or lowering passengers).
Excavating and earth-moving machinery, including power shovels, ditchers, draglines and power scrapers.
Fabricated structural steel shapes, plates and bars.
Fans and blowers, industrial, excluding unit heaters or unit ventilators, hand blowers, and desk, pedestal, portable, ceiling and wall-bracket type fans, but including warm air furnace fans, attic ventilating fans, pressure fans and blowers and built-in fans.
Farm equipment (see definition in section 45).
Feed-water heaters, industrial and marine.
Floor surfacing and floor maintenance machinery, industrial.
Food and beverage machinery, including baking, bottling, brewing, canning, confectionery, grain milling, meat packing, edible oil, sugar and dairy machinery and equipment.
Forgings (all ferrous and non-ferrous metal products commonly known as "forgings" which are formed by the use of power-actuated hammers, pressers, or forging machines, including "forgings" upon which supplementary operations, such as trimming, coining, testing, inspecting, heat treating, welding, machining, plating, or other surface coating, have been performed).
Foundry machinery, including ladles not over 40-ton capacity.
Furnaces and ovens, industrial and laboratory, except space heating, warm air furnaces, stoves, blast furnaces, open hearth furnaces, Bessemer converters and soaking pits, coke ovens, and industrial furnaces used solely for the manufacture of pig iron and steel.
Fuses for the protection of electrical equipment.
Galvanometer and pyrometer movements.
Gas burners designed for use with products covered by this regulation.
Gaskets and packings, except those made in whole or in part of rubber.
Gauges, specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Gears, pinions, sprockets and speed reducers, including gear motors, motorized speed reducers and variable speed and other machine drives.
Generators, electrical.
Generators, gas.
Generator sets, diesel-electric, gas engine, electric and motor or engine driven.
Glass-making machinery.
Governors, engine.
Glass products, industrial, scientific and technical which are listed below:
- Electrical glassware:
  - Bulbs, glass portion (incandescent, fluorescent, indicator, auto lamp, radio, television, X-ray, radar and power tube).
  - Bushings.
  - Capacitors.
  - Coil forms.
  - Flares (glass base portion for lighting, radio, indicator, auto lamp, television, X-ray, radar and power tube).
  - Fuse plugs.
  - Insulators.
  - Resistor tubes.
  - Tubing (electrical, fluorescent).
- Industrial glassware:
  - Cylinders.
  - Flat gauge glasses.
  - Glass bulbs.
  - Gauge cup and oil cup glasses.
  - Meter and relay covers.
  - Miscellaneous industrial glassware which is to be further fabricated by others or which is to be incorporated as a component part of an industrial product.
- Laboratory and pharmaceutical glassware:
  - Apparatus ware.
  - Chemical ware.
  - Instrument tubing.
  - Laboratory apparatus tubing.
  - Vials and ampules.
- Optical glass:
  - Rough glass blanks for optical, opthalmic and scientific use.

Glass products, industrial, scientific and technical—continued
- Signal glassware:
  - Airplane running lights.
  - Battery jars.
  - Explosion resisting globes.
  - Fresnels.
  - Front glasses.
  - Lenses.
  - Obstruction lights.
  - Optical ware (color and light filters).
  - Roundels.

Ground steel stock for punches, dies, jigs, fixtures, etc.
Gyroscopes.
Hat-making and repairing machinery.
Heat exchanger equipment (when designed for use with products covered by this regulation).
Heaters, sand, stone or bitumen.
Heating, melting, burning and thawing equipment, portable, for industrial and transportation purposes, except mechanics' fire pots and blow torches.
Heating units and devices, electrical, industrial.
Hoists.
Hose and tubing, metal, flexible.
Hydraulic machinery.
Instruments, electrically or mechanically operated for measuring, testing, indicating or recording electrical quantities.
Instruments, mechanical, for indicating, measuring, recording and testing, including aircraft, laboratory, marine, precision and scientific mechanical instruments, but excluding tire gauges, carpenters' tools, clinical, dental, household, optical and surgical instruments, low pressure heating controls (such as thermostatic traps, blast traps and strainers), water level controls (all types), air temperature and humidity controls (all types), coin-operated devices and household refrigeration controls.
Insulators, porcelain, glass and steatite, for electrical uses.
Inter-communicating systems, electronic.
Jacks and jack screws.
Kilns (except brick), coolers and dryers, specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Laundry machinery, except domestic.
Leather-working machinery.
Lighting equipment, electrical, for airway, commercial, flood-lighting, industrial, marine, seadrome, and street and highway uses.
Lighting fixtures, not portable.
Line material, transmission or trolley.
Loading and unloading equipment, specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Lock and dam machinery, which is designed exclusively for the control of water flow in locks, dams and structures when such locks, dams, and structures are designed for flood control, irrigation, power generation or transportation purposes.
Locomotives and tenders, including mining and industrial.
Logging and lumbering machinery and equipment.
Lubricating systems and devices, industrial, stationary.
Machinery, industrial, not listed elsewhere in this Appendix. The term "industrial machinery" means any machinery or equipment, not specifically excluded from the coverage of this regulation, which is used in the extraction, production or processing of commodities.
Machine tools (power driven machines used for shaping metal by cutting, abrading, straightening, forcing, forging or forming under pressure).
Machine tool attachments (any accessory equipment furnished with a machine tool, or separately for use on a machine tool).
Machines, tools, devices and appliances designed specifically for the installation, operation, maintenance and protection of tracks, yards, signals, rolling stock and motive power of surface, subway or elevated rail lines.
Magnetos.
Magnets, lifting, industrial.
Marine equipment listed below:
- Anchors.
- Boat hooks without handles.
- Buoys, pontoons and rafts, metallic.
- Capstans.
- Chocks.
- Cleats.
- Controls, bulkhead and throttle.
- Deck and manhole plates, machined.
- Fog horns and whistles, manually operated.
- Gooseneck and boom bands.
- Hatch covers, metal.
- Lights, oil.
- Marlin spikes and belaying pins, metal.
- Mooring and riding bitts.
- Port lights.
- Pumps, marine, manually operated.
- Reels, hawser, manually operated.
- Rope guides and leaders.
- Rowlocks.
- Shackles.
- Snaps.
- Sockets.
- Steering apparatus, manually operated.
- Ventilators.

Metals and alloys, special, electrical (except steel with less than 6% alloy content, in any fabricated form) used for electrical, magnetic or glass-sealing purposes, including special contact alloys and special coated iron wire.
Mining and quarrying machinery, including mine cars and trucks.
Molds and patterns.
Motion picture equipment, 35 millimeter, including sound equipment and parts for recording, reproducing and projecting, for studio, theatre, commercial or industrial use.
Motors, electrical.
Neon indicator attachments.
Numbering and marking machines for use on metal, except office machines.
Oil burners, industrial and marine, burning No. 5 oil or heavier, except horizontal, rotary and gun type burners.
Oil mill machinery and equipment.
Oil-well and oil-field machinery and equipment.
Optical processing machinery.
Ore-crushing and concentrating machinery.
Ovens, industrial and laboratory, except coke ovens.
Packaging, wrapping, filling and labeling machinery.
Paint-making and ink-making machinery.
Panelboards, electrical.
Parts and subassemblies of any item listed in this Appendix except mechanical rubber goods.
Petroleum refining machinery.
Pharmaceutical machinery.
Pile drivers.
Pipe wrapping and coating machinery.
Pistons and piston rings.
Plants, stationary, for railroad use in handling cinders, fuel, sand or water.
Plastics fabricating and molding machinery.
Pole-line hardware and line construction specialties.
Power transmission equipment, industrial, including belt-tighteners, blocks and bearing housings, brackets, clutches, collars, couplings, hangers, motor bases, pillow blocks, pulleys, sheaves, shifters, universal joints and variable speed and other machine drives.
Presses, specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Printing machinery and equipment.
Public address apparatus.
Pulp, paper and paper products machinery.
Pulverized fuel burners.
Pumps, power operated, with or without power.
Pumps, hand-operated except store fixtures.
Railroad car and locomotive parts, and specialties for elevated, subway or surface lines, including:
- Axles.
- Bearings, truck side.
- Boilers, fireboxes, front ends and cabs, fittings, fixtures, devices, or appliances mounted thereon.
- Brakes and brake gears.
- Coupler devices or attachments.
- Devices and appliances mounted on locomotives for treatment, distribution or control of water, fuel, steam, sand or electricity.
- Doors and fixtures.
- Draft gears, buffers, and attachments.
- Driving, foundation, or running gear.
- Grain control apparatus.
- Journal boxes, assembled.
- Heating, lighting, ventilation, and air-conditioning equipment.
- Lubricating devices.
- Miscellaneous fittings, fixtures, specialties, devices or appliances designed specifically for use on railroad cars or locomotives, except artillery or other exclusively military or naval equipment.
- Safety appliances and warning devices.
- Sides, roofs, ends, running boards, and brake steps.

Spring rigging, snubbers and shock absorbers.
- Tires, steel.
- Trucks, complete.
- Underframes.
- Wheels, iron and steel.

Rectifiers, power, industrial.
Refrigeration equipment, condensing units of 25 horsepower and over.
Regulators, feeder voltage.
Regulators and dampers, power operated, except those designed for domestic heating systems.
Replacement units and assemblies for mechanical refrigerators having a refrigerated volume of 16 cubic feet or less, when sold by the manufacturer.
Reproduction machinery, architectural and engineering, such as blueprinting, black and white printing, and brown printing machinery.
Road and airport building and maintenance machinery, including graders, pavers, rollers, sprayers, mechanical road cleaning equipment, etc.
Rock-crushers and plants.
Rod, wire and tube-working machinery and equipment.
Rolling mill machinery and auxiliary equipment.
Rope fittings, manila and wire.
Rubber and allied products machinery.
Rubber tire and tube machinery and equipment, including tire recapping and retreading molds and necessary parts (full circle and sectional molds, matrices, etc.), tire buffers and spot vulcanizers for tubes.
Saws, specifically designed for industrial or commercial use.
Scaffolds and towers.
Scales, weighing, industrial and laboratory, except coin operated, counter, household, office and store types.
Screw machine products, when sold by the manufacturer, except those for which the manufacturer issues a catalog or price list. The term "screw machine product" means any product that is made complete or in its first operation on a hand or automatic screw machine.
Searchlights.
Separators, steam, industrial and marine.
Sewing machines, industrial.
Sharpening and filing equipment.
Shoe manufacturing and repairing machinery.
Signal equipment, railroad, including highway crossing signals.
Signalling apparatus.

Siren blowers.
Skid platforms and pallets, all metal.
Snow plows.
Soot blowers and tube cleaners, power operated, industrial and marine.
Sound recording and reproducing equipment and parts, including portable recorders and recording and transcription turntables, except home or office recording or reproducing equipment.
Spraying devices, industrial, power-operated, for the application of any material.
Spreaders for construction and road-building use.
Springs, except furniture and bed springs.
Spring winding and forming machinery.
Sprockets, power transmission.
Stackers, industrial.
Stampings, metal, when sold by the manufacturer, except non-ferrous mill products, wire goods, steel mill products, or any product for which the manufacturer has issued a catalog or price list. The term "metal stampings" means stamped or pressed metal products which are mechanically processed by the use of dies and upon which further finishing operations may or may not have been performed, when sold unassembled. A metal stamping may consist of two or more stamped pieces which have been permanently joined by methods such as brazing, riveting, soldering or welding.
Steam cleaning and degreasing equipment and parts, washing and cleaning equipment, except commercial and domestic dish and utensil washing and cleaning equipment.
Steam specialties.
Stokers, industrial and marine, with a capacity of 1200 pounds per hour or more.
Stone working machinery.
Sub-stations, unit (power distribution).
Superheaters, industrial and marine.
Surveying instruments, such as alidades, levels and transits.
Switchboxes.
Switches, electrical, knife and enclosed.
Switchgear and switchgear accessories.
Tanks and vessels, pressure, made of metal 10 B. W. G. and heavier, regardless of capacity, or of a capacity in excess of 192 gallons, regardless of gauge, except field erected storage tanks or cylinders which are designed primarily for the transportation of liquids or gases under pressure and which are not designed to be permanently attached to the vehicle transporting such tanks.
Tanks and vessels, non-pressure, made of metal heavier than 10 B. W. G., regardless of capacity, or of a capacity in excess of 585 gallons, regardless of gauge, except all obround tanks; field erected tanks or vessels; products commonly known as plumbing fixtures, such as flush tanks and laundry trays; products commonly known as pans and cans, such as pails and buckets; non-returnable shipping retainers; refuse receptacles, drip and waste receivers; and septic tanks.
Telegraph apparatus.
Telephone apparatus, including sound and powered telephone and non-electronic intercommunicating equipment.
Testing sets for electronic equipment.
Textile machinery, including equipment and accessories designed exclusively for use with such machinery.
Tobacco working machinery.
Tools, manually operated, for the cutting, forming and punching of metals.
Tools, pipe and tube, manually operated, including beading, belling, banding, cleaning, cutting, expanding, and flaring and wrenches for operating.
Tools, power-driven, portable or non-portable.
Tractors.
Trailers.
Transformers, including specialty transformers.
Trucks, industrial, hand.
Trucks, power-operated, lift, platform and straddle.
Turbine generator sets.
Turbines and governors, gas, hydraulic and steam.
Turnbuckles.
Vises, all types, vise mounts, stands and supports.
Water conditioning and purifying equipment, industrial.
Water power equipment.
Welding apparatus and supplies, electrical, including electrodes.
Welding and cutting apparatus and supplies, gas, including generators, welding rods and welding wire.
Well-drilling equipment.
Wheels.
Winches and windlasses, manually or power operated.
Wire accessories, electrical.
Wire, insulated, electrical.
Wire machinery.
Wiring devices, electrical.
Woodworking machinery.
X-ray and electro-therapeutic apparatus and supplies.

APPENDIX B

With respect to the following manufacturing materials, the change in net cost may be calculated up to March 15, 1951.

(a) Stumpage, logs, pulpwood, and other raw forest products.
(b) Gas, electricity, and steam.
(c) All scrap and waste materials.
(d) The following textile mill products:
(1) All wool fibers which have been processed beyond the scouring stage.
(2) Wool yarn and fabrics as defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 18, together with all other yarns and fabrics containing 25% or more wool by weight, however manufactured.
(e) Lumber, plywood, veneers, shooks, millwork, wood containers, ties, posts, poles, piling, and other allied products, such as, but not limited to, handles, shuttle points, and picker sticks.
(f) The following chemicals and allied products:
(1) Crude and synthetic rubber.
(2) Snythetic textile fibers and yarns.
(3) Fermentation ethyl alcohol, acetone, and butyl alcohol.
(4) Synthetic butyl alcohol made from fermentation ethyl alcohol.
(5) Natural and synthetic glycerin.
(6) Fatty acids.
(7) Paints, varnishes, and lacquers.
(8) Naval stores.
(9) All natural gums and resins.
(10) All vegetable waxes.
(11) All natural dyeing materials.
(12) All essential or distilled oil.
(13) Fats and oils for which ceiling prices are provided in Ceiling Price Regulation 6.
(14) The following oilseeds or nuts, their oils and fatty acids or combinations of these oils so long as in normal trade practice they retain their identity:

Babassu kernels.	Muru-muru kernels.
Babassu oil.	Muru-muru oil.
Cacao butter.	Oiticica oil.
Cashew nut shell liquid.	Olive oil, edible, sulphur and other inedible.
Castor beans.	Ouricury kernels.
Castor oil.	Ouricury oil.
Cocoanut oil.	Palm kernel oil.
Cohune kernels.	Palm kernels.
Cohune oil.	Palm oil.
Copra.	Perilla seeds.
Coquito kernels.	Perilla seed oil.
Coquito oil.	Poppyseed.
Corozo kernels.	Poppyseed oil.
Corozo oil.	Rapeseed.
Hempseed.	Rapeseed oil.
Hempseed oil.	Rubberseed.
Kapok seed.	Rubberseed oil.
Kapok seed oil.	Sesame oil.
Sesame seed.	Tucum kernels.
Sunflower seed.	Tucum oil.
Sunflower seed oil.	Tung oil.

(15) Whale oil.
(16) Sperm oil.
(17) Fish oils, including cod oil and shark oil.
(18) Peanut oil.
(19) Rice bran oil.
(20) Oleo stock, oil and stearine.
(21) Inedible tallows, greases and fat-bearing and oil-bearing animal waste materials as defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 6, Amendment 2.
(22) Wool grease.
(23) Glue stock.
(24) Casein.
(25) Cotton linters.
(g) Crude petroleum and petroleum fuels and lubricants, including petroleum coke when used as fuel, and natural gas.
(h) Coke, coal chemicals, coke oven gas, as defined in General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 13.
(i) Bituminous coal, anthracite coal, coal briquettes, charcoal, and fuel processed from anthracite or bituminous coal.
(j) Cattle hide, kips, and calfskins, as defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 2.
(k) Hogskins, woolskins, sheep and lamb shearlings, pickled lambskins, pickled sheepskins, horsehides, deerskins, alligator skins, and snakeskins.
(l) Leather, tanned and finished.
(m) The following stone, clay, and glass products:
(1) Glass containers and glass closures.
(2) Portland cement.
(3) Ready-mixed concrete.
(4) Calcined gypsum plasters.
(5) Lime (construction, metallurgical, chemical, agricultural, plastic).
(6) Sand, gravel, and crushed stone, both aggregates and industrial.
(7) Light weight aggregates.
(8) Merchant clays.
(n) Primary metals and metallic alloys.
(o) All secondary metals and scrap.
(p) All metal powders.
(q) All metallic ores.
(r) All non-metallic minerals.
(s) All cast, rolled, drawn, or extruded metals and alloys which have not been further fabricated.
(t) Fabricated structural steel and steel plate and fabricated reinforcing bars.
(u) Wood pulp, paper, paper board, and converted paper and paperboard products.
(v) All imported materials, when purchased from a foreign supplier, or from a seller in the United States in substantially the same form as that in which imported (except for services normally performed by importers such as sorting or packaging), or after simple processing operations only, such as wool scouring.
(w) All jute products containing more than 50 per cent by weight of jute.
(x) All industrial services.

APPENDIX C—CHANGES IN USE OF OPS PUBLIC FORM NO. 8 WITH THIS REGULATION

OPS Public Form 8 and instructions for its use have been filed with the Division of the Federal Register as part of this regulation. Copies of this form and its instructions may be obtained from any District or Regional Office of the Office of Price Stabilization.

In using OPS Public Form 8, which is required to be filed by sections 44 and 46 of this regulation, you must make the following changes in the instructions which accompany OPS Public Form 8.

1. The report under this regulation must be filed with the Industrial Materials and Manufactured Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., instead of with the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

2 In filing OPS Public Form 8 for commodities covered by this regulation, you may disregard items 8 (e) and (g) in the instructions, and the corresponding portions of the report, for any commodity for which, prior to the effective date of this regulation, you have not had a ceiling price established under sections 3, 6 or 7 of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

3. The examples of "categories" contained in the instructions for OPS Public Form 8 are not applicable to the commodities covered by this regulation. Examples of "categories" under this regulation would be: machine tools, electric motors and electric storage batteries.

4. The definition of "product line" in this regulation differs from that contained in the instructions for OPS Public Form 8. A "product line" is defined in this regulation (Section 19 (a) (1)) as "a group of closely related commodities which differ in such respects as model, size or brand name and which are normally classed together as a product line in your industry. Generally speaking, each commodity in the same product line must serve the same purpose and must be made by the same manufacturing process from substantially the same materials".

5. The examples of "product line" contained in the instructions for OPS Public Form 8 are not applicable to the commodities covered by this regulation. Examples of "product line" under this regulation would be: fractional horsepower motors, automotive fan belts and crawler tractors.

6. The section number references in items 4 and 5 of the instructions for use of OPS Public Form 8 are incorrect for this regulation. For this regulation the reference in item 4 should be to sections 12 (e) or 13 (b), instead of to 8 (e) or 9 (b); and the section references for item 5 should be to 17 (d), 19 (c), 20 (d) and 18 (c), instead of to 13 (d), 15 (c), 16 (d) and 14 (c).

GCPR, SR 25—COUPON EXCHANGE RATES AND OTHER PREMIUM PROGRAMS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation No. 25 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 808) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This regulation provides a method for determining the conditions of redemption or the rate at which premium articles offered by certain companies may be exchanged for coupons or for other similar tokens issued by such companies in connection with the sale of merchandise of these same companies. The cost of these premiums has risen since the base period. Unless this increase in cost is absorbed by the companies involved, a larger number of coupons or an enlargement of the conditions of redemption would be required in exchange for each premium article whose price has so increased. The purpose of this regulation is to ensure that any increase in the amount of consumer purchases necessary to secure a coupon, or in the number of coupons required for a premium, or any other change, direct or indirect, in the conditions for redemption must be directly proportioned to the cost of the premium article.

This Agency recognizes that two general objectives may be achieved by a program of giving away coupons or other tokens which may be later exchanged for valuable premium articles. The first objective is short-term promotions of specific articles; the second, the creation of a consumer loyalty for a line of products. A short-term promotion program frequently takes the form of a package containing some merchandise and a premium, for instance, two bars of soap and a dish towel for twenty cents. Unless this is a real bargain to the intended consumer, the package has no point. In this type of promotional activity, this Agency has only a minor interest. The other type of premium program is the subject of this regulation. When the producer is seeking to establish a regular patronage for his products and to induce the continued purchase of his products by the inducement of valuable premiums that can only be secured by the collection of coupons in such quantities as are attainable only through extensive purchases or by a long continued use of such products, then any inducement to purchase must be considered as being included in the price of such products. Such a producer may not directly or indirectly vary the price of his goods by changes in his coupon exchange program except as permitted in this regulation.

This regulation will require those companies who operate such coupon exchange plans (1) not to increase the amount of their merchanidse which must be bought in order to secure one coupon above the highest amount required during the base period, and (2) to calculate their coupon exchange rate on the basis of the lowest number of coupons required for redemption per unit of premium cost to the company during the base period of December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951. The companies will be permitted by this regulation to increase their redemption conditions by the increase in the cost of the premium article since the base period. This change in conditions may not include a decrease in the number of coupons required. Thus, if the company gave a $1.00 premium for each 100 coupons and the cost of the same premium article has now risen to $1.10, the company may now, under this regulation, require 110 coupons, but no more, for that same article on the basis of maintaining the same coupon exchange rate as it had during the base period. In another fashion, if a company gave a $1.00 dish away upon the presentation to the retailer of 10 coupons and ten cents and the cost of the dish is now $1.10, the company may now require for the dish either 10 coupons and 20 cents, or 11 coupons and 11 cents, but under no circumstances may it decrease the required number of coupons from ten.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Applicability of this supplementary regulation.
2. Ceiling for coupon exchange rate.
3. Determination of new coupon exchange rates.
4. Reports.
5. Definitions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 5 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Applicability of this supplementary regulation. This regulation shall apply to you if you are a seller who in connection with the sale of your merchandise distributed, during the base period, coupons, certificates, stamps, or other tokens that in specified quantities or under stated conditions are redeemable for premium articles.

SEC. 2. Ceiling for coupon exchange rate. If you are such a seller you shall continue to offer your buyers, as has been your custom, such coupons to be redeemable for such premium articles at a rate of redemption which shall be at least equal to the highest exchange rate (that is, the lowest number of coupons or coupons plus cash required for a stated premium article) per unit of cost of premium article that you had in effect during the base period of December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951, inclusive. If such coupons had a cash surrender value during the base period, you shall not lower this value from the highest value offered by you for the surrender of such coupons during such base period. You may not increase the amount of your merchandise that must be purchased in order to secure one coupon over the highest amount required by you to secure such coupon during the base period.

SEC. 3. Determination of new coupon exchange rates. (a) If you are such a seller and the cost of your premium articles has increased since the base period established in the General Ceiling Price Regulation, you may increase the number of coupons or the coupons plus cash required to secure such premiums by either the dollars and cents increase or in the percentage increase, but no more, in the cost of the premium article to you over the highest cost to you during the base period of such premium article or, if you made no such purchases during such base period, the highest cost of a representative purchase prior to such base period. In any adjustment of redemption conditions, you may not decrease the required number of coupons.

(b) If you sell the premium article to the retailer who in turn redeems upon stated conditions the coupons, certificates or other tokens issued in connection with the sale of your merchandise, and the cost of the premium has now risen, you may:

(1) Increase the cost of the premium article to the retailer by the dollars and cents increase in the cost to you of that article over the cost to you during the base period for the same article; and

(2) Increase the conditions of redemption which the retailer may exact from his customer by either the dollars and cents increase or in the percentage increase in the cost of your premium article over the cost to you during the base period of the same article. The conditions may not be changed so as to require a fewer number of coupons.

Thus, if a company gave a $1.00 dish away upon the presentation to the retailer of 10 coupons and ten cents and the cost of the dish is now $1.10, the conditions of redemption may now be varied so that you may require the retailer to collect from his consumer either 10 coupons and 20 cents or 11 coupons and 11 cents, but in no case may the required number of coupons be less than ten.

SEC. 4. Reports. Before you may effect any change in the operation of your coupon exchange plan, you must file with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report (with one copy) stating:

(a) Your name and address;

(b) A description of your coupon exchange plan; and

(c) A statement of the changes in the exchange plan that you intend to make. For example:

(1) If you intend to increase the number of coupons or enlarge upon the stated conditions required to redeem a premium article, as authorized in section 3 of this regulation, you must state the exact changes you intend to make and also the changes in the cost of the premium articles that bring your proposed increase in the redemption conditions within the terms of this regulation. You may not make such change until the Director has advised you, in writing, of his approval.

(2) If you wish to add a premium article to your list of those articles redeemable by the coupons you have distributed to your buyers, you must advise the Director, in writing, of your proposed addition. You must state the cost of the new article to you and its proposed redemption value. In such written communication, you shall advise the Director of your current average redemption value per unit of cost of the premium articles. You may not add such articles to your list until the Director has advised you, in writing, of his approval.

(3) If you wish to abandon the practice of redeeming with premium articles the coupons you have distributed to your buyers, you must advise the Director, in writing, of your intention. In such cases, you must further state the effect of such abandonment upon your business and the adjustments required in your ceiling prices to compensate for the withdrawal of your coupon exchange plan. You may not abandon your exchange program until the Director has advised you, in writing, of his approval.

SEC. 5. Definitions. If you purchase the premium article from another manufacturer, "cost of premium" shall include only the delivered cost to you of the premium product. If you manufacture the premiums article, "cost of premium" shall include only such labor and material costs as enter directly into the product. This term shall not include advertising, factory, administrative or selling expenses, or any indirect expense.

Effective date: This supplementary regulation shall become effective May 9, 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this Supplementary Regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 26]

GCPR, SR 26—ADJUSTMENT OF CEILING PRICES OF COMMODITIES SOLD UNDER SPECIAL DEAL

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.) Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation No. 26 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation (16 F. R. 809) is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

In a few instances manufacturers and wholesalers during the base period for the General Ceiling Price Regulation had in effect special deals of various sorts, under which sales were temporarily made at a lower price than the one theretofore prevailing. For example, the necessity for immediate capital might have forced liquidation of inventory at less than normal prices or advertising or promotional considerations might have led to the adoption of a reduced price for a temporary period. Sellers affected by such deals find their prices frozen at an abnormally reduced level. Since the special low price so established is, in many instances, too low to permit them to operate at a profit and was intended as a purely temporary measure, the result has been that sellers in this category are permanently prevented from resuming their operations. Today's regulation provides relief from this situation. It provides that manufacturers and wholesalers whose prices were frozen under special deals may revert to the prices which were in effect prior to such deal.

It is not intended to permit price increases in instances where the price reduction which was in effect during the base period was predicated upon competitive factors and was not intended to be temporary. A special deal is defined as one which was intended to have a duration of not more than 123 days. A manufacturer or wholesaler who wishes to claim the benefits of the regulation is required to submit to the Office of Price Stabilization information which substantiates the temporary character of the deal. In no event will sellers whose present ceiling prices are the result of a special deal be permitted to establish prices higher than those which were in effect prior to the beginning of the deal.

This regulation provides substantially the same kind of relief to persons involved in special deals as was given by section 4 (b) of the General Maximum Price Regulation issued by the Office of Price Administration. As was done there, provision is made for adjusting the ceiling price of any resellers of a commodity whose ceiling prices under the General Ceiling Price Regulation were affected by a special deal so that such resellers will not be caught in a squeeze. However, most retailers of commodities which were the subject of special deals by the manufacturer or wholesaler are already protected against that possibility by Ceiling Price Regulation No. 7 which will automatically give them substantially their normal margin on the increased cost occasioned by their suppliers' resumption of his former price.

The reporting requirements imposed by the Office of Price Administration have been eliminated from this regulation; the only report required is the initial application by the manufacturer or wholesaler to the Office of Price Stabilization for permission to adjust his ceiling price to the level prevailing prior to the special deal.

The number of commodities which it is anticipated will be affected by this regulation is very small since the situations in which it is applicable are exceedingly limited.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. What this regulation does.
2. What a special deal is.
3. How to obtain an adjustment.
4. Order of adjustment.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation permits ceiling prices established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation for manufacturers and wholesalers to be adjusted if they are abnormally low because of a "special deal" in effect during the period from December 19, 1950 to January 25, 1951.

SEC. 2. What a special deal is. A "special deal" means a reduction in the price of a commodity from the price last in effect prior to the day the special deal started. The reduction must have been announced and intended to be in effect for a period of time not exceeding 123 days. Offers of free goods, combination sales, increased quantities and additional discounts are all reductions in price.

SEC. 3. How to obtain an adjustment. If you are a manufacturer or wholesaler and your ceiling price for any commodity under the General Ceiling Price Regulation is the result of a special deal, you may apply for a price adjustment permitting you to establish as your ceiling price for that commodity the price last in effect prior to the special deal. The application may also request an adjustment in the ceiling price for resellers of the commodity if the ceiling price of such re-sellers is established under the General Ceiling Price Regulation and is affected by the special deal. Your application, which should be sent to the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington, 25, D. C., should contain the following information:

(a) The ceiling prices for the commodity affected by the special deal;

(b) A description of the special deal which should include its terms, the classes of purchasers affected, and copies of price lists, advertisements or announcements used in conection with it:

(c) The prices last in effect for the commodity before the special deal, and copies of price lists, advertisements or announcements showing such prices.

SEC. 4. Order of adjustment. If the Office of Price Stabilization finds that you are entitled to an adjustment of your ceiling price under this regulation, it will issue a letter order to you establishing as your ceiling price the price last in effect prior to the beginning of the special deal. The order may make provision for appropriate notification to your purchasers of the terms of the adjustment and of any corresponding adjustment in their ceiling price.

Effective date. This supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective on May 4, 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[CMP Regulation 1]

CMP REG. 1—BASIC RULES OF THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

GENERAL

This regulation is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all industries affected in advance of the issuance of this regulation has been rendered impracticable because the regulation affects almost all industries.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 26 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950, Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

EXPLANATORY PROVISIONS

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. The purpose of this regulation is to define rights and obligations under the Controlled Materials Plan. It explains how production schedules are authorized for manufacturing operations and how materials are obtained to complete such production schedules. This regulation and other CMP regulations to be issued from time to time make effective the "Controlled Materials Plan," a general description of which was issued by the National Production Authority, for informational purposes only, on April 13, 1951. In case of any inconsistency between such announcement, or any other descriptive literature which may be issued from time to time, and any CMP regulation, the provisions of the latter shall govern. Other CMP regulations cover, or will cover, inventory controls; preference status of delivery orders; deliveries of controlled materials by distributors; maintenance, repair, and operating supplies; construction; and additional matters. This regulation will also be supplemented from time to time by the issuance of procedures, forms, interpretations, directions, and instructions.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this regulation and any other CMP regulation (unless otherwise indicated):

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "NPA" means the National Production Authority.

(c) "Controlled material" means steel, copper, and aluminum, in the forms and shapes indicated in Schedule I of this regulation.

(d) "Controlled Materials Division" means the Iron and Steel Division, the Copper Division, or the Aluminum and Magnesium Division of NPA.

(e) "Industry Division" means the Division or other unit of NPA which is charged with supervision over the operations of the producers of particular products.

(f) "Claimant Agency" means any Government agency or subdivision thereof designated as such by the Defense Production Administration.

(g) "Prime consumer" means any person who receives an allotment of controlled material from a Claimant Agency or an Industry Division.

(h) "Secondary consumer" means any person who receives an allotment of controlled material from a person other than a Claimant Agency or an Industry Division.

(i) "Allotment" means (1) an authorization by the Requirements Committee of the Defense Production Administration, of the amount of controlled materials which a Claimant Agency may receive and/or allot during a specified period, or (2) an authorization by the Requirements Committee of the Defense Production Administration, of the amount of controlled materials which an Industry Division may allot during a specified period, or (3) an authorization by a Claimant Agency or an Industry Division, of the amount of controlled materials which may be received and/or allotted by one of its prime consumers during a specified period, or (4) an authorization by a prime or secondary consumer, of the amount of controlled materials which may be received and/or allotted by one of its secondary consumers during a specified period.

(j) "Class A product" means any product which is not a class B product (as defined in paragraph (k) of this section), and which contains any controlled material, fabricated or assembled beyond the forms and shapes specified in Schedule I of this regulation, other than any controlled material which may be contained in class B products incorporated in it.

(k) "Class B product" means any product designated as such in the "Official CMP Class B Product List" issued by NPA, as the same may be modified from time to time.

(l) "Program" means a statement of the amounts of an item or class of items to be provided in specified periods of time.

(m) "Authorized program" means a program specifically approved by the Requirements Committee of the Defense Production Administration.

(n) "Production schedule" means a statement of the amounts of an item or class of items to be produced by an individual consumer in specified periods of time.

(o) "Authorized production schedule" means a production schedule specifically approved by a Claimant Agency or by an Industry Division with respect to a prime consumer, or specifically approved by a prime or secondary consumer with respect to a secondary consumer.

(p) "Delivery order" means any purchase order, contract, shipping, or other instruction calling for delivery of any material or product on a particular date or dates or within specified periods of time.

(q) "Authorized controlled material order" means any delivery order for any controlled material (as distinct from a product containing controlled material) which is placed pursuant to an allotment as provided in section 19 of this regulation or which is specifically designated to be such an order by any regulation or order of NPA.

SEC. 3. General production schedule and allotment procedure. (a) Each Claimant Agency or Industry Division shall authorize production schedules of prime consumers pursuant to authorized programs. Each prime consumer who has an authorized production schedule shall, pursuant thereto, authorize production schedules of secondary consumers producing class A products for it; and each secondary consumer who has an authorized production schedule shall, pursuant thereto, authorize production schedules of secondary consumers producing class A products for it.

(b) Each Claimant Agency or Industry Division shall make allotments to prime consumers, for the purpose of fulfilling related authorized production schedules, pursuant to allotments which it has received. Each prime consumer who has received an allotment shall, pursuant thereto, make allotments to secondary consumers producing class A products for it, to fulfill related authorized production schedules; and each secondary consumer who has received an allotment shall, pursuant thereto, make allotments to secondary consumers producing class A products for it, to fulfill related authorized production schedules.

(c) No person who has received an authorized production schedule shall produce more than the quantity of the particular product or products provided for in such authorized production schedule, except where expressly permitted, and to the extent and under the conditions specified, by any other regulation or order of NPA.

(d) Nothing in this regulation shall be interpreted to prohibit the production of any product by a person who does not have an authorized production schedule for such product: Provided, however, That such production must comply with the provisions and limitations of all applicable regulations and orders of NPA.

SEC. 4. Statements of requirements. (a) The basis for an allotment to a consumer shall be his actual requirements for controlled materials in connection with the fulfillment of an authorized production schedule, after taking inventories into account to the extent required by CMP Regulation No. 2. A statement of requirements is to be furnished only when requested. Such statement is ordinarily submitted as an application for allotment or a bill of materials.

(b) An application for allotment includes only (1) the quantities of controlled materials required by the submitting consumer for his own production, and (2) the quantities of controlled materials required by his secondary consumers supplying class A products to him for incorporation in his product.

(c) A bill of materials is a statement of the total amounts of materials (including controlled materials) required for physical incorporation in one unit or a specified number of units of a given product.

(d) When a consumer who has furnished a bill of materials or other statement of requirements ascertains that he has substantially overstated his requirements or those of his secondary consumers for any material or product, he shall report such error immediately to the person to whom the statement of requirements was furnished.

(e) If any consumer receives any statement of requirements which he knows or has reason to believe to be substantially excessive, with respect to controlled materials, he shall withhold any allotment based thereon in an amount sufficient to correct such excess and shall report the facts immediately to the appropriate Claimant Agency or Industry Division.

SEC. 5. Applications for authorized production schedules and allotments. (a) Production schedules may be authorized and related allotments made on the basis of information furnished by applications on Form CMP–4A and Form CMP–4B.

(b) Any producer of class A products, upon the request of a Claimant Agency or of a consumer for whom he produces class A products, shall furnish to such Claimant Agency or consumer, the information called for in Form CMP–4A. Such information shall be submitted on Form CMP–4A or in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(c) Any producer of class B products which are designated as class B products for which Form CMP–4B applications are required, in the "Official CMP Class B Product List" issued by NPA, as the same may be modified from time to time, shall furnish the information called for in Form CMP–4B by submitting such form to the appropriate Industry Division or Claimant Agency (as indicated in such list). NPA may request any producer of a class B product not so designated to furnish such information on such form.

(d) Any producer of controlled materials may apply for an allotment as provided in section 21 of this regulation.

AUTHORIZED PRODUCTION SCHEDULES

SEC. 6. How production schedules are authorized. (a) A production schedule for each prime consumer producing a class A product pursuant to an authorized program will be authorized by the appropriate Claimant Agency on such form as may be prescribed. A Claimant Agency may, in particular cases, authorize a production schedule through an Industry Division.

(b) A production schedule for each secondary consumer producing a class A product shall be authorized by the consumer for whom such class A product is to be produced, pursuant to an authorized production schedule, on such form as may be prescribed. A consumer having several authorized production schedules bearing the same allotment number may, pursuant thereto, authorize a single production schedule for a secondary consumer.

(c) A production schedule for each consumer producing a class B product pursuant to an authorized program will be authorized by the appropriate Industry Division or Claimant Agency on such form as may be prescribed.

(d) A consumer receiving allotments from several persons shall obtain separate authorized production schedules from each.

(e) Except where otherwise specifically provided by NPA, no person shall authorize a production schedule unless at the same time he makes an allotment as provided in section 10 of this regulation, and no person shall make an allotment unless at the same time he authorizes a related production schedule as provided in this section.

(f) When the production schedule of a consumer is authorized and a related allotment is made to him, a DO rating shall be assigned or applied to such schedule by the person authorizing the production schedule, for use in accordance with the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 3.

SEC. 7. Reconciliation of conflicting schedules. In any case where, for any reason, a manufacturer of class A or class B products is unable to fulfill conflicting authorized production schedules which he has accepted from different persons, he shall, if the conflict involves only schedules relating to a single Claimant Agency, report immediately to that Claimant Agency for instructions. In all other cases involving conflicting authorized production schedules he shall report immediately to the appropriate Industry Division or Industry Divisions for instructions.

SEC. 8. Rejection of schedules in excess of capacity. A prime or secondary consumer shall reject an authorized production schedule for a class A or class B product to be manufactured by him which calls for delivery or deliveries after June 30, 1951, if he does not expect to be able to fulfill the same by the specified delivery date or dates. If the person whose order is rejected is unable to find another manufacturer who will accept it, he shall report the facts to the appropriate Claimant Agency or Industry Division. NPA may from time to time issue directives requiring individual manufacturers to reschedule or rearrange their production and/or delivery schedules.

SEC. 9. Meeting authorized production schedules. (a) Each consumer who has accepted an authorized production schedule shall fulfill the same unless prevented by circumstances beyond his control. In the event he cannot fulfill such schedule on the specified delivery date or dates, he shall promptly notify the person from whom he received it stating the reasons therefor.

(b) No consumer who has accepted an authorized production schedule shall exceed such schedule in any quarter with the use of the related allotment and DO rating, except that (1) an authorized production schedule may be exceeded in any quarter to the extent necessary to make up for a failure to meet such schedule in any prior quarter, (2) production authorized for any quarter may be completed at any time after the fifteenth of the month preceding such quarter and, (3) where a delivery order calls for deliveries, in successive months, of Class A products in quantities which are less than the minimum practicable production quantity, and compliance with monthly delivery dates would result in substantial interruption of production and consequent interference with production to fill other delivery orders, the consumer may produce (and his customer may order and accept) in the first or a subsequent month the minimum practicable quantity which may be made without such interference.

ALLOTMENTS AND DELIVERY ORDERS FOR CONTROLLED MATERIALS

SEC. 10. How allotments are made. (a) Each Claimant Agency, Industry Division, or consumer authorizing a production schedule as provided in section 6 of this regulation shall concurrently make a related allotment, pursuant to allotments which it has received, to the consumer whose production schedule has been authorized, on such form as may be prescribed.

(b) The allotment shall specify the quantities and the kinds of controlled materials needed for delivery in specified calendar quarters to complete the related authorized production schedule. Allotments shall be made in terms of (1) carbon steel (including wrought iron), (2) alloy steel (except stainless steel), (3) stainless steel, (4) copper and copper-base alloy brass mill products, (5) copper wire mill products, (6) copper and copper-base alloy foundry products and powder, and (7) aluminum, in each case without further breakdown.

(c) The allotment shall be identified by an allotment number as provided in section 11 of this regulation.

(d) Advance allotments by Claimant Agencies or Industry Divisions to prime consumers may be made within such limits as may be specified by the Requirements Committee of the Defense Production Administration. Prime consumers receiving such advance allotments shall, in turn, make advance allotments to their secondary consumers, and secondary consumers shall make advance allotments, in the same manner as in the case of regular allotments, but no consumer shall make any allotment before receiving his own allotment.

(e) A Claimant Agency, Industry Division, or consumer may make allotments only in the same kinds of controlled materials in which it has received its allotment.

SEC. 11. Designation and use of allotment numbers. (a) Allotments shall be identified by an allotment number consisting of a Claimant Agency letter symbol and one digit designating the authorized program of such Claimant Agency. In cases where a Claimant Agency is not involved, the appropriate symbol designated by any NPA regulation or order as a CMP allotment symbol shall be used. For example, in the case of maintenance, repair and operating supplies, the symbol MRO shall be used as provided in CMP Regulation No. 5.

(b) Authorized controlled material orders shall show the related allotment number and the calendar quarter for which the allotment is valid. For example, a delivery order for controlled materials placed pursuant to an allotment identified by allotment number K–2 which is valid for the fourth quarter of 1951 shall be designated as follows: K–2–4Q51. The date or dates on which delivery is required must also be specified on such delivery order.

(c) Delivery orders for products and materials other than controlled materials required for completion of an authorized production schedule shall show the DO rating and the related allotment number, for example, DO–K–2. The date or dates on which delivery is required must also be specified on such delivery order.

SEC. 12. Allotments by consumers. (a) Each prime consumer receiving an allotment may use that portion of the allotment which he requires to obtain controlled materials as such for his authorized production schedule, and shall allot the remainder to his secondary consumers producing class A products for him to cover their requirements for controlled materials for related authorized production schedules. Allotments by secondary consumers to secondary consumers supplying them shall be made in the same fashion. A secondary consumer producing class A products for several consumers shall obtain separate allotments from each.

(b) No consumer shall make any allotment in an amount which exceeds the related allotment received by him, after deducting all other allotments made by him and all orders for controlled materials placed by him pursuant to his related allotment.

(c) No consumer shall make any allotment in excess of the amount required, to the best of his knowledge and belief, to fulfill the related authorized production schedule of the secondary consumer to whom the allotment is made (including the schedules of any secondary consumers supplying the latter).

(d) Allotments for production of class B products shall only be made by appropriate Industry Divisions or by appropriate Claimant Agencies as specified in the "Official CMP Class B Product List," and no consumer shall accept any allotment from any other person for the production of class B products.

(e) No consumer who has received his allotment for an authorized production schedule shall place any delivery order for any class A product required to fulfill said schedule, unless concurrently therewith, he makes an allotment to the person with whom the order is placed, in the amount required by such person to fill said order: Provided, however, That if he purchases a class A product from a distributor under the conditions specified in section 15 of this regulation, he need make no allotment but must deduct the appropriate amount from his own allotment balance.

(f) A consumer may make an allotment to his secondary consumer on such form (including Form CMP–5 set forth in Schedule II of this regulation) as may be prescribed for the purpose. Allotments may be made by telegraphing or telephoning the information required by the appropriate form and confirming the same with such form, within 15 days.

SEC. 13. How to cancel or reduce allotments. A person who has made an allotment may cancel or reduce the same by notice in writing to the person to whom it was made. A person who has received an allotment may cancel or reduce the same by making an appropriate notation thereon and notifying the person from whom he received it. In either case, if an allotment received by a person is cancelled, he must cancel all allotments which he has made, and all authorized controlled material orders which he has placed, on the basis of the allotment; and, if an allotment received by a person is reduced, he must cancel or reduce allotments which he has made, or authorized controlled material orders which he has placed, to the extent that the same exceed his allotment as reduced. If and to the extent that cancellation or reduction is impracticable because of shipments already made to him pursuant to such allotment, he may use or dispose of controlled materials or class A products which he gets with such allotment in the manner provided in section 17 of this regulation.

SEC. 14. Transfer of allotments. (a) No consumer shall transfer or assign any allotment (as distinct from making an allotment) in any way unless: (1) delivery orders for class A products placed with him, in connection with which the allotment was made to him, have been transferred or assigned to another consumer; (2) the authorized production schedules of the respective consumers have been duly adjusted; and (3) the transfer or assignment is approved in writing by the person who made the allotment.

(b) Transfers or assignments of allotments may be made without complying with paragraph (a) of this section in connection with the transfer or assignment of a business as a going concern where the transferee continues to operate substantially the same business in the same plant. The transferee may use the allotment and ratings of the transferor but the transferee must notify NPA of the details of the transaction, giving the names of the persons involved and furnishing one extra copy of such notification for each authorized production schedule that he has received.

SEC. 15. Special provisions regarding manufacturers and distributors of class A products. (a) For the purposes of this section "distributor" means any person engaged in the business of buying and taking physical delivery of class A products which he does not manufacture and selling the same, for his own account, but only to the extent that he is so engaged.

(b) A distributor may buy and sell class A products without making or receiving allotments. A manufacturer of class A products selling them to a distributor may obtain an allotment for such manufacture from the appropriate Industry Division or Claimant Agency by submitting an application on Form CMP–4B, in the same manner as if they were class B products. If the manufacturer makes physical delivery directly to a distributor's customer, the latter (unless he is also a distributor) shall make an allotment directly to the manufacturer in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if the distributor had no part in the transaction.

(c) A manufacturer of class A products who sells them for use as maintenance, repair, or operating supplies (except items purchased from him by a Claimant Agency and for which he has received an allotment) shall obtain allotments for such manufacture in the manner provided in paragraph (b) of this section. Applications pursuant to said paragraph (b) and this paragraph (c) may be combined in a single Form CMP–4B.

(d) Notwithstanding paragraph (a) of this section, a manufacturer who also sells purchased class A products to round out his line, which do not represent more than 10 percent of his estimated total sales receipts in a calendar quarter for which he files an application for allotment, shall be deemed the manufacturer of such products and not a distributor for purposes of this section.

SEC. 16. Alternative procedure for simultaneous allotments. A prime or secondary consumer who has several secondary consumers in different degrees of remoteness, may, at his option, authorize individual production schedules and make simultaneous direct allotments to all such secondary consumers of all degrees of remoteness. The person who is to make the allotment under this alternative procedure (the originating consumer) may request each supplier of all degrees of remoteness to furnish him directly with information regarding such supplier's requirements for controlled materials, and each such supplier shall comply with such request. If this procedure is followed, each supplier shall include in the information he furnishes to the originating consumer only his own requirements for controlled materials and not those of his suppliers. In no event shall a person who uses this alternative procedure make an allotment of more controlled materials than he has received. All the provisions of this regulation regarding authorized production schedules and allotments shall apply to the alternative procedure for simultaneous allotments, except as specifically provided in this section.

SEC. 17. Restrictions on placing authorized controlled material orders, and on use of allotments and materials. (a) In no event shall a consumer request delivery of any controlled material in a greater amount or on an earlier date than required to fulfill his authorized production schedule, or in an amount so large or on a date so early that receipt of such amount on the requested date would result in his having an inventory of controlled materials in excess of the limitations prescribed by CMP Regulation No. 2 or by any other applicable regulation or order of NPA. If the quantity of any controlled material required by a consumer is less than the minimum mill quantity specified in Schedule IV of this regulation, and is not procurable from a distributor, he may accept delivery of the full minimum shown in such schedule.

(b) No consumer shall use an allotment, or any controlled material or class A product obtained pursuant to an allotment for any purpose except: (1) To fulfill the related authorized production schedule, or (2) to fulfill any of his other authorized production schedules for class A products, within the same plant or operating unit, which bear the same allotment number, or (3) to fulfill any of his other authorized production schedules, within the same plant or operating unit, for class B products which are in the same Product Class Code as shown in the "Official CMP Class B Product List" issued by NPA, or (4) to replace in inventory, controlled materials or class A products used to fulfill any of such authorized production schedules, subject to the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 2 or any other applicable regulation or order of NPA. Where an allotment made for one schedule is used in filling another schedule as provided in this paragraph, no charge need be made against the allotment account of the second schedule, but an appropriate record must be made, on the allotment accounts or otherwise, describing the circumstances.

(c) If a consumer's needs for a controlled material or class A product are reduced before he has ordered or received delivery of them he must immediately return the allotment as explained in section 18 of this regulation unless he uses the allotment for the purposes permitted in paragraph (b) of this section. If he has already placed authorized controlled material orders or delivery orders for class A products, he must cancel them. If cancellation of such orders is impracticable because of shipments already made, he may accept delivery of the controlled materials and class A products, in which case his use of them is covered by paragraph (d) of this section.

(d) If it develops, after a consumer has received delivery of controlled materials or class A products, that he cannot use them for a purpose permitted under paragraph (b) of this section, he may use or dispose of them subject to restrictions of other orders or regulations of NPA.

(e) If, before using or disposing of controlled materials or class A products in a way permitted by this section, the consumer receives instructions from NPA as to disposition or use of the same, he must comply with such instructions. Also, he must comply with any instructions he receives from a Claimant Agency with respect to his use of controlled materials or class A products which he obtained by use of an allotment from that Claimant Agency, in any program of the same Claimant Agency, or with respect to their sale to any other person for use in a program of the same Claimant Agency, subject always to whatever rights he may have to reimbursement.

(f) A consumer need not segregate inventories of controlled materials or class A products which he obtained by use of his allotments, even though different allotment numbers are used in ordering them, nor does he have to earmark them for a particular schedule. Although a consumer must charge the appropriate allotment account when placing an authorized controlled material order or making an allotment, he may keep all controlled materials and class A products received in a common inventory and in withdrawing from inventory he does not have to charge the withdrawal against the allotment account. A consumer who is operating under several authorized production schedules need not maintain separate records of the production obtained from the allotment received for each schedule if the records which he normally keeps show that his use of material for his respective schedules is substantially proportionate to the amounts of material allotted for each, and that his aggregate production of any product does not exceed the aggregate of the production schedules authorized for that product.

SEC. 18. Adjustments for changes in requirements. (a) If a consumer's requirements for controlled materials or class A products needed to fulfill an authorized production schedule are increased after he receives his allotment, he may apply for an additional allotment to the person who made the allotment for that schedule.

(b) If a consumer finds that he has been allotted substantially more than he needs, he must return the excess. As of the first of each month, each consumer must check up on his anticipated requirements for the quarter and determine whether he has been allotted more than he anticipates he needs. If he has, he must return the excess by the tenth of the month. He need not take a physical inventory for this purpose, but must merely check up on the effect of known changes in his requirements or errors which he has discovered in his statement of requirements.

(c) The return of an unneeded allotment must be made to the person from whom the allotment was received on such form as may be prescribed. If it is impracticable to obtain the prescribed form, the return may be made by letter setting forth the facts.

(d) In those cases where it is impracticable for a secondary consumer to return an allotment to the person from whom he received it, he may make the return directly to the appropriate Claimant Agency or Industry Division.

SEC. 19. How to place orders with controlled materials producers and distributors. (a) A delivery order placed with a controlled materials producer or a controlled materials distributor (as defined in CMP Regulation No. 4) for controlled material shall be deemed an authorized controlled material order only if (1) it contains an allotment number and the calendar quarter for which the allotment is valid, as provided in section 11 of this regulation, and complies with the provisions of this section, or (2) it is specifically designated as an authorized controlled material order by any regulation or order of NPA.

(b) A consumer who has received an allotment may place an authorized controlled material order with any controlled materials producer or distributor unless otherwise specifically directed. An allotment to a prime consumer may include an instruction to place delivery orders for controlled materials with one or more designated controlled materials producers. In such event the consumer shall use the allotment only to obtain controlled materials from the designated controlled materials producer or producers or to make allotments to secondary consumers, designating therein only producers named in the allotment received by him. Except as required by the allotment which he has received, no consumer shall impose any such restriction in any allotment made by him.

(c) Every authorized controlled material order must contain a certification in addition to an allotment number. Unless another form of certification is specifically prescribed by an applicable order or regulation of NPA, such certification shall be in the following form: "Certified under CMP Regulation No. 1," and shall be signed manually or as provided in NPA Reg. 2. This certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place an authorized controlled material order under the provisions of this regulation to obtain the controlled materials covered by the delivery order.

(d) An authorized controlled material order must be in sufficient detail to permit entry on mill schedules and must be received by the controlled materials producer at such time in advance as is specified in Schedule III of this regulation, or at such later time as the controlled materials producer may find it practicable to accept the same, provided that no controlled materials producer shall discriminate between customers in rejecting or accepting late orders.

(e) A delivery order for controlled materials placed by a consumer before he has received his authorized production schedule and allotment, calling for delivery after June 30, 1951, may be converted into an authorized controlled material order, after receipt of such schedule and allotment, either by furnishing a revised copy of the order conforming to the requirements of this section or by furnishing in writing information clearly identifying the order and bearing the certification required by paragraph (c) of this section.

(f) No person shall place an authorized controlled material order unless the amount of controlled material ordered is within the related allotment received by him, after deducting all allotments made by him and all orders for controlled material placed by him pursuant to the same allotment, or unless he is expressly authorized to place such an order by any applicable regulation or order of NPA.

(g) Authorized controlled materials orders shall take precedence over other orders for controlled materials to the extent provided in CMP Regulation No. 3. A delivery order for controlled materials not covered by an allotment shall not be combined with an authorized controlled material order. However, such orders shall be combined if the total of both does not exceed the minimum mill quantity specified in Schedule IV of this regulation, provided that the controlled materials involved are not procurable from a distributor. Where such orders are combined, the portion covered by allotment must be specifically identified by the appropriate allotment number and such delivery order must contain the certification provided in paragraph (c) of this section.

CONTROLLED MATERIALS PRODUCERS

SEC. 20. Rules applicable to controlled materials producers. (a) Each controlled materials producer shall comply with such production and other directives as may be issued from time to time by NPA and with the provisions of all other applicable regulations and orders of NPA regarding production and delivery of controlled materials.

(b) Each controlled materials producer shall accept all (1) authorized controlled material orders, except as provided in this section, (2) orders for controlled materials bearing a DO rating calling for delivery before October 1, 1951, except as provided in this section, and (3) orders which he is required to accept pursuant to NPA directive: Provided, however, That nothing in this section shall prevent any controlled materials producer from accepting any other orders for controlled materials to the extent that such acceptance would be in conformity with the provisions of this section and all other applicable regulations and orders of NPA.

(c) A controlled materials producer shall be required to accept authorized controlled material orders, orders for controlled materials bearing a DO rating and all other orders for controlled materials only in conformity with the appropriate quantity limitations and other conditions specified in NPA Order M–1 (steel), NPA Order M–5 (aluminum), NPA Order M–6 (steel), and NPA Order M–11 (copper), or in any other applicable regulation or order of NPA.

(d) A controlled materials producer may reject orders for less than the minimum mill quantities specified in Schedule IV of this regulation, but shall not discriminate between customers in rejecting or accepting such orders.

(e) In any case where a controlled materials producer is of the opinion that the filling of an order which he is required to accept pursuant to this section would substantially reduce his over-all production owing to the large or small size of the order, unusual specifications, or otherwise, he shall notify the appropriate Controlled Materials Division setting forth the pertinent facts. NPA may direct that the order be placed with another supplier or take other appropriate action.

(f) To the extent necessary to make deliveries on time with respect to orders which he is required to accept pursuant to this section, a controlled materials producer must reject or defer any orders which he is not required to accept pursuant to this section: Provided, however, That if at the time the order is to be deferred it is scheduled for delivery within less time than the "lead times" specified in Schedule III of this regulation, he need not defer such order if in so doing his production or operations would be stopped or interrupted in a way which would cause a substantial loss of total production or a substantial delay in operation.

(g) A controlled materials producer shall make delivery on each authorized controlled material order as close to the requested delivery date as is practicable. He may make delivery during the 15 days prior to the requested delivery month, but not before then, provided such delivery does not interfere with delivery on other authorized controlled material orders, and provided production to meet such delivery would not violate any production directive. If a producer, after accepting an order within the limits provided in this section finds that, due to contingencies which he could not reasonably have foreseen, he is obliged to postpone the delivery date, he must promptly advise his customer of the approximate date when delivery can be scheduled, and keep his customer advised of any changes in that date. Delivery of any such carry-over order must be scheduled and made in preference to any order originally scheduled for such later date. When the new date for delivery on a carry-over order falls within a later quarter than that indicated on the original order, the producer must make delivery on the basis of the original order even if that order shows that the allotment was valid for delivery in a quarter earlier than the one in which delivery is actually made.

(h) If a controlled materials producer takes controlled materials which he has produced and processes them into a form other than a controlled materials form, or if he uses controlled materials which he has produced to make a product or a material other than a controlled material, such processing or use shall be considered a delivery for the purposes of this section.

(i) If a controlled materials producer is not required to or is unable to accept an authorized controlled material order for delivery in the month requested because of the provisions of this section, but has open space available in either of the two following months, he must accept and schedule the order for delivery as early as possible during the two following months and must promptly notify the customer of the proposed delivery date and tell him that the order has been accepted, subject to written confirmation within 7 days. If the customer does not have written confirmation of the new delivery date in the producer's hands within 7 days after the date on which the notice of tentative acceptance was sent, the producer may cancel the order.

(j) If the controlled material delivered pursuant to an authorized controlled material order varies from the exact amount specified in such order, the making and acceptance of such delivery shall not be deemed a violation of this regulation by the controlled materials producer or his customer, provided such variation does not exceed the commercially recognized shipping tolerance, or allowance for excess or shortage.

(k) An authorized controlled material order shall not constitute an allotment of controlled material to the controlled materials producer with whom it is placed. If a controlled materials producer requires delivery of controlled materials from other controlled materials producers, to be processed by him and sold to his customers in another form or shape constituting a controlled material, such delivery may be made or accepted only pursuant to a specific instruction of NPA, or pursuant to allotment as provided in section 21 of this regulation.

SEC. 21. Production requirements of controlled materials producers. This section provides the procedures under which controlled materials producers may obtain production materials required in the production of controlled materials. For the purposes of this section, "production material" means, with respect to any controlled materials producer, any material (including controlled material) or product which will be physically incorporated into his product, and includes the portion of such material normally consumed or converted into scrap in the course of processing. It includes containers and packaging materials required to make delivery of the materials he produces, and also chemicals used directly in the production of the materials he produces. It does not include any items purchased by him as manufacturing equipment, or for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies as defined in CMP Regulation No. 5.

(a) Except in those cases handled by directives pursuant to section 20 (a) of this regulation, if a controlled materials producer requires delivery, after June 30, 1951, of controlled materials or of class A products to be incorporated in a controlled material produced by him, he may apply for an allotment on Form CMP-4B or such other form as may be prescribed for the purpose. Such applications shall be sent to the Controlled Materials Division charged with supervision over the operations of the controlled materials producer, even if a different controlled material is involved.

(b) Allotments will be made to controlled materials producers applying under paragraph (a) of this section in the manner provided in section 10 of this regulation, except that in lieu of authorized production schedules, the controlled materials producer will receive from his Controlled Materials Division production instructions or authorizations. Controlled materials producers who have received allotments pursuant to this paragraph may place authorized controlled material orders in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of this regulation.

(c) When a Controlled Materials Division has made an allotment to a controlled materials producer, a DO rating shall be assigned to the related production instructions or authorizations for use in obtaining production materials, other than controlled materials, in accordance with the provisions of CMP Regulation No. 3.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 22. Applicability of other regulations and orders. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to relieve any person from complying with all other applicable regulations and orders of NPA. In case compliance by any person with the provisions of any such regulation or order would prevent fulfillment of an authorized production schedule, he shall immediately report the matter to the appropriate Industry Division, and to the Claimant Agency whose schedule is affected. NPA will thereupon take such action as is deemed appropriate, but unless and until otherwise expressly authorized or directed by NPA, such person shall comply with the provisions of such regulation or order.

SEC. 23. Records and reports. (a) Each consumer making or receiving any allotment of controlled materials shall maintain at his regular place of business accurate records of all allotments received, of procurement pursuant to all allotments, and of the subdivision of all allotments among his direct secondary consumers. Such records shall be kept separately by allotment numbers, pursuant to section 11 of this regulation, and shall include separate entries under each number for each customer, Claimant Agency, or Industry Division from whom allotments are received under such number, except as otherwise specifically provided in this regulation.

(b) Each consumer and each controlled materials producer shall retain for at least 2 years at his regular place of business all documents on which he relies as entitling him to make or receive an allotment or to deliver or accept delivery of controlled materials or class A products, segregated and available for inspection by representatives of NPA, or Claimant Agencies authorized by NPA, or filed in such manner that they can be readily segregated and made available for such inspection.

(c) The provisions of this regulation do not require any particular accounting method, provided the records maintained supply the information specified by this regulation and furnish an adequate basis for audit. Records may be retained in the form of microfilm or other photographic copies instead of the originals.

(d) Persons subject to this regulation shall maintain such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 24. Applications for adjustment or exception. (a) Any person subject to any provision of this regulation, or any other regulation, order, direction or other action under the Controlled Materials Plan, may file a request for adjustment, exception, or other relief upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests claiming that the public interest is prejudiced, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing submitted in triplicate, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

(b) A producer of class A products making a large variety of items which are sold to many customers and whose allotments originate from several Claimant Agencies, may file a request to be treated as a producer of class B products. Such request shall be in writing submitted in triplicate, shall set forth all pertinent facts, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 25. Communications. All communications concerning this regulation, except as otherwise specified in this regulation, shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: CMP Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 26. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation or any other regulation or order of the National Production Authority, or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this regulation, is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This regulation shall take effect on May 3, 1951.

NATIONAL PRODUCTION AUTHORITY,
MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

SCHEDULE I—CONTROLLED MATERIALS

(See sections 2 (c) and 2 (j))

CARBON STEEL (INCLUDING WROUGHT IRON)[1]

(a) Bar (including bar shapes).
Includes:
Bar, hot-rolled projectile and shell quality.
Bar, hot-rolled, other (including light shapes).
Bar, reinforcing.
Bar, cold-finished.
Bar, tool steel.
(b) Sheet, strip (uncoated and coated).
Includes:
Sheet, hot-rolled.
Sheet, cold-rolled.
Sheet, galvanized.
Sheet, all other coated.
Sheet, enameling.
Strip, hot-rolled.
Strip, cold-rolled.
Strip, galvanized.
Electrical sheet and strip.
Tin mill black plate.
Tin plate, hot-dipped.
Ternes, special coated manufacturing.
Tin plate, electrolytic.
(c) Plate.
(d) Structural shapes (heavy), piling.
(e) Pipe, tubing.
Includes:
Standard pipe (including couplings).
Oil-country goods (casings, tubular goods, couplings furnished by mill).
Line pipe.
Pressure tubing—seamless and welded.
Mechanical tubing—seamless and welded.
(f) Wire, wire products.
Includes:
Nails and staples.
Barbed and twisted wire.
Woven wire fence.
Bale ties.
(g) Other mill forms and products (do not include forgings).
Includes:
Ingots.
Billets, projectile and shell quality.
Blooms, slabs, other billets, tube rounds, sheet bars.
Skelp.
Wire rod.
Rails.
Joint bars (track).
Tie plates (track).
Track spikes.
Wheels, rolled or forged (railroad).
Axles (railroad).
(h) Castings (not including cast iron).

ALLOY STEEL[2] (EXCEPT STAINLESS STEEL)

(a) Bar, bar shapes.
Includes:
Bar, hot-rolled projectile and shell quality.
Bar, hot-rolled, other (including light shapes).
Bar, cold-finished.
Bar, tool steel.

[1] "Carbon steel (including wrought iron)" means any steel customarily so classified.

[2] "Alloy steel" contains any one or more of the following elements in the following amounts: Manganese, maximum of range in excess of 1.65 percent. Silicon, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Copper, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Aluminum, chromium, cobalt, columbium, molybdenum, nickel, tantalum, titanium, tungsten, vanadium, zirconium, or any other alloying elements in any amount specified or known to have been added to obtain a desired alloying effect.

(b) Sheet, strip.
Includes:
Sheet, hot-rolled.
Sheet, cold-rolled.
Sheet, galvanized.
Strip, hot-rolled.
Strip, cold-rolled.
Electrical sheet and strip.
(c) Plate.
Includes:
Rolled armor.
Other.
(d) Structual shapes (heavy).
(e) Pipe, tubing.
Includes:
Oil-country goods.
Pressure tubing—seamless and welded.
Mechanical tubing—seamless and welded.
(f) Wire.
(g) Other mill forms and products (do not include forgings).
Includes:
Ingots.
Billets, projectile and shell quality.
Blooms, slabs, other billets, tube rounds, sheet bars.
Wire rods.
Rails.
Wheels, rolled or forged (railroad).
Axles (railroad).
(h) Castings.

STAINLESS STEEL[3]

(a) Seamless tubing.
(b) Other mill forms and products (do not include forgings).
Includes:
Bar, bar shapes.
Includes:
Bar, hot-rolled (including light shapes).
Bar, cold-finished.
Sheet, strip.

[3] "Stainless steel" means heat and corrosion resisting steel containing 10 percent or more of chromium either with or without nickel, molybdenum, or other elements. Stainless clad steel is considered to be solid stainless. AISI types 501 and 502 and other alloy steel containing 4 percent to but not including 10 percent chromium, which previously was considered as stainless steel, should now be included as alloy steel.

STAINLESS STEEL—Continued
Includes:
Sheet, hot-rolled.
Sheet, cold-rolled.
Strip, hot-rolled.
Strip, cold-rolled.
Plate.
Structural shapes (heavy).
Tubing (except seamless).
Wire, drawn.
Wire nails and staples.
Ingots, blooms, billets, tube rounds, sheet bars, wire rods.
(c) Castings.

COPPER AND COPPER-BASE ALLOY BRASS MILL PRODUCTS

Copper (unalloyed):
(a) Bar, rod, shapes, wire (except electrical).
(b) Sheet, strip, plate, rolls.
(c) Pipe, tubing.
Copper-base alloy:
(d) Bar, rod, wire, shapes.
(e) Sheet, strip, plate, rolls.
(f) Pipe, tubing.

COPPER WIRE MILL PRODUCTS

Includes: Wire and cable for electrical conduction only:
Bare and tinned.
Weatherproof.
Magnet wire.
Insulated building wire products.
Paper and lead power cable.
Paper and lead telephone cable.
Asbestos cable.
Portable and flexible cord and cable.
Communication wire and cable.
Shipboard cable.
Automotive and aircraft wire and cable.
Insulated power cable products.
Signal and control cable.

COPPER AND COPPER-BASE ALLOY FOUNDRY PRODUCTS AND POWDER

Includes:
Castings.
Powder.

ALUMINUM

Rolled bar, rod, wire, structural shapes.
Extruded bar, rod, shapes, tubing (including drawn tubing).
Sheet, plate, foil (including strip).
Powder (atomized or flake, including paste).
Pig or ingot, granular or shot.

SCHEDULE II—SHORT FORM OF ALLOTMENT

Weatherproof wire and cable	35
Magnet wire	60
Building wire and cable	60
Varnished cambric cable	60
Asbestos cable (types U-F)	60
Rubber insulated wire and cable (braid or lead cured)	7
Foundry copper and copper-base products:	14
Castings (rough or semi-finished, not machined—assuming patterns are available):
Castings that will simple enstines to fit 12 by 16 inch flask
Large intricate and centrifugal castings
Aluminum

INSTRUCTIONS FOR USE OF SHORT FORM OF ALLOTMENT—FORM CMP-5

The above short form of allotment may be used by any consumer who has received an allotment for the purpose of making an allotment to a secondary consumer producing Class A products for him. The short form of allotment must be either placed on or physically attached to the delivery order calling for delivery of the Class A products. If it is attached, the delivery order number or other identification must be indicated on the form.

The form must be signed by an authorized official of the consumer making the allotment, but need not be separately signed if it is placed on the delivery order in such a position that the signature of the delivery order by such an authorized official clearly applies to the allotment as well as to the order itself.

The size of the form may be varied, but all information called for by the form must be supplied and the general arrangement and wording of the form must be followed.

SCHEDULE III—TIME FOR PLACING AUTHORIZED CONTROLLED MATERIAL ORDER

(See sections 19 (d) and 20 (f))

Name of product	Number of days in advance of first day of month in which shipment is required: Carbon [1]	Low alloy [2]	Stainless [3]	Full alloy [4]
Steel (including wrought iron):
Ingots	45	75	75	75

Track spikes	45
Wheels, rolled and forged (railroad)	45			90
Axles (railroad)	45	75		75
Bars—hot-rolled, projectile and shell quality (includes all pre-machined components such as fuze, adapters, and base plugs)	45	8 75	90	8 75
Bars—hot-rolled, other (including light shapes)	45
Bars—reinforcing	45	75	105	9 105
Bars—cold-finished	101			90
Bars—tool steel	45		120
Oil-country goods (including couplings)	45
Line pipe	45
Mechanical tubing (seamless and welded)	10 45		120	120

1 "Carbon steel (including wrought iron)" means any steel customarily so classified.
2 "Low-alloy high-strength steel" means only the proprietary grades promoted and sold for this purpose.
3 "Stainless steel" means heat and corrosion resisting steel containing 10 percent or more of chromium either with or without nickel, molybdenum, or other elements. Stainless clad steel is considered to be solid stainless. AISI types 501 and 502 and other alloy steel containing 4 percent to but not including 10 percent chromium, which previously was considered as stainless steel, should now be included as full-alloy steel.
4 "Full-alloy steel" means any alloy steel not classified as "stainless" or "low-alloy high-strength." "Alloy steel" contains any one or more of the following elements in the following amounts: Manganese, maximum of range in excess of 1.65 percent. Silicon, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Copper, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Aluminum, chromium, cobalt, columbium, molybdenum, nickel, tantalum, titanium, tungsten, vanadium, zirconium, or any other alloying elements in any amount specified or known to have been added to obtain a desired alloy effect.
5 Subject to special rolled shapes including angles and channels.
6 Subject to negotiation between mill and its customer. If no acceptable arrangements are worked out, NPA should be notified.
7 Includes less quantities for pilering.
8 If cold-finished, add an additional 15 days.
9 If cold-finished, add an additional 60 days.
10 If cold-drawn or cold-finished, 60 days; for welded tubing, 75 days.

SCHEDULE IV—MINIMUM MILL QUANTITIES

(See sections 17 (a), 19 (g) and 20 (d))

Name of product	Minimum quantity for each size and grade of any item for mill shipment at any 1 time to any 1 destination
Steel (special grades, shapes, specifications, processes, and similar factors must be handled by negotiation):
Carbon [1] and low alloy [2] steel:
Ingots, blooms, billets, slabs, and tube rounds, skelp, etc., rerolling quality	25 net tons.
Blooms, billets, and slabs, forging quality	Product of 1 ingot.
Wire rods, hot-rolled	5 net tons.
Structural shapes (heavy)	5 net tons.
Plates:
Rolled armor	By negotiation.[3]
Continuous strip mill production	10 net tons.
Sheared, universal, or bar mill production	3 net tons.
Rails	5 net tons.
Track accessories (joint bars, tie plates, track spikes)	5 net tons.
Bars, hot-rolled:
Projectile and shell quality	Product of 1 heat.[4]
Round bars up to and including 3 inches and squares, hexagons, half rounds, ovals, etc., of approximately equivalent sectional area	5 net tons.
Round and square bars over 3 inches to, but not including, 8 inches	15 net tons.
Bar size shapes (angles, tees, channels and zees under 3 inches)	5 net tons.
Bars, cold-finished	3 net tons.
Bars, tool steel	500 pounds.
Pipe, published carload minimum (mixed sizes and grades)
Tubing:
Seamless cold-drawn (O. D. in inches):
Up to ¾ inclusive	1,000 feet.
Over ¾ to 1½ inclusive	800 feet.
Over 1½ to 3 inclusive	600 feet.
Over 3 to 6 inclusive	400 feet.
Over 6	250 feet.
Seamless hot-rolled	By negotiation.[3]
Welded	By negotiation.[3]
Wire rods. (See above.)
Wire, drawn, for further fabrication and manufacturing:
Low-carbon	1 net ton.
High carbon (0.40 carbon and higher):
0.0475 inch and heavier	1 net ton.
Under 0.0475 inch to 0.021 inch inclusive	1,000 pounds.
Under 0.021 inch	500 pounds.
Wire merchant trade products, assorted	5 net tons
Tin mill products—any 1 gauge	5,000 pounds.
Sheet, hot- and cold-rolled	5 net tons.
Strip, hot- and cold-rolled	3 net tons.
Stainless steel: [5] No minimum on standard grades and sizes. For unusual grades or sizes the minimum order is to be worked out by negotiation.[3]
Full-alloy steel: [6]
Ingots	Product of 1 heat.[4]
Billet, projectile and shell quality	By negotiation.[3]
Blooms, slabs, billets (except projectile and shell quality), tube rounds, sheet bars, etc.:
7 inches square (or equivalent cross sectional area) and under	5 net tons.
Larger than 7 inches square (or equivalent cross sectional area)	10 net tons.
Both of the above may be modified because of a mill's ingot size and/or rolling schedules.
Wire rods	5 net tons.
Structural shapes (heavy)	By negotiation.[3]
Plates:
Rolled armor	By negotiation.[3]
Other, whether rolled on continuous strip, sheared, universal or bar mill. (A steel producer need not accept an order unless the total quantity ordered is sufficient to make a heat of steel or unless ingots or slabs are available in stock or unless similar material is regularly being produced.)
Rails	By negotiation.
Wheels, rolled or forged (railroad)	By negotiation.[3]
Axles (railroad)	By negotiation.[3]
Bars, hot-rolled, projectile and shell quality	By negotiation.[3]
Bars, hot-rolled, other:
Rounds and squares 3½ inches and smaller	5 net tons.
Rounds and squares larger than 3½ inches	By negotiation.
Hexagons and flats	5 net tons.
Bars, cold-finished	3 net tons.
Bars, tool steel	500 pounds.
Oil-country goods	By negotiation.[3]
Mechanical tubing	5 net tons.
Pressure tubing	By negotiation.
Sheet and strip	By negotiation.[3]
Steel castings	(7).
Copper and copper-base alloys:
Brass mill products:
Nickel-silver and phosphor bronze	200 pounds.
Other	500 pounds.
Wire mill products	Standard package quantities as published by each mill.
Aluminum:
Sheet, plate, foil (including strip)	1,000 pounds.
Rolled rod, bar, structural shapes, wire	300 pounds.
Extruded shapes and tubing (including drawn tubing)	300 pounds.
Other forms	None.

1 "Carbon Steel (including wrought iron)" means steel customarily so classified.
2 "Low-alloy high-strength steel" means only the proprietary grades promoted and sold for this purpose.
3 "By negotiation" means negotiation between mill and its customer. If no acceptable arrangements are worked out, NPA should be notified.
4 "1 heat" means one batch of metal made in one furnace.
5 "Stainless steel" means heat and corrosion resisting steel containing 10 percent or more of chromium either with or without nickel, molybdenum, or other elements. Stainless clad steel is considered to be solid stainless. AISI types 501 and 502 and other alloy steel containing 4 percent to but not including 10 percent chromium, which previously was considered as stainless steel, should now be included as full-alloy steel.
6 "Full-alloy steel" means any alloy steel not classified as "stainless" or "low-alloy high-strength." "Alloy steel" contains any one or more of the following elements in the following amounts: Manganese, maximum of range in excess of 1.65 percent. Silicon, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Copper, maximum of range in excess of 0.60 percent. Aluminum, chromium, cobalt, columbium, molybdenum, nickel, tantalum, titanium, tungsten, vanadium, zirconium, or any other alloying elements in any amount specified or known to have been added to obtain a desired alloy effect.
7 2,500 pounds or less from any one pattern or mold, or a minimum production run by the producing foundry.

[CMP Regulation 3]

CMP REG. 3—BASIC RULES OF THE CONTROLLED MATERIALS PLAN

PREFERENCE STATUS OF DELIVERY ORDERS

This regulation is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this regulation, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations. However, consultation with representatives of all industries affected in advance of the issuance of this regulation has been rendered impracticable because the regulation affects almost all industries.

Sec.
1. What this regulation does.
2. Definitions.
3. General status of delivery orders.
4. Status of delivery orders for controlled materials.
5. Status of delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials.
6. How DO ratings and allotment numbers are assigned and used to obtain products or materials other than controlled materials.
7. Applicability of other regulations and orders.
8. Records and reports.
9. Applications for adjustment or exception.
10. Communications.
11. Violations.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 11 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. The purpose of this regulation is to define, under the Controlled Materials Plan, the preference status of delivery orders for controlled materials and delivery orders for products and materials other than controlled materials.

SEC. 2. Definitions. As used in this regulation and any other CMP regulation (unless otherwise indicated):

(a) "Production material" means, with respect to any person, any product (including fabricated parts and subassemblies) or any material (excluding controlled material) which will be physically incorporated into his product, and includes the portion of such material normally consumed or converted into scrap in the course of processing. It also includes: (1) Containers and packaging materials required to make delivery of his products, (2) chemicals used directly in the production of his products, and (3) items which he purchases for resale to round out his line, if such items do not represent more than 10 percent of his estimated total sales receipts in a calendar quarter for which he files an application for allotment. It does not include any items purchased by him as manufacturing equipment, or for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies as defined in CMP Regulation No. 5.

(b) "Allotment number" or "allotment symbol" means an allotment number or symbol placed on a delivery order pursuant to this regulation or any other regulation or order of NPA which expressly provides for the use of such allotment number or symbol.

SEC. 3. General status of delivery orders. (a) To the extent consistent with this regulation, the provisions of NPA Reg. 2 apply to all delivery orders except authorized controlled material orders.

(b) A delivery order pursuant to a directive issued by NPA shall take precedence over any other delivery order (including an authorized controlled material order) previously or subsequently received, unless a contrary instruction appears in the directive.

SEC. 4. Status of delivery orders for controlled materials. (a) All authorized controlled material orders (as defined in section 2 (q) of CMP Regulation No. 1) shall have equal preferential status and shall take precedence over other delivery orders for controlled material previously or subsequently received.

(b) All delivery orders for controlled material bearing DO ratings, calling for delivery before October 1, 1951, shall have equal preferential status and shall take precedence over other delivery orders for controlled material previously or subsequently received, except authorized controlled material orders.

(c) A delivery order for controlled material (whether or not it bears a DO rating) calling for delivery after June 30, 1951, may be converted into an authorized controlled material order in accordance with the provisions of section 19 of CMP Regulation No. 1, except that where an allotment symbol (such as the symbol MRO provided for in CMP Regulation No. 5) is to be applied to a delivery order under this paragraph, the certification provided in the applicable regulation or order of NPA shall be used. A delivery order for controlled material calling for delivery after June 30, 1951, which has been converted into an authorized controlled material order shall be scheduled for delivery on the original delivery date, unless the person who placed such order agrees to a different delivery date.

SEC. 5. Status of delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials. (a) All delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials to which both a DO rating and an allotment number or symbol have been applied, calling for delivery before October 1, 1951, shall have equal preferential status and shall take precedence over other delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials previously or subsequently received.

(b) All delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials bearing a DO rating, whether or not an allotment number or symbol has been applied, calling for delivery on or after October 1, 1951, shall have equal preferential status and shall take precedence over other delivery orders for products or materials other than controlled materials previously or subsequently received.

(c) A delivery order for products or materials other than controlled materials (whether or not it bears a DO rating) calling for delivery after June 30, 1951, may be converted into a delivery order bearing a DO rating with an allotment number or symbol either by (1) furnishing a revised copy of the order showing a DO rating with the appropriate allotment number or symbol, or (2) furnishing in writing information clearly identifying the order and setting forth a DO rating with the appropriate allotment number or symbol. Such delivery order or confirmation having a DO rating with an allotment number must also bear the certification provided in section 6 (d) of this regulation, and such delivery order or confirmation having a DO rating with an allotment symbol (such as the symbol MRO provided for in CMP Regulation No. 5) must also bear the certification provided in the applicable regulation or order of NPA. A delivery order for products or materials other than controlled materials calling for delivery after June 30, 1951, which has been converted into a delivery order bearing a DO rating with an allotment number or symbol shall be scheduled for delivery on the original delivery date, unless the person who placed such order agrees to a different delivery date.

SEC. 6. How DO ratings and allotment numbers are assigned and used to obtain products or materials other than controlled materials. (a) When a production schedule of a prime consumer making class A or class B products is authorized and a related allotment is made to him by a Claimant Agency or an Industry Division, a DO rating shall be assigned to such schedule by such Claimant Agency or Industry Division for use with the related allotment number.

(b) When a production schedule of a secondary consumer making class A products is authorized and a related allotment is made to him by the prime or secondary consumer for whom such products are to be made, the consumer making the allotment shall apply or extend a DO rating to such schedule for use with the related allotment number.

(c) A prime or secondary consumer who has received a DO rating for an authorized production schedule as provided in this section, and a controlled materials producer who has received a DO rating pursuant to section 21 of CMP Regulation No. 1, may use such rating with the related allotment number on delivery orders, only to acquire production materials in the minimum practicable amounts required, and on a date or dates no earlier than required, to fulfill such schedule, or to replace in his inventory production materials used to fulfill authorized production schedules.

(d) A delivery order placed pursuant to paragraph (c) of this section must contain, in addition to a DO rating with an allotment number, a certification in the following form: "Certified under CMP Regulation No. 3," which shall be signed manually or as provided in NPA Reg. 2. This certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place an order under the provisions of this regulation to obtain the products or materials covered by the delivery order.

(e) A person placing a delivery order for products or materials other than controlled materials, required for maintenance, repair, or operating supplies, or for minor capital additions, pursuant to CMP Regulation No. 5, shall place thereon a DO rating with the allotment symbol MRO together with the certification provided in CMP Regulation No. 5.

(f) A manufacturer of class B products who has received an authorized production schedule with a DO rating and an allotment number from an Industry Division or a Claimant Agency shall not extend any rating received by him from a customer for such production.

(g) A person who receives a delivery order bearing a DO rating with an allotment number or symbol for any product or material (other than controlled material) which is not manufactured by him, or which is manufactured by him but for the manufacture of which he has received no authorized production schedule, may extend such DO rating to the extent permitted by NPA Reg. 2, and if he does so he shall use such allotment number or symbol and the form of certification prescribed in paragraph (d) of this section.

(h) Purchase requirements for products or materials other than controlled materials covered by a DO rating with an allotment number or symbol may be combined with those which are unrated and/or which are covered by a DO rating without an allotment number or symbol. If this procedure is followed each item covered by a rating must be specifically identified by placing the applicable rating alongside the related item, and such delivery order must contain the certification provided in paragraph (d) of this section. Such single certification shall constitute a representation to the supplier and to NPA that the purchaser is authorized to place the order under all applicable regulations and orders of NPA.

(i) No person shall place any allotment number or symbol on any delivery order for products or materials other than controlled materials, except as provided in this section or as specifically provided in any other regulation or order of NPA.

SEC. 7. Applicability of other regulations and orders. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to relieve any person from complying with all other applicable regulations and orders of NPA.

SEC. 8. Records and reports. Persons subject to this regulation shall maintain such records and submit such reports to NPA as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

SEC. 9. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person subject to any provision of this regulation may file a request for adjustment, exception, or other relief upon the ground that such provision works an undue or exceptional hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade or industry, or that its enforcement against him would not be in the interest of the national defense or in the public interest. In examining requests claiming that the public interest is prejudiced, consideration will be given to the requirements of public health and safety, civilian defense, and dislocation of labor and resulting unemployment that would impair the defense program. Each request shall be in writing submitted in triplicate, shall set forth all pertinent facts and the nature of the relief sought, and shall state the justification therefor.

SEC. 10. Communications. All communications concerning this regulation shall be addressed to the National Production Authority, Washington 25, D. C., Ref: CMP Regulation No. 3.

SEC. 11. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provision of this regulation or any other regulation or order of the National Production Authority, or who wilfully conceals a material fact or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this regulation, is guilty of a crime and, upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment, or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against any such person to suspend his privilege of making or receiving further deliveries of materials or using facilities under priority or allocation control and to deprive him of further priorities assistance.

NOTE: All reporting and record-keeping requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

This regulation shall take effect on May 3, 1951.

[NSA ORDER No. 4 (OPR-1)]

OPR-1—SLOP CHESTS

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. General Agent's requirements.
3. Master's requirements.
4. General provisions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 4 issued under sec. 204, 49 Stat. 1987, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 1114. Interpret or apply sec. 11, 23 Stat. 56; 46 U. S. C. 670.

SECTION 1. What this order does. In accordance with the provisions of section 11 of the act of Congress approved June 26, 1884, 23 Stat. 56; 46 U. S. C. 670, this order requires all vessels operated by the National Shipping Authority under General Agency Agreement 3-19-51 to be provided with a slop chest subject to all limitations contained in said act.

SEC. 2. General Agent's requirements. The General Agent shall:

(a) Obtain from the Master, a requisition for slop chest items required for the intended voyage. Purchase for the account of the NSA, from recognized bona fide slop chest suppliers, at prices not in excess of the fair and reasonable level prevailing at the respective domestic ports, only such items and quantities reflecting past experience of actual requirements.

(b) Arrange for delivery on board to the custody of the Master all slop chest items purchased, together with a copy of the vendor's invoice showing items, units, unit cost and totals.

(c) Furnish the Master with a Slop Chest Statement showing on hand at the beginning of each voyage the items, units, unit cost, totals and selling price per unit of each item. The selling price shall approximate but not exceed 110 percent of the reasonable wholesale value of the same at the port at which the voyage commenced. The Slop Chest Statement shall also provide spaces for:

(1) Quantities and total value sold.

(2) Quantities and total cost value on hand, end of voyage.

(3) Quantities of each item required for next voyage.

(d) Submit to the Division of Operations, NSA, Washington 25, D. C., upon termination of each voyage, a copy of the Slop Chest Statement obtained from the Master, as provided for in section 3 (b) of this order and a copy of all invoices for slop chest purchases showing items by brand or trade name, unit cost and total.

(e) Account to the Division of Operations, NSA, Washington 25, D. C., if required, for the purchase, delivery to the Master, receipts from sales, condemnations, transfers and all other transactions in connection with slop chests.

SEC. 3. Master's requirements. The Master shall:

(a) Receive and receipt for the quantities of slop chest items delivered on board.

(b) Upon the termination of each voyage complete the Slop Chest Statement referred to in section 2 (c) of this order, as to quantities and total value sold, quantities and total cost value on hand at end of voyage and quantities of each item required for the next voyage.

(c) Sell, from time to time as specified by him, any of the contents of the slop chest to any or every seaman applying therefor, at the unit price, specified by the Slop Chest Statement furnished the Master by the General Agent as provided in section 2 (c) of this order.

(d) Account to the General Agent for all slop chest items received on board, for all receipts and for all other slop chest transactions engaged in during the voyage.

(e) Cause entry to be made in the ship's log authenticated by the person designated by the Master to be in charge of the slop chest, together with signatures of two other witnesses, for all losses sustained due to fire, water or other damage which renders articles unsaleable. Such log entries shall itemize the quantities damaged and the cost thereof.

(f) Submit a detailed written report to the General Agent covering losses incurred due to damage, theft or pilferage of slop chest items. The report shall be submitted at the termination of the voyage during which the damage, theft or pilferage occurred.

(g) Retain on board, all damaged slop chest items, for survey, removal and disposition by the General Agent at a domestic port.

SEC. 4. General provisions. (a) All slop chest items, damaged or otherwise, shall be removed or transferred only in compliance with applicable regulations dealing with Property Removals.

(b) In the transfer of a vessel from one General Agent to another General Agent the physical transfer of the complete slop chest shall also be accomplished between the respective General Agents. The General Agents participating in such transfer shall complete and have their respective representatives sign, a joint inventory containing the unit cost price and extensions of all slop chest items, a copy of which shall be submitted to the Division of Operations, NSA, Washington 25, D. C., together with a copy of the Slop Chest Statement for the voyage terminated prior to transfer of the vessel. An additional copy of the Slop Chest Statement shall be submitted to the Comptroller's Office, Division of Accounts, Maritime Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(c) In pricing the contents of the slop chest, the General Agent shall comply with all applicable regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency.

(d) It shall be the responsibility of each General Agent and Master to exercise reasonable care and diligence in the compliance with the Owner's obligations hereunder and in the protection and disposition of slop chest items.

(e) Neither the General Agent nor the Master shall place insurance on the contents of the slop chest purchased for the account of the NSA.

All slop chests purchased on or after the effective date of this regulation shall conform to the instructions contained in this order.

Effective date: This order shall be effective on date of publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Dated: April 26, 1951.

TITLE 43—PUBLIC LANDS: INTERIOR

Chapter I—Bureau of Land Management, Department of the Interior

Appendix—Public Land Orders

[Public Land Order 717]

ARIZONA AND NEW MEXICO

PARTIAL REVOCATION OF CERTAIN EXECUTIVE ORDERS CREATING PUBLIC WATER RESERVES

By virtue of the authority vested in the President by the act of June 25, 1910, 36 Stat. 847 (43 U. S. C. 141), and pursuant to Executive Order No. 9337 of April 24, 1943, it is ordered as follows:

1. The Executive order of April 28, 1917, creating Public Water Reserve No. 50, is hereby revoked so far as it affects the following-described land in New Mexico:

NEW MEXICO PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 14 S., R. 17 W.,
Sec. 26, NE¼.

The area described contains 160 acres. This land is isolated from other Federally-owned lands and is suitable for disposition under section 2455 of the Revised Statutes, as amended.

2. The Executive order of July 10, 1919, creating Public Water Reserve No. 65, is hereby revoked so far as it affects the following-described lands in New Mexico:

NEW MEXICO PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 1 S., R. 20 E.,
Sec. 34, SW¼SE¼ and SE¼SW¼.
T. 2 S., R. 20 E.,
Sec. 15, NE¼.

The areas described aggregate 240 acres. These lands are primarily suitable for grazing and are within New Mexico Grazing District No. 6, established by order of the Secretary of the Interior dated April 8, 1935.

3. The Executive order of April 17, 1926, creating Public Water Reserve No. 107, is hereby revoked so far as it affects the following-described land in Arizona:

GILA AND SALT RIVER MERIDIAN

T. 9½ N., R. 2 E.,
Sec. 25, W½NW¼.

The area described contains 80 acres. This land is primarily grazing in character.

No applications for these lands may be allowed under the homestead, small-tract, or desert-land laws, or any other nonmineral public-land laws unless the land in question has already been classified as valuable or suitable for such types of application or shall be so classified upon consideration of an application.

This order shall not otherwise become effective to change the status of such lands until 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order. At that time the said lands shall, subject to valid existing rights and the provisions of existing withdrawals, become subject to application, petition, location, and selection as follows:

(a) Ninety-one day period for preference-right filings. For a period of 91 days, commencing at the hour and on the day specified above, the public lands affected by this order shall be subject only to (1) application under the homestead or the desert-land laws or the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, 52 Stat. 609 (43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended, by qualified veterans of World War II and other qualified persons entitled to preference under the act of September 27, 1944, 58 Stat. 747 (43 U. S. C. 279–284), as amended, subject to the requirements of applicable law, and (2) application under any applicable public-land law, based on prior existing valid settlement rights and preference rights conferred by existing laws or equitable claims subject to allowance and confirmation. Applications under subdivision (1) of this paragraph shall be subject to applications and claims of the classes described in subdivision (2) of this paragraph. All applications filed under this paragraph either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 35th day after the date of this order shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at that time. All applications filed under this paragraph after 10:00 a. m. on the said 35th day shall be considered in the order of filing.

(b) Date for non-preference-right filings. Commencing at 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, any order, any lands remaining unappropriated shall become subject to such application, petition, location, selection, or other appropriation by the public generally as may be authorized by the public-land laws. All such applications filed either at or before 10:00 a. m. on the 126th day after the date of this order, shall be treated as though filed simultaneously at the hour specified on such 126th day. All applications filed thereafter shall be considered in the order of filing.

A veteran shall accompany his application with a complete photostatic, or other copy (both sides), of his certificate of honorable discharge, or of an official document of his branch of the service which shows clearly his honorable discharge as defined in § 181.36 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, or constitutes evidence of other facts upon which the claim for preference is based and which shows clearly the period of service. Other persons claiming credit for service of veterans must furnish like proof in support of their claims. Persons asserting preference rights, through settlement or otherwise, and those having equitable claims, shall accompany their applications by duly corroborated statements in support thereof, setting forth in detail all facts relevant to their claims.

Applications for these lands, which shall be filed in the Land and Survey Offices in Phoenix, Arizona, and Santa Fe, New Mexico, respectively, shall be acted upon in accordance with the regulations contained in § 295.8 of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations and Part 296 of that title, to the extent that such regulations are applicable. Applications under the homestead laws shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 166 to 170, inclusive, of Title 43 of the Code of Federal Regulations, and applications under the desert-land laws and the said Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, shall be governed by the regulations contained in Parts 232 and 257, respectively, of that title.

Inquiries concerning these lands shall be addressed to the Land and Survey Offices in Phoenix, Arizona, and Santa Fe, New Mexico, respectively.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

[Public Land Order 716]

ALASKA

REVOKING EXECUTIVE ORDER NO. 8223 OF AUGUST 21, 1939, WHICH MADE CERTAIN TOWN SITE LANDS AVAILABLE FOR THE USE OF ALASKA ROAD COMMISSION FOR AVIATION FIELD PURPOSES

By virtue of the authority vested in the President by the acts of June 25, 1910, 36 Stat. 847 (43 U. S. C. 141), and March 12, 1914, 38 Stat. 305, 306 (43 U. S. C. 303), and pursuant to Executive Order No. 9337 of April 24, 1943, it is ordered as follows:

Executive Order No. 8223 of August 21, 1939, which modified Executive Order No. 1919½ of April 21, 1914, reserving certain lands in Alaska for town site purposes, to the extent necessary to permit the S½ block 38 and all of block 45 in Nenana Town Site to be used by the Alaska Road Commission for aviation field purposes, is hereby revoked.

The lands affected by this revocation will be reappraised and offered at public sale pursuant to the laws and regulations relating to railroad town sites in Alaska.

OSCAR L. CHAPMAN,
Secretary of the Interior.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

[47 CFR, Parts 2, 3]

[Docket Nos. 8736, 8975, 8976, 9175]

TELEVISION BROADCAST SERVICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matters of amendment of § 3.606 of the Commission's rules and regulations, Docket Nos. 8736 and 8975; amendment of the Commission's rules, regulations, and Engineering Standards Concerning the Television Broadcast Service, Docket No. 9175; Utilization of frequencies in the band 470 to 890 Mcs for Television Broadcasting, Docket No. 8976.

1. Paragraph "II–B–1" of Appendix A attached to the third notice of further proposed rule making (FCC 51–244) (16 F. R. 3072) issued by the Commission herein on March 22, 1951, provides as follows:

(1) A channel assigned to a community in the Commission's Table of Television Assignments shall be available, without the necessity of rule making proceedings, to any other community located within 15 miles of the assigned community provided the minimum separations set forth in paragraphs "E" and "G" herein are maintained.*

The purpose of the above proposal was to permit unassigned communities to apply for channels in assigned communities situated within 15 miles thereof without the necessity of first initiating a rule making proceeding. When the above third notice was issued, the Commission believed that such intention was evident from the use of the distinguishing words "assigned community."

2. From the inquiries received by the Commission it appears that written clarification of the above proposal may prove helpful in understanding the Commission's intentions in the matter. Accordingly, pargaraph "II–B–1" of Appendix A attached to the third notice of further proposed rule making herein is amended to read as follows:

1. A channel assigned to a community in the Commission's Table of Television Assignments shall be available, without the necessity of rule making proceedings, to any other community which is located within 15 miles of the assigned community and which has no assignment of its own provided the minimum separations set forth in paragraph "E" and "G" herein are maintained.*

3. Authority to issue the above amendment is vested in the Commission by sections 4 (i); 301, 303, (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), (r) and 307 (b) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

Adopted: April 25, 1951.

Released: April 25, 1951.

[Docket No. 9954]

COASTAL AND MARINE RELAY SERVICES; SHIP SERVICE

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

In the matter of amendment of § 7.58 (c) of Part 7, and § 8.81 (c) of Part 8 of the Commission's rules governing Coastal and Marine Relay Services, and Ship Service, respectively; Docket No. 9954.

Notice is hereby given of proposed rule making in the above entitled matter.

The Commission has heretofore in Docket 9797 (§ 7.306 (a) and (b), and § 8.354 (a) (1)) proposed amendments of Parts 7 and 8 of the Commission's rules governing Coastal and Marine Relay Services, and Ship Service, respectively, which, among other matters, expressly restricted the use of certain frequencies to coast stations located at or in the vicinity of specific places and to ship radiotelephone stations for communication with coast stations located at or in the vicinity of specific places. The Commission now desires to propose additional locations at which frequencies in the 2–3.5 megacycle band may be used by coast and ship radiotelephone stations (under certain specified limitations) and an additional frequency which may be used by coast and ship radiotelephone stations. The proposed rule changes involve amendments to present § 7.58 (c) and 8.81 (c) of the Commission's rules governing Coastal and Marine Relay Services, and Ship Service, respectively, and are set forth below.

In order to expedite the availability of the frequencies involved herein, the earlier relevant portion of the proposals set forth in Docket 9797 are reflected herein as well as the new proposals dealing with those frequencies. Comments heretofore submitted in Docket 9797 in connection with the previous proposals will be considered in connection with this new docket. Accordingly, comments in the instant proceeding should be confined to such new issues as may have been introduced by this docket as compared to Docket 9797 in respect to the same rule content.

The proposed amendment is issued under the authority of sections 301 and 303 (c), (f), and (r) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

Any interested party who is of the opinion that the proposed amendments should not be adopted, or should not be adopted in the form set forth herein, may file with the Commission on or before May 28, 1951, a written statement or brief setting forth his comments. At the same time, any person who favors the rules as set forth may file a statement in support thereof. Comments or briefs in reply to the original comments or briefs may be filed within seven days from the last day for filing the said original comments or briefs. If any comments are received which appear to warrant the Commission in holding an oral argument before final action is taken, notice of the time and place of such oral argument will be given such interested parties.

In accordance with the provisions of § 1.764 of the Commission's rules, an original and 14 copies of all statements, briefs or comments filed shall be furnished the Commission.

Adopted: April 25, 1951.

Released: April 26, 1951.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION,
[SEAL] T. J. SLOWIE,
Secretary.

1. Proposed amendment of § 7.58 (c) of Part 7 of the Commission's rules governing Coastal and Marine Relay Services with regard to the following frequencies:

(c) Coastal-harbor stations:

2506	Boston, Mass. San Francisco, Calif.
	Eureka, Calif.
	Galveston, Tex.
2514	Miami, Fla.
	Great Lakes area.
2522	Seattle, Wash.
	New York, N. Y.
	Tampa, Fla. (day only)
	Los Angeles or San Diego, Calif. (day only).
	Galveston, Tex.
2530	Hawaiian Islands.
	San Juan, P. R.
2534	Norfolk, Va.
2538	Quantico, Va.
	San Francisco and Eureka, Calif. (day only).
	Tampa, Fla.
2550	Great Lakes area.
	Boston, Mass. (day only).
	Wilmington, Del.
2558	New York, N. Y.
	New Orleans, La. (day only).
2566	Charleston, S. C.
	Jacksonville, Fla.
	Los Angeles, Calif.
	Seattle, Wash. (day only)
2572	Mobile, Ala.
2582	Great Lakes area
	Hawaiian Islands
2590	New York, N. Y.
	Miami Beach, Fla. (day only).
	New Orleans, La.
2598	Portland, Oreg.
	Astoria, Oreg.
	San Diego and Los Angeles, Calif. (day only).

[2] The use, when assigned, of the frequency 2506 kilocycles designated for use at Galveston, Texas, and the use, when assigned, of the frequencies designated for use on a "day only" basis, is authorized only upon the condition that no harmful interference will be caused to any government station operating on the same or adjacent frequency. The frequencies 2522, 2558, 2566, and 2598 kilocycles, where designated for use on a "day only" basis, shall, when assigned, be used subject to interference by government stations.

[2a] The use of the frequency 2558 kilocycles at San Francisco and Eureka, California shall be coordinated with the Naval Commandant of the 12th Naval District, prior to operation thereon.

[2b] The use of the frequency 2566 kilocycles at San Diego or Los Angeles, California shall be coordinated with the Naval Commandant of the 11th Naval District, prior to operation thereon.

2. Proposed amendment of § 8.81 (c) of Part 8 of the Commission's rules governing Ship Service with regard to the following frequencies:

(c) To ship telephone stations for communication with coastal-harbor stations:

2110	Boston, Mass. San Francisco, Calif.
	Eureka, Calif.
	Galveston, Tex.
2118	Miami, Fla.
	Great Lakes (U. S. and Canada)
2130	Seattle, Wash.
	New York, N. Y.
	Tampa, Fla. (day only)
	Los Angeles or San Diego, Calif. (day only)
	Galveston, Tex.
2134	Hawaiian Islands.
	San Juan, P. R.
2142	Norfolk, Va.
	Quantico, Va.
	San Francisco and Eureka, Calif. (day only).
2158	Tampa, Fla.
	Great Lakes, (U. S. only).
	Boston, Mass. (day only).
	Wilmington, Del.
2166	New York, N. Y.
	New Orleans, La. (day only).
	Charleston, S. C.
2174	Jacksonville, Fla.
	Los Angeles, Calif.
	Seattle, Wash. (day only)
2572	Mobile, Ala.
2188	New York, N. Y.
	Hawaiian Islands.
	Miami Beach, Fla. (day only).
2206	New Orleans, La.
	Portland, Oreg.
	Astoria, Oreg.
	San Diego or Los Angeles, Calif. (day only).

[1] The use, when assigned, of the frequencies 2110 kilocycles designated for communication with Galveston, Texas, and the use, when assigned, of the frequencies designated for use on a "day only" basis, is authorized only upon the condition that no harmful interference will be caused to any government station operating on the same or adjacent frequency. The frequencies 2142, 2158, and 2206 kilocycles where designated for use on a "day only" basis, shall, when assigned, be used subject to interference by government stations.

[AMA Docket No. AO-105-A8, Quad Cities]

[AMA Docket No. AO-174-A5, Clinton, Iowa]

HANDLING OF MILK IN QUAD CITIES AND CLINTON, IOWA, MILK MARKETING AREAS

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENTS AND TO ORDERS, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a joint public hearing to be held in the Council Chambers, Rock Island City Hall, Rock Island, Illinois, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., May 21, 1951, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to economic and marketing conditions in each of the marketing areas specified above which relate to the proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modifications thereof, to the tentative marketing agreements heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the orders, as amended, now in effect, regulating the handling of milk in such marketing areas.

It has been proposed by the Clinton Milk Producers Association, the Illinois-Iowa Milk Producers Association and the Quality Milk Association that a merger of the order (No. 44) regulating the handling of milk in the Quad Cities marketing area and the order (No. 70) regulating the handling of milk in the Clinton, Iowa, marketing area be made for the purpose of (1) extending the Quad Cities marketing area to include, in addition to the territory now covered, all of the present Clinton, Iowa, marketing area, and (2) revising certain other provisions now contained in either or both orders.

In the event the merging of the two areas is not adopted, they propose amending the separate orders in accordance with the proposed amendments they have submitted. Such associations further propose the termination of all provisions of Order No. 70, if the proposed merger is adopted.

A complete order for the Quad Cities market is set forth below as it would appear if amended in accordance with the proposals of the three associations. In the event the merger is not approved and the orders are amended separately in accordance with the proposals of the three associations, both orders would be virtually identical to that set forth below except for the descriptions of the separate marketing areas.

Additional amendment proposals which have been submitted by the Dubuque Cooperative Dairy Marketing Association, the Rock River Dairy and the Sturtevant Dairy Products Company, are also set forth below. The proposal of the Dubuque Cooperative Dairy Marketing Association would extend the Quad Cities marketing area to include the territory now covered by the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area, now regulated by Order No. 12. Presumably, if this proposal were adopted, it would be necessary to terminate all the provisions of Order No. 12, regulating the handling of milk in the Dubuque, Iowa, marketing area.

None of the proposed amendments to be considered has received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Order No. 44, Including Amendments Proposed by the Clinton Milk Producers Association, the Illinois-Iowa Milk Producers Association and the Quality Milk Association[1]

DEFINITIONS

§ 944.1 Act. "Act" means Public Act No. 10, 73d Congress, as amended and as reenacted and amended by the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

§ 944.2 Secretary. "Secretary" means the Secretary of Agriculture or such other officer or employee of the United States as may be authorized to exercise the powers and to perform the duties of the said Secretary of Agriculture.

[§ 944.3 Quad Cities marketing area. "Quad Cities marketing area", hereinafter called the "Marketing Area," means the territory lying within the corporate limits of the city of Clinton and that part of Camanche Township, including the city of Camanche, lying east of sections 2, 11, 14, 23, 26 and 35. All in Clinton County, Iowa; the territory lying within the corporate limits of the cities of Davenport and Bettendorf, Iowa, and Rock Island, Moline, East Moline and Silvis, Illinois; together with the territory lying within the following townships: Davenport, Rockingham and Pleasant Valley in Scott County, Iowa; and South Moline, Moline, Blackhawk, Coal Valley, Hampton, and South Rock Island in Rock Island County, Illinois.]

§ 944.4 Department of Agriculture. "Department of Agriculture" means the United States Department of Agriculture or such other Federal agency as may be authorized to perform the price reporting functions of the United States Department of Agriculture.

§ 944.5 Person. "Person" means any individual, partnership, corporation, association, or any other business unit.

§ 944.6 Delivery period. "Delivery period" means the calendar month or the total portion thereof during which this part is in effect.

§ 944.7 Cooperative association. "Cooperative association" means any cooperative marketing association of producers which the Secretary determines: (a) is qualified under the provisions of the act of Congress of February 18, 1922, as amended, known as the "Capper-Volstead Act"; (b) has full authority in the sale of milk of its members; and (c) is engaged in making collective sales of or marketing milk or its products for its members.

[§ 944.8 Producer. "Producer" means any person who, in conformity with the requirements of the health authorities of any of the several municipalities in the marketing area or the Grade A milk and Grade A milk products law of the State of Illinois for the production of milk for consumption as milk, produces milk which (a) is received at a plant from which milk is disposed of as Class I milk on wholesale or retail routes (including plant stores) within the marketing area, or (b) is caused by a cooperative association to be diverted from a plant described in paragraph (a) of this section to a plant from which no Class I milk is disposed of within the marketing area. This definition shall not include a person with respect to milk produced by him which is received by a handler who is subject to another Federal Marketing Order and who is partially exempt from the provisions of this part pursuant to § 944.56.]

§ 944.9 Handler. "Handler" means (a) any person with respect to all milk received at a plant operated by him, from which milk is disposed of as Class I milk on wholesale or retail routes (including plant stores) within the marketing area, or (b) a cooperative association with respect to the milk of any producer which it causes to be delivered to a plant described in paragraph (a) of this section, or which it causes to be diverted from such a plant to a plant from which no milk is disposed of as Class I milk on wholesale or retail routes (including plant stores) within the marketing area.

§ 944.10 Producer-handler. "Producer-handler" means any person who is both a producer and a handler and who receives no milk directly from the farms of other producers: Provided, That the maintenance, care, and management of the dairy animals and other resources necessary to produce the milk and the processing, packaging, and distribution of the milk are the personal enterprise and the personal risk of such person.

§ 944.11 Producer-milk. "Producer-milk" means all skim milk and butterfat which is produced by a producer, other than a producer-handler, and which is received by a handler either directly from producers or from other handlers.

[§ 944.12 Other sources of milk. "Other source milk" means all skim milk and butterfat except that contained in producer milk and in nonfluid milk products disposed of in the form in which received without further processing or packaging.]

[§ 944.1 (l) and (m) would be deleted.]

MARKET ADMINISTRATOR

§ 944.20 Designation. The agency for the administration of this part shall be a market administrator who shall be a person selected by the Secretary. Such person shall be entitled to such compensation as may be determined by, and shall be subject to removal at the discretion of the Secretary.

[1] Proposed amendments to the orders as now in effect are shown with brackets.

§ 944.21 Powers. The market administrator shall:

(a) Administer the terms and provisions of this part;

(b) Make rules and regulations to effectuate the terms and provisions of this part;

(c) Receive, investigate, and report to the Secretary complaints of violations of the terms and provisions of this part; and

(d) Recommend to the Secretary amendments to this part.

§ 944.22 Duties. The market administrator shall perform all duties necessary to administer the terms and provisions of this part, including but not limited to the following:

(a) Within 30 days following the date upon which he enters upon his duties, or such lesser period as may be prescribed by the Secretary, execute and deliver to the Secretary a bond, effective as of the date on which he enters upon such duties and conditioned upon the faithful performance of such duties in an amount and with surety thereon satisfactory to the Secretary;

(b) Employ and fix the compensation of such persons as may be necessary to enable him to administer the terms and provisions of this part;

(c) Obtain a bond in a reasonable amount and with reasonable surety thereon covering each employee who handles funds entrusted to the market administrator;

(d) Pay out of the funds provided by § 944.75, the cost of his bond and of the bonds of his employees, his own compensation, and all other expenses, except those incurred under § 944.76, necessarily incurred by him in the maintenance and functioning of his office and in the performance of his duties;

(e) Keep such books and records as will clearly reflect the transactions provided, for herein, and, upon request by the Secretary, surrender the same to such person as the Secretary may designate;

(f) Submit his books and records to examination by the Secretary and furnish such information and reports as may be requested by the Secretary;

(g) Publicly announce, unless otherwise directed by the Secretary, by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he deems appropriate, the name of any person who within 10 days after the date upon which he is required to perform such acts has not made (1) reports pursuant to § 944.30, or (2) payments pursuant to §§ 944.65 to 944.70;

(h) On or before the 10th day after the end of each delivery period, report to each cooperative association the amount and classification of milk caused to be delivered by such cooperative association to any handler, if such amount or classification reported by the handler differs from that reported by the cooperative association;

(i) Audit each handler's records and payments by inspection of such handler's records and the records of any other person upon whose utilization the classification of skim milk and butterfat for such handler depends;

(j) Publicly announce by posting in a conspicuous place in his office and by such other means as he deems appropriate, the prices determined for each delivery period as follows:

[(1) On or before the 5th day of each delivery period, (i) The minimum price for Class I milk computed pursuant to § 944.50 (a) for the current delivery period and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 944.51 (a) for the current delivery period, and (ii) the minimum prices for Class II milk and Class III milk computed pursuant to § 944.50 (b) and (c) for the previous delivery period and the butterfat differentials computed pursuant to § 944.51 (b) and (c) for the previous delivery period, and]

(2) On or before the 10th day of each delivery period the uniform price computed pursuant to § 944.61 and the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 944.66, both for the previous delivery period; and

(k) Prepare and disseminate to the public such statistics and information as he deems advisable and as do not reveal confidential information.

REPORTS, RECORDS AND FACILITIES

§ 944.30 Delivery period reports of receipts and utilization. On or before the 5th day of each delivery period each handler, except a producer-handler, shall report to the Market Administrator in the detail and on the forms prescribed by the market administrator:

[(a) The quantities of skim milk and butterfat contained in (or used in the production of) all receipts within the delivery period of (1) producer milk, (2) skim milk and butterfat in any form from other handlers, and (3) other source milk and the sources thereof;]

(b) The utilization of all receipts required to be reported pursuant to paragraph (a) of this section; and

(c) Such other information with respect to all such receipts and utilization as the market administrator may prescribe.

§ 944.31 Other reports. Each producer-handler shall make reports to the Market Administrator at such time and in such manner as the Market Administrator may prescribe.

§ 944.32 Records and facilities. Each handler shall maintain and make available to the Market Administrator or to his representative during the usual hours of business, such accounts and records of his operations and such facilities as are necessary for the market administrator to verify or to establish the correct data with respect to:

(a) The receipts and utilization, in whatever form, of all skim milk and butterfat received, including nonfluid milk products disposed of in the form in which received without further processing or packaging;

(b) The weights and tests for butterfat and for other content of all skim milk, milk, cream, and milk products handled;

(c) Payments to producers and cooperative associations; and

(d) The pounds of skim milk and butterfat contained in or represented by all skim milk, milk, cream, and milk products on hand at the beginning and end of each delivery period.

§ 944.33 Retention of records. All books and records required under this part to be made available to the market administrator shall be retained by the handler for a period of three years to begin at the end of the calendar month to which such books and records pertain: Provided, That if, within such three-year period the Market Administrator notifies the handler in writing that the retention of such records or of specified books and records is necessary in connection with a proceeding under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or a court action specified in such notice, the handler shall retain such books and records, or specified books and records, until further written notification from the Market Administrator. In either case the Market Administrator shall give further written notification to the handler promptly upon the termination of the litigation or when the records are no longer necessary in connection therewith.

CLASSIFICATION

[§ 944.40 Skim milk and butterfat to be classified. All skim milk and butterfat received during the delivery period by a handler from producers or other handlers or as other source milk shall be classified by the Market Administrator pursuant to §§ 944.41 to 944.47.]

[§ 944.41 Classes of utilization. Subject to the conditions set forth in §§ 944.43 and 944.44, the classes of utilization shall be as follows:

[(a) Class I milk shall be all skim milk (including reconstituted skim milk) and butterfat disposed of in the form of milk, skim milk, buttermilk, flavored milk, flavored milk drinks, concentrated milk, cream, or any mixture (except ice cream mix) of cream and milk or skim milk containing more than 6 percent of butterfat, Yoghurt, Reddi-wip, Superwhip and similar products, and all skim milk and butterfat not specifically accounted for under paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section.

[(b) Class II milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat used to produce evaporated milk, condensed milk, condensed skim milk, ice cream, ice cream mix, cottage cheese, or any other milk product not specified in paragraphs (a) and (c) of this section.

[(c) Class III milk shall be all skim milk and butterfat (1) used to produce butter, American-type cheddar cheese, animal feed, casein, and nonfat dried milk solids; (2) in shrinkage up to 2 percent of receipts from producers; and (3) in shrinkage of other source milk.]

[§ 944.42 Shrinkage. The Market Administrator shall allocate shrinkage over a handler's receipts as follows:

[(a) Compute the total shrinkage of skim milk and butterfat for each handler.

[(b) Prorate the resulting amounts between the receipts of skim milk and butterfat received from producers and from other sources.]

§ 944.43 Responsibility of handlers and reclassification of milk. (a) All skim milk and butterfat received by a handler shall be Class I milk, unless the handler who first receives such skim milk or butterfat can prove to the market administrator that it should be classified otherwise.

(b) Any skim milk or butterfat (except that transferred to a producer-handler) shall be reclassified if verification by the Market Administrator discloses that the original classification was incorrect.

[§ 944.44 Transfers. Skim milk or butterfat disposed of by a handler either by transfer or diversion shall be classified:

[(a) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to another handler, except a producer-handler, unless utilization in another class is mutually indicated in writing to the Market Administrator by both handlers on or before the 5th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transaction occurred, but in no event shall the amount classified in any class exceed the total use in such class by the transferee handler: Provided, That if either or both handlers have received other source milk such milk so disposed of shall be classified at both plants so as to return the higher class utilization to producer milk.

[(b) As Class I milk if transferred to a producer-handler in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream.

[(c) As Class I milk if transferred or diverted in the form of milk, skim milk, or cream to a nonhandler's plant unless (1) The handler claims other utilization on the basis of utilization mutually indicated in writing to the Market Administrator by both the handler and nonhandler on or before the 5th day after the end of the delivery period within which such transfer or diversion occurred, (2) such nonhandler maintains books and records showing the utilization of all skim milk and butterfat at his plant, which are made available if requested by the Market Administrator for the purpose of verification, and (3) such nonhandler's plant had actually used not less than the equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat in the use indicated in such statement: Provided, That if verification of such nonhandler's records discloses that an equivalent amount of skim milk and butterfat had not been used in such indicated utilization, the remaining pounds shall be classified in series beginning with the next higher price classification in which such nonhandler had utilization.]

[§ 944.45 Receipts from a cooperative association. Skim milk and butterfat caused to be delivered from a producer to any other handler by a cooperative association shall be ratably apportioned over the receiving handler's total utilization of milk remaining after the subtraction of other source milk and receipts from other handlers which are not cooperative associations.]

[§ 944.46 Computation of skim milk and butterfat in each class. For each delivery period the Market Administrator shall correct mathematical and other obvious errors in the delivery period report submitted by each handler and shall compute the total pounds of skim milk and butterfat, respectively, in Class I milk, Class II milk, and Class III milk for such handler.]

[§ 944.47 Allocation of skim milk and butterfat classified. After computing the classification of all skim milk and butterfat received by a handler pursuant to § 944.46, the Market Administrator shall determine the classification of milk received from producers as follows:

[(a) Skim milk shall be allocated in the following manner:

[(1) Subtract for the total pounds of skim milk in Class III the pounds of skim milk determined pursuant to § 944.41 (c) (2);

[(2) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced class in which the handler has use, the pounds of skim milk contained in other source milk;

[(3) Subtract from the remaining pounds of skim milk in each class the pounds of skim milk contained in receipts from other handlers in accordance with its classification as determined pursuant to § 944.44 (a);

[(4) Add to the remaining pounds of skim milk in Class III the pounds of skim milk subtracted pursuant to subparagraph (1) of this paragraph; and

[(5) If the remaining pounds of skim milk in all classes exceed the pounds of skim milk received from producers, an amount equal to the difference shall be subtracted from the pounds of skim milk in each class in series beginning with the lowest-priced class in which the handler has use. Any amount so subtracted shall be called "Overrun."

[(b) Butterfat shall be allocated in accordance with the same procedure outlined for skim milk in paragraph (a) of this section.]

MINIMUM PRICES

§ 944.50 Class prices. Subject to the provisions of §§ 944.51 and 944.52 the minimum prices per hundredweight to be paid by each handler for milk received at his plant from producers during the delivery period shall be as follows:

[(a) Class I milk. The price for Class II milk for the preceding delivery period plus $1.25 during the months of January, February and March; plus $0.80 during the months of April, May and June; and plus $1.55 during the remaining months of each year.

[(b) Class II milk. The higher of the prices resulting from the computations made pursuant to subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this paragraph.

[(1) The average of the basic or field prices reported to have been paid or to be paid for milk of 3.5 percent butterfat content received from farmers during such delivery period at each of the following listed manufacturing plants or places for which prices are reported to the Market Administrator or to the Department of Agriculture:

Borden Co., Black Creek, Wis.
Borden Co., Greenville, Wis.
Borden Co., Mount Pleasant, Mich.
Borden Co., New London, Wis.
Borden Co., Orfordville, Wis.
Carnation Co., Berlin, Wis.
Carnation Co., Jefferson, Wis.
Carnation Co., Chilton, Wis.
Carnation Co., Oconomowoc, Wis.
Carnation Co., Richland Center, Wis.
Carnation Co., Sparta, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Belleville, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., Coopersville, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., Hudson, Mich.
Pet Milk Co., New Glarus, Wis.
Pet Milk Co., Wayland, Mich.
White House Milk Co., Manitowoc, Wis.
White House Milk Co., West Bend, Wis.

[(2) The price resulting from the following computation:

[(i) Multiply by 6 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period;

[(ii) Add an amount equal to 2.4 times the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) per pound of the cheese known as "Twins" at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period;

[(iii) Divide the resulting sum by 7;

[(iv) Add 30 percent thereof; and

[(v) Multiply the resulting sum by 3.5.

[(c) Class III milk. The higher of the prices resulting from the following computations by the Market Administrator:

[(1) Multiply by 2.4 the simple average, as published by the Department of Agriculture, of the prices determined per pound of "Cheddars" on the Wisconsin Cheese Exchange at Plymouth, Wisconsin, during the delivery period in which such milk was received and multiply such result by 3.5. If there are no sales on the exchange during any week the last previously quoted price shall be used as the price for that week in making these computations;

[(2) From the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period, deduct 6 cents, multiply the resulting sum by 1.2, and then multiply that result by 3.5; and add the result of the following: from the simple average of the weighted averages of carlot prices per pound for nonfat dry milk solids, spray and roller process, for human consumption, f. o. b., manufacturing plants in the Chicago area, as published for the period from the 26th day of the immediately preceding month through the 25th day of the current month, deduct 6½ cents and multiply the result by 8.2 and that result by .965: Provided, That, if such f. o. b. manufacturing plant prices for nonfat dry milk solids are not reported, there shall be used for the purpose of such computation the average of carlot prices for nonfat dry milk solids for human consumption, both spray and roller process, delivered at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period; and in the latter event 8½ cents shall be used in lieu of the 6½ cent deduction in arriving at the computation.]

[§ 944.51 Butterfat differentials to handlers. If the average butterfat content of the milk allocated to any class by any handler pursuant to § 944.48 is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to the respective class price computed pursuant to § 944.50 for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that such average butterfat content is below 3.5 percent, an amount equal to the applicable butterfat differential computed as follows:

[(a) Class I milk. Multiply the simple average of the daily average wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period preceding that in which the milk was received by 1.40 and divide the resulting amount by 10.

[(b) Class II Milk. Multiply the simple average of the daily average wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period in which the milk was received by 1.20 and divide the resulting amount by 10.

[(c) Class III Milk. From the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices (using the midpoint of any price range as one price) of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter per pound at Chicago as reported by the Department of Agriculture during the delivery period in which the milk was received subtract 6 cents, multiply the result by 1.20 and divide the result by 10.]

§ 944.52 Emergency price provisions. (a) Whenever the provisions of this part require the Market Administrator to use a specific price or prices for any milk product for the purpose of determining class prices or for any other purpose the Market Administrator shall add to the specified price the amount of any subsidy or other similar payments being made by any Federal agency in connection with the milk, or product, associated with the prices specified.

(b) If the specified price which the Market Administrator is required to use for the purpose of determining class prices or for any other purpose is not reported or published, the Market Administrator shall use a price determined by the Secretary to be equivalent to or comparable with the price specified.

APPLICATION OF PROVISIONS

§ 944.55 Producer-handler. Sections 944.40 to 944.48, 944.50 to 944.52, 944.60 and 944.61, 944.65 to 944.70, 944.75 and 944.80 shall not apply to a producer-handler.

[§ 944.56 Handlers subject to other Federal orders. In the case of any handler who the Secretary determines disposes of a greater portion of his milk as Class I milk in another marketing area regulated by another milk marketing order issued pursuant to the act, the provisions of this part shall not apply except as follows:

[(a) The handler shall, with respect to his total receipts and utilization of skim milk and butterfat, make reports to the Market Administrator at such time and in such manner as the Market Administrator may require and allow verification of such reports in accordance with the provisions of § 944.32.

[(b) If the price which such handler is required to pay under the other order to which he is subject for skim milk and butterfat which would be classified as Class I milk under this part, is less than the price provided by this part, such handler shall pay to the market administrator for deposit into the producer-settlement fund (with respect to all skim milk and butterfat disposed of as Class I milk within the marketing area) an amount equal to the difference between the value of such skim milk or butterfat as computed pursuant to this part and its value as determined pursuant to the other order to which he is subject.]

DETERMINATION OF UNIFORM PRICE

[§ 944.60 Computation of the value of milk received from producers. The value of the milk received from producers during each delivery period by each handler shall be a sum of money computed by the Market Administrator by multiplying the pounds of milk in each class by the applicable class prices and adding together the resulting amounts: Provided, That, if the handler had overrun of either skim milk or butterfat there shall be added to the above value an amount computed by multiplying the pounds of overrun by the applicable class price.]

[§ 944.61 Computation of uniform price. For each delivery period the Market Administrator shall compute the uniform price per hundredweight of milk received from producers as follows:

[(a) Combine into one total the values computed pursuant to § 944.60 for all handlers who made the reports prescribed by § 944.30 and who made the payments pursuant to §§ 944.65 to 944.68 for the preceding delivery period.

[(b) Add not less than one-half of the cash balance on hand in the producer-settlement fund less the total amount of contingent obligations to handlers pursuant to §§ 944.69 and 944.70;

[(c) Subtract if the average butterfat content of the milk included in these computations is greater than 3.5 percent, or add, if such average butterfat content is less than 3.5 percent, an amount computed by: multiplying the amount by which the average butterfat content of such milk varies from 3.5 percent by the butterfat differential computed pursuant to § 944.66, and multiplying the resulting figure by the total hundredweight of such milk;

[(d) Divide the resulting amount by the total hundredweight of milk included in these computations; and

[(e) Subtract not less than 4 cents nor more than 5 cents from the amount per hundredweight computed pursuant to paragraph (d) of this section. The resulting figure shall be known as the uniform price for milk received from producers.]

PAYMENT FOR MILK

[§ 944.65 Time and method of payment. Each handler shall make payment as follows:

[(a) On or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, to each producer for milk which was not caused to be delivered to such handler by a cooperative association, at not less than the uniform price computed pursuant to § 944.61.

[(b) On or before the 12th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, to a cooperative association for milk which was caused to be delivered to such handler by such cooperative association, at not less than the value of such milk computed by multiplying the pounds of such milk allocated to each class pursuant to § 944.47 by the applicable class prices provided in § 944.50.]

[§ 944.66 Butterfat differential to producers. In making payments pursuant to § 944.65 (a) there shall be added to or subtracted from the uniform price per hundredweight for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of the milk received from producers is above or below 3.5 percent an amount representing the weighted average butterfat differential to handlers for all classes of milk pursuant to § 944.51.]

[§ 944.67 Producer-settlement fund. The Market Administrator shall establish and maintain a separate fund known as the "Producer-Settlement Fund" into which he shall deposit all payments made by handlers pursuant to §§ 944.56, 944.68, and 944.70, and out of which he shall make all payments to handlers pursuant to §§ 944.69 and 944.70.]

§ 944.68 Payments to the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 13th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, shall pay to the Market Administrator the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers as determined pursuant to § 944.60 is greater than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 944.65.

§ 944.69 Payments out of the producer-settlement fund. On or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, the market administrator shall pay to each handler, including a cooperative association which is a handler, the amount, if any, by which the value of the milk received by such handler from producers during the delivery period, as determined pursuant to § 944.60 is less than the amount required to be paid producers by such handler pursuant to § 944.65: Provided, That if the balance in the producer-settlement fund is insufficient to make all payments pursuant to this paragraph, the market administrator shall reduce uniformly such payments and shall complete such payments as soon as the necessary funds are available. No handler who has not received the balance of such payments from the market administrator shall be considered in violation of § 944.65 if he reduces his payments to producers by not more than the amount of the reduction in payment from the producer-settlement fund.

§ 944.70 Adjustment of accounts. Whenever audit by the market administrator of any handler's reports, books, records, or accounts discloses errors resulting in moneys due (a) the market administrator from such handler, (b) such handler from the market administrator, or (c) any producer or cooperative association from such handler, the market administrator shall promptly notify such handler of any amount so due; and payment thereof shall be made on or before the next date for making payment set forth in the provisions under which such error occurred.

§ 944.71 Termination of obligations. The provisions of this section shall apply to any obligation under this part for the payment of money irrespective of when such obligation arose, except an obligation involved in an action instituted before August 1, 1949, under section 8c (15) (A) of the act or before a court.

(a) The obligation of any handler to pay money required to be paid under the terms of this part, shall except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, terminate two years after the last day of the calendar month during which the Market Administrator receives the handler's utilization report on the milk involved in such obligation, unless within such two-year period the market administrator notifies the handler in writing that such money is due and payable. Service of such notice shall be complete upon mailing to the handler's last known address, and it shall contain but need not be limited to, the following information:

(1) The amount of the obligation;

(2) The month(s) during which the milk, with respect to which the obligations exists, was received or handled; and

(3) If the obligation is payable to one or more producers or to an association of producers, the name of such producer(s) or association of producers, or if the obligation is payable to the market administrator, the account for which it is to be paid.

(b) If a handler fails or refuses, with respect to any obligation under this part, to make available to the market administrator or his representatives all books and records required by this order to be made available, the Market Administrator may, within the two-year period provided for in paragraph (a) of this section, notify the handler in writing of such failure or refusal. If the Market Administrator so notifies a handler, the said two-year period with respect to such obligation shall not begin to run until the first day of the calendar month following the month during which all such books and records pertaining to such obligation are made available to the Market Administrator or his representatives.

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, a handler's obligation under this order to pay money shall not be terminated with respect to any transaction involving fraud or willful concealment of a fact, material to the obligation, on the part of the handler against whom the obligation is sought to be imposed.

(d) Any obligation on the part of the market administrator to pay a handler any money which such handler claims to be due him under the terms of this part shall terminate two years after the end of the calendar month during which the milk involved in the claim was received if an underpayment is claimed, or two years after the end of the calendar month during which the payment (including deduction or set-off by the market administrator) was made by the handler if a refund on such payment is claimed, unless such handler, within the applicable period of time, files, pursuant to section 8c (15) (A) of the act, a petition claiming such money.

OTHER PAYMENTS

[§ 944.75 Expense of administration. As his pro rata share of the expense of administration of this part, each handler shall pay to the Market Administrator, on or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received, 3 cents per hundredweight or such lesser amount as the secretary from time to time may prescribe, with respect to all receipts within the delivery period from producers (including such handler's own production and receipts from cooperative associations) and with respect to other source milk which is classified as Class I milk: Provided, That a handler which is a cooperative association shall pay such pro rata share of expense on only that milk of producers received by such cooperative association or caused by such cooperative association to be delivered to a plant from which no milk is disposed of as Class I milk on wholesale or retail routes (including plant stores within the marketing area).]

§ 944.76 Marketing services. (a) Except as set forth in paragraph (b) of this section, each handler, in making payments to producers (other than himself) pursuant to § 944.65 shall make a deduction of 6 cents per hundredweight of milk or such lesser deduction as the Secretary from time to time may prescribe, with respect to the following:

(1) All milk received from producers at a plant not operated by a cooperative association; and

(2) All milk received at a plant operated by a cooperative association from producers who are not members of such cooperative association.

Such deductions shall be paid by the handler to the Market Administrator on or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which the milk was received. Such moneys shall be expended by the Market Administrator for verification of weights and tests of milk received from such producers and in providing market information to such producers.

(b) In the case of each producer who is a member of, or who has given written authorization for the rendering of marketing services and the taking of a deduction therefor to a cooperative association, which the Secretary has determined is performing the services described in paragraph (a) of this section, such handler, in lieu of the deduction specified under paragraph (a) of this section, shall deduct from the payments made pursuant to § 944.65 the amount per hundredweight authorized by such producer and shall pay such deduction to the cooperative association entitled to receive it on or before the 15th day after the end of the delivery period during which such milk was received.

EFFECTIVE TIME, SUSPENSION AND TERMINATION

§ 944.80 Effective time. The provisions of this part, or any amendment to this part, shall become effective at such time as the Secretary may declare and shall continue in force until suspended or terminated.

§ 944.81 Suspension or termination. The Secretary shall, whenever he finds this part, or any provision of this part, obstructs or does not tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act, terminate or suspend the operation of this part or any such provision of this part.

§ 944.82 Continuing obligations. If, upon the suspension or termination of any or all provisions of this part, there are any obligations under this part the final accrual or ascertainment of which require further acts by any person (including the market administrator), such further acts shall be performed notwithstanding such suspension or termination.

§ 944.83 Liquidation. Upon the suspension or termination of the provisions of this part, except this section, the market administrator, or such other liquidating agent as the Secretary may designate, shall, if so directed by the Secretary, liquidate the business of the Market Administrator's office, dispose of all property in his possession or control, including accounts receivable, and execute and deliver all assignments or other instruments necessary or appropriate to effectuate any such disposition. If a liquidating agent is so designated all accounts, books, and records of the market administrator shall be transferred promptly to such liquidating agent. If, upon such liquidation, the funds on hand exceed the amounts required to pay outstanding obligations of the office of the Market Administrator and to pay necessary expenses of liquidation and distribution, such excess shall be distributed to contributing handlers and producers in an equitable manner.

MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

§ 944.90 Agents. The Secretary may, by designation in writing, name any officer or employee of the United States to act as his agent or representative in connection with any of the provisions of this part.

§ 944.91 Separability of provisions. If any provision of this part or its application to any person or circumstance, is held invalid, the application of such provision, and of the remaining provisions of this part, to other persons or circumstances shall not be affected thereby.

[Docket No. AO 153-A6]

HANDLING OF MILK IN DULUTH-SUPERIOR MARKETING AREA

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO TENTATIVE MARKETING AGREEMENT AND TO ORDER, AS AMENDED

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure governing the formulation of marketing agreements and and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), notice is hereby given of a public hearing to be held in Court Room 3, Federal Building, Duluth, Minnesota, beginning at 10:00 a. m., c. s. t., May 15, 1951, for the purpose of receiving evidence with respect to proposed amendments hereinafter set forth, or appropriate modification thereof, to the tentative marketing agreement heretofore approved by the Secretary of Agriculture and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Duluth-Superior marketing area. These proposed amendments have not received the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

Amendments to the order (No. 54), as amended, for the Duluth-Superior marketing area were proposed as follows:

1. Amend § 954.41 (a) by adding concentrated milk disposed of for fluid milk consumption to the list of products specified therein.

2. Delete § 954.50 (a) and substitute therefor the following:

(a) Class I milk. For each delivery period the Class II price for such delivery period plus $1.50.

3. Delete § 954.51 and substitute therefor the following:

§ 954.51 Butterfat differential to handlers—(a) Class I milk. If the average butterfat content of the milk disposed of as Class I milk by any handler is more or less than 3.5 percent, there shall be added to the Class I price computed pursuant to § 954.50 (a) for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.40 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter as reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the Chicago market during the period from the 25th day of the month second preceding such delivery period through the 24th day of the month immediately preceding such delivery period, and divide the result by 10.

(b) Class II milk. If the average butterfat content of the Class II milk disposed of by any handler is more or less than 3.5 percent there shall be added to the class price computed pursuant to § 954.50 (b) for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is above 3.5 percent, or subtracted for each one-tenth of 1 percent that the average butterfat content of such milk is below 3.5 percent, an amount computed by multiplying by 1.25 the simple average of the daily wholesale selling prices per pound of Grade A (92-score) bulk creamery butter as reported by the U. S. Department of Agriculture for the Chicago market during the period from the 25th day of the month second preceding such delivery period through the 24th day of the month immediately preceding such delivery period and divide the result by 10.

4. Make such other changes as may be required to make the entire order conform with any amendment thereto which may result from this hearing.

Copies of this notice of hearing may be procured from the Market Administrator, 2002 West Superior Street, Duluth 2, Minnesota, or from the Hearing Clerk, Room 1353, South Building, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., or may be there inspected.

FRESH PEACHES GROWN IN THE STATE OF GEORGIA

EXPENSES AND FIXING OF RATE OF ASSESSMENT FOR 1951-52 FISCAL PERIOD

Consideration is being given to the following proposals which were submitted by the Industry Committee, established under the marketing agreement, as amended, and Order No. 62, as amended (7 CFR Part 962; 15 F. R. 4105), regulating the handling of fresh peaches grown in the State of Georgia, as the agency to administer the terms and provisions thereof:

(a) That the Secretary of Agriculture find that expenses not to exceed $23,220.00 will be necessarily incurred by the aforesaid Industry Committee for its maintenance and functioning during the fiscal period beginning on March 1, 1951, under the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order; and

(b) That the Secretary of Agriculture fix, as the share of such expenses which each handler who first ships peaches shall pay in accordance with the provisions of the aforesaid amended marketing agreement and order during the aforesaid fiscal period, the rate of assessment at $0.015 per bushel basket of peaches (net weight 50 pounds), or its equivalent of peaches in other containers or in bulk, shipped by him as the first handler thereof during said fiscal period.

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposals may do so by submitting the same to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., not later than the 10th day following publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Terms used in the amended marketing agreement and order shall, when used herein, have the same meaning as is given to the respective term in said amended marketing agreement and order.

(48 Stat. 31, as amended: 7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.; 7 CFR Part 962; 15 F. R. 4105)

Issued this 2d day of May 1951.

[Docket No. AO 195-A3]

HANDLING OF MILK IN KNOXVILLE, TENN., MARKETING AREA

DECISION WITH RESPECT TO PROPOSED MARKETING AGREEMENT AND PROPOSED ORDER AMENDING ORDER NOW IN EFFECT

Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was conducted at Knoxville, Tennessee, January 16-20, 1951, pursuant to notice thereof which was issued on December 29, 1950 (15 F. R. 9396).

Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at the hearing and the record thereof, the Assistant Administrator, Production and Marketing Administration, on March 28, 1951, filed with the Hearing Clerk, United States Department of Agriculture, his recommended decision in this proceeding. The notice of filing such recommended decision and opportunity to file written exceptions thereto was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 31, 1951.

The material issues and the findings and conclusions of the recommended decision (16 F. R. 2852; F. R. Doc. 51-3905) are hereby approved and adopted as the material issues and findings and conclusions of this decision as if set forth in full herein.

Ruling on exceptions. In arriving at the findings and conclusions included in this decision each of the exceptions received was carefully and fully considered in conjunction with the record evidence pertaining thereto. To the extent that the findings and conclusions herein are at variance with the exceptions, such exceptions are overruled.

General findings. (a) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(b) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply of and demand for milk in the marketing area, and the minimum prices specified in the proposed marketing agreement and in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(c) The proposed marketing agreement and the order, as amended and as hereby proposed to be further amended, will regulate the handling of milk in the same manner as, and are applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in the said marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

Determination of representative period. The month of February 1951 is hereby determined to be the representative period for the purpose of ascertaining whether the issuance of the order amending the order, now in effect, regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area, in the manner set forth in the attached amending order is approved or favored by producers who, during such period, were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in such marketing order.

Annexed hereto and made a part hereof are two documents entitled, respectively, "Marketing Agreement Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, Marketing Area," and "Order Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, Marketing Area," which have been decided upon as the detailed and appropriate means of effectuating the foregoing conclusions. These documents shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

It is hereby ordered, That all of this decision, except the attached marketing agreement, be published in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The regulatory provisions of said marketing agreement are identical with those contained in the order, as amended, and as hereby proposed to be further amended by the attached order which will be published with this decision.

This decision filed at Washington, D. C., this 2d day of May 1951.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

Order[1] Amending the Order, as Amended, Regulating the Handling of Milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, Marketing Area

§ 988.0 Findings and determinations. The findings and determinations hereinafter set forth are supplementary and in addition to the findings and determinations previously made in connection with the issuance of the aforesaid order and of the previously issued amendments thereto; and all of said previous findings and determinations are hereby ratified and affirmed, except insofar as such findings and determinations may be in conflict with the findings and determinations set forth herein.

(a) Findings upon the basis of the hearing record. Pursuant to the provisions of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.), and the applicable rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing the formulation of marketing agreements and marketing orders (7 CFR Part 900), a public hearing was held upon certain proposed amendments to the tentative marketing agreement and to the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area. Upon the basis of the evidence introduced at such hearing and the record thereof, it is found that:

(1) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and all of the terms and conditions thereof, will tend to effectuate the declared policy of the act;

(2) The parity prices of milk as determined pursuant to section 2 of the act are not reasonable in view of the price of feeds, available supplies of feeds and other economic conditions which affect market supply and demand for milk in the said marketing area and the minimum prices specified in the order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, are such prices as will reflect the aforesaid factors, insure a sufficient quantity of pure and wholesome milk and be in the public interest; and

(3) The said order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, regulates the handling of milk in the same manner as and is applicable only to persons in the respective classes of industrial and commercial activity specified in a marketing agreement upon which a hearing has been held.

ORDER RELATIVE TO HANDLING

It is therefore ordered, That on and after the effective date hereof the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area shall be in conformity to and in compliance with the terms and conditions of the aforesaid order, as amended, and as hereby further amended, and the aforesaid order, as amended, is hereby further amended as follows:

1. In § 988.5 (b) delete subparagraph (1) and substitute the following:

(1) Class I milk. The price for Class I milk prior to August 1, 1951, shall be the basic formula price plus $1.30 per hundredweight. Effective August 1, 1951, the price for Class I milk shall be the basic formula price plus $1.50 per hundredweight: Provided, That, if during the 12 months prior to the month immediately preceding each delivery period, the total volume of milk received from producers by all handlers was more than 110 percent of the total Class I utilization of all handlers during such 12-month period, the Class I price shall be decreased 2.5 cents per hundredweight for each full percentage point that such percentage is more than 110 percent.

2. In § 988.5 (b) delete from subparagraph (2) "Scott Cheese Co., Sweetwater, Tenn."

3. In § 988.5 (c) delete from subparagraph (1) "1.4" and substitute "1.3" therefor.

4. In § 988.5 (c) delete from subparagraph (2) "1.2" and substitute "1.15" therefor.

5. In § 988.4 (d) add the following proviso at the end of subparagraph (3):

Provided further, That if such plant disposes of fluid cream to another nonfluid milk plant which plant conforms with the requirements of subdivisions (i), (ii), and (iii) of this subparagraph, such cream shall be classified as Class II milk.

Order of Secretary Directing That Referendum Be Conducted Among the Producers Supplying Milk to Knoxville, Tenn., Marketing Area; and Designation of Agent to Conduct Such Referendum

Pursuant to section 8c (19) of the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 608c (19)), it is hereby directed that a referendum be conducted among the producers (as defined in the order, as amended, regulating the handling of milk in the Knoxville, Tennessee, marketing area) who, during the month of February 1951 were engaged in the production of milk for sale in the marketing area specified in the aforesaid order, to determine whether such producers favor the issuance of the order amending the order, as amended, which is a part of the decision of the Secretary of Agriculture filed simultaneously herewith.

Cleo C. Taylor is hereby designated agent of the Secretary to conduct such referendum in accordance with the procedure for the conduct of referenda to determine producer approval of milk marketing orders as published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 10, 1950 (15 F. R. 5177).

[F. R. Doc. 51-5259; Filed, May 4, 1951; 8:59 a. m.]

[1] This order shall not become effective unless and until the requirements of § 900.14 of the rules of practice and procedure, as amended, governing proceedings to formulate marketing agreements and orders have been met.

SEMI-VITREOUS AND VITREOUS-CHINA FOOD UTENSILS DIVISION OF CLAY AND CLAY PRODUCTS INDUSTRY IN PUERTO RICO

MINIMUM WAGE RATE

Pursuant to section 5 (a) of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (hereinafter called the act), the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, by Administrative Order No. 403 dated October 19, 1950 (15 F. R. 7125), as amended by Administrative Order No. 404 dated November 17, 1950 (15 F. R. 8054), and Administrative Order No. 406 dated December 8, 1950 (15 F. R. 9077), appointed Special Industry Committee No. 9 for Puerto Rico (hereinafter called the Committee), and directed the Committee to investigate conditions in a number of industries in Puerto Rico specified and defined in said orders, including the semi-vitreous and vitreous-china food utensils division (hereinafter called the "chinaware division") of the clay and clay products industry, and to recommend minimum wage rates for employees engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce in such industries.

For purposes of investigating conditions in and recommending minimum wage rates for the chinaware division of the clay and clay products industry in Puerto Rico, the Committee included three disinterested persons representing the public, a like number representing employers, and a like number representing employees in the chinaware division, and was composed of residents of Puerto Rico and of the United States outside of Puerto Rico.

After investigating economic and competitive conditions in the chinaware division in Puerto Rico, the Committee filed with the Administrator a report containing its recommendation for a minimum wage rate of 40 cents an hour to be paid to employees in the chinaware division who are engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

Pursuant to notice published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 13, 1951 (16 F. R. 1478) and circulated to all interested persons, a public hearing upon the Committee's recommendation was held before Hearing Examiner Clifford P. Grant, as presiding officer, in Washington, D. C., on March 13, 1951, at which all interested parties were given an opportunity to be heard. After the hearing was closed the record of the hearing was certified to the Administrator by the presiding officer.

Upon reviewing all the evidence in this proceeding and after giving consideration to the provisions of the act, particularly sections 5 and 8 thereof I, as Acting Administrator, have concluded that the recommendation of the Committee for a minimum wage rate in the chinaware division of the clay and clay products industry in Puerto Rico, as defined, was made in accordance with law, is supported by the evidence adduced at the hearing and, taking into consideration the same factors as are required to be considered by the Committee, will carry out the purposes of sections 5 and 8 of the act.

I have set forth my decision in a document entitled "Findings and Opinion of the Administrator" in the matter of the recommendation of Special Industry Committee No. 9 for Puerto Rico of a minimum wage rate in the semi-vitreous and vitreous-china food utensils division of the clay and clay products industry in Puerto Rico, a copy of which may be had upon request addressed to the Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C.

Accordingly, notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act (60 Stat. 237; 5 U. S. C. 1001) and the rules of practice governing this proceeding (15 F. R. 1478), that I propose to approve said recommendation of the Committee and, to carry it into effect, I propose to amend the wage order covering the clay and clay products industry in Puerto Rico dated November 28, 1950, which was published on December 1, 1950 (15 F. R. 8217) (29 CFR, Chapter V, Part 700), in the following respects:

1. Change the heading of § 700.1 from "Wage rate" to "Wage rates."

2. Add the following new paragraph to § 700.1 immediately after paragraph (a) thereof:

(b) Wages at a rate of not less than 40 cents per hour shall be paid under section 6 of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, by every employer to each of his employees in the semi-vitreous and vitreous-china food utensils division of the clay and clay products industry in Puerto Rico who is engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce.

3. Delete in its entirety the "Note" under § 700.3 (b) (1) thereof.

Within 15 days from publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER, interested parties may submit written exceptions to the proposed action above described. Exceptions should be addressed to the Administrator, Wage and Hour Division, United States Department of Labor, Washington 25, D. C. They should be submitted in quadruplicate and should include supporting reasons for any exceptions.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 30th day of April 1951.

ENVELOPE INDUSTRY

NOTICE OF HEARING ON PREVAILING MINIMUM WAGE

The Secretary of Labor, in an amended minimum wage determination issued pursuant to the provisions of the Walsh-Healey Public Contracts Act (act of June 30, 1936, 49 Stat. 2036, 41 U. S. C. secs. 35-45) and effective January 25, 1950 (15 F. R. 382), determined that the minimum wage for persons employed in the performance of contracts with agencies of the United States Government subject to the act for the manufacture or furnishing of the products of the envelope industry shall be not less than 75 cents an hour. This amended determination was based upon information indicating that substantially all employees in the envelope industry are engaged in commerce or in the production of goods for commerce, as defined in the Fair Labor Standards Act, and that as a consequence the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1949 require payment of a wage rate of not less than 75 cents an hour to substantially all employees in the industry. This amended determination also provided that learners and handicapped workers might be employed at subminimum rates in accordance with regulations of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division of the Department of Labor under section 14 of the Fair Labor Standards Act (29 CFR Parts 522, 524, and 525, respectively).

A wage survey of selected envelope manufacturing establishments made as of October 1950 by the Bureau of Labor Statistics indicates that the 75-cent rate now in effect may not reflect the prevailing minimum wages in the industry; and it is proposed, therefore, to hold a hearing for the purpose of consideration by the Secretary of Labor of an amendment of the current determination.

The envelope industry is defined in the current determination as that industry which manufactures or furnishes envelopes.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that a public hearing will be held on June 6, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., in Room 5406 of the Department of Labor, Constitution Avenue and 14th Street Northwest, Washington, D. C., before the Administrator of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions or a representative designated to preside in his place, at which hearing all interested persons may appear and submit data, views and argument: (1) As to what are the prevailing minimum wages in the envelope industry; (2) as to whether there should be included in any amended determination for this industry provision for employment of learners and/or apprentices at subminimum rates, and if so, in what occupations, at what subminimum rates, and with what limitations, if any, as to length of period and number or proportion of such subminimum rate employees; and (3) as to the propriety of the present definition of the industry.

Persons intending to appear are requested to notify the Administrator of their intention in advance of the hearing. Written statements in lieu of personal appearance may be filed by mail at any time prior to the date of the hearing, or may be filed with the presiding officer at the hearing. An original and four copies of any such statement should be filed.

Tabulations of wage data prepared by the Bureau of Labor Statistics at the request of the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions will be made available to interested persons upon request to the Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, United States Department of Labor, Washington, D. C. Interested persons are invited to submit wage data, including data as to changes which have taken place in the wage structure of the industry since the time of the survey.

In the discretion of the Presiding Officer, a period of not to exceed 30 days may be allowed for the filing of comment on the evidence and statements introduced into the record of the hearing. In the event such supplemental statements are received an original and four copies of each such statement should be filed.

Signed at Washington, D. C., this 1st day of May 1951.

[Regs., Serial No. SR-362]

REEVE ALEUTIAN AIRWAYS, INC.

PILOT FLIGHT TIME LIMITATIONS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 27th day of April 1951.

Reeve Aleutian Airways, Inc. (RAA), has filed a request, as amended, for authority to deviate from the flight time limitations of paragraph (a) of § 41.54 of the Civil Air Regulations over its route between Anchorage and Adak, Alaska. Section 41.54 (a) currently provides that in aircraft having a crew of one or two pilots a pilot may be scheduled to fly 8 hours or less during any 24 consecutive hours without a rest period; that, if he is scheduled to fly in excess of 8 hours during any 24 consecutive hours, he must be given an intervening rest period at or before the termination of 8 scheduled hours of flight duty; and that this rest period must equal at least twice the number of hours flown since the last preceding rest period, and in no case will this rest period be less than 8 hours.

At present RAA maintains regular flight schedules between Anchorage and Adak which require flights from Anchorage to Dutch Harbor on one day, from Dutch Harbor to Adak the next day, and from Adak direct to Anchorage on the third day, averaging less than 8½ hours in flight in each direction. These flights are being made under the flight time limitations of § 41.55 which permits a pilot to be scheduled to fly in aircraft having 2 pilots and one additional flight crew member 12 hours during any 24 consecutive hours. Each crew on these flights consists of 2 pilots, a co-pilot, and a mechanic who holds both aircraft and engine mechanic certificates. In effect, RAA seeks appropriate authority to make these flights of a duration of not more than 8 hours and 30 minutes with a crew of 2 pilots and a mechanic certificated as above.

In support of its proposal RAA contends that, if authorized to schedule pilots to fly in either direction over this route in excess of 8 hours but not more than 8 hours and 30 minutes in any 24 consecutive hours, its operations would improve in efficiency and economy without adversely affecting safety. It claims that the extension of pilot flight time would obviate the requirement for intermediate overnight stops at which military facilities are limited and in some respects unsuitable to the civilian needs of passengers and crew and, in addition, would eliminate the need for the services of a third pilot who at present performs approximately 20 minutes of relief duty on each round trip. Finally, RAA claims that the services of the A & E certificated mechanics compensate for the extra pilot flight time requested, since their duties, in addition to those exercised in flight, include some responsibility for the care of passengers, security of aircraft, computation of weight and balance, and preflight preparation.

The Board recognizes that the operating conditions in Alaska differ in certain material respects from those in other parts of the United States. Accordingly, this regulation, among others, affords flexibility in our regulations, consistent with the best interests of safety, to meet such special conditions. RAA's experience over a four-month period indicates that the average one-way flight on its Anchorage-Adak schedule was 8 hours and 10 minutes in duration. Without an intermediate overnight stop an authorized schedule of similar duration would reduce civilian demands on military facilities and would avoid a layover period in the interest of all persons concerned. The assignment of an A & E mechanic in the crew permits compensation for additional flight time, particularly if such A & E mechanic possesses qualifications which would enable him to assist the pilot in flight as well as in the pre-flight preparation. Each A & E certificated mechanic, therefore, should be held to special standards of knowledge and skill appropriate to the aircraft flown. We find that safety will not be adversely affected if pilots are permitted to exceed briefly the flight time limitations of § 41.54 (a) and if the A & E certificated mechanics are properly qualified for both flight and ground duties.

This regulation waives the requirements of § 41.54 (a) to permit RAA to schedule 2 pilots, accompanied by an A & E certificated mechanic, to fly without a rest period not more than 8 hours and 30 minutes between Anchorage and Adak during any 24 consecutive hours. If a pilot is scheduled to fly in excess of 8 hours and 30 minutes during any 24 consecutive hours, he shall be given an intervening rest period at or before the termination of 8 hours and 30 minutes of such flight duty. This rest period must comply with the requirements of § 41.54 (a) and, where a pilot has flown in excess of 8 hours and 30 minutes, of § 41.54 (b).

This regulation further provides that an A & E certificated mechanic, to be eligible for flight duty in these operations, shall meet certain knowledge and skill requirements appropriate to the aircraft flown. The Administrator is to examine each such applicant with respect to (1) his knowledge of aircraft performance, aircraft engine operation, and their limitations, mathematical computations of engine and fuel consumption, including an understanding of basic meteorology as it affects engine operations, and mathematical computations pertaining to aircraft loading and center of gravity, and (2) his skill in recognizing and remedying the malfunctioning of aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances, and performing emergency duties and procedures relating to aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is of the opinion that the proposed operation would not adversely affect safety. A number of RAA pilots, dispatchers, and A & E mechanics, those principally responsible for the safety of the proposed operations, have submitted comments urging approval of this request. Due consideration has been given these comments.

For reasons stated above, notice and public procedure hereon are unnecessary, and the Board finds that good cause exists for making this Special Civil Air Regulation effective on less than 30 days' notice.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby makes and promulgates a Special Civil Air Regulation, effective immediately, to read as follows:

1. In lieu of the provisions of paragraph (a) of § 41.54 of the Civil Air Regulations, Reeve Aleutian Airways, Inc., is authorized to schedule a pilot to fly, without a rest period in the course of flight, 8 hours and 30 minutes or less during any 24 consecutive hours between Anchorage and Adak, Alaska. If a pilot is scheduled to fly in excess of 8 hours and 30 minutes during any 24 consecutive hours, he shall be given an intervening rest period at or before the termination of 8 hours and 30 minutes of his scheduled flight duty. This rest period must comply with the requirements of § 41.54 (a) and, where a pilot has flown in excess of 8 hours and 30 minutes, of § 41.54 (b). On these flights the crew shall consist of 2 pilots and an A & E certificated mechanic approved by the Administrator for this duty.

2. The Administrator shall examine each A & E certificated mechanic applying for this duty before certifying to his competency in respect of his special knowledge and skill appropriate to the aircraft used by RAA in operations over this route. The results of this examination shall be a permanent part of RAA's company records.

(a) The knowledge requirements for each applicant shall include the following subjects: aircraft performance, aircraft engine operation and their limitations; mathematical computations of aircraft engine operation and fuel consumption, together with basic meteorology as it affects aircraft engine operations; and mathematical computations pertaining to aircraft loading and center of gravity.

(b) The skill requirements for each applicant shall include the following abilities: recognition and repair of malfunctioning aircraft, aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances; and performance of emergency duties and procedures in respect of aircraft engines, propellers, and appliances.

3. Prior to commencing operations in accordance with the prescribed limitations, Reeve Aleutian Airways, Inc., shall notify the Board in writing of the date on which such service is to begin.

This regulation shall terminate on April 1, 1952, unless sooner superseded or rescinded.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 602, 604, 605, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended, 1008, 1010; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552, 554, 555)

ECONOMIC STABILIZATION AGENCY

Office of Price Stabilization

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Section 43, Special Order 11]

HASPEL BROTHERS, INC.

CEILING PRICES AT RETAIL

Statement of considerations. In accordance with section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, the applicant named in the accompanying special order, Haspel Brothers, Inc , has applied to the Office of Price Stabilization for maximum resale prices for retail sales of certain of its articles. Applicant has submitted the information required under this section and has produced evidence which in the judgment of the Director indicates that the applicant has complied with other stated requirements.

The Director has determined on the basis of information available to him, including the data submitted by the applicant, that the retail ceiling prices requested and which are established by this special order are no higher than the level of ceiling prices under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

The special order contains provisions requiring each article to be marked by the applicant with the retail ceiling price established by the accompanying special order. The applicant is required to send purchasers of the articles a copy of this special order and, in specified cases, of subsequent amendments of this special order.

The special order also requires applicant to file with the Distribution Price Branch regular reports setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which applicant has delivered during that period. This requirement conforms with the provisions of section 43, Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, this special order is hereby issued.

1. The following ceiling prices are established for sales after the effective date of this special order by any seller at retail of men's or boys' wear manufactured by Haspel Brothers, Inc., 2527 St. Bernard Avenue, New Orleans, Louisiana having the brand name "Refreshable" and described in the manufacturer's application dated March 6, 1951. The manufacturer's prices listed below are sold on terms of Net 30.

21.90	36.50

2. The retail ceiling price of an article stated in paragraph 1 of this special order shall apply to any other article of the same type which is otherwise priceable under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 by retailers subject to that regulation, having the same selling price to the retailer, the same brand or company name and first sold by the manufacturer after the effective date of this special order.

effec

3. On and after June 4, 1951, Haspel Brothers, Inc., must mark each article listed in paragraph 1 of this special order with the retail ceiling price under this special order, or attach to the article a label, tag, or ticket stating the retail ceiling price. This mark or statement must be in the following form:

OPS—Sec. 43—CPR 7
Price $------

On and after July 5, 1951, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is marked or tagged in the form stated above.

Upon issuance of any amendment to this special order which either adds an article to those already listed in paragraph 1 of this special order of changes the retail ceiling price of a listed article, Haspel Brothers, Inc., must comply, as to each such article, with the preticketing requirements of this paragraph within 30 days after the effective date of the amendment. After 60 days from the effective date, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is ticketed in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph. Prior to the expiration of the 60-day period, unless the article is so ticketed, the retailer shall comply with the marking, tagging, and posting provisions of the regulation which would apply in the absence of this special order.

4. Within 15 days after the effective date of this special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of this special order to each purchaser for resale to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date, the manufacturer had delivered any article covered in paragraph 1 of this special order. Copies shall be sent to all other purchasers on or before the date of the first delivery of any such article subsequent to the effective date of the special order, and shall be accompanied by copies of each amendment thereto (if any) issued prior to the date of the delivery. Within 15 days after the effective date of any subsequent amendment to the special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of the amendment to each purchaser to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date of such amendment, the seller had delivered any article the sale of which is affected in any manner by the amendment.

5. Within 45 days of the expiration of the first 6 months period following the effective date of this special order and within 45 days of the expiration of each successive 6 months period, the manufacturer shall file with the Distribution Price Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which he has delivered in that 6 months period.

6. The provisions of this special order establish the ceiling price for sales at retail of the articles covered by it regardless of whether the seller is otherwise subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 or any other regulation.

7. This special order or any provision thereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

8. The provisions of this special order are applicable to the United States and the District of Columbia.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective May 5, 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

MAY 4, 1951.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 7, Section 43, Special Order 12]

JOSEPH & FEISS CO.

CEILING PRICES AT RETAIL

Statement of considerations. In accordance with section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, the applicant named in the accompanying special order, The Joseph & Feiss Co., has applied to the Office of Price Stabilization for maximum resale prices for retail sales of certain of its articles. Applicant has submitted the information required under this section and has produced evidence which in the judgment of the Director indicates that the applicant has complied with other stated requirements.

The Director has determined on the basis of information available to him, including the data submitted by the applicant, that the retail ceiling prices requested and which are established by this special order are no higher than the level of ceiling prices under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

The special order contains provisions requiring each article to be marked by the applicant with the retail ceiling price established by the accompanying special order. The applicant is required to send purchasers of the articles a copy of this special order and, in specified cases, of subsequent amendments of this special order.

The special order also requires applicant to file with the Distribution Price Branch regular reports setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which applicant has delivered during that period. This requirement conforms with the provisions of section 43, Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, this special order is hereby issued.

1. The following ceiling prices are established for sales after the effective date of this special order by any seller at retail of men's suits manufactured by The Joseph & Feiss Co., 2149 West 53d Street, Cleveland 1, Ohio, having the brand name "Mohara" and described in the manufacturer's application dated March 15, 1951. The manufacturer's prices listed below are sold at Net 30.

MEN'S SUITS

Manufacturer's selling price (per unit)	Ceiling price at retail (per unit)
$27.00	$45.00

2 The retail ceiling price of an article stated in paragraph 1 of this special order shall apply to any other article of the same type which is otherwise priceable under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 by retailers subject to that regulation, having the same selling price to the retailer, the same brand or company name and first sold by the manufacturer after the effective date of this special order.

3. On and after June 4, 1951, The Joseph & Feiss Co., must mark each article listed in paragraph 1 of this special order with the retail ceiling price under this special order, or attach to the article a label, tag or ticket stating the retail ceiling price. This mark or statement must be in the following form:

Price $------

On and after July 5, 1951, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is marked or tagged in the form stated above.

Upon issuance of any amendment to this special order which either adds an article to those already listed in paragraph 1 of this special order or changes the retail ceiling price of a listed article, The Joseph & Feiss Co., must comply as to each such article, with the preticketing requirements of this paragraph within 30 days after the effective date of the amendment. After 60 days from the effective date, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is ticketed in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph. Prior to the expiration of the 60-day period, unless the article is so ticketed, the retailer shall comply with the marking, tagging and posting provisions of the regulation which would apply in the absence of this special order.

4. Within 15 days after the effective date of this special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of this special order to each purchaser for resale to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date, the manufacturer had delivered any article covered in paragraph 1 of this special order. Copies shall be sent to all other purchasers on or before the date of the first delivery of any such article subsequent to the effective date of the special order, and shall be accompanied by copies of each amendment thereto (if any) issued prior to the date of the delivery. Within 15 days after the effective date of any subsequent amendment to the special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of the amendment to each purchaser to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date of such amendment, the seller had delivered any article the sale of which is affected in any manner by the amendment.

5. Within 45 days of the expiration of the first 6 months period following the effective date of this special order and within 45 days of the expiration of each successive 6 months period, the manufacturer shall file with the Distribution Price Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which he has delivered in that 6 months period.

6. The provisions of this special order establish the ceiling price for sales at retail of the articles covered by it regardless of whether the seller is otherwise subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 or any other regulation.

7. This special order or any provision thereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

8. The provisions of this special order are applicable to the United States and the District of Columbia.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective May 5, 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

J. SCHOENEMAN, INC.

CEILING PRICES AT RETAIL

Statement of considerations. In accordance with section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, the applicant named in the accompanying special order, J. Schoeneman, Inc., has applied to the Office of Price Stabilization for maximum resale prices for retail sales of certain of its articles. Applicant has submitted the information required under this section and has produced evidence which in the judgment of the Director indicates that the applicant has complied with other stated requirements.

The Director has determined on the basis of information available to him, including the data submitted by the applicant, that the retail ceiling prices requested and which are established by this special order are no higher than the level of ceiling prices under Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

The special order contains provisions requiring each article to be marked by the applicant with the retail ceiling price established by the accompanying special order. The applicant is required to send purchasers of the articles a copy of this special order and, in specified cases, of subsequent amendments of this special order.

The special order also requires applicant to file with the Distribution Price Branch regular reports setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which applicant has delivered during that period. This requirement conforms with the provisions of section 43, Ceiling Price Regulation 7.

Special provisions. For the reasons set forth in the statement of considerations and pursuant to section 43 of Ceiling Price Regulation 7, this special order is hereby issued.

1. The following ceiling prices are established for sales after the effective date of this special order by any seller at retail of men's and young men's clothing manufactured by J. Schoeneman, Inc., 412 West Redwood Street, Baltimore 1, Maryland, having the brand name "Coronado" and described in the manufacturer's application dated April 12, 1951. The manufacturer's prices listed below are sold on net terms to all customers.

MEN'S AND YOUNG MEN'S CLOTHING

Manufacturer's selling price (per unit)	Ceiling price at retail (per unit)
$32.53	$55.00

2. The retail ceiling price of an article stated in paragraph 1 of this special order shall apply to any other article of the same type which is otherwise priceable under Ceiling Price Regulation 7 by retailers subject to that regulation, having the same selling price to the retailer, the same brand or company name and first sold by the manufacturer after the effective date of this special order.

3. On and after June 4, 1951, J. Schoeneman, Inc., must mark each article listed in paragraph 1 of this special order with the retail ceiling price under this special order, or attach to the article a label, tag or ticket stating the retail ceiling price. This mark or statement must be in the following form:

Price $------

On and after July 5, 1951, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is marked or tagged in the form stated above.

Upon issuance of any amendment to this special order which either adds an article to those already listed in paragraph 1 of this special order or changes the retail ceiling price of a listed article, J. Schoeneman, Inc., must comply, as to each such article, with the preticketing requirements of this paragraph within 30 days after the effective date of the amendment. After 60 days from the effective date, no retailer may offer or sell the article unless it is ticketed in accordance with the requirements of this paragraph. Prior to the expiration of the 60-day period, unless the article is so ticketed, the retailer shall comply with the marking, tagging and posting provisions of the regulation which would apply in the absence of this special order.

4. Within 15 days after the effective date of this special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of this special order to each purchaser for resale to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date, the manufacturer had delivered any article covered in paragraph 1 of this special order. Copies shall be sent to all other purchasers on or before the date of the first delivery of any such article subsequent to the effective date of the special order, and shall be accompanied by copies of each amendment thereto (if any) issued prior to the date of the delivery. Within 15 days after the effective date of any subsequent amendment to the special order, the manufacturer shall send a copy of the amendment to each purchaser to whom, within two months immediately prior to the effective date of such amendment, the seller had delivered any article the sale of which is affected in any manner by the amendment.

5. Within 45 days of the expiration of the first 6 months period following the effective date of this special order and within 45 days of the expiration of each successive 6 months period, the manufacturer shall file with the Distribution Price Branch, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report setting forth the number of units of each article covered by this special order which he has delivered in that 6 months period.

6. The provisions of this special order 13 establish the ceiling price for sales at retail of the articles covered by it regardless of whether the seller is otherwise subject to Ceiling Price Regulation 7 or any other regulation.

7. This special order or any provision thereof may be revoked, suspended, or amended by the Director of Price Stabilization at any time.

8. The provisions of this special order are applicable to the United States and the District of Columbia.

Effective date. This special order shall become effective May 5, 1951.

FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

COOPERATION REQUESTED OF AMATEURS TO MAKE FREQUENCIES AVAILABLE FOR MILITARY MANEUVERS

APRIL 25, 1951.

The Federal Communications Commission has been advised by the United States Army of large-scale military maneuvers to be staged in North and South Carolina from August 6, 1951, to September 7, 1951. Because of the size and nature of these maneuvers, the use of the frequency band 3700–3900 kc will be required in addition to frequencies outside this amateur band to be made available temporarily for military use.

The problem is essentially one of interference from amateur operations to low-power military training operations in the southeast portion of the United States. Therefore, on behalf of the Army and with the concurrence of the American Radio Relay League, the Commission requests the voluntary cooperation of radio amateurs within interference range of the maneuver area to observe the conditions set forth below:

1. For amateurs in North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, the District of Columbia, and in Tennessee east of and including Hamilton, Rhea, Roane, Anderson and Campbell counties: No operation in the band of frequencies 3700–3900 kc during the period of the maneuvers.

2. For amateurs outside the area defined in (1) above and east of the Mississippi River:

(a) No special limitations during daylight hours.

(b) No night time operation (local sunset to local sunrise), in the band of frequencies 3700–3900 kc during the period of the maneuvers.

3. For amateurs west of the Mississippi River or outside the Continental United States: No special limitations.

The Commission and the United States Army officials are of the opinion that careful observance of the limitations proposed herein will permit essential radiocommunication in connection with the maneuvers to be conducted with a minimum of harmful interference. Since the military operations will be conducted with low power, the absence of any signal should not be construed as indication that maneuver operations are not in progress.

The Commission wishes to emphasize that this public notice is a request for the cooperation of the radio amateurs and an opportunity to further enhance the excellent reputation for cooperation which that group already enjoys.

Secretary.

EXPERIMENTAL CLASS 2 (MARITIME) STATIONS

ORDER EXTENDING LICENSE TERM

In the matter of extension of the license term of certain outstanding Experimental Class 2 (Maritime) station licenses.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of April 1951;

The Commission having before it a proposal to extend the license term of Experimental Class 2 (Maritime) stations of the Petroleum Industry authorized for operation on Maritime Mobile frequencies in the 2–3 megacycle band which term will expire on May 1, 1951; and

It appearing, that an extension period of a duration of that proposed will permit the problem of the ultimate disposition of the above-referred to stations to be resolved and will also permit a reasonable period thereafter within which licensees may take such action regarding their outstanding authorizations as may be appropriate; and

It further appearing, that a general extension as herein ordered of the term of such stations is desirable in order to avoid the necessity of individual modification of authorizations covering these stations with the attendant burden on both the licensees and the Commission;

It is ordered, That the license term of every outstanding Experimental Class 2 station of the Petroleum Industry which operates on Maritime Mobile frequencies in the 2–3 megacycle band which normally would expire on May 1, 1951, be extended to August 1, 1951 and that each license as extended be in exact accordance with all other terms contained therein;

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective immediately.

VHF SPECIALIZED OPERATIONAL RADIOTELEPHONE MARITIME EXPERIMENTAL CLASS 2 STATIONS

ORDER EXTENDING LICENSE TERM

In the matter of extension of the license term of outstanding VHF Specialized Operational Radiotelephone Maritime Experimental Class 2 stations until November 1, 1951.

At a meeting of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of April 1951:

The Commission having before it a proposal to extend the license term of Experimental Class 2 VHF Specialized Operational Radiotelephone Maritime stations authorized for the purpose of conducting experimentations in connection with the development and testing of ship to shore and ship to ship radiotelephone systems designed to serve the business and operational needs of ships, which term will end on May 1, 1951; and

It appearing, that it is anticipated that the operation of VHF Specialized Operational Radiotelephone Maritime stations will, within the extension period set forth herein, be removed from the Experimental Service and placed in a "regular" service and that within such period all outstanding experimental licenses for such stations which will be eligible to be converted into "regular" licenses will be required to be so converted; and

It further appearing, that pending such "regularization" and conversion, and in order to minimize the workload on both the licensees of the stations and the Commission, it would be desirable to extend for a temporary period the license term of all such experimental stations;

It is ordered, That the license term of every outstanding Experimental Class 2 Specialized Operational Radiotelephone Maritime station license which normally would expire May 1, 1951, be extended to November 1, 1951, and that each license as extended be in exact accordance with all other terms contained herein;

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective immediately.

[Docket No. 9552]

THEATRE TELEVISION SERVICE

NOTICE OF HEARING DATE

In the matter of allocation of frequencies and promulgation of rules and regulations for a Theatre Television Service; Docket No. 9552.

1. On January 11, 1950, the Commission issued a notice of hearing on petitions for rule making (FCC 50-41) in the above-entitled proceeding advising that a fact-finding hearing would be held upon the following issues:

(a) To determine whether the existing and proposed transmission requirements for theatre television can be satisfied by existing and proposed common carrier wire facilities or by existing and proposed common carrier fixed station facilities operated in bands of frequencies now allocated to such stations.

(b) To determine the orders of frequencies and the spectrum space required, if any, at each order of frequency which would be necessary to establish a theatre television service.

(c) To obtain full information concerning existing or proposed methods or systems for exhibiting television programs on large screens in motion picture theatres or elsewhere.

(d) To obtain full information concerning existing or proposed methods or systems for transmitting or relaying television programs from the point of pickup to the exhibiting theatre, by use of radio frequencies, coaxial cable, wire, or other means, including intra-city and inter-city transmission.

(e) To obtain full information concerning any technical data obtained in experimental operations conducted in the theatre television field, or otherwise available.

(f) To obtain full information concerning any non-technical data obtained in experimental operations conducted in the theatre television field, or otherwise available, including public need or demand for the proposed service, public need or desires in theatre television programs, approximate uses for the service, and commerc[illegible] feasibility of the service.

(g) To obtain full information concerning plans or proposals looking toward the establishment of theatre television on a commercial or noncommercial basis.

(h) To determine whether persons engaged in furnishing theatre television services would be engaged as common carriers for hire in interstate communications by wire or radio, within the meaning of section 3 (h) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended.

(i) To determine whether, if frequencies are to be allocated for the purpose of providing a theatre television service, such service should be established on a common carrier or non-common carrier basis, and if on a non-common carrier basis, the conditions under which such service would be made available.

(j) In the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues, to determine whether or not the public interest would be served by the issuance of a proposal for allocation of frequencies to a theatre television service and by the promulgation of proposed rules and engineering standards governing such a service.

2. Notice is hereby given that a hearing will be held in the above-entitled proceeding before the Commission en banc commencing on September 17, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., in Washington, D. C. (at a place to be designated by subsequent notice) for the purpose of hearing testimony and receiving evidence regarding the aforementioned issues. Parties who have heretofore filed timely appearances in this proceeding and who desire to participate in the hearing should file a statement with the Commission on or before August 15, 1951, setting forth a list of their witnesses who will testify at the hearing together with the subjects with respect to which testimony will be adduced and evidence offered.

Adopted: April 25, 1951.

Released: April 25, 1951.

STATION KFTM

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In the matter of revocation of license of Station KFTM, Fort Morgan, Colorado; Docket No. 9683.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C.:

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed April 25, 1951, by Fort Morgan Broadcasting Company, licensee of Station KFTM, Fort Morgan, Colorado, requesting a postponement of the oral argument in the above-entitled proceeding involving the revocation of license of Station KFTM, now scheduled for April 27, 1951; and

It appearing, that the General Counsel of the Commission, the only other participant in this proceeding, has no objection to a grant of the petition; that good cause has been shown by the petitioner; and that the oral argument herein can be held on May 4, 1951, following the oral arguments now scheduled for that date;

It is ordered, This 26th day of April 1951, that the above-described petition of Fort Morgan Broadcasting Company is granted and that the oral argument in the above-entitled proceeding now scheduled for April 27, 1951, is continued to May 4, 1951, to follow the oral arguments now scheduled for that date.

Released: April 27, 1951.

BIG STATE BROADCASTING CORP. (KTXC) AND LEONARD R. LYON

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of Big State Broadcasting Corporation (KTXC) Big Spring, Texas, for renewal of license, Docket No. 9918, File No. BR-2332; Leonard R. Lyon, El Reno, Oklahoma, for construction permit, Docket No. 9945, File No. BP-7869.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission, held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of April 1951.

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled application of Leonard R. Lyon requesting a permit to construct a new standard broadcast station to operate on frequency 1490 kilocycles, with 100 watts power, daytime only at El Reno, Oklahoma;

It appearing, that the said application for construction permit was designated for hearing by Commission order of April 5, 1951 on engineering issues only and that said order found that the applicant is legally, technically, financially and otherwise qualified to operate the proposed station; and

It further appearing, that the above-entitled application of Big State Broadcasting Corporation for renewal of license of Station KTXC, Big Spring, Texas was designated for hearing by Commission order of March 14, 1951 on issues specified therein which may affect the legal, technical, financial and other qualifications of Leonard R. Lyon, an officer and stockholder of Big State Broadcasting Corporation to construct and operate the proposed station at El Reno, Oklahoma;

It is ordered, That the Commission's action of April 5, 1951 designating for hearing the above-entitled application of Leonard R. Lyon for construction permit is set aside; and

It is further ordered, That pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said application of Leonard R. Lyon is designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding with the said application of Big State Broadcasting Corporation at 10:00 a. m., on July 16, 1951, at Big Spring, Texas, upon the following issues:

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial and other qualifications of the individual applicant to construct and operate the proposed station particularly in the light of evidence adduced under the issues in the Commission's order of March 14, 1951, designating for hearing the above-entitled application of Big State Broadcasting Corporation for renewal of license of Station KTXC.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed station and the character of other broadcast service available to those areas and populations.

3. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with station KBIG, Guthrie, Oklahoma, or with any other existing broadcast stations and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed station would involve objectionable interference with the services proposed in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities and, if so the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed station would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and Standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

6. To determine whether the public interest, convenience or necessity would be served by a grant of the above-entitled application for construction permit.

It is further ordered, That the order of March 14, 1951, designating for hearing the said application for renewal of license of Station KTXC is amended to include the said application of Leonard R. Lyon for construction permit; and

It is further ordered, That Leader Publishing Company, permittee of Station KBIG, Guthrie, Oklahoma, is made a party to the proceeding with reference to the application of Leonard R. Lyon only.

Released: April 26, 1951.

[Docket No. G-1594]

OHIO FUEL GAS CO.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

On January 23, 1951, The Ohio Fuel Gas Company (Applicant), an Ohio corporation, with its principal place of business at Columbus, Ohio, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the conversion, construction and operation of certain natural-gas transmission facilities, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, all as more fully described in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The Commission finds: This proceeding is a proper one for disposition under the provisions of § 1.32 (b) (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, Applicant having requested that its application be heard under the shortened procedure provided by the aforesaid rule for non-contested proceedings, and no request to be heard, protest or petition having been filed subsequent to the giving of due notice of the filing of the application, including publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER on February 16, 1951 (16 F. R. 1643).

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on May 28, 1951, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by such application: Provided, however, That the Commission may, after a non-contested hearing, forthwith dispose of the proceeding pursuant to the provisions of § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

(B) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the said rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: May 1, 1951.

MONTANA-DAKOTA UTILITIES CO. AND BILLINGS GAS CO.

ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

In the matters of Montana-Dakota Utilities Co., Docket No. G-1610; Billings Gas Company, Docket No. G-1611.

On February 13, 1951, Montana-Dakota Utilities Co. (Montana-Dakota), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business at 831 Second Avenue South, Minneapolis, Minnesota, filed an application as supplemented on February 23, April 9, and April 16, 1951, in Docket No. G-1610 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the acquisition, construction and operation of certain natural-gas facilities, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission as fully described in the application and the supplements thereto on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

On February 13, 1951, Billings Gas Company (Billings), a Montana corporation having its principal place of business at Billings, Montana, filed an application in Docket No. G-1611 pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act for permission and approval to abandon by sale to Montana-Dakota all of its facilities, subject to the jurisdiction of the Commission, and the service rendered by means of facilities as fully described in the application on file with the Commission and open to public inspection.

The Commission finds:

(1) The applicants have requested that their applications be heard under the shortened procedure provided for by § 1.32 (b) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.32 (b)) for non-contested proceedings, and it appears to be a proper one for disposition under the aforesaid rule, no request to be heard, protest or petition raising an issue of substance having been filed subsequent to the giving of due notice of the filing of the applications including publications in the FEDERAL REGISTER on March 6, 1951 (16 F. R. 2103).

(2) Orderly procedure requires that the proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1610 and G-1611 be consolidated for purpose of hearing and disposition, as hereinafter ordered.

The Commission orders:

(A) The proceedings in Docket Nos. G-1610 and G-1611 be and they are hereby consolidated for the purpose of hearing and disposition.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on May 16, 1951, at 9:30 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania NW., Washington, D. [Docket No. G-1638]

MANUFACTURERS LIGHT AND HEAT CO.

ORDER FIXING DATE OF HEARING

APRIL 30, 1951.

On March 21, 1951, the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company (Applicant), a Pennsylvania corporation of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, filed an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 172 miles of natural-gas transmission pipeline together with appurtenant facilities extending from a point of interconnection with the 6-inch gas pipeline of Trans-Penn Transit Corporation in Clinton County, Pennsylvania, through Clinton, Centre, Clearfield, Indiana, Westmoreland and Allegheny Counties in as direct a line as possible to a point in Allegheny County on the west side of the Monongahela River within the northern limits of the City of Clairton, and thence to a junction of certain existing pipelines of Applicant on the Tannehill farm northwest of Canonsburg in Chartiers Township, Washington County, Pennsylvania, all as more fully described in the application.

Applicant stated that if it obtains a certificate of public convenience and necessity at an early date it will be able to complete the proposed construction during the present construction season.

The Commission finds: Good cause exists and it is reasonable to set this application for hearing with less than the normal 15 days' notice.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a hearing be held on May 8, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. [Project No. 2030]

NORTHWEST POWER SUPPLY CO.

ORDER FIXING HEARING

APRIL 24, 1951.

On May 23, 1949, Northwest Power Supply Company, of Portland, Oregon, filed an application for a license under the Federal Power Act to authorize the construction, operation and maintenance of a proposed hydroelectric development designated in the records of the Commission as Project No. 2030 and known as the Pelton power project to be located in and along the Deschutes River in the vicinity of Madras, Oregon.

The proposed project, if constructed, would be in Jefferson County, Oregon, and would affect lands of the United States and tribal and allotted lands within the Warm Springs Indian Reservation.

On April 9, 1951, the applicant filed supplemental application proposing additional project works.

The proposed project, as described in the application as supplemented, would consist of a concrete arch dam approximately 190 feet high with crest length of about 850 feet; a separate spillway structure, a reservoir approximately 7.2 miles long and less than one-quarter mile wide at its widest point with storage capacity of 26,000 acre-feet and surface area of 460 acres; penstocks; a powerhouse immediately downstream from the dam containing three 52,000-horsepower turbines connected to three 40,000-kilovolt ampere generators; a switch yard; transmission lines; and appurtenant facilities. In addition, the applicant proposes to construct a re-regulating dam about 3 miles downstream from the main dam for the purpose of re-regulating the discharge from the generating units and thus provide a relatively uniform stream flow below the project; an egg-taking station with holding pools and an adequate water supply at the site of the re-regulating dam; fish traps in the re-regulating dam and a fish ladder leading from the traps to the holding pools; to expand the Metolius hatchery or construct a new hatchery wherever desired by the Fish Commission of Oregon; provide trucks for the transportation of eggs and fingerlings; and provide whatever land may be needed for the above-described fish facilities.

Substantial public interest in the applicant's proposal to construct the project is indicated by the number of communications urging approval or disapproval of the application. In addition, requests for a public hearing have been received.

The Commission finds: It is in the public interest to hold a public hearing respecting the matters involved and the issues presented in this proceeding.

The Commission orders:

(A) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Commission by the Federal Power Act, particularly sections 4, 6 and 308 thereof, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure (in force January 1, 1948 as amended and supplemented), a public hearing be held commencing on the 4th day of June, 1951 at 10:00 a. m. (P. s. t.) in Room 596, U. S. Post Office, Broadway and Glisan Streets, Portland, Oregon.

(B) As provided in Rule 30 (18 CFR 1.30) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, the officer hereafter designated to preside at the hearing shall certify the record of the hearing, including his report thereon, to the Commission for its decision and the presiding officer's report shall constitute a recommended decision.

Date of issuance: May 1, 1951.

TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CORP. AND LOUISVILLE GAS AND ELECTRIC CO.

ORDER CONSOLIDATING PROCEEDINGS AND FIXING DATE OF HEARING

In the matters of Texas Gas Transmission Corporation, Docket Nos. G-1570, G-1578, and G-1657; Louisville Gas and Electric Company, Docket No. G-1672.

On December 26, 1950, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Texas Gas), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business at Owensboro, Kentucky, filed an application at Docket No. G-1570, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity, pursuant to section 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of a new compressor station to be located on Texas Gas' existing 20-inch main natural-gas transmission pipe line extending from the Carthage Field in Texas to the Lisbon Field in Louisiana, as described in the application, and the supplement thereto filed on March 12, 1951, and the notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 20, 1951 (16 F. R. 555).

On January 3, 1951, Texas Gas filed an application at Docket No. G-1578 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation, among other things, of a main pipe line extension of about 189 miles, approximately 425 miles of 26-inch main line loops, and 14,620 horsepower of additional compressor capacity as described in the application, and the amendment thereto filed on March 12, 1951, and the notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on January 18, 1951 (16 F. R. 477).

Texas Gas, on April 6, 1951, filed an application at Docket No. G-1657 for a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of a metering and regulating station for the direct sale of natural gas on an interruptible basis to a new plant of the Mathieson Hydrocarbon Chemical Corporation located at Brandenburg, Kentucky, as described in the application, and the notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

On April 18, 1951, Louisville Gas and Electric Company, a Kentucky corporation with its principal place of business at Louisville, Kentucky, filed an application at Docket No. G-1672, pursuant to section 7 (b) of the Natural Gas Act, for permission and approval to abandon its present natural-gas service to the Indiana Gas & Water Company for resale in the communities of New Albany, Jeffersonville, Clarksville, and Claysburg, all in Indiana, as described in the application, and the notice thereof published in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

At Docket No. G-1578, Texas Gas requests, among other things, that it be authorized to construct and operate a lateral pipeline for the sale of natural gas to Indiana Gas & Water Company for resale in New Albany and Jeffersonville, Indiana. These are two of the communities presently served by Indiana Gas & Water Company with natural gas purchased from Louisville Gas and Electric Company, which service is proposed to be abandoned by the latter company according to its application at Docket No. G-1672.

The Commission finds: Orderly procedure requires that the above-mentioned applications filed in Docket Nos. G-1570, G-1578, G-1657, and G-1672 be consolidated for purposes of hearing.

The Commission orders:

(A) The said applications at Docket Nos. G-1570, G-1578, G-1657, and G-1672 be and they are hereby consolidated for the purposes of hearing.

(B) Pursuant to the authority contained in and subject to the jurisdiction conferred upon the Federal Power Commission by sections 7 and 15 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, and the Commission's rules of practice and procedure, a public hearing be held commencing on May 21, 1951, at 10:00 a. m., e. d. s. t., in the Hearing Room of the Federal Power Commission, 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue NW., Washington, D. C., concerning the matters involved and the issues presented by the applications at Docket Nos. G-1570, G-1578, G-1657, and G-1672.

(C) Interested State commissions may participate as provided by §§ 1.8 and 1.37 (f) (18 CFR 1.8 and 1.37 (f)) of the Commission's rules of practice and procedure.

Date of issuance: May 1, 1951.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-191, 59-66, 54-173]

STANDARD GAS AND ELECTRIC CO. ET AL.

ORDER SEPARATING PROCEEDINGS, DENYING APPLICATION TO BE MADE PARTIES, AND DENYING MOTION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

In the matter of Standard Gas and Electric Company and Philadelphia Company, File No. 54-191; Standard Gas and Electric Company, File No. 59-66; Philadelphia Company and Standard Gas and Electric Company, File No. 54-173.

The Commission, by order dated March 1, 1951 (Holding Company Act Release No. 10413), having, inter alia, consolidated for the purpose of hearing certain matters (File Nos. 54-173, 54-191 and 59-66) involving proceedings under section II of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") concerning Standard Gas and Electric Company and its subsidiary, Philadelphia Company, both registered holding companies under the act; and the Commission having reserved the right to separate such consolidated proceedings; and

An application having been filed by Thomas Kilpatrick, Josef Auerbach and Max Wilk requesting that they be admitted as parties in such proceedings; and

The Hearing Officer designated to preside at the hearing in such consolidated proceedings having certified to the Commission a motion on behalf of a Protective Committee for Philadelphia Company 6 percent Cumulative Preferred Stock praying that such aforesaid hearing be enlarged for the purpose of receiving additional expert testimony with respect to the investment values of the Philadelphia Company 6 percent Cumulative Preferred Stock and the 4 percent Preferred Stock of Duquesne Light Company; and

Hearings having been held in such consolidated proceedings pursuant to the aforesaid order dated March 1, 1951, and the Hearing Officer having granted the motion of the applicant, Standard Gas and Electric Company, to close the record in File No. 54-173; and

The Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and conducive to the orderly and economical disposition of the matters involved in such consolidated proceeding to separate for further disposition the proceedings in Files Nos. 54-191 and 59-66 from the proceedings in File No. 54-173; and

The Commission having considered the aforesaid application of Thomas Kilpatrick, Josef Auerbach and Max Wilk and the statement set forth thereunder as Exhibit A and having determined that the granting of such application is not required in the public interest and having further determined that leave to be heard pursuant to Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice heretofore granted to such applicants by the Hearing Officer is adequate for the protection of the interests of such applicants, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that such application to be made parties herein should be denied; and

The Commission having considered the motion on behalf of the aforesaid Protective Committee in the light of the entire record and having determined that it would not be appropriate in the public interest or in the interest of investors and consumers again to reopen the record in the proceedings in File No. 54-173 for the purpose of taking additional expert testimony on investment values as requested in such motion:

It is therefore ordered, That the proceedings in File No. 54-173, be, and the same hereby are, separated from the proceedings in File Nos. 54-191 and 59-66

It is further ordered, That the application of Thomas Kilpatrick, Josef Auerbach and Max Wilk to be made parties herein be, and the same hereby is, denied

It is further ordered, That the notice on behalf of the Protective Committee for Philadelphia Company 6 percent Cumulative Preferred Stock to reopen the record in File No. 54-173 for the purpose of receiving additional expert testimony with respect to investment values be, and the same hereby is, denied.

ELLIS L. PHILLIPS ET AL.

ORDER TERMINATING PROCEEDING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1951.

In the matter of Ellis L. Phillips, Empire Power Corporation, Eastern Seaboard Securities Corporation, Lauridel Corporation, Delaware Olmsted Company, jointly and severally, respondents; File No. 60-21.

The Commission having, by orders dated November 2, 1944, and December 9, 1944, pursuant to section 2 (a) (7) (B) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act"), instituted a proceeding to determine whether Ellis L. Phillips, Empire Power Corporation, Eastern Seaboard Securities Corporation, Lauridel Corporation, and Delaware Olmsted Company, or any one or more of them, directly or indirectly exercise (either alone or pursuant to an arrangement or understanding with one or more other persons) such a controlling influence over the management or policies of Long Island Lighting Company and its subsidiary companies as to make it necessary or appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that said persons, or any one or more of them, be subject to the obligations, duties and liabilities imposed in said act upon holding companies; and

It appearing that since the institution of such proceeding Empire Power Corporation and Lauridel Corporation have been dissolved, and that Ellis L. Phillips has ceased to be an officer or director of Long Island Lighting Company; and

It further appearing that since the institution of said proceeding a plan of consolidation of Long Island Lighting Company and its subsidiary companies, Queens Borough Gas and Electric Company and Nassau & Suffolk Lighting Company, and the recapitalization of the resultant consolidated corporation, which is called Long Island Lighting Company ("Consolidated Corporation"), has been consummated pursuant to the provisions of section 11 (e) of the act; and

It further appearing that pursuant to such plan 3,149,696.6 shares of common (voting) stock of the Consolidated Corporation have been issued and that the respondents named above, together with the members of their families and the officers of their personal holding companies and trusts hold 18.853 (9/10 of 1 percent) of such stocks; and

It further appearing that pursuant to the provisions of said section 11 (e) plan, a special election of the initial board of directors of the Consolidated Corporation was held on January 31, 1951, and that the respondents named above, together with the members of their families and the officers of their personal holding companies and trusts, cast less than 9/10 of 1 percent of the shares voted at said meeting, and that none of such persons are directors of the Consolidated Corporation; and

It further appearing that the respondents do not, directly or indirectly (either alone or pursuant to an arrangement or understanding with one or more other persons), exercise any controlling influence over the management or policies of the Consolidated Corporation; and

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and the interest of investors and consumers that this proceeding be dismissed;

It is hereby ordered, That this proceeding be, and hereby is, dismissed.

By the Commission.

NATIONAL FUEL GAS CO. ET AL.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1951.

In the matter of National Fuel Gas Company, United Natural Gas Company, Iroquois Gas Corporation, Pennsylvania Gas Company; File No. 70-2600.

National Fuel Gas Company ("National"), a registered holding company and its gas utility subsidiaries, United Natural Gas Company ("United"), Iroquois Gas Corporation ("Iroquois"), and Pennsylvania Gas Company ("Pennsylvania"), having filed with the Commission a joint application-declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 (the "act"), particularly sections 6, 7, 9 (a), 10, and 12 (f) of the act and Rule U-43 of the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, with respect to the following proposed transactions:

National proposes the issuance and sale to The Chase National Bank of the City of New York, from time to time prior to December 31, 1951, of its promissory notes in the aggregate amount not to exceed $11,000,000, pursuant to a Credit Agreement entered into between National and the said Bank. National agrees to issue and sell $6,300,000 of such notes within ten days of receiving the order of this Commission permitting the transactions herein proposed, and on the date of such sale to apply said $6,300,000 to the repayment without premium of the promissory notes of National presently outstanding in the same aggregate amount and held by The Chase National Bank. National further agrees to issue and sell an additional $2,000,000 of such notes prior to July 1, 1951. All notes will be payable on or before July 1, 1952, with interest at the rate of 2½ percent per annum. National will apply the proceeds from the sale of the notes, other than the $6,300,000 previously mentioned, together with treasury funds, to purchase (a) installment promissory notes of Iroquois in an aggregate amount not to exceed $2,000,000; (b) installment promissory notes of Pennsylvania in an aggregate amount not to exceed $2,000,000; and (c) installment promissory notes of United in an aggregate sum not to exceed $1,000,000.

Iroquois has entered into a Credit Agreement with National, providing that Iroquois shall issue and sell to National from time to time during 1951 a series of installment promissory notes, each in the principal amount of $100,000, with the aggregate principal amount not to exceed $2,000,000. Such notes will be unsecured. The first note of the series will mature on June 1, 1953, and each succeeding note in the series will mature on June 1 of the calendar year following maturity date of the next prior note in the series. Each note will bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum. Iroquois will have the option to prepay any of said notes at any time, or from time to time, in whole or in part, without premium.

Pennsylvania has entered into a Credit Agreement with National, providing that Pennsylvania will issue and sell to National from time to time during 1951 a series of installment promissory notes, each in the principal amount of $125,000, with the aggregate principal amount not to exceed $2,000,000. Such notes will be unsecured. The first note of the series will mature on June 1, 1959, and each succeeding note in the series will mature on June 1 of the calendar year following the maturity date of the next prior note in the series. Each note will bear interest at the rate of 3 percent per annum. Pennsylvania will have the option to prepay any of said notes at any time, or from time to time, in whole or in part, without premium.

United has entered into a Credit Agreement with National, providing that United will issue and sell to National from time to time during 1951 a series of installment promissory notes, each in the principal amount of $100,000, with the aggregate principal amount not to exceed $1,000,000. Such notes will be unsecured. The first note of the series will mature on June 1, 1953, and each succeeding note in the series will mature on June 1 of the calendar year following the maturity date of the next prior note commencing with 1953 until the entire series is paid. Each note will bear interest at 3 percent per annum. United will have the option to prepay any of said notes at any time, or from time to time, in whole or in part, without premium.

Iroquois, Pennsylvania and United propose to use the proceeds from the sale of such notes, together with certain funds becoming available from current operations, to make additions to their utility plants in 1951, and to provide additional working funds to purchase additional gas for underground storage.

The Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission having authorized the proposed issuance and sale of the promissory notes by Pennsylvania and United and the Public Service Commission of the State of New York having authorized the proposed issuance and sale of the promissory notes by Iroquois; and

National having represented its intention to finance the payment of any bank loans, outstanding after the present period of large construction needs is over, through the issuance and sale of common stock or long term debenture bonds, when and if conditions are favorable; and

Said joint application-declaration having been filed on March 27, 1951, notice of said filing having been given in the form and manner required by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to said act, the Commission not having received a request for a hearing within the time specified in said notice, or otherwise, and the Commission not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission observing that National has indicated its intention to finance the payment of any bank loans outstanding after the present period of large construction needs is over through the issuance and sale of common stock and/or long term debenture bonds, when and if conditions are favorable; the Commission finding that the proposed transactions have the tendency required by section 10 of the act and observing no basis for adverse findings, and having determined that it is not necessary to impose any terms or conditions other than those prescribed by Rule U-24; and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and for the protection of investors and consumers to grant the request of the joint applicants-declarants that our order authorizing the proposed transactions become effective upon issuance;

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable sections of the act, and subject to the terms and conditions contained in Rule U-24, that the said joint applications-declarations be, and the same hereby are, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith.

By the Commission.

ALLENTOWN-BETHLEHEM GAS CO.

NOTICE OF FILING AND ORDER FOR HEARING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that an application has been filed with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 by Allentown-Bethlehem Gas Company ("Allentown"), a gas utility subsidiary of The United Gas Improvement Company, a registered holding company. Applicant has designated section 6 (b) of the act and Rule U-50 promulgated thereunder as applicable to the proposed transaction.

All interested persons are referred to said application which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transaction therein proposed, which is summarized as follows:

Allentown proposes to issue and sell for $1,500,000 in cash, $1,500,000 principal amount of its First Mortgage Bonds, ____ percent series due 1976. Such bonds are to be issued under and secured by the First Mortgage dated April 1, 1924 of Allentown to Fidelity Trust Company, Trustee (under which Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company is successor trustee) and the various indentures supplemental thereto, including specifically a supplemental indenture to be dated as of June 1, 1951, to be entered into between Allentown and said Trustee.

The proceeds from the sale of such bonds will be used by Allentown to repay short term bank loans, presently totaling $470,000; to repay the balance of certain advances made by The United Gas Improvement Company, presently totaling $595,000; and to apply toward Allentown's 1951 construction program estimated to cost in the aggregate $1,238,770.

Allentown's presently outstanding bonded indebtedness amounts to $3,744,000, of which $2,259,000 principal amount of 3¾ percent series bonds due 1965 (interest rate reduced to 3 percent by agreement of bondholders effective March 1, 1947) is held by two savings banks, a university, and four insurance companies, and $1,485,000 principal amount of 3¼ percent series bonds due 1968 is held in equal amounts by two insurance companies.

Allentown, for reasons set forth in the application, requests the Commission to except the proposed issuance and sale from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50.

Allentown states that the proposed transaction is subject to the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania Public Utility Commission and that approval of that body will be filed herein by amendment.

It appearing to the Commission that it is appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that a hearing be held with respect to the matters set forth in said application and that said application should not be granted or permitted to become effective except pursuant to further order of this Commission:

It is ordered, That a hearing on said application, pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, be held on May 15, 1951 at 2:00 p. m., at the office of this Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. On such date, the hearing room clerk will advise as to the room in which such hearing will be held. Any person desiring to be heard or otherwise wishing to participate in these proceedings shall file with the Secretary of this Commission, on or before May 14, 1951, a written request relative thereto as provided in Rule XVII of the Commission's rules of practice.

It is further ordered, That William W. Swift or any other officer or officers of this Commission designated by it for that purpose, shall preside at such hearing. The officer so designated to preside at such hearing is hereby authorized to exercise all powers granted to the Commission under section 18 (c) of the act and to a hearing officer under the Commission's rules of practice.

The Division of Public Utilities of the Commission having advised the Commission that it has made a preliminary examination of the said application, and that, on the basis thereof, the following matters and questions are presented for consideration without prejudice, however, to the presentation of additional matters and questions upon further examination:

(1) Whether it is appropriate in the public interest or for the protection of investors or consumers that the proposed issue and sale of bonds be excepted from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50;

(2) Generally, whether the proposed transactions are in all respects in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers and consistent with all the applicable requirements of the act and the rules and regulations thereunder, and, if not, what modifications or terms or conditions should be required, or imposed, to meet such requirements.

It is further ordered, That the Secretary of the Commission shall serve a copy of this notice and order by registered mail on Allentown, The United Gas Improvement Company, and the Public Utility Commission of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and that notice be given to all other persons by publication of a copy of this notice and order in the FEDERAL REGISTER and by a general release of the Commission distributed to the press and mailed to the mailing list for releases under the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935.

By the Commission.

COLUMBIA GAS SYSTEM, INC., ET AL.

NOTICE REGARDING FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1951.

In the matter of Columbia Gas System, Inc., Atlantic Seaboard Corporation, Amere Gas Utilities Company, Virginia Gas distribution Corporation, Virginia Gas Transmission Corporation; File No. 70-2619.

Notice is hereby given that a joint application-declaration has been filed with this Commission, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, by the Columbia Gas System, Inc. ("Columbia"), a registered holding company, its subsidiary, Atlantic Seaboard Corporation ("Seaboard"), also a registered holding company, and Amere Gas Utilities Company ("Amere"), Virginia Gas Distribution Corporation ("Distribution"), and Virginia Gas Transmission Corporation ("Transmission"), subsidiaries of Seaboard. Applicants-declarants have designated sections 6 (b), 7, 9, 10, and 12 of the act as applicable to the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 14, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the nature of his interest, the reasons for such request and the issues, if any, of fact or law raised by said application-declaration proposed to be controverted, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 14, 1951 said application-declaration, as filed or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration which is on file in the office of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Seaboard proposes to issue and sell and Columbia proposes to purchase, at par, 122,000 shares of Seaboard's $25 par value common stock. Of the $3,050,000 of proceeds to be realized therefrom, Seaboard will use $1,525,000 to complete its 1951 construction program and will use the balance of $1,525,000 to purchase at par 13,200 shares of Amere's $25 par value common stock and $795,000 principal amount of Amere's 3¼ percent installment promissory notes; $125,000 principal amount of Distribution's 3¼ percent notes; and 11,000 shares of Transmission's $25 par value common stock. The notes to be issued by Amere and Distribution are to be paid in equal annual installments on February 15th of each of the years 1953 to 1977, inclusive. The proceeds of $1,125,000 to be realized by Amere of $125,000 by Distribution and of $275,000 by Transmission from the sales of said securities to Seaboard will be used to finance their 1951 construction program.

The joint application-declaration states that the issue and sale of the proposed common stock and notes of Amere are subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission of West Virginia, and that the issue and sale of notes by Distribution and of common stock by Transmission are subject to the jurisdiction of the State Corporation Commission of Virginia. According to the filing, the orders of said Commissions approving the proposed issue and sale of securities will be supplied by amendment to the instant application-declaration upon issuance of such orders.

By the Commission.

2. Section 419.4 is amended to read as follows:

§ 419.4 Application for insurance. Application for insurance on a Corporation form entitled "Application for Crop Insurance on Cotton" may be made by any person to cover his interest as landlord, owner-operator, tenant or sharecropper in a cotton crop. For any crop year applications shall be submitted to the county office on or before the following applicable closing date preceding such crop year.

(a) January 31 for Crosby, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Lubbock, and Lynn counties, Texas.

(b) February 28 for Taylor County, Texas.

(c) March 25 for all counties in Arizona and New Mexico.

(d) March 31 for Houston County, Alabama; Burke and Dooly Counties, Georgia; all parishes in Louisiana; Covington, Jefferson Davis, Marion, and Walthall Counties, Mississippi; Orangeburg County, South Carolina; and Bell, Burleson, Collin, Delta, Ellis, Falls, Fannin, Grayson, Hunt, Hill, Lamar, Milam, McLennan, Navarro, Red River, and Williamson Counties, Texas.

(e) April 10 for all other counties.

3. Section 419.15, The monetary coverage policy, as amended, is amended to change section 6 thereof to read:

6. Predetermined price. In determining any loss under the contract, production shall be evaluated at a predetermined price per pound which the Corporation shall establish annually. The predetermined price for the first crop year of the contract shall be that established by the Corporation for that year and shall be shown on the county actuarial table on file in the county office at the time the application for insurance is submitted. For each subsequent crop year, the predetermined price shall be shown on the county actuarial table on file in the county office at least 15 days prior to the applicable cancellation date preceding the crop year for which such price applies.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on April 25, 1951.

Chapter VIII—Production and Marketing Administration (Sugar Branch), Department of Agriculture

Subchapter I—Determination of Prices

[Sugar Determination 871.4]

PART 871—SUGAR BEETS

1951 CROP

Pursuant to the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of the Sugar Act of 1948 (herein referred to as "act"), after investigation, and due consideration of evidence presented at the several public hearings held in September 1950 (for southern Oregon, California and southwestern Arizona), and during January 1951 (for States other than those regions), the following determination is hereby issued:

§ 871.4 Fair and reasonable prices for the 1951 crop of sugar beets. A processor-producer of sugar beets who applies for a payment under the act shall be deemed to have complied with the provisions of section 301 (c) (2) of said act with respect to the 1951 crop of sugar beets, if such processor-producer shall have paid or contracted to pay for sugar beets purchased from other producers and processed by said processor-producer, prices not less than those provided for in the 1951 crop purchase contract between said parties: Provided, That the processor-producer shall not reduce returns to producers below those determined herein through any subterfuge or device whatsoever.

STATEMENT OF BASES AND CONSIDERATIONS

(a) General. The foregoing determination establishes fair and reasonable prices which a processor-producer (i. e., a producer who is also, directly or indirectly, a processor of sugar beets—hereinafter referred to as "processor") must pay, as a minimum, for 1951 crop sugar beets purchased from other producers as one of the conditions for payment under the act. In this statement the foregoing determination, as well as determinations for prior years, will be referred to as "price determination," identified by the crop year for which effective.

(b) Requirements of the act and standards employed. (1) In determining fair and reasonable prices, the act requires that public hearings be held and investigations made. Accordingly, public hearings were held at Berkeley, California, on September 20, 1950; Detroit, Michigan, on January 3, 1951; St. Paul, Minnesota, on January 5, 1951; Billings, Montana, on January 8, 1951; Salt Lake City, Utah, on January 10, 1951; and Greeley, Colorado, on January 12, 1951.

(2) In the 1951 crop price determination, consideration has been given to such testimony as was presented at the public hearings, comparative returns, costs and profits of processors and producers, relative investments, contracts negotiated between the parties, and to other pertinent economic factors.

(c) Background. (1) Purchase contracts covering the terms and conditions of growing and purchasing sugar beet crops have been in use for many years. These contracts have been developed through negotiations between representatives of processors and producers. Many changes have been effected in the contracts throughout the years.

(2) Contracts used in the beet area are of two types, generally known as (i) percentage sharing contracts and (ii) scale type contracts. The former, used largely in the Great Lakes area and in a few other factory districts, provides, with some variations, that processors and producers shall share equally in the total net proceeds derived from the sale of sugar, beet pulp and molasses actually recovered from the beets. The second and more widely used type of contract provides a scale under which the effective price for sugar beets is determined from (a) the net proceeds (per one hundred pounds) derived from the sale of sugar produced, and (b) the percentage of sugar in the beets. Under scale type contracts, prices for sugar beets are customarily expressed in terms of fixed prices per ton and are calculated on the basis of assumed recoveries of sugar. The actual recovery of sugar from the crop is not used as a basis for payment. In general, the producers' share ranges from 50 to 60 percent of total net sugar proceeds per ton of beets delivered, depending upon sugar content and the level of net returns.

(3) Determinations of fair and reasonable prices for sugar beets have been issued each year since 1937, and except for the 1940 and 1941 crops in areas using scale type contracts, the prices payable in purchase contracts entered into between processors and producers have been determined to be fair and reasonable. The 1940 and 1941 price determinations established specific prices per ton of sugar beets at various levels of net returns and percentages of sugar in the beets; eliminated the clause contained in some contracts under which provision was made for an accelerating rate of reduction in payments to producers when net proceeds from sugar fell below $3.25 per 100 pounds; and eliminated the use of a net return, for settlement purposes, obtained by averaging the net proceeds from the sale of sugar by more than one processor.

(4) Although the 1948, 1949, and 1950 crop price determinations approved prices payable in purchase contracts, such approval did not constitute an evaluation of those provisions of the contracts applicable to net return levels resulting from sugar prices materially higher or lower than the prices prevailing at the time of issuance of such determinations. The prices provided in these purchase contracts for sugar beets differed significantly from previous years. Except for the war years when price support programs were in effect, prices in the scale type contracts generally were more favorable at net return levels of 6 cents or more per pound of sugar and generally less favorable at net return levels below six cents. In most of the percentage sharing contracts used in the Great Lakes area, contracts in 1948, 1949 and 1950 provided for an additional 15 percent of the sugar proceeds from net returns between 6.7 and 9 cents per pound.

(d) 1951 fair price determination. (1) The 1951 price determination provides that processors shall be deemed to have complied with the fair price provisions of the act if they pay or contract to pay for sugar beets purchased from other producers prices not less than those provided for in 1951 crop purchase contracts.

(2) Most of the 1951 crop purchase contracts are the same as those used for the 1950 crop. The price scales are identical to those used last year with the exception of one company which has revised the prices payable per ton of sugar beets upward by a few cents at and above sugar net returns of $7.50 per 100 pounds. In three contracts of one company a change has been made in the settlement area used for determining net returns from sales of sugar. Heretofore, net returns had been based on sales of sugar produced by all districts of the company but in 1951 the net returns of one district will be based on sales of sugar produced in that district only and the other districts will constitute a separate settlement area. The net effect of this change on all districts is almost negligible, although producers in the district set apart will receive slightly more for beets inasmuch as a slightly higher net return is received on sugar sold from that district.

(3 Several of the 1951 purchase contracts contain minor changes in other respects. These include restrictions with respect to the use of mechanical beet toppers, a slight increase in the price of beet seed and a revision of that provision of the contracts wherein growers agree that all beets will be produced and delivered in accordance with applicable laws relating to the employment of minors. An examination of the 1951 contracts and available information on the changes which have been made indicates that the returns to producers will not be significantly affected by the modifications.

(4) At the fair price hearings neither processors nor producers made any recommendation with respect to this determination. In a brief presented by a producer representative following the hearings, however, it was suggested that the Department recommend to sugar processors that, for settlement purposes, net returns be calculated on the basis of the daily published base price of sugar less the customary sales expenses rather than on the basis of actual net returns. It is believed that continued study of this problem by the industry would be to the best interests of both processors and producers.

(5) In analyzing the 1951 crop purchase contracts careful consideration has been given to economic conditions, volume of production, and price levels which are likely to exist during the production and marketing of the 1951 crop of sugar beets. Also, consideration has been given to comparative operating results of processors and producers which, for this purpose, have been computed by restating data obtained in a study for a previous crop to reflect probable 1951 crop conditions. The analysis indicates that prices payable for sugar beets in 1951 crop purchase contracts are fair and reasonable at the present level of sugar prices (8.05 cents per pound, seaboard basis refined cane sugar) and at levels of sugar prices reasonably above and below the present levels. In accordance with the policy adopted in prior price determinations, no attempt has been made in this determination to evaluate prices payable for sugar beets at sugar prices materially higher or lower than those which now exist.

Accordingly, I hereby find and conclude that the foregoing price determination will effectuate the price provisions of the Sugar Act of 1948.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 3-5]

PART 3—AIRPLANE AIRWORTHINESS; NORMAL, UTILITY, AND ACROBATIC CATEGORIES

STALLING REQUIREMENTS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

Section 3.120 (e) of the current Civil Air Regulations contains stalling requirements which are stated in more objective language than the previous stalling requirements. Certain specific values of the prior regulation were not retained in the current regulation, particularly those relating to the allowable roll of an airplane subsequent to the stall. Experience has shown that the current language is not susceptible to uniform interpretation and that the tests presently applied in implementing the regulation are more strict than was intended. This amendment is therefore, in the interest of clarity, intended to revert to the language of the prior regulation and to its application.

Since this regulation clarifies existing requirements and imposes no burden on anyone, notice and public procedure hereon are impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective without prior notice.

In consideration of the foregoing, the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 3 (14 CFR, Part 3, as amended) effective April 30, 1951:

By amending paragraph (e) of § 3.120 to read as follows:

§ 3.120 Stalling demonstration. • • •

(e) During the recovery portion of the maneuver, pitch shall not exceed 30° below level, there shall be no loss of altitude in excess of 100 feet, and not more than 15° roll or yaw shall occur when controls are not used for one second after pitch starts and are used thereafter only in a normal manner.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, 1009; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

PART 20—PILOT CERTIFICATES

AIRMAN IDENTIFICATION CARD

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

No provisions of the currently effective Civil Air Regulations require the possession of positive identification data by certificated airmen while exercising the privileges of their airman certificates. This amendment provides for such identification and requires each holder of a pilot certificate, after September 1, 1951, to have in his possession an airman identification card (Form ACA 2135) issued by the Administrator.

This airman identification card shall contain, among other data, the airman's signature, picture, and one fingerprint. Each certificated airman shall complete an application for identification card (Form ACA 2134) and shall furnish documentary evidence of his personal identification, citizenship, place and date of birth, and the type of airman certificate held. It should be noted that an expired airman identification card (Form ACA 935) issued during World War II may serve as sufficient evidence in these matters. An applicant who has once possessed this expired identification card but is unable to produce it at the time of application may substitute a letter from the Airman Records Branch, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., which, in effect, attests to the issuance and contents of the expired card.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. For the reasons stated above the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 20, as amended) effective immediately, as follows:

By adding a new § 20.58 to read as follows:

§ 20.58 Identification. After September 1, 1951, the holder of a certificate issued under the provisions of this part shall not exercise the privileges conferred by the certificate unless he has in his possession a current airman identification card which duly describes him. This identification card may be obtained from the Administrator who shall prescribe its form and the manner of applying for it.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, 1009; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

PART 22—LIGHTER-THAN-AIR PILOT CERTIFICATES

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

No provisions of the currently effective Civil Air Regulations require the possession of positive identification data by certificated airmen while exercising the privileges of their airman certificates. This amendment provides for such identification and requires each holder of a lighter-than-air pilot certificate, after September 1, 1951, to have in his possession an airman identification card (Form ACA 2135) issued by the Administrator.

This airman identification card shall contain, among other data, the airman's signature, picture, and one fingerprint. Each certificated airman shall complete an application for identification card (Form ACA 2134) and shall furnish documentary evidence of his personal identification, citizenship, place and date of birth, and the type of airman certificate held. It should be noted that an expired airman identification card (Form ACA 935) issued during World War II may serve as sufficient evidence in these matters. An applicant who has once possessed this expired identification card but is unable to produce it at the time of application may substitute a letter from the Airman Records Branch, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., which, in effect, attests to the issuance and contents of the expired card.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. For the reasons stated above the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 22 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 22, as amended) effective immediately, as follows:

By adding a new § 22.32 (g) to read as follows:

§ 22.32 Miscellaneous. • • •

(g) Identification. After September 1, 1951, the holder of a certificate issued under the provisions of this part shall not exercise the privileges conferred by the certificate unless he has in his possession a current airman identification card which duly describes him. This identification card may be obtained from the Administrator who shall prescribe its form and manner of applying for it.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 603, 52 Stat. 1007, 1009; 49 U. S. C. 551, 553)

PART 26—AIR-TRAFFIC CONTROL-TOWER OPERATOR CERTIFICATES

AIRMAN IDENTIFICATION CARD

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

No provisions of the currently effective Civil Air Regulations require the possession of positive identification data by certificated airmen while exercising the privileges of their airman certificates. This amendment provides for such identification and requires each holder of an air-traffic control-tower operator certificate, after September 1, 1951, to have in his possession an airman identification card (Form ACA 2135) issued by the Administrator.

The airman identification card shall contain, among other data, the airman's signature, picture, and one fingerprint. Each certificated airman shall complete an application for identification card (Form ACA 2134) and shall furnish documentary evidence of his personal identification, citizenship, place and date of birth, and the type of airman certificate held. It should be noted that an expired airman identification card (Form ACA 935) issued during World War II may serve as sufficient evidence in these matters. An applicant who has once possessed this expired identification card but is unable to produce it at the time of application may substitute a letter from the Airman Records Branch, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington 25, D. C., which, in effect, attests to the issuance and contents of the expired card.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. For the reasons stated above the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 26 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 26, as amended) effective immediately, as follows:

By adding a new § 26.37 to read as follows:

§ 26.37 Identification. After September 1, 1951, the holder of a certificate issued under the provisions of this part shall not exercise the privileges conferred by the certificate unless he has in his possession a current airman identification card which duly describes him. This identification card may be obtained from the Administrator who shall prescribe its form and the manner of applying for it.

PART 51—GROUND INSTRUCTOR RATING

AIRMAN IDENTIFICATION CARD

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April 1951.

No provisions of the currently effective Civil Air Regulations require the possession of positive identification data by certificated airmen while exercising the privileges of their airman certificates. This amendment provides for such identification and requires each holder of a ground instructor certificate, after September 1, 1951, to have in his possession an airman identification card (Form ACA 2135) issued by the Administrator.

This airman identification card shall contain, among other data, the airman's signature, picture, and one fingerprint. Each certificated airman shall complete an application for identification card (Form ACA 2134) and shall furnish documentary evidence of his personal identification, citizenship, place and date of birth, and the type of airman certificate held. It should be noted that an expired airman identification card (Form ACA 935) issued during World War II may serve as sufficient evidence in these matters. An applicant who has once possessed this expired identification card but is unable to produce it at the time of application may substitute a letter from the Airman Records Branch, Civil Aeronautics Administration, Washington, 25, D. C., which, in effect, attests to the issuance and contents of the expired card.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. For the reasons stated above the Board finds that good cause exists for making this regulation effective immediately.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 51 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 51, as amended) effective immediately, as follows:

By adding a new § 51.6 to read as follows:

§ 51.6 Identification. After September 1, 1951, the holder of a certificate issued under the provisions of this part shall not exercise the privileges conferred by the certificate unless he has in his possession a current airman identification card which duly describes him. This identification card may be obtained from the Administrator who shall prescribe its form and the manner of applying for it.

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

Chapter IV—Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter C—Loans, Purchases, and Other Operations

[1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, Supp. 1, Barley]

PART 601—GRAINS AND RELATED COMMODITIES

SUBPART—1951-CROP BARLEY LOAN AND PURCHASE AGREEMENT PROGRAM

A price support program has been announced for 1951-crop barley. The 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1 (16 F. R. 1987) issued by the Commodity Credit Corporation and containing the general requirements with respect to price support operations for grains and related commodities produced in 1951, is supplemented as follows:

Sec.
601.701 Purpose.
601.702 Availability of price support.
601.703 Eligible barley.
601.704 Warehouse receipts.
601.705 Determination of quantity.
601.706 Determination of quality.
601.707 Maturity of loans.
601.708 Determination of support rates.
601.709 Warehouse charges.
601.710 Settlement.

AUTHORITY: §§ 601.701 to 601.710 issued under sec. 4, 62 Stat. 1070, as amended; 15 U. S. C. Sup., 714b. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 62 Stat. 1072, secs. 301, 401, 63 Stat. 1053; 15 U. S. C. Sup., 714, 7 U. S. C. Sup., 1447, 1421.

§ 601.701. Purpose. This supplement states additional specific requirements which, together with the general requirements contained in the 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, 16 F. R. 1987, apply to loans and purchase agreements under the 1951-Crop Barley Price Support Program.

§ 601.702 Availability of price support—(a) Method of support. Price support will be available through farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and through purchase agreements.

(b) Area. Farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and purchase agreements will be available wherever barley is grown in the continental United States, except that farm-storage loans will not be available in areas where the PMA State committee determines that barley cannot be safely stored on the farm.

(c) Where to apply. Application for price support should be made at the office of the PMA county committee which keeps the farm-program records for the farm.

(d) When to apply. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from the time of harvest through January 31, 1952, and the applicable documents must be signed by the producer and delivered to the county committee not later than such date.

(e) Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity producing barley in 1951, as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper.

§ 601.703 Eligible barley. Eligible barley must meet the following requirements:

(a) The barley must have been produced in the continental United States in 1951 by an eligible producer.

(b) The beneficial interest in the barley must be in the person tendering the barley for loan or for delivery under a purchase agreement and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the barley was harvested.

(c) The barley must be of any class grading No. 5 or better (or No. 5 Garlicky, or better), except that Class III Western Barley, shall not have a test weight of less than 40 pounds per bushel.

(d) The barley must not grade weevily, tough, stained, blighted, bleached, ergoty, or smutty.

(e) If offered as security for a farm-storage loan, the barley must have been stored in the granary at least 30 days prior to its inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing, unless otherwise approved by the PMA State committee.

§ 601.704 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts representing barley in approved warehouse-storage to be placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, must meet the following requirements:

(a) Warehouse receipts must indicate that the barley is insured, must be issued in the name of the producer, must be properly endorsed in blank so as to vest title in the holder, and must be issued by a warehouse approved by CCC under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (the barley must be insured by the warehouseman in accordance with the terms of the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement) or warehouses operated by eastern common carriers under tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for which custodian agreements are in effect.

(b) Each warehouse receipt, or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate (in duplicate), properly identified with the warehouse receipt must show: (1) Gross weight or bushels, (2) class, (3) grade (including special grades), (4) test weight, (5) dockage, and (6) any other grading factor(s) when such factor(s), and not test weight, determine the grade. The warehouse receipt or the supplemental certificate must show whether the barley arrived by rail, truck or barge. In the case of warehouse receipts issued for barley delivered by rail or barge, the grading factors on the warehouse receipt must agree with the inbound inspection certificate for the car or barge when such certificate is issued.

(c) A separate warehouse receipt must be submitted for each grade and class of barley.

(d) The warehouse receipt may be subject to liens for warehouse charges only to the extent indicated in § 601.709.

(e) Warehouse receipts representing barley which has been shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point to a designated terminal point or shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point and stored in transit to a designated terminal point, must be accompanied by registered freight bills, or by (1) a statement as indicated below signed by the warehouseman, (2) a certificate of the warehouseman containing such information or (3) such form of certificate as may be approved by CCC.

§ 601.705 Determination of quantity. (a) The quantity of barley placed under farm-storage loan may be determined either by weight or by measurement. The quantity of barley placed under a warehouse-storage loan or delivered under a farm-storage loan or under a purchase agreement shall be determined by weight.

(b) When the quantity is determined by weight, a bushel shall be 48 pounds of clean barley free of dockage. In determining the quantity of sacked barley by weight, a deduction of $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pound for each sack shall be made.

(c) When the quantity of barley is determined by measurement, a bushel shall be 1.25 cubic feet of barley testing 48 pounds per bushel. The quantity determined shall be the following percentages of the quantity determined for 48-pound barley:

For barley testing	Percent
48 pounds or over	100
47 pounds or over, but less than 48 pounds	98
46 pounds or over, but less than 47 pounds	96
45 pounds, or over, but less than 46 pounds	94
44 pounds or over, but less than 45 pounds	92
43 pounds or over, but less than 44 pounds	90
42 pounds or over, but less than 43 pounds	88
41 pounds or over, but less than 42 pounds	85
40 pounds or over, but less than 41 pounds	83
39 pounds or over, but less than 40 pounds	81
38 pounds or over, but less than 39 pounds	79
37 pounds or over, but less than 38 pounds	77
36 pounds or over, but less than 37 pounds	75
35 pounds or over, but less than 36 pounds	73

(d) The percentage of dockage shall be detemined and the weight of such dockage shall be deducted from the gross weight of the barley in determining the net quantity available for loan or purchase.

§ 601.706 Determination of quality. The grade, class, grading factors, and all other quality factors shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in the Official Grain Standards of the United States for Barley, whether or not such determinations are made on the basis of an official inspection.

§ 601.707 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1952.

§ 601.708 Determination of support rates. Basic support rates for barley will be set forth in 1951 CCC Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, Supplement 2, Barley, and will be established for No. 1 barley, of the Classes I, II, and III. These support rates will be established for barley stored in approved warehouse storage at designated terminal markets, and for barley stored in approved country warehouses and in approved farm storage. The support rate for the quality of barley placed under a loan or delivered under a purchase agreement shall be the applicable basic support rate adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(a) Support rates at designated terminal markets. (1) Barley eligible for loan or purchase at the support rates established for designated terminal markets must have been shipped on a domestic interstate freight rate basis. On any barley shipped at other than the domestic interstate freight rate, the support rate at the designated terminal market shall be reduced by the difference between the freight paid (plus tax) and the domestic interstate freight rate (plus tax).

(2) The support rates established for designated terminal markets apply to barley which has been shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point to one of the designated terminal markets, as evidenced by paid freight bills duly registered for transit privileges: Provided, That in the event the amount of paid-in freight is insufficient to guarantee the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate from the terminal market, there shall be deducted from the applicable terminal support rate the difference between the amount of freight actually paid in and the amount required to be paid in to guarantee outbound movement at the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate.

(3) When shipped by rail or water and stored at any designated terminal market, barley for which neither registered freight bills nor freight certificates are presented to guarantee outbound movement at the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate, shall have a support rate equal to the terminal rate minus 7 cents per bushel.

(4) When received by truck and stored at any designated terminal market, the support rate shall be the terminal rate minus 10½ cents per bushel.

(b) Support rates for barley in approved warehouse-storage at other than designated terminal markets. The support rate for barley stored in approved warehouses (other than those situated in the designated terminal markets) which is shipped by rail or water, shall be determined by deducting from the appropriate designated terminal market rate an amount equal to the transit balance, if any (plus tax) of the through freight rate from point of origin for such barley to such terminal market: Provided, That in the case of barley stored at any railroad transit point, taking a penalty by reason of out-of-line movement, or for any other reason, to the appropriate designated market, there shall be added to such transit balance an amount equal to any out-of-line costs or other costs incurred in storing barley in such position.

(c) Discounts. The discount for barley which grades No. 2 shall be 2 cents per bushel; No. 3, 5 cents per bushel; No. 4, 8 cents per bushel; and No. 5, 12 cents per bushel. An additional discount of 10 cents per bushel shall be applied to barley grading "Garlicky." The support rates for "mixed barley" (Class IV) shall be 2 cents per bushel less than the support rates for barley of the Classes I, II, and III.

§ 601.709 Warehouse charges. (a) Warehouse receipts and the barley represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement may be subject to liens for warehouse handling and storage charges at not to exceed the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement rates from the date the grain is deposited in the warehouse for storage.

(b) Where the date of deposit (the date of the warehouse receipt if the date of deposit is not shown) on warehouse receipts representing barley stored in warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement is on or before April 30, 1952, the storage charges per bushel shown in the following table shall be deducted in computing the amount of the loan or purchase price.

Date of deposit:	Amount of deduction (cents per bushel)
Prior to Oct. 13, 1951	10
Oct. 13–Nov. 1, inclusive	9
Nov. 2–Nov. 21, inclusive	8
Nov. 22–Dec. 11, inclusive	7
Dec. 12–Dec. 31, inclusive	6
Jan. 1–Jan. 20, inclusive, 1952	5
Jan. 21–Feb. 9, inclusive	4
Feb. 10–Mar. 1, inclusive	3
Mar. 2–Mar. 21, inclusive	2
Mar. 22–Apr. 10, inclusive	1
Apr. 11–Apr. 30, inclusive	0

(c) Warehouse receipts and the barley represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operated by eastern common carriers may be subject to liens for warehouse elevation (receiving and delivering) and storage charges from the date of deposit at rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(d) For barley stored in approved warehouses operated by eastern common carriers, there shall be deducted in computing the loan or purchase price the amount of the approved tariff rates for storage (not including elevation), which will accumulate from the date of deposit to the program maturity date. The county committee shall request the PMA commodity office to determine the amount of such charges. Where the producer presents evidence showing that the elevation has been prepaid, the amount of the storage charges to be deducted shall be reduced by the amount of the elevation charge prepaid by the producer.

§ 601.710 Settlement—(a) Farm-storage loans. (1) In the case of barley delivered to CCC from farm-storage under the loan program, settlement shall be made at the applicable support rate for the approved point of delivery. The support rate shall be applied to the grade and quality of the total quantity of barley delivered.

(2) If the barley under farm-storage loan is, upon delivery, of a grade and/or quality for which no support rate has been established, the settlement value shall be the support rate established for the grade and/or quality of the barley placed under loan, less the difference, if any, at the time of delivery, between the market price for the grade and/or quality placed under loan and the market price of the barley delivered, as determined by CCC.

(3) In no event shall barley for which the grade and/or quality is lower than the lowest grade and/or quality for which settlement rates are established, have a settlement value in excess of the settlement value of the lowest grade and/or quality of such barley for which settlement rates are established.

(4) If farm-stored barley is delivered to CCC prior to April 30, 1952, upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, the loan settlement shall be reduced by the applicable rate of storage charges per bushel, determined according to the date of such delivery to CCC, as set forth in the table in § 601.709.

(b) Purchase agreement. Barley delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement must meet the requirements of barley eligible for loan. The purchase rate per bushel of eligible barley shall be the support rate established for the approved point of delivery, subject to deduction of warehouse charges in accordance with § 601.709.

(c) Track-loading. A track-loading payment of 2 cents per bushel shall be made to the producer on barley delivered to CCC on track at a country point.

Issued this 3d day of May 1951.

PART 601—GRAINS AND RELATED COMMODITIES

SUBPART—1951-CROP GRAIN SORGHUMS LOAN AND PURCHASE AGREEMENT PROGRAM

A price support program has been announced for the 1951 crop of grain sorghums. The 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1 (16 F. R. 1987), issued by the Commodity Credit Corporation and containing the general requirements with respect to price support operations for grains and related commodities produced in 1951, is supplemented as follows:

Sec.
601.901 Purpose.
601.902 Availability of price support.
601.903 Eligible grain sorghums.
601.904 Warehouse receipts.
601.905 Determination of quantity.
601.906 Determination of quality.
601.907 Maturity of loans.
601.908 Determination of support rates.
601.909 Warehouse charges.
601.910 Settlement.

AUTHORITY: §§ 601.901 to 601.910 issued under sec. 4, 62 Stat. 1070, as amended; 15 U. S. C. Sup. 714b. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 62 Stat. 1072; secs. 301, 401, 63 Stat. 1053; 15 U. S. C. Sup., 714, 7 U. S. C. Sup., 1447, 1421.

§ 601.901 Purpose. This supplement states additional specific requirements which, together with the general requirements contained in the 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1 (16 F. R. 1987), apply to loans and purchase agreements under the 1951-Crop Grain Sorghums Price Support Program.

§ 601.902 Availability of price support—(a) Method of support. Price support will be made available through farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and through purchase agreements.

(b) Area. Farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and purchase agreements will be available wherever grain sorghums are grown in the continental United States, except that farm-storage loans will not be available in areas where the PMA State committee determines that grain sorghums cannot be safely stored on the farm.

(c) Where to apply. Application for price support should be made at the office of the PMA county committee which keeps the farm-program records for the farm.

(d) When to apply. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from the time of harvest through January 31, 1952, and the applicable documents must be signed by the producer and delivered to the county committee not later than such date.

(e) Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity producing grain sorghums in 1951 as landowner, landlord, tenant or sharecropper.

§ 601.903 Eligible grain sorghums. Eligible grain sorghums must meet the following requirements:

(a) The grain sorghums must have been produced in the continental United States in 1951 by an eligible producer.

(b) The beneficial interest in the grain sorghums must be in the person tendering the grain sorghums for loan or for delivery under a purchase agreement, and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the grain sorghums were harvested.

(c) Grain sorghums of any class grading No. 4 or better, or No. 4 "Smutty" or better, and containing not in excess of 13 percent moisture shall be eligible.

(d) The grain sorghums must not grade discolored, or weevily.

(e) If offered as security for a farm-storage loan, the grain sorghums must have been stored in the bin or granary at least 30 days prior to inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing unless otherwise approved by the PMA State committee.

§ 601.904 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts, representing grain sorghums in approved warehouse storage to be placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, must meet the requirements below:

(a) Warehouse receipts must indicate that the grain sorghums are insured, must be issued in the name of the producer, must be properly endorsed in blank so as to vest title in the holder and must be issued by a warehouse approved by CCC under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (the grain sorghums must be insured by the warehouseman in accordance with the terms of the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement), or warehouses operated by eastern common carriers under tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for which custodian agreements are in effect.

(b) Each warehouse receipt or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate (in duplicate) properly identified with the warehouse receipt must show: (1) Gross weight, (2) class, (3) grade (including special grades), (4) test weight, (5) moisture, (6) dockage, and (7) any other grading factor(s) when such factor(s) and not test weight, determine the grade.

The warehouse receipt or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate must show whether the grain sorghums arrived by rail, truck or barge. In the case of warehouse receipts issued for grain sorghums delivered by rail or barge, the grading factors on the warehouse receipt must agree with the inbound inspection certificate for the car or barge when such certificate is issued.

(c) A separate warehouse receipt must be submitted for each grade, class, and subclass of grain sorghums.

(d) The warehouse receipt may be subject to liens for warehouse charges only to the extent indicated in § 601.909.

(e) Warehouse receipts representing grain sorghums which have been shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point to a designated terminal point, or shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point and stored in transit to a designated terminal point, must be accompanied by registered freight bills, or by (1) a statement as indicated below signed by the warehouseman, (2) a certificate of the warehouseman containing such information or (3) such form of certificates as may be approved by CCC.

§ 601.905 Determination of quantity. (a) The quantity of grain sorghums placed under farm-storage loan may be determined either by weight or by measurement. The quantity of grain sorghums placed under a warehouse-storage loan or delivered under a farm-storage loan or under a purchase agreement shall be determined by weight.

(b) When a quantity is determined by weight, a unit of 100 pounds shall be determined to be 100 pounds of grain sorghums free of dockage. In determining the quantity of sacked grain sorghums by weight, a deduction of ¾ of a pound for each sack shall be made.

(c) When the quantity of grain sorghums is determined by measurement, 100 pounds shall be 2.25 cubic feet of grain sorghums testing 56 pounds per bushel. The quantity determined by measurement of grain sorghums having a test weight of less than 56 pounds per bushel shall be adjusted by:

For grain sorghums testing	Percent
56 pounds or over	100
55 pounds or over, but less than 56 pounds	98
54 pounds or over, but less than 55 pounds	96
53 pounds or over, but less than 54 pounds	95
52 pounds or over, but less than 53 pounds	93
51 pounds or over, but less than 52 pounds	91
50 pounds or over, but less than 51 pounds	89
49 pounds or over, but less than 50 pounds	87

(d) The percentage of dockage shall be determined and the weight of such dockage shall be deducted from the gross weight of the grain sorghums in determining the net quantity available for loan or purchase.

§ 601.906 Determination of quality. The class, subclass, grade, grading factors, and all other quality factors shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in the Official Grain Standards of the United States for Grain Sorghums, whether or not such determinations are made on the basis of an official inspection.

§ 601.907 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than March 31, 1952.

§ 601.908 Determination of support rates. Basic support rates for grain sorghums will be set forth in 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, Supplement 2, Grain Sorghums. These support rates will be established for grain sorghums of the Classes I to IV, inclusive, grading No. 2 or better, and containing not in excess of 13 percent moisture. The support rates will be established for grain sorghums stored in approved warehouse storage at designated terminal markets, and for grain sorghums stored in approved country warehouses and in approved farm storage. The support rate for the quality of grain sorghums placed under a loan or delivered under a purchase agreement shall be the applicable basic support rate adjusted in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(a) Basic support rates at designated terminal markets. (1) Grain sorghums eligible for loan or purchase at the support rate established for designated terminal markets must have been shipped on a domestic interstate freight rate basis. On any grain sorghums shipped at other than the domestic interstate freight rate, the support rate at the designated terminal market shall be reduced by the difference between the freight paid (plus tax) and the domestic interstate freight rate (plus tax).

(2) The support rates established for designated terminal markets apply to grain sorghums which have been shipped by rail or water from a country shipping point to one of the designated terminal markets, as evidenced by paid freight bills duly registered for transit privileges: Provided, That in the event the amount of paid-in-freight is insufficient to guarantee the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate from the terminal market, there shall be deducted from the applicable terminal support rate the difference between the amount of freight actually paid in and the amount required to be paid in to guarantee outbound movement at the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate.

(3) When shipped by rail or water and stored at any designated terminal market, grain sorghums for which neither registered freight bills nor such freight certificates are presented to guarantee outbound movement at the minimum proportional domestic interstate freight rate, shall have a support rate equal to the terminal rate minus 14 cents per 100 pounds.

(4) For grain sorghums received by truck and stored at any designated terminal market, the support rate shall be determined by making a deduction from the terminal rate as follows:

Terminal located in—	Amount of deduction (cents per 100 lb.)
Area I: Arizona, California, Idaho, Minnesota, Montana, Nevada, North Dakota, Oregon, South Dakota, Washington, Utah	22
Area II: Colorado, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Wyoming, Wisconsin	23
Area III: Connecticut, Delaware, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Virginia, West Virginia	25
Area IV: Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas	25

(b) Support rates for grain sorghums in approved warehouse-storage at other than designated terminal markets. (1) The support rate for grain sorghums stored in approved warehouses (other than those situated in the designated terminal markets) which are shipped by rail shall be determined by deducting from the appropriate designated terminal market rate an amount equal to the transit balance, if any (plus tax), of the through-freight rate from point of origin for such grain sorghums to such terminal market: Provided, That in the case of grain sorghums stored at any railroad transit point, taking a penalty by reason of out-of-line movement, or for any other reason, to the appropriate designated market, there shall be added to such transit balance an amount equal to any out-of-line costs or other costs incurred in storing grain sorghums in such position.

(2) The warehouse receipts must be accompanied by the original paid freight bills or certificates of the warehouseman and other required documents as set forth in § 601.904.

(c) Discounts. (1) The discount for grain sorghums which grade No. 3 and containing not in excess of 13 percent moisture shall be 8 cents per 100 pounds; and for grain sorghums which grade No. 4 and containing not in excess of 13 percent moisture, 16 cents per 100 pounds.

(2) Grain sorghums which grade "smutty" shall be discounted 5 cents per 100 pounds.

(3) The support rates for mixed grain sorghums (Class V) shall be 3 cents per 100 pounds less than the support rates for grain sorghums of the classes I to IV, inclusive.

§ 601.909 Warehouse charges. (a) Warehouse receipts and the grain sorghums represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement may be subject to liens for warehouse handling and storage charges at not to exceed the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement rates from the date the grain is deposited in the warehouse for storage.

(b) Where the date of deposit (the date of the warehouse receipt if the date of deposit is not shown) on warehouse receipts representing grain sorghums stored in warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement is on or before March 31, 1952, the storage charges per 100 pounds shown in accordance with the following table shall be deducted in computing the amount of the loan or purchase price.

(c) Warehouse receipts and the grain sorghums represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operated by eastern common carriers may be subject to liens for warehouse elevation (receiving and delivering) and storage charges from the date of deposit at rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(d) For grain sorghums stored in approved warehouses operated by eastern common carriers, there shall be deducted in computing the loan or purchase price the amount of the approved tariff rate for storage (not including elevation), which will accumulate from the date of deposit to the program maturity date. The county committee shall request the PMA commodity office to determine the amount of such charges. Where the producer presents evidence showing that the elevation has been prepaid, the amount of the storage charges to be deducted shall be reduced by the amount of the elevation charge prepaid by the producer.

§ 601.910 Settlement — (a) Farm-storage loans. (1) In the case of grain sorghums delivered to CCC from farm storage under the loan program, settlement shall be made at the applicable support rate for the approved point of delivery. The support rate shall be applied to the grade and quality of the total quantity of grain sorghums delivered.

(2) If the grain sorghums under farm-storage loan are, upon delivery, of a grade and/or quality for which no support rate has been established, the settlement value shall be the support rate established for the grade and/or quality of the grain sorghums placed under loan, less the difference, if any, at the time of delivery, between the market price for the grade and/or quality placed under loan and the market price of the grain sorghums delivered, as determined by CCC.

(3) In no event shall grain sorghums for which the grade and/or quality is lower than the lowest grade and/or quality for which settlement rates are established, have a settlement value in excess of the settlement value of the lowest grade and/or quality of such grain sorghums for which settlement rates are established.

(4) If farm-stored grain sorghums are delivered to CCC prior to March 31, 1952, upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, the loan settlement shall be reduced by the applicable rate of storage charges per 100 pounds, determined according to the date of such delivery to CCC as set forth in § 601.909.

(b) Purchase agreement. Grain sorghums delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement must meet the requirements of grain sorghums eligible for loan. The purchase rate per 100 pounds of eligible grain sorghums shall be the support rate established for the approved point of delivery, subject to deduction of warehouse charges in accordance with § 601.909.

(c) Track-loading. A track-loading payment of 4 cents per 100 pounds will be made to the producer on grain sorghums delivered to CCC on track at a country point.

Issued this 3d day of May 1951.

PART 24—CUSTOMS FINANCIAL AND ACCOUNTING PROCEDURE

CLAIMS; UNPAID COMPENSATION OF DECEASED EMPLOYEES AND DEATH BENEFITS

The purpose of the following amendment is to inform interested persons of the proper manner of filing claims for unpaid compensation of a deceased customs officer or employee under Public Law 636, 81st Congress, which became effective December 1, 1950, and claims for death benefits either in the form of an annuity or a lump-sum payment of the amount to the credit of a deceased officer or employee in the Retirement and Disability Fund.

Section 24.32, Customs Regulations of 1943 (19 CFR 24.32), is amended to read as follows:

§ 24.32 Claims; unpaid compensation of deceased employees and death benefits. (a) A claim made by a designated beneficiary or a surviving spouse for unpaid compensation due an officer or employee at the time of his death shall be executed on standard Form 1153, Claim of Designated Beneficiary and/or Surviving Spouse for Unpaid Compensation of Deceased Civilian Employee. A claim made by anyone other than a designated beneficiary or surviving spouse for unpaid compensation due an officer or employee at the time of his death shall be executed on standard Form 1155, Claim for Unpaid Compensation of Deceased Civilian Employee. The claims shall be forwarded to the customs office where the deceased was employed.

(b) Claims for death benefits, either in the form of an annuity or lump-sum payment of the amount to the credit of the deceased officer or employee in the Retirement and Disability Fund shall be executed on standard Form 100, Application for Death Benefit, and forwarded together with a certified copy of the public record of death directly to the Civil Service Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

TITLE 21—FOOD AND DRUGS

Chapter I—Food and Drug Administration, Federal Security Agency

PART 141—TESTS AND METHODS OF ASSAY FOR ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

PART 146—CERTIFICATION OF BATCHES OF ANTIBIOTIC AND ANTIBIOTIC-CONTAINING DRUGS

AUREOMYCIN SURGICAL POWDER; BACITRACIN-POLYMYXIN OINTMENT

By virtue of the authority vested in the Federal Security Administrator by the provisions of section 507 of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (52 Stat. 1040, 1055, as amended by 59 Stat. 463, 61 Stat. 11, 63 Stat. 409; 21 U. S. C. and Sup., 357), the regulations for tests and methods of assay for antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR 141.1 et seq., and 1949 Supp.; 15 F. R. 9446) and certification of batches of antibiotic and antibiotic-containing drugs (21 CFR 146.1 et seq., and 1949 Supp.; 15 F. R. 9464) are amended as indicated below:

1. Section 141.112 (b) (1) (vi) is amended by changing the period at the end of the subdivision to a comma and by adding the following new clause: "except allow the agar for the secondary layer to cool to 48° C.–50° C. before adding the inoculum."

2. Part 141 is amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 141.211 Aureomycin surgical powder—(a) Potency. Proceed as directed in § 141.201 (a).

(b) Sterility. Proceed as directed in § 141.108 (c).

(c) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.5 (a).

§ 141.409. Bacitracin-polymyxin ointment—(a) Potency—(1) Bacitracin content. Proceed as directed in § 141.402 (a). Its content of bacitracin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units per gram that it is represented to contain.

(2) Polymyxin content. Proceed as directed in § 141.112 (b) (1), except in lieu of the directions in subdivision (vii) for the preparation of the sample, prepare the sample as follows: Accurately weigh approximately 5 grams and transfer to a separatory funnel containing approximately 50 milliliters of peroxide-free ether. Shake with two 25-milliliter portions of the glycine buffer and combine the extracts. Its content of polymyxin is satisfactory if it contains not less than 85 percent of the number of units per gram that it is represented to contain.

(b) Moisture. Proceed as directed in § 141.8 (b).

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interpret or apply sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 357)

3. Part 146 is amended by adding the following new sections:

§ 146.211 Aureomycin surgical powder (aureomycin hydrochloride surgical powder)—(a) Standards of identity, strength, quality, and purity. Aureomycin surgical powder is crystalline aureomycin, with or without suitable and harmless diluents and lubricants. Its content of aureomycin is not less than 200 milligrams per gram of powder. It is sterile. Its moisture content is not more than 2 percent. The aureomycin used conforms to the requirements of § 146.201 (a), except subparagraphs (4) and (5) of that paragraph. Each other substance used, if its name is recognized in the U. S. P. or N. F., conforms to the standards prescribed therefor by such official compendium.

(b) Packaging. In all cases the immediate containers shall be tight containers as defined by the U. S. P., shall be sterile at the time of filling and closing, shall be so sealed that the contents cannot be used without destroying the seal, and shall be of such composition as will not cause any change in the strength, quality, or purity thereof beyond any limit therefor in applicable standards, except that minor changes so caused which are normal and unavoidable in good packaging, storage, and distribution practice shall be disregarded.

(c) Labeling. Each package of aureomycin surgical powder shall bear, on its label or labeling as hereinafter indicated, the following:

(1) On the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container:

(i) The batch mark;

(ii) The number of milligrams of aureomycin per gram of powder in the immediate container; and

(iii) The statement "Expiration date _____," the blank being filled in with the date which is 24 months after the month during which the batch was certified.

(2) On the outside wrapper or container:

(i) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, the statement: "Caution: To be dispensed only by or on the prescription of a _____," the blank being filled in with the words "physician" or "dentist" or "veterinarian" or with any combination of two or all of these words, as the case may be.

(ii) Unless it is intended solely for veterinary use and is conspicuously so labeled, a reference specifically identifying a readily available medical publication containing directions and precautions (including contraindications and possible sensitization) adequate for the use of such aureomycin surgical powder; or a reference to a brochure or other printed matter containing such directions and precautions, and a statement that such brochure or printed matter will be sent on request.

(3) On the circular or other labeling within or attached to the package, if it is intended solely for veterinary use, directions and precautions adequate for the use of such aureomycin surgical powder, including:

(i) Clinical indications;

(ii) Dosage and administration;

(iii) Contraindications; and

(iv) Untoward effects that may accompany administration. If two or more such immediate containers are in such package, the number of such circulars or other labeling shall not be less than the number of such containers.

(d) Request for certification; samples. (1) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.2, a person who requests certification of a batch of aureomycin surgical powder shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch mark, the number of packages of each size in such batch, the batch mark and (unless it was previously submitted) the date on which the latest assay of the aureomycin used in making such batch was completed, the number of milligrams of aureomycin in each immediate container, the date on which the latest assay of the drug comprising such batch was completed, the quantity of each ingredient used in making the batch, and a statement that each such ingredient conforms to the requirements prescribed therefor by this section.

(2) Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit in connection with his request results of the tests and assays listed after each of the following, made by him on an accurately representative sample of:

(i) The batch; potency, sterility, moisture.

(ii) The aureomycin used in making the batch; potency, sterility, toxicity, moisture, pH, crystallinity.

(3) Except as otherwise provided by subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, such person shall submit in connection with his request, in the quantities hereinafter indicated, accurately representative samples of the following:

(i) The batch; one immediate container for each 5,000 immediate containers in the batch, but in no case less than 20 immediate containers or more than 100 immediate containers, collected by taking single immediate containers at such intervals throughout the entire time of packaging the batch that the quantities packaged during the intervals are approximately equal.

(ii) The aureomycin used in making the batch; ten packages, each containing approximately equal portions of not less than 60 milligrams, packaged in accordance with the requirements of § 146.201 (b).

(iii) In case of an initial request for certification, each other substance used in making the batch; one package of each containing approximately 5 grams.

(4) No result referred to in subparagraph (2) (ii) of this paragraph, and no sample referred to in subparagraph (3) (ii) of this paragraph, is required if such result or sample has been previously submitted.

(e) Fees. The fee for the services rendered with respect to each batch of aureomycin surgical powder under the regulations in this part shall be:

(1) $1.00 for each immediate container in the samples submitted in accordance with paragraph (d) (3) (i) of this section; $4.00 for each package in the sample submitted in accordance with paragraph (d) (3) (ii) and (iii) of this section; and

(2) If the Commissioner considers that investigations other than examination of such immediate containers are necessary to determine whether or not such batch complies with the requirements of § 146.3 for the issuance of a certificate, the cost of such investigations.

The fee prescribed by subparagraph (1) of this paragraph shall accompany the request for certification unless such fee is covered by an advance deposit maintained in accordance with § 146.8 (d).

§ 146.409 Bacitracin-polymyxin ointment. (a) Bacitracin-polymyxin ointment conforms to all requirements prescribed by § 146.402 for bacitracin ointment, and is subject to all procedures prescribed by § 146.402 for bacitracin ointment, except that:

(1) Its content of bacitracin is not less than 400 units per gram.

(2) It contains not less than 8,000 units of polymyxin B per gram. The polymyxin B used conforms to the requirements prescribed for polymyxin B by § 146.107 (a).

(3) Its moisture content is not more than 0.5 percent.

(4) In lieu of the labeling prescribed by § 146.402 (c) (1) (ii) and (iv), each package shall bear on the outside wrapper or container and the immediate container the number of units of bacitracin and the number of units of polymyxin B in each gram of the batch and the statement "Expiration date _____," the blank being filled in with the date which is 12 months after the month during which the batch was certified.

(5) In addition to complying with the requirements of § 146.402 (d), a person who requests certification of a batch of bacitracin-polymyxin ointment shall submit with his request a statement showing the batch mark and (unless it was previously submitted) the results and date of the latest tests and assays of the polymyxin used in making the batch for potency and toxicity. He shall also submit in connection with his request a sample consisting of not less than 6 packages of bacitracin-polymyxin ointment and (unless it was previously submitted) a sample consisting of 5 packages containing equal portions of not less than 0.5 gram each of the polymyxin used in making the batch.

(b) The fee for the services rendered with respect to each immediate container in the sample of polymyxin submitted in accordance with the requirements prescribed therefor by this section shall be $4.00.

(Sec. 701, 52 Stat. 1055; 21 U. S. C. 371. Interpret or apply sec. 507, 59 Stat. 463, as amended; 21 U. S. C. 357)

This order, which provides for a change in the method of assay for polymyxin used in the manufacture of streptomycin-polymyxin-bacitracin tablets and for tests and methods of assay and certification of two new antibiotic preparations, aureomycin surgical powder and bacitracin-polymyxin ointment, shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, since both the public and the affected industries will benefit by the earliest effective date, and I so find.

Notice and public procedure are not necessary prerequisites to the promulgation of this order, and I so find, since it was drawn in collaboration with interested members of the affected industries and since it would be against public interest to delay providing for the modification of the method of assay for polymyxin used in the manufacture of streptomycin-polymyxin-bacitracin tablets and for tests and methods of assay and certification of aureomycin surgical powder and bacitracin-polymyxin ointment.

Dated: May 2, 1951.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 24, Amendment 1]

CPR 24—CEILING PRICES OF BEEF SOLD AT WHOLESALE

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 2 (16 F. R. 738), Delegation of Authority by the Secretary of Agriculture to the Economic Stabilization Agency with respect to the Allocation of Meat (16 F. R. 1272) and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order 5 (16 F. R. 1273) this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

To permit sellers who bought ungrade-marked beef prior to May 7, 1951, an additional period of time within which to dispose of this beef, this amendment provides that such sellers shall sell and deliver such beef through May 11, 1951, at the prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Similarly, to permit sellers who bought grade-marked beef prior to May 7, 1951, an additional period of time to dispose of such beef at a price which may reflect higher costs than the price provided by Ceiling Price Regulation 24, this amendment provides that such sellers may sell and deliver such beef through May 11, 1951, either at the prices provided in Ceiling Price Regulation 24 or at their ceiling prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

The "Effective date" paragraph of Ceiling Price Regulation 24 is amended by inserting, after the words "May 9, 1951", the following sentences. "However, through and including May 11, 1951, if (1) you sell and deliver a beef product for which a ceiling price is established by this regulation by grades (2) this beef product left the slaughtering plant prior to May 7, 1951, and (3) such beef product does not bear the grade mark provided for in Distribution Regulation 2 for such beef products leaving the slaughtering plant on and after May 7, 1951, then your ceiling price for such products shall be your ceiling price established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation. Moreover, through and including May 11, 1951, if (1) you sell and deliver a beef product for which a ceiling price is established by this regulation by grades and (2) such beef product bears the grade mark provided for in Distribution Regulation 2 for such beef products leaving the slaughtering plant after May 7, 1951, your ceiling prices for such of those products as are not derived from cattle you slaughtered shall be, at your option, the ceiling prices established by this regulation or your ceiling prices established by the General Ceiling Price Regulation."

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. This amendment shall become effective on May 4, 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization

CORRECTIONS

1. Due to an error, there was omitted from Zone 6 in Appendix 1 (f) of Ceiling Price Regulation 25 certain portions of Colorado and Wyoming. Accordingly, Zone 6, appearing in Appendix 1 (f) of Ceiling Price Regulation 25, is corrected as follows:

Omit the period following the words "St. Louis county." and add in lieu thereof the following: "; all that portion of Colorado north and east of and including the counties of Weld, Adams, Denver, Arapahoe, Douglas, El Paso, Pueblo, Otero, Bent and Prowers; and that portion of Wyoming included in the following counties: Platte, Goshen and Laramie."

2. Due to an additional error the number "23", appearing in sections 30 (a), 30 (b), 30 (c) and 30 (d) of Ceiling Price Regulation 25, was used instead of the number "30". Accordingly, sections 30 (a), 30 (b), 30 (c) and 30 (d) of Ceiling Price Regulation 25 are corrected as follows:

Wherever the words "except as provided in section 23 (e)" appear, substitute therefor the words "except as provided in section 30 (e)".

CPR 31—IMPORTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 31 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

It was anticipated when the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued that subsequent regulations would be issued to deal more specifically with the pricing problems encountered in different segments of the United States economy. Foreign trade of the nation is a most important segment of our economy.

Although this country is well balanced economically, it has always been a large importer of foreign raw materials and goods, usually standing in either first or second place among the nations of the world where the total value of imports is concerned.

Control over prices in the import trade differs considerably from price control on sales of domestic articles and is much more difficult to achieve. Domestic price control, operating at the level of the manufacturer and at the level of the producer of raw material, serves as the basis for the establishment of ceiling prices for subsequent levels of distribution.

But the foreign manufacturer or producer of raw material is not subject to the jurisdiction of the United States Government. And the Director of the Office of Price Stabilization does not have access to the foreign seller's costs, sales and profits data which are governed by conditions that do not prevail in the United States as also are foreign transportation and insurance charges on ocean shipping.

Therefore, the usual standards of the Office of Price Stabilization in determining maximum prices at the manufacturer's level cannot be used in determining selling prices for imported goods and raw materials. Import price policies are therefore based on different considerations from those usually recognized by the Office of Price Stabilization in establishing maximum prices.

The basic considerations for pricing imported commodities are the continued flow of these commodities into the United States to meet the (1) strategic needs of the United States and (2) the demand in the civilian economy for certain essential imported commodities.

In determining prices for each of these import categories the basic consideration is to obtain such goods at the lowest price which will permit the importation and sale in sufficient quantity to meet our military demands, the needs of our war industries and the essential civilian requirements, as well as the needs of the economy in non-essentials.

During World War II in those cases where foreign supply prices rose to such an extent as to make impossible the importation and sale of essential commodities, the Office of Price Administration adjusted ceilings or utilized subsidy programs. Where subsidy programs were inaugurated, a government agency, such as the United States Commercial Company, bought strategic and essentially needed goods in foreign markets at whatever price was necessary to obtain an adequate supply of such commodities and resold them in the United States within the ceiling prices established by the Office of Price Administration.

The Office of Price Stabilization, together with related agencies of the executive branch, is currently formulating programs which will provide for specific ceilings for strategic materials and essential commodities and permit a flow of these commodities in sufficient quantity to meet our military demands, the needs of our war industries and the essential civilian requirements. This Ceiling Price Regulation provides a pricing formula for importers of other commodities to fulfill the needs of our economy.

It is clearly undesirable to eliminate imports by regulations which would make their entry impossible. First, the sale of these other commodities in the United States need not affect the cost of living. Secondly, it is desirable to maintain as far as possible the Nation's established foreign trade.

As the foreign seller's costs, sales and profits are governed by conditions that do not prevail in the United States, a marginal control for the import trade is the only fair and equitable method of control which can be effectively administered and will achieve results comparable to those obtained under controls on domestically produced goods. Furthermore, prices charged by foreign sellers and the costs of foreign transportation and insurance charges on ocean shipping are not subject to the jurisdiction of the United States Government. The application of certain of the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation has interrupted the flow of these imported goods to the detriment of the American importers. For all these reasons, and in order to assure a continued flow, a marginal control is imposed upon these non-essential commodities.

The formulas in this order require sellers of imported commodities, in determining their ceiling prices, not to exceed the markup which they obtained on deliveries to the same class of buyers during the base period July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950, inclusive. This base period does not reflect the inflationary pressures subsequent to the outbreak in Korea and the rearmament program. For importers such base period markup is to be added to the landed cost of the commodity. However, in recognition of the well established importing practice of selling goods prior to their arrival in this country, the regulation provides a procedure whereby the anticipated landed cost of the commodity, as estimated by the importer, may be used as a basis for computing a ceiling price in such cases. It is understood that this ceiling price regulation is issued as a temporary measure to encourage immediately the flow of imports to the greatest extent possible until conditions necessitate and permit the issuance of regulations tailored to the requirements of the different commodities.

From time to time, as the need arises, specific commodity price regulations will be issued to maintain the principle of stabilization and to prevent undue dislocation of American industrial economy. It has been the consistent policy of the United States to encourage the development of international trade. Consequently, where it can be established that any provision of this regulation threatens to impede the flow of imports, consideration will be given to the issuance of appropriate supplemental or amendatory regulations thereto.

Prior to the formulation of this regulation, the Director of Price Stabilization consulted with an industry committee established in accordance with the requirements of the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.).

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

ARTICLE I—SCOPE OF REGULATION

SECTION 1. What this regulation does. This regulation provides a formula whereby importers, wholesalers, and retailers of imported commodities shall compute their ceiling prices for sales thereof on the basis of prices in effect during a base period extending from July 1, 1949, to June 30, 1950, inclusive. All of the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, except section 14, heretofore applicable to importers and to the sale of imported commodities are superseded hereby except with respect to the sale of the commodities listed in Appendix A. Sales of the commodities listed in Appendix A shall continue to be governed by the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation unless or until otherwise covered by specific ceiling price regulations. With respect to the sale by other than importers of imported commodities at wholesale and retail levels, Ceiling Price Regulation 7 shall govern the pricing at the retail level of all imported non-food commodities specifically covered thereby, and Ceiling Price Regulations 14, 15, and 16 shall govern the pricing at the wholesale and retail level of all imported food commodities specifically covered thereby. Any imported commodity which does not specifically fall within the coverage of Ceiling Price Regulations 7, 14, 15, and 16 shall be priced for wholesale or retail sale under sections 4 and 5 of this regulation, respectively.

SEC. 2. Applicability and prohibitions—(a) Applicability. This regulation is applicable to the continental United States.

(b) Prohibitions. On and after the effective date of this regulation, regardless of any contract or other obligation, excepting as set forth in section 14 (c) of this regulation, (1) you shall not sell or deliver any imported commodities covered by this regulation at prices higher than the ceiling prices fixed by this regulation; (2) you shall not buy or receive in the course of trade or business any imported commodities covered by this regulation at prices higher than the ceiling prices fixed by this regulation; and (3) you shall not agree, offer, solicit, or attempt to do anything prohibited in this regulation.

Prices lower than the ceiling prices may be charged, demanded, paid, or offered.

SEC. 3. Formula for sales by importers. (a) If you are an importer, your ceiling price for the sale of any commodity covered by this regulation to any class of buyer (except retail customers) shall be the landed cost of the commodity, plus a dollar and cents markup based on sales by you of such commodity to that class of buyer during the base period, as calculated under section 6 of this regulation. If you made no sales of the commodity during the base period to buyers of that class, your markup shall be calculated under section 6 of this regulation but by reference to other sales as provided for in section 7 of this regulation.

(b) Where the commodity you are pricing is owned by you but has not arrived in the United States, you may estimate your landed cost of the commodity. Such estimated landed cost shall reflect your purchase contract cost and the costs of importation reasonably to be anticipated and not already included in the purchase contract cost. In the event such estimated costs exceed your actual costs, as finally determined, you shall either remit or credit the difference to your purchaser.

(c) You may not receive a commission from a foreign seller higher than that which you received during the base period, nor may you receive both a commission from a foreign seller and a markup on the same transaction, without prior application to and approval thereof by the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C. In your application you must set forth in detail all of the facts relating to, as well as the historical background for, such a request.

SEC. 4. Formula for sales by wholesalers. If you are a wholesaler of imported commodities which you sell in essentially the same form in which imported, your ceiling price for the sale of any such commodity covered by this regulation, except food commodities specifically covered by name or category by Ceiling Price Regulation 14, to any class of buyer shall be your cost of acquisition plus a base period dollar and cents markup based on sales by you of such commodity to that class of buyer during the base period, as calculated under section 6 of this regulation. If you made no sales of the commodity during the base period to buyers of that class, your markup shall be calculated under section 6 of this regulation but by reference to other sales as provided for in section 7 of this regulation.

SEC. 5. Formula for sales at retail—(a) Retailer. If you are a retailer (but not the importer) of imported commodities which you sell in essentially the same form in which imported, your ceiling price for the sale of any such commodity, except imported non-food commodities specifically covered by name or category by Ceiling Price Regulation 7, and except imported food commodities specifically covered by name or category by Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16, shall be as follows:

(1) For any sale to retail customers your ceiling price shall be your cost of acquisition plus a base period percentage markup calculated as follows:

You determine from your records all of the sales to retail customers which you made of the commodity being priced during a representative quarter of the base period of your choosing. You then determine your total dollar sales value of such sales and calculate the weighted average percentage markup per unit over the cost of acquisition of the commodity reflected in such sales. Such weighted average percentage markup per unit shall be determined by subtracting total costs of acquisition from total sales price, which gives you gross margin, and dividing that gross margin by total cost of acquisition. You may use the result of this calculation as your base period percentage markup for the commodity you are pricing.

(2) For any sale to wholesale customers your ceiling price shall be computed under the provisions of Section 4 of this regulation governing the computation of ceiling prices for sales by wholesalers.

(b) Importer retailer. If you are an importer and also sell at retail in essentially the same form in which imported the commodities you import, your ceiling price for the sale of any such commodity, except imported non-food commodities specifically covered by name or category by Ceiling Price Regulation 7, and except imported food commodities specifically covered by name or category by Ceiling Price Regulations 15 and 16, shall be as follows:

(1) For any sale to retail customers your ceiling price shall be the landed cost of the commodity plus a base period percentage markup calculated as follows:

You determine from your records all of the sales to retail customers which you made of the commodity being priced during a representative quarter of the base period of your choosing. You then determine your total dollar sales value of such sales and calculate the weighted average percentage markup per unit over the landed cost of the commodity reflected in such sales under the formula prescribed in Section 5 (a) (1). You may use the result of this calculation as your base period percentage markup for the commodity you are pricing.

(2) Your ceiling price for any such sale to customers other than retail customers shall be computed under the provisions of Section 3 of this regulation.

(c) If you are computing your ceiling price under the provisions of paragraph (a) (1) or (b) (1) of this section and made no base period sales of the commodity you are pricing to the class of buyer for which you are pricing, your markup shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of paragraph (a) (1), or (b) (1) of this section but such markup shall be based on other base period sales as provided for in section 7 of this regulation.

(d) In every case where you calculate for the first time the percentage markup per unit you are going to use or do use in the sale or offering of an imported commodity, unless the commodity be one that shall be priced under Ceiling Price Regulations 7, 15, or 16, you shall promptly furnish the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C., with the following information in duplicate:

(1) The commodity
(2) The quantity
(3) The class of buyer
(4) The percentage markup per unit you are permitted to use under this regulation.

Once you have furnished such information for the sale of a particular commodity to a particular class of buyer, you need not again advise the Office of Price Stabilization with respect to your pricing of that type of sale.

SEC. 6. Calculation of base period dollar and cents import markup. (a) If you are an importer, wholesaler or a processor of imported commodities, unless you are a wholesaler pricing an imported food commodity under Ceiling Price Regulation 14, your base period dollar and cents markup for a commodity shall be calculated under this regulation as follows:

(1) You ascertain from your records all of your base period sales of the type upon which your base period markup is to be calculated, i. e., either base period sales of the commodity you are pricing to the class of buyer for which you are pricing, or base period sales of a kind you are permitted to use under the provisions of section 7 of this regulation.

(2) You then determine the total dollar sales value of all such base period sales.

(3) You then select, from such base period sales, any sale or sales which represent at least ten percent of the total dollar sales value of all such base period sales and calculate the weighted average dollars and cents markup per unit, over landed cost of the commodity, if you are an importer, or over your cost of acquisition, if you are a wholesaler or a processor, yielded by those selected sales. Such weighted average may be determined, as illustrated in the example below, by computing the total dollar and cents markup for those selected sales (total sales price minus total of landed costs for an importer, or total costs of acquisition, for a wholesaler or processor), and dividing that total markup by the total number of units. The result is your weighted average dollar and cents markup per unit for sales of the commodity you are pricing to the class of buyer involved. (If you selected a single sale, which accounts for ten percent of your total dollar sales value of such base period sales, you may use the dollar and cents markup yielded by that single sale.

(i) Example: Suppose your base period sales upon which you are calculating your markup under the provisions of this section were as follows:

Sale	Units	Sales price	Percentage of total sales	Cost of acquisition or landed cost	Dollars and cents markup	Dollars and cents markup per unit
#1	2,500	$250.00	5%	$225.25	$24.75	$0.0099
#2	4,000	400.00	8%	364.00	36.00	.009
#3	11,000	1,100.00	22%	1,012.00	88.00	.008
#4	12,500	1,250.00	25%	1,150.00	100.00	.008
#5	20,000	2,000.00	40%	1,850.00	150.00	.00755

(ii) You may select sales #1 and #2 in order to determine the markup. You may not select either sale #1 or sale #2 alone, since neither sale alone accounts for ten percent of the total dollar sales value of base period sales. Taking the weighted average of the dollar and cents markups yielded by the two sales, you obtain a unit markup of $.009346 ($24.75+$36.00÷2,500+4,000=$.009346).

(b) In every case where you calculate for the first time the dollar and cents markup per unit you are going to use or do use in the sale or offering of an imported commodity, you shall promptly furnish the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington, 25, D. C., with the following information in duplicate:

(1) The commodity
(2) The quantity
(3) The class of buyer
(4) The dollar and cents markup per unit you are permitted to use under this regulation.

Once you have furnished such information for the sale of a particular commodity to a particular class of buyer, you need not again advise the Office of Price Stabilization with respect to your pricing of that type of sale.

SEC. 7. Formula where no sales of the type being priced were made during the base period. (a) If you are either an importer, a wholesaler or a retailer and did not sell during the base period the commodity you are pricing to a buyer of the class for which you are pricing, your ceiling price for such sale shall be the landed cost or cost of acquisition, as the case may be, plus a base period markup as calculated under section 5 or section 6 of this regulation, whichever is applicable, based on sales during the base period of the type set forth below in the following order of preference:

(1) Sales of the commodity you are pricing to buyers of the next most closely related class;

(2) Sales of a comparison commodity to buyers of the class for which you are pricing;

(3) Sales of a comparison commodity to buyers of the next most closely related class.

In this event you must advise the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C., in writing, in duplicate, by registered letter, of the price you propose as your ceiling price for the commodity, showing in detail how it was computed, the markup you propose to use, and naming the "comparison commodity" and/or "class of buyer" you used. Unless this proposed ceiling price is rejected by the Office of Price Stabilization within ten days of the postmarked date of your letter, you may proceed with sales accordingly, until notified by the Office of Price Stabilization that your proposed ceiling price has been disapproved.

(b) If you, the seller, either importer, wholesaler or retailer, did not sell during the base period the commodity you are pricing, nor did you sell a comparison commodity, or if you are a new seller, you shall compute your ceiling price by reference to the ceiling price of the "most closely competitive seller of the same class". In this event you must advise the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C., in writing, in duplicate, by registered letter, of the price you propose as your ceiling price for the commodity and show in detail how it was determined, and naming the "most closely competitive seller of the same class" whose price you used, together with his address. Unless this proposed ceiling price is rejected by the Office of Price Stabilization within ten days of the postmarked date of your letter, you may proceed with sales accordingly, until notified by the Office of Price Stabilization that your proposed ceiling price has been disapproved.

(c) For the sales of imported commodities for which you are unable to compute ceiling prices under the provisions of paragraphs (a) or (b) of this section, or under any provisions of this regulation, you may apply in writing, in duplicate, to the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C. for establishment of a ceiling price for such imported commodity. This application shall contain (1) an explanation of why you are unable to compute your ceiling price for the imported commodity under this regulation; (2) a complete description of the imported commodity involved; and (3) the nature of your business. In addition, your application shall contain a proposed ceiling price for the imported commodity, together with an explanation of the basis upon which such proposed ceiling price was computed by you. You shall not sell such imported commodity until the Office of Price Stabilization notifies you, in writing, of the ceiling price you may use.

(d) Once you have determined under the provisions of this section a markup which has not been disapproved by the Office of Price Stabilization, you may continue to use that markup for future sales of the same commodity to the same class of buyer.

SEC. 8. Processing. If you are an importer and also process (as defined in section 18 of this regulation) commodities you import, you may, in determining your ceiling price, add the actual costs of processing to your landed costs. If you process imported commodities purchased from an importer, you may, in determining your ceiling price, add the actual costs of processing to your cost of acquisition: Provided, That if your markup as calculated under section 6 of this regulation included the costs of processing, you may add only those costs of processing which were in excess of the cost of processing during the base period.

SEC. 9. Sale of imported commodities in a related range or line. (a) If you are a seller of imported commodities in a related range or line, you may maintain your customary price differentials on those imported commodities, provided that their total sales value does not exceed that which would otherwise be their total sales value if you sold the items in the range or line separately at their respective ceiling prices.

(b) Where you have an inventory or purchase commitment of a commodity at a different ceiling price than the ceiling price of the same commodity received in a different shipment, you may use a uniform selling price (for that commodity), provided that in such case you shall compute a ceiling price for the entire inventory and purchase commitments by using properly weighted average costs of your inventory and purchase commitments, and provided that the total sales value shall not exceed that which would otherwise be the total sales value at ceiling prices for each item in such lot if sold separately.

ARTICLE III—GENERAL PROVISIONS

SEC. 10. Taxes. In addition to your ceiling price, you may collect the amount of any excise, sales or similar taxes paid by you only if, during the base period, you stated and collected such taxes separately from your selling price. In the case of such a tax imposed by law which is not effective until after June 30, 1950, you may collect the amount of the tax actually paid by you, in addition to your ceiling price, if not prohibited by the tax law. You must in all such cases state separately the amount of the tax.

SEC. 11. Restrictions on multiple handling. For the purposes of this Ceiling Price Regulation, markups shall be allowed only when the following sequences of distribution are followed. These are (a) sales by importers to industrial users, to processors, to wholesalers, or to retailers; (b) sales by wholesalers to industrial users, or to retailers; (c) sales by processors to wholesalers, to retailers or to consumers; (d) sales by retailers to consumers. If you are a wholesaler who buys commodities from another wholesaler, no markup may be added, unless specifically authorized by order of the Office of Price Stabilization. Such authorization may be granted upon application to the Office of Price Stabilization, Exports-Imports Branch, Washington 25, D. C., when it can be established that the second wholesaler performs a recognized distributive function in accordance with the usual practice of the trade.

SEC. 12. Transfer of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade of any business were sold or otherwise transferred since July 1, 1949, or are sold or transferred after the effective date of this regulation, and the transferee carries on the business, or continues to deal in the same type of commodities, the maximum prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his transferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records sufficient to verify such prices shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over, to the transferee all records of transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the record provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 13. Records. (a) This section tells you what records you shall preserve and what additional records you must prepare and keep available for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization for so long as the Defense Production Act of 1950 is in effect and for two years thereafter.

(b) You must preserve and keep available as required in paragraph (a) of this section those records in your possession showing the prices charged by you for the commodities you delivered during the base period, and those records you used to establish the markups you charged during the base period, and those records you used showing how you calculated your base period markup. You must also prepare and preserve a statement of your customary price differentials, terms and conditions of sale, and classes of purchasers, which you had in effect during the base period.

(c) You shall prepare and keep available, as required in paragraph (a) of this section, records of the kind you customarily keep; specifically you must also keep records showing the date of each sale or contract, the names of the parties thereto, the prices charged, the landed cost or the cost of the commodity to you. If you are a retailer, however, you are required only to preserve your purchase invoices and to record thereon your selling price.

(d) If you are a seller who has customarily given a purchaser a sales slip, receipt, or similar evidence of purchase, you shall continue to do so. Upon request from a purchaser, any seller, regardless of previous custom, shall give the purchaser a receipt showing the date, the name and address of the seller, the name of each commodity or service sold, and the price received for it.

SEC. 14. Exemptions. (a) This regulation does not apply to sales of commodities for which import ceiling prices have been or hereafter will be established under other regulations or supplements, or to sales of commodities which are specifically exempted from the application of ceiling prices by other regulations or orders of the Office of Price Stabilization.

(b) This regulation does not apply to sales of hand knotted oriental rugs and imported handicraft objects which are sold for household or personal use in substantially the same form as imported, and which are the product of individuals, families, tribes, or other small groups.

(c) Nothing in this regulation shall operate to prevent the performance of a written contract for the sale of an imported commodity entered into prior to the effective date of this regulation and executed in strict compliance with the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation, provided (1) that such contract covers a commodity which the seller as of the date of the contract had in inventory or under purchase commitment, and (2) that such contract covers a specified quantity of a described commodity at a fixed price per unit.

(d) This regulation does not apply to the sale of the commodities listed in Appendix A.

(e) This regulation does not apply to the sales of commodities transported into the continental United States for transshipment abroad and which do not enter into the domestic commerce of the United States and which are either,

(1) Entered at Customs in transit on a "Transportation and Exportation (TE) entry" or on an "Exportation (Exp.) entry" or

(2) Stored in transit in a bonded warehouse or stored in a foreign trade zone.

SEC. 15. Enforcement. If you violate any provision of this Ceiling Price Regulation you are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 16. Evasion. Any practice which results in obtaining indirectly a higher price than is permitted by this regulation is a violation of this regulation. Such practices include, but are not limited to, devices making use of commissions, services, cross sales, transportation arrangements, premiums, discounts, special privileges, tie-in agreements or combination sales, and trade understandings.

SEC. 17. Petitions for amendment. If you wish to have this regulation amended, you may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation 1 (15 F. R. 9055).

SEC. 18. Definitions. This Ceiling Price Regulation and the terms which appear in it shall be construed in the following manner:

(a) Classes of sellers and buyers—(1) Importer. This term means the person by whom a commodity is imported and who first sells it after importation.

(2) Wholesaler. This term means any person who performs a recognized distributive function, purchases imported commodities directly from an importer and who sells or delivers them in essentially the same form as imported to another wholesaler, industrial user, or a retailer in accordance with established trade practice.

(3) Retailer. This term means any person who buys or receives imported commodities and who actually sells them in essentially the same form as imported to an ultimate consumer other than an industrial or commercial user.

(4) Supplier. This term means the person from whom an importer covered by this regulation procures a commodity.

(5) Industrial user. This term means a person who uses an imported commodity or commodities in fabrication, manufacture, or production.

(6) Retail customer. This term means the person who buys commodities from a retailer in customary retail quantities and at customary retail prices for the purpose of normal individual or household consumption rather than for resale, fabrication, processing or manufacture.

(7) Wholesale customer. This term means the person who is not a "retail customer" and who buys commodities in customary wholesale quantities and at customary wholesale prices for purposes other than for normal individual or household consumption.

(8) Seller. This term includes the seller of any commodity. Where a seller at retail makes sales through more than one selling unit or place of business (other than salesmen making sales at uniform prices) each such selling unit or separate place of business shall be deemed to be a separate seller.

(9) Class of buyer. This term means that group of persons to which you sell imported products and which you distinguish from other groups of buyers with respect to price or terms and conditions of sale by reason of location, quantity purchased, or functions in distribution, i. e., manufacturer, wholesaler, retailer, processor or end user.

(b) Pricing—(1) Commodity. This term includes not only those items or groups of items generally called commodities, but also materials, articles, or products.

(2) Comparison commodity. This term means a commodity which is one with the same or next lowest or highest current unit direct cost, whichever is closer to the cost of the new commodity, and which has the same essential characteristics as does the new commodity for which you are computing a ceiling price.

(3) Cost of acquisition. This term means the actual cost of the commodity to a buyer, which shall not exceed the ceiling price of the supplier at the point of delivery plus such costs of delivery actually incurred by the buyer.

(4) Foreign invoice cost. This term means the amount stated on your foreign invoice less any discount or allowances, but including separately stated charges except such charges as are included in costs of importation as herein defined.

(5) Costs of importation. This term means those costs actually incurred or to be incurred by you in moving the goods from the place of foreign origin to the place of destination and include, but are not necessarily limited to, foreign export and other taxes directly related to the transaction, foreign ocean and domestic transportation costs, customs duties, dock charges, clearance, insurance, letter of credit or other finance charges, and any customary buying commission to a purchasing agent outside the continental United States.

(6) Landed cost. This term means the foreign invoice cost plus the costs of importation. If your foreign invoice states charges included in the costs of importation, you shall not include the same item more than once.

(7) Purchase contract cost. This term means the price the importer paid for the commodity including any charges and expenses incurred in, or in connection with, the moving of the commodity to destination which are borne by the foreign seller.

(8) Next most closely related class of buyer. This term means the class of buyer to which you sold, during the base period, the commodity you are pricing, or a "comparison commodity," and which in terms of quantity and conditions of sale is most similar to the class of buyer for which you are pricing.

(9) Most closely competitive seller of the same class. This term means the seller with whom you are in most direct competition even though he may perform a different function with respect to the commodity. You are in direct competition with another seller who sells the same types of commodities to the same classes of purchaser in similar quantities, in similar terms and, if you are selling a commodity, you supply approximately the same amount of service.

(10) Inventory. This term means the sum total of stocks or goods owned by the importer which are in the United States, its territories and possessions, or which are afloat destined for the United States, its territories and possessions.

(11) Purchase commitment. This term means an agreement between the foreign seller and American buyer for a specified quantity of a described article for definite shipment to the United States, its territories or possessions at a stated fixed price.

(c) General—(1) Base period. This term means the period from July 1, 1949 to June 30, 1950, inclusive.

(2) Ceiling price. This term means the highest price at which an imported commodity covered by this regulation may be sold.

(3) General Ceiling Price Regulation. This term means the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued on January 26, 1951 by the Director of Price Stabilization as amended and supplemented.

(4) You or Person. This term includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association or any other organized group of persons, or legal successors or representatives of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivision or agencies.

(5) Records. This term includes but is not limited to books of account, sales lists, sales slips, orders, vouchers, contracts, receipts, invoices, bills of lading, and other papers and documents.

(6) Sell. This term includes sell, supply, dispose, barter, exchange, transfer or deliver.

(7) Imported. A commodity is imported which is transported from a place outside the continental limits of the United States to a place inside the continental limits of the United States, its territories and possessions. However, commodities shipped into the United States, its territories and possessions from outside thereof and entered in a foreign trade zone or under general order or in a bonded warehouse for transshipment and actually transshipped to a destination outside the continental limits of the United States shall not be deemed to be "imported".

(8) Delivered. A commodity shall be deemed to have been delivered during a specified period if during that period it was received by the purchaser or his agent or by any carrier, including a carrier owned or controlled by the seller, for shipment to the purchaser.

(9) Processing. This term means the sorting, grading, cleaning, repacking, assembling, or otherwise manipulating of a commodity but not to the extent that there results therefrom a new and different article having a distinctive character.

SEC. 19. Appendix. The appendix to this regulation entitled "Appendix A" and listing the commodities excluded from the application of this regulation, is incorporated herein and made a part hereof.

Effective date: This regulation shall become effective on May 9, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

APPENDIX A

TO CEILING PRICE REGULATION NO. 31

1. The important strategic commodities that are today excepted from this regulation are as follows:

	Paragraph
Abaca	1001
Aluminum—
Metal, ore, scrap, foil, alloys	207, 374, 382
Antimony—
Metal (regulues) ore, concentrates, needle	376, 1608
Arsenic, metallic	379
Asbestos Fibers that conform to standard commercial Grade B–1, Grade B–3, Grade D–3, or Grade 3/DM–1 Transvaal Amosite. Also those grades of Rhodesian Chrysotile suitable for spinning that conform to commercial standard Grade C & G–1 or Grade C & G–2	1616
Bauxite	6, 207
Beryl	17, 19
Bismuth	22, 377
Bristles, Hog	1507, 1637
Brass scrap	1634
Burlap	1008
Cadmium	378
Celestite	1776
Chrome—
Ore, salts, metal and alloys	5, 301, 302 305, 1647
Cobalt—
Metal, ore, compounds and salts	29, 1652
Columbite	1719
Copper—metal, concentrates, blister, compounds, and salts	5, 76, 302 367, 1657, 1658, 1659, 381
Corundum and emery	1514, 1672
Ferro-alloys	802
Flax	1001
Fluorspar	207
Graphite or plumbage	213
Hemp (not including crin vegetal)	1001, 1002, 1004, 1005
Henequen	1005
Iron ore	1700
Iodine, radioactive	1749
Jute	1003
Kyanite, crude and calcined	1719
Lead—metal, ores, concentrates, compounds and alloys	46, 391, 392
Magnesite	201, 204
Magnesium	373
Manganese—ores, concentrates, metal	214, 302
Mercury (including compound mixtures and salts thereof)	386
Mica	208
Molybdenum—metal, ore, concentrates	301, 302, 305, 316
Monazite sand	1721
Naval stores	90
Nickel—ores, concentrates, metal, alloys	302, 380, 389, 1734
Opium and derivatives	59
Platinum	1734, 1744
Quartz crystals	1636
Quinine sulphate, all alkaloids and salts of alkaloids derived from cinchona bark	1748
Radium, salts and radioactive substitutes	1749
Shellac	1707
Spiegeleisen	301, 302
Talc, steatite	209
Tallow	701
Thorium—metal, ores, alloys, nitrate, oxides and other salts	87, 302, 1721
Titanium—metal, ore, compound and mixtures	89, 302, 1719
Tungsten—metal, ore, concentrates, powder, alloys and compounds	302
Uranium—ores, metal, alloys, oxides, salts and compounds	302, 1719, 1792
Vanadium—metal, ore, alloys, compounds, mixtures and salts	91, 302, 1719
Zaffer	1814
Zinc—metal, ore, concentrates, scrap	393, 394

2. Important commodities that are highly essential to the basic cost of living that are today excepted from this regulation are as follows:

	Paragraph
Butter and substitutes	709
Cocoa—specifically covered by Supplemental Regulation No. 3 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.
Coffee—specifically covered by Supplemental Regulation No. 3 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.
Eggs	713
Hides and skins—
Calf	1530 (a)
Cattle	1530 (a)
Buffalo	1530 (a)
Cabretta	1765
Deer	1765
Goat	1765
Horse	1765
Kangaroo	1765
Kid	1765
Kipskins	1530 (a)
Lamb, including cooled and shearlings	1765
Sheep	1765
Leather—including tanned and finished, semi-tanned or rough tanned or otherwise partly finished	1530 (b), 1530 (d)
Leather, made from goat or sheep skins, raw, semi-tanned, rough-tanned or pickled	1530 (c)
Lumber, including logs	401, 402, 404, 1803
Meats, fresh, chilled or frozen	701, 702, 703, 704
Milk—fresh or sour, whole or skimmed, condensed, evaporated, dried, malted	707, 708
Molasses and sugar syrup	502
Tea	1783 (b)
Wood pulp	1716
Wool—and animal hairs (not including carpet wool)	1101, 1102, 1105, 1106
Woven fabrics, containing 25 percent or more of woolen fabric by weight	1108, 1109 (a)

3. Important commodities that are excepted from this regulation because they are covered by a United States Government purchase program today include the following:

	Paragraph
Rubber, crude, latex and synthetic	1558, 1697
Tin—metal, ore, concentrates, powder, scrap alloys	88, 382, 392, 1785, 1786

NOTE: The paragraphs referred to and as shown above opposite each category or commodity are the pertinent paragraphs from the current U. S. Tariff Schedule as published by the U. S. Tariff Commission. The purpose of specifying these paragraph numbers is to fully describe the item, and the description given in the Tariff Schedule is the governing factor per item, to the extent such paragraph applies to the item as stated in the list.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 32]

CPR 32—CRUDE PETROLEUM

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 32 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

When the General Ceiling Price Regulation was issued on January 26, 1951, it was realized that a single, comprehensive regulation could hardly cope with the multitude of prices and the diverse practices of many sellers and industry. It was, therefore, the express intent of the Director of Price Stabilization to replace the General Ceiling Price Regulation as rapidly as possible with specific price regulations tailored to meet the needs of different industries. Essentially, this regulation provides for the establishment of ceiling prices for all sales and deliveries of crude petroleum by producers, sellers, refiners, or by any other person.

The regulation establishes the ceiling price at the receiving tank for crude petroleum from any given pool as the posted purchase price on January 25, 1951, for such pool, or where there was for any pool more than one posted purchase price then the ceiling price is the highest of the posted purchase prices. Use of the posted purchase price on this date to determine ceiling prices is believed equitable, and in conformity with the customary pricing practices of this segment of the petroleum industry. A provision is included which requires every purchaser of crude petroleum to file a report thirty days after the issuance of this regulation with the Director of Price Stabilization listing the purchase prices he posted or paid for crude petroleum purchased from each pool.

Where no posted purchase price existed on January 25, 1951, alternative methods of determining ceiling prices are provided. Special provision is made for certain contract sales in excess of the posted purchase price, provided the contract was made prior to December 9, 1950, and was in effect on January 25, 1951. The ceiling price so established is applicable only to the production covered by the contract. The reason that December 9, 1950, was selected as the initial date is that it marked the start of the voluntary freeze on crude petroleum prices requested of the refiners by the Economic Stabilization Agency.

Prior to the formulation of this regulation the Director of Price Stabilization consulted with a large number of persons representing a substantial part of the industry and the regulation has been reviewed by the National Petroleum Advisory Committee and the Petroleum Administration for Defense.

FINDINGS OF THE DIRECTOR OF PRICE STABILIZATION

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization the ceiling prices established by this regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; to relevant factors of general applicability.

SCOPE OF REGULATION

SECTION 1. Applicability of regulation. (a) This regulation establishes ceiling prices for all sales and deliveries of crude petroleum by producers, sellers, refiners, or by any other person except:

(1) When sold to a processor as gas enrichment oil;

(2) When sold to a consumer for a purpose other than the production of more than one petroleum fraction; or

(3) When sold to a tank wagon reseller by sellers, other than crude oil operators or royalty owners, for resale to a consumer for a purpose other than the production of more than one petroleum fraction therefrom.

(4) This regulation shall in all cases be applicable to sales of crude petroleum to a refiner or to a person using such crude petroleum in oil and gas field operations, notwithstanding that otherwise subparagraphs 1, 2 and 3 of this paragraph would provide an exception.

(5) Sales between corporations when one is a wholly owned subsidiary of the other, or when both are wholly owned subsidiaries of a third corporation, and sales between such other affiliated or controlled corporations as are especially excepted by order in writing of the Director of Price Stabilization or his duly authorized representative.

(6) Exchanges of crude petroleum between refiners or other petroleum sellers, providing such exchanges conform to customary practices of the industry during the base period. The Office of Price Stabilization will not grant any increases in the ceiling prices of crude oil or refined petroleum products where the requested revision in price is due to the price at which crude oil has been exchanged.

(b) Transactions excepted from the coverage of this regulation are also exempt from the provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. However, certain products and transactions excepted from this regulation are covered by Ceiling Price Regulation No. 17, Gasolines, Naphthas, Fuel Oils and Liquefied Petroleum Gases.

(c) The provisions of this regulation are applicable to the United States, its territories and possessions and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Exports. The ceiling price at which a person may export crude petroleum shall be determined by this regulation unless an export regulation shall be issued by this office, in which case ceiling prices for these sales shall be covered by such export regulation.

SEC. 3. Imports. [Reserved]

SEC. 4. Transfers of business or stock in trade. If the business, assets or stock in trade of any seller or any person are sold or otherwise transferred after January 25, 1951, the ceiling prices of the transferee shall be the same as those to which his tranferor would have been subject if no such transfer had taken place, and his obligation to keep records and make reports shall be the same. The transferor shall either preserve and make available, or turn over to the transferee records of all transactions prior to the transfer which are necessary to enable the transferee to comply with the records and reports provisions of this regulation and amendments thereto.

SEC. 5. Adjustable pricing. Any person may agree to buy or sell at a price which can be increased up to the maximum price in effect at the time of delivery. Where a petition for adjustment or amendment is pending the buyer and seller may agree that prices for deliveries made during the pendency of the petition shall be determined in accordance with the disposition of the petition.

SEC. 6. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of any provision of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation No. 1.

SEC. 7. Applications for adjustment—(a) Local shortages. The Office of Price Stabilization may adjust by order any ceiling price established under this regulation for a seller or group of sellers or for a general area when it appears:

(1) That there exists or threatens to exist in a particular locality a shortage in the supply of crude petroleum which aids directly in the present defense program or is essential to a standard of living consistent with the maintenance of the defense program; and

(2) That such local shortage will be substantially reduced or eliminated by adjusting the ceiling prices of such seller and of like sellers for such products; and

(3) That such adjustment will not create or tend to create a shortage, or a need for increase in prices, in another locality, and will effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

(b) Filing of Applications. Application for adjustment for local shortage shall be filed with the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C.

SEC. 8. Price revisions incident to orders establishing specific prices. Notwithstanding the provisions of this regulation, the Director of Price Stabilization may by written order provide specific ceiling prices to replace ceilings established by this regulation.

SEC. 9. Reporting and record-keeping requirements.—(a) Reporting. Thirty days after the issuance of this regulation, every purchaser of crude petroleum shall file with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a report listing the following information for each pool:

(1) Posted purchase prices in effect on January 25, 1951, and date said prices first became effective.

(2) Prices paid for purchases during the period December 9, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive, at other than the purchaser's "posted purchase prices." This shall include:

(i) Prices paid for purchases where the purchaser did not post purchase prices for the production involved.

(ii) Prices paid for purchases in excess of purchaser's "posted purchase price." In this connection the information filed shall specify the production involved and if purchased under a contract the date of execution of such contract and the period of such contract.

(b) Records. (1) Each producer and purchaser of crude petroleum shall preserve and keep available for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization all records necessary to substantiate ceiling prices established under this regulation.

(2) Compliance with these record keeping provisions shall be deemed compliance with the record keeping requirements of the General Ceiling Price Regulation during the period when crude oil was covered by that regulation.

SEC. 10. Prohibitions against selling or delivering crude petroleum at prices above the ceiling. After the date of this order, regardless of any contract or other obligation, no person shall sell or deliver and no person shall buy or receive in the regular course of trade or business any crude petroleum at a price higher than the ceiling price established by this regulation.

SEC. 11. Evasion. The ceiling prices established by this regulation shall not be evaded whether by direct or indirect methods in connection with the purchase, sale, delivery or transfer of crude petroleum alone or in conjunction with any other materials, or by way of any commission, service, transportation, or other charge, or discount, premium or other privilege, or by tie-in-agreement or other trade understanding, or by a change in the quality of the product, or otherwise.

SEC. 12. Enforcement. Any person who violates any provision of this regulation is subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for damage provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 13. Definitions. When used in this regulation the term:

(a) "Person" includes any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing, and the United States or any other government or their political subdivisions or agencies.

(b) "Crude petroleum" is considered to be crude petroleum for the purpose of this regulation until put through a bona fide refinery process which results in the production of more than one petroleum fraction. Crude petroleum includes distillates and condensates from a well which moves as crude petroleum.

(c) "Posted purchase price" means a price schedule posted by a purchaser who, during the period December 9, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive actually purchased crude petroleum produced from any pool to which the posted price was applicable.

(d) "Pool" means any underground accumulation of crude petroleum or associated hydrocarbon substances constituting a single and separate reservoir or source of supply within a field, area, or horizon whether or not presently discovered or developed.

(e) "Producer" means an operator of an oil lease or royalty owner or any other seller of crude petroleum.

(f) "Receiving tank" means the tank of the producer of crude petroleum, sometimes called stock tank or shipping tank, in which the oil from one or more wells is first gauged or measured for sale, delivery or storage.

(g) "Contract" means an agreement, the existence of which is established by written evidence.

CEILING PRICES

SEC. 14. Posted purchase price. The ceiling price at the receiving tank for crude petroleum from any given pool shall be the posted purchase price as of January 25, 1951, for such pool.

SEC. 15. Two or more posted purchase prices. Where there was for any pool more than one posted purchase price, the ceiling price at the receiving tank for crude petroleum from such pool shall be the highest of the posted purchase prices.

SEC. 16. Contract in excess of posted purchase price. Where a contract was in effect on January 25, 1951, and was made prior to December 9, 1950, for the purchase of crude petroleum at the receiving tank at a price in excess of the highest posted purchase price for the given pool and deliveries were made prior to January 25, 1951, such contracts may be carried out in accordance with the terms of the contract, notwithstanding any other provision of this regulation. On termination of the contract it may be extended by the buyer and seller on the same terms, and payments made by the buyer and received by the seller under such circumstances shall not be deemed in excess of ceiling prices notwithstanding any other provisions of this regulation.

SEC. 17. Where no posted purchase price. Where there was no posted purchase price for a pool but sales of crude petroleum were made by a producer from the pool, the ceiling price at the receiving tank shall be the highest price paid during the period December 9, 1950, to January 25, 1951, inclusive, at any receiving tank of that producer in the same pool for crude petroleum of the same quality. If, however, this price was paid pursuant to a contract which did not reflect current market conditions on January 25, 1951, the ceiling price shall be determined by the next pricing section (18).

SEC. 18. Where no ceiling price. (a) If the ceiling price for any sale of crude petroleum at the receiving tank cannot be determined under sections 14 through 17 of this regulation, the seller or purchaser shall set a tentative price for crude petroleum at the particular receiving tank or tanks which shall be in line with the ceiling prices of comparable crude patroleum in the same general area. Within 15 days after setting such tentative price the seller or purchaser shall file with the Petroleum Branch of the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a written request for approval of such tentative price. The person filing such request shall file in connection therewith a statement setting forth:

(1) Such tentative price.

(2) An explanation as to why it is impossible to determine his ceiling price under sections 14, 15, 16, or 17 of this regulation.

(3) A description of the available transportation facilities, and a description of the gravity, characteristics and source of the crude petroleum in question.

(b) Such tentative price shall be the ceiling price for crude petroleum produced from the same pool until a different ceiling price is set in writing by the Director of Price Stabilization. If a seller and purchaser have agreed upon a price for the sale of crude petroleum subject to the approval of the Director of Price Stabilization, a ceiling price determined in accordance with this Section 18 shall be effective retroactively to the effective date of this regulation, or the date of the agreement, whichever is later.

SEC. 19. Sales at points other than receiving tank. The ceiling price for any seller or purchaser of crude petroleum sold at a point other than the receiving tank shall be at no greater differential at such point over the ceiling price for such crude petroleum at the receiving tank than the highest differential that existed on January 25, 1951, between the price at the receiving tank and the price at such point. If, however, a contract in effect on January 25, 1951 established a differential for crude petroleum sold at a point other than the receiving tank which did not reflect current market conditions on or about January 25, 1951, the differential shall be subject to revision by order of the Director of Price Stabilization so that it will reflect current market conditions on or about January 25, 1951.

SEC. 20. Where no differential at points other than receiving tanks. (a) Where a ceiling price at a point other than at the receiving tank cannot be determined under section 19 of this regulation, the seller or purchaser shall establish a tentative differential based on differences in quality and transportation costs for a sale of crude petroleum at such point. Within 15 days after setting such tentative differential the seller shall file with the Director of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., a written request for approval for such tentative differential accompanied by a statement setting forth:

(1) Such tentative differential.

(2) An explanation as to why it is impossible to determine his ceiling prices at the particular point under section 19 of this regulation.

(3) The location of the source of the crude petroleum in question and of the particular delivery point, and

(4) An itemized statement of the costs involved in transporting the crude petroleum from the receiving tank to the particular delivery point and of any other items comprising the tentative differential.

(b) Such tentative differential shall be the seller's maximum differential for the particular sale and for all subsequent sales of crude petroleum from the same receiving tank delivered at that point until a different maximum differential is set in writing by the Director of Price Stabilization. If a seller and purchaser have agreed upon a price for a sale of crude petroleum at a point other than at the receiving tank subject to the approval of the Director of Price Stabilization, a maximum differential determined in accordance with this section 20 shall be effective retroactively to January 25, 1951, or the date of the agreement, whichever is later.

INCREASES PERMITTED OR REDUCTIONS REQUIRED

SEC. 21. Taxes. There may be added to the applicable ceiling prices determined under other sections of this regulation an amount not in excess of any tax increase, or new tax effective after January 25, 1951, imposed upon or incident to the production, severance, gathering, sale, transportation, delivery, processing, or use of crude petroleum, except import duties.

Effective date: This Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective on May 12, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

Director of Price Stabilization.

[Distribution Regulation 2, Amendment 1]

DR 2—ALLOCATION RECORDS

CHANGE IN EFFECTIVE DATES

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.) Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 5 (16 F. R. 1273), this Amendment 1 to Distribution Regulation 2 (16 F. R. 3772) is hereby issued.

Preamble. Since the issuance of Distribution Regulation 2, the Office of Price Stabilization has been advised that there is not now available a sufficient number of graders to grade and grade mark beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton and mutton which has left slaughtering establishments prior to May 7.

This amendment therefore extends the time for compliance with the grading and grade marking requirements of section 5. The regulation has been amended so as to change the effective dates of the record keeping requirements accordingly.

This amendment is also designed to make clear that the limitation on non-official graders contained in section 5 (g) applies to owners or operators of commercial freezer or cooler plants who grade and grade mark carcasses for Class 3 slaughterers.

Amendatory provisions. Distribution Regulation 2 is amended in the following respects:

1. Section 3 (a) is amended so as to add thereto immediately prior to section 3 (b) the following paragraph:

This requirement shall be effective on May 14, 1951, except with respect to ungraded fabricated beef cuts and ungraded boneless beef cuts (as those cuts are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 24) prepared prior to May 7, 1951.

2. Section 3 (b) is amended so as to add thereto immediately prior to section 3 (c) the following paragraph:

This requirement shall be effective for each accounting period commencing on or after May 20, 1951.

3. Section 5 (a) is amended to read as follows:

(a) Requirement of grading. Each carcass and wholesale cut of beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton and mutton must be graded and grade marked in accordance with the requirements of this section and the grade mark must be preserved on each such carcass and wholesale cut. This requirement applies to each veal or calf carcass with skin on and, upon removal of the skin, to each veal or calf carcass and wholesale cut derived therefrom. For the purposes of this section, ribbing shall not constitute breaking.

On and after May 7, 1951, you may not, if you are a Class 1, Class 1A, Class 2 or Class 2A slaughterer, ship or deliver from one of your slaughtering establishments any carcass or wholesale cut of beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton or mutton, and you may not, if you are such a slaughterer, break any such carcass or wholesale cut located in one of your slaughtering establishments, unless each such carcass and wholesale cut has been graded and grade marked in accordance with the requirements of this section and unless the grade mark has been preserved on each such carcass and wholesale cut.

On and after May 12, 1951, you may not sell, offer for sale, ship or deliver and you may not, unless you are a resident operator of a farm or a livestock raiser who has slaughtered livestock for home consumption in accordance with section 6 of Distribution Regulation 1, break, and you may not in the course of trade or business buy or receive any carcass or wholesale cut of beef, veal, calf, lamb, yearling mutton or mutton unless each such carcass and wholesale cut has been graded and grade marked in accordance with the requirements of this section and unless the grade mark has been preserved on each such carcass and wholesale cut. This requirement shall not apply until May 31, 1951, to fabricated beef cuts or boneless beef cuts (as those cuts are defined in Ceiling Price Regulation 24) prepared prior to May 7, 1951.

In addition, you may not agree, offer, attempt or solicit another to do any act in violation of this section.

4. Section 5 (g) is amended by adding at the end thereof the following sentence: "These limitations also apply to the owner or operator of a commercial freezer or cooler plant if he performs grading and grade marking of carcasses which you delivered to him in accordance with section 5 (d)."

5. Section 8 is amended to add at the end thereof the following paragraph:

(p) "Slaughtering establishment" means each separate plant within the 48 States of the United States or the District of Columbia where livestock is slaughtered.

Effective date. This amendment shall be effective May 7, 1951.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

[GCPR, Interpretations 3-43]

INTERPRETATIONS UNDER GENERAL CEILING PRICE REGULATION

The following interpretations under the General Ceiling Price Regulation were issued through May 1, 1951.

GCPR, INT. 3—TYPICAL "SQUEEZE" SITUATIONS (SEC. 3)

(1) Seller issued a new price list of increased prices during the base period, but for one reason or another made it effective after January 25, 1951.

(2) Seller's costs had gone up, but for one reason or another he did not prior to January 26, raise his prices to reflect his increased costs.

(3) Seller, A, purchased a commodity from his supplier, X, early in the base period at $1 and resold it at $1.25. However, his supplier, X, made deliveries to other purchasers of the same class later in the base period at $1.25, which thus became supplier's ceiling price. Seller, therefore, now has to pay $1.25 for the commodity but his ceiling price for resale remains $1.25, the highest price at which he delivered the commodity during the base period.

In all such "squeeze" situations, involving sellers who are still subject to the GCPR and whose problem is not solved by Amendment 5, the answer is that the seller's ceiling price is determined under section 3 as the highest price at which the commodity was delivered during the base period to a purchaser of the same class, regardless of any resulting hardship.

GCPR, INT. 4—DETERMINATION OF CEILING PRICE (SECS. 3-7)

In determining ceiling price under GCPR, section 3 must be used if applicable if not, then sec. 4 or 5; if these sections do not apply, then section 6; and if none of those sections are applicable seller must apply for establishment of a ceiling price under section 7. Each section must be exhausted in order, before a later section can be used.

GCPR, INT. 5 -DETERMINATION OF CEILING PRICE (SECS. 3-6)

Ceiling prices under GCPR must be determined in strict compliance with sections 3, 4, 5 or 6, whichever is applicable. Catalog prices become ceiling price only where ceiling price as properly determined under applicable GCPR section happens to be same price which appears in catalog.

GCPR, INT. 6—SALES OUTSIDE UNITED STATES (SEC. 2)

Commodities which while en route from a foreign seller to a foreign purchaser are stored in a bonded warehouse without any customs entry for United States consumption are not considered as being within the continental limits of the United States and are, therefore, not subject to the GCPR, since under section 2 (a) the regulation is applicable only to the United States, its Territories and possessions and the District of Columbia.

GCPR, INT. 7—SALES NOT IN REGULAR COURSE OF BUSINESS (SEC. 2)

The prohibition in section 2 (c) against selling any commodity or service at a price exceeding the ceiling price established under the GCPR applies to all sales regardless of whether the sale is in the regular course of business or trade. The limiting phrase "in the regular course of business or trade" applies only to purchasers.

GCPR, INT. 8—CONTRACT PRICE (SEC. 3)

Under section 3, GCPR, the ceiling price for sale of a commodity is the highest price at which it was delivered during the base period, regardless of contract price. Where deliveries of the commodity were actually made during the base period at a low price, a higher contract price on subsequent sales may not be used as the ceiling price unless deliveries were actually made at such price.

GCPR, INT. 9—CONTRACT PRICE (SEC. 3)

Where deliveries were made under a contract containing an escalator clause, which permitted increases in price under stated conditions, the ceiling price of a seller under section 3, GCPR, remains the highest price at which he actually made deliveries during the base period, regardless of such escalator clause.

GCPR, INT. 10—OFFER FOR BASE PERIOD DELIVERY (SEC. 3)

Where a commodity was not delivered during the base period, a price list in effect during such period does not establish a ceiling price under section 3, if the seller could not possibly have made, and did not contemplate or intend to make deliveries pursuant to the price list before the expiration of the base period.

GCPR, INT. 11—CUSTOMARY PRICING METHODS (SEC. 3)

Under section 3 of the GCPR, except insofar as amended by Amendment 5, the ceiling price for the sale of any commodity is the highest price at which it was actually delivered during the base period, regardless of the method which the seller employed to arrive at such price. Ceiling prices under section 3 cannot be determined by applying the same pricing method which the seller used in the base period, or by adding to his present costs the same markup which he enjoyed during the base period. If the seller did not deliver the same commodity during the base period or offer it for base period delivery, and if he cannot determine his ceiling price under sections 4, 5, or 6, he must apply for the establishment of a ceiling price under section 7. He cannot, under such circumstances, establish his ceiling price by simply adhering to his customary pricing methods.

GCPR, INT. 12—FAIR TRADED ITEMS (SEC. 3)

Where a seller's ceiling prices, as determined under section 3, GCPR, are in conflict with its minimum prices as set forth in a fair traded contract under a state fair trade law, the General Ceiling Price Regulation controls. Under section 402 (d) (1) of Defense Production Act of 1950 and section 2 (c) GCPR, ceiling price regulations control, regardless of any contract or other obligation. However, the OPS has provided for observance of fair trade items in cases governed by CPR 7, under the conditions set forth in section 43 of that regulation.

NOTE: Since the issuance of this interpretation, SR 19 to the GCPR was issued, effective April 21, 1951. SR 19 provides for ceiling prices of wholesalers and retailers to be adjusted in certain situations to minimum prices established under state Fair Trade Acts.

GCPR, INT. 13—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

Where a seller notified his purchasers during the base period that his prices were being increased, but where the customers were not provided with information from which the exact prices in dollars and cents were ascertainable at the time the commodity was delivered or prior to the end of the base period, no delivery was made at an increased price during the base period within the meaning of section 3.

GCPR, INT. 14—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

Where deliveries of a commodity are made during the base period with the understanding that the price is to be increased, but with the actual price being left to subsequent negotiation between the seller and the purchaser, no delivery has been made at a higher price within the meaning of section 3, GCPR.

GCPR, INT. 15—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

A wholesaler or manufacturer during the base period sold a commodity at a "list" price less certain "promotional" discounts, with all sales of the commodity being made at the lower price and discounts being allowed regardless of the performance of any services by the purchaser to justify the discount. Such discounts, even though designated as "promotional", actually constitute a reduction in price and the lower price is the ceiling price under section 3.

GCPR, INT. 16—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

Where selling price of a commodity was determined during base period under a formula such as cost plus a fixed fee or percentage, or by a percentage of proceeds from resale, the ceiling price of the same commodity under section 3 GCPR is still the highest price at which the base period delivery was made, regardless of the manner in which the base period price was arrived at or computed.

GCPR, INT. 17—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

Where seller raised prices and delivered and invoiced at new high prices on or after December 19th, but prior to receiving payment seller notified such customers that price increases were cancelled and reinvoiced them at old low prices, there was no effective delivery at higher price and that price does not become his ceiling price.

GCPR, INT. 18—DELIVERED PRICE (SEC. 3)

The price paid after January 25th on a delivery made during the base period may establish a ceiling price if such price was agreed upon at time of delivery.

GCPR, INT. 19—SAME COMMODITY (SEC. 3)

In determining whether two commodities are the same commodity for the purpose of establishing a ceiling price under section 3, the following tests should be applied:

(a) Two commodities will be considered the "same" where there is a physical identity of the two items as to source, size, weight, physical outline, color, etc., so that any one examining them objectively and with a view to their source would have no doubt that they were identical.

(b) Where two commodities vary slightly in minute physical details and therefore do not meet the test set forth in paragraph (a) above, they may nevertheless, depending largely upon trade practice and customer acceptance, be considered the "same" for purposes of pricing under section 3 if all four of the following conditions are satisfied:

(1) All basic elements of the two commodities must be identical.

(2) Both commodities must be made from the same materials.

(3) Both commodities must be regarded as identical by the trade.

(4) In actual practice both commodities, when sold by the same seller, must have been invariably sold at the same price under the same conditions.

GCPR, INT. 20—CURRENT UNIT DIRECT COST (SEC. 4)

Under section 4 "current unit direct cost" for both the new commodity being priced and the comparison commodity is defined as the "total unit direct labor and direct material cost" for each. By "total unit direct labor and material cost" is meant the present replacement cost for labor and material, and not the actual out-of-pocket cost incurred on the commodity already on hand in the manufacturer's inventory. This applies to both the comparison commodity and the new commodity being priced. The percentage markup for the comparison commodity is therefore not necessarily the normal markup enjoyed on such commodity during the base period.

GCPR, INT. 21—NET INVOICE COST (SEC. 5)

"Net invoice cost" is defined in section 22 as excluding separately stated freight charges. Therefore the term "net invoice cost," as used in section 5 (a), does not include such charges and they may not be added to the ceiling price of a new commodity as determined under section 5. Inasmuch as such freight charges are likewise omitted in determining net invoice cost of the comparison commodity, thereby increasing the percentage markup determined for such comparison commodity, the inclusion of such freight charges in the net invoice cost of the new commodity would operate to include them twice.

GCPR, INT. 22—CUSTOMARY DIFFERENTIALS (SEC. 9)

If the seller's customary practice was to give a discount to new customers, he must, under section 9, maintain such discount to all new buyers in the future. However, a new buyer who received such a discount in the base period, need not be given such a discount in the future when he ceases to be a "new customer".

GCPR, INT. 23—CUSTOMARY DIFFERENTIAL (SEC. 9)

Service station which during the base period followed its usual practice of providing free parking to customers who have their automobiles lubricated at the station may not subsequently discontinue this free parking service for such customers, since under section 9, GCPR, customary extras must be continued.

GCPR, INT. 24—IMPORTERS (SEC. 10 (b))

GCPR is not applicable to purchases or sales made entirely outside the jurisdiction of the United States, its territories and possessions. However, the resale of such commodities after they are imported into the United States is subject to the GCPR. The importer's ceiling price for any such commodity, as determined under section 3, may not be adjusted to reflect any increases in the price charged by his foreign supplier, except to the extent permitted under section 10 (c).

GCPR, INT. 25—IMPORTER'S ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASE IN LANDED COSTS (SEC. 10 (c))

Where an importer has adjusted his ceiling price under the limited adjustment provision of section 10 (c) (1), a seller purchasing from such importer cannot adjust his own ceiling price accordingly.

GCPR, INT. 26—IMPORTER'S ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASE IN LANDED COSTS (SEC. 10 (c))

In the case of importers reselling an imported commodity in substantially the same form, if they do not qualify for an adjustment under the limited provision of section 10 (c) (1) there is no other provision under which they may offset increases in their landed costs.

GCPR, INT. 27—IMPORTER'S ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASE IN LANDED COSTS (SEC. 10 (c))

Section 10 (c) (2) is only a reporting requirement for certain commodities as to which an adjustment is permitted under section 10 (c) (1). It does not in any way broaden the scope of section 10 (c) (1).

GCPR, INT. 28—IMPORTER'S ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASE IN LANDED COSTS (SEC. 10 (c))

Even where section 10 (c) (1) does permit adjustment to effect increases in landed costs, such increased price may be used only in resale of items imported under the pre-January 26 contract. After such contract deliveries are completed, commodities subsequently imported go back to unadjusted ceiling price.

GCPR, INT. 29—IMPORTER'S ADJUSTMENT FOR INCREASE IN LANDED COSTS (SEC. 10 (c))

Section 10 (c) (1), permitting adjustment to offset an increase in landed costs on commodity delivered under contract dated prior to January 26, applies only to commodity whose ceiling price is established under section 3.

GCPR, INT. 30—PARITY ADJUSTMENTS (SEC. 11)

Where a distributor resells in substantially the same form a commodity, the cost of which has been increased by the processor or manufacturer under section 11 (b), and if the cost to the distributor of a current purchase of such commodity exceeds the highest price he paid for it during the base period, such distributor may increase his ceiling price under the parity adjustment provision of section 11 (c). The adjustment taken may equal the dollars and cents difference per unit between the highest price paid by such distributor for a customary purchase during the base period and the cost to him of the most recent customary purchase.

GCPR, INT. 31—PARITY ADJUSTMENTS (SEC. 11)

Where the ceiling price of a processor or distributor has been increased under section 11 (b) or (c) by use of the parity adjustment, such recomputed ceiling price is not limited to the commodity processed from the higher cost raw material, but is also thereafter applicable to existing inventories.

GCPR, INT. 32—PARITY ADJUSTMENTS (SEC. 11)

Where the processing of one of the listed agricultural commodities results in a number of co-products, the processor may increase his ceiling price for each of the co-products under the parity adjustment provision of section 11 (b). However, the increase in the cost of the agricultural commodity must be allocated to each of the co-products in the same manner as the cost of such agricultural commodity was customarily allocated to such co-products.

GCPR, INT. 33—PARITY ADJUSTMENTS (SEC. 11)

Where the ceiling price of a processor or distributor has been increased by the parity adjustment under section 11 (b) or (c), the ceiling price thus adjusted need not be lowered if a lower price is subsequently paid for the listed agricultural commodity or the commodity processed therefrom.

GCPR, INT. 34—PARITY ADJUSTMENTS (SEC. 11)

Where a commodity being priced is the end product of an operation in which one of the listed agricultural commodities is used or employed, such end product is considered as "processed" from the agricultural commodity and therefore within the scope of the parity adjustment provision in section 11 (b), without regard to precise or technical definitions of the word "process". For example, where a petroleum company makes various grades of foundry core oil by mixing or blending varying quantities of linseed oil (which is processed from flaxseed) with other petroleum products, that is considered "processing" within the meaning of section 11 (b).

GCPR, INT. 35—REAL PROPERTY (SEC. 14 (a))

A lease of pasture land is a rental of real property and therefore exempt from control under section 402 (e) (i) of the Defense Production Act of 1950 and section 14 (a) of the GCPR, which exempt prices or rentals for real property.

GCPR, INT. 36—REAL PROPERTY (SEC. 14 (a))

Owner of realty, A, grants exclusive license to coal operator, B, to mine, dig and carry away coal from certain described property, in return for agreed royalties. Such royalties are not a price or rental for real property, but are considered as the price for the sale of a commodity. Accordingly, they are not exempt from control under section 402 (e) (i) of the Defense Production Act of 1950 and section 14 (a) of the GCPR.

GCPR, INT. 37—PROFESSIONAL SERVICES (SEC. 14 (b))

Services performed by beauty shops and barber shops are not considered "professional services" and are therefore not exempt under section 14 (b), GCPR.

GCPR, INT. 38—FROZEN FOODS (SEC. 14 (s))

Frozen fish and frozen foods are not "fresh" foods within meaning of section 14 (s) (7) and (8) of the GCPR, and are therefore not exempt.

GCPR, INT. 39—RAW AGRICULTURAL COMMODITIES (SEC. 14 (s) (1))

Pasteurized, homogenized bottled milk is not exempt under section 14 (s) (1), GCPR, as amended by Amendment 1, since such milk is not in its raw or natural state, in which it is customarily sold by producers generally.

GCPR, INT. 40—TIE-IN SALES (SEC. 18)

Where a wholesaler compels a retailer to purchase a commodity he does not want in order to obtain a commodity he desires, such a practice falls within the purview of section 18, GCPR, and is prohibited, since the effect of such practice is to force the retailer to do something in addition to paying the ceiling price in order to obtain the commodity he wants.

GCPR, INT. 41—SELLER (SEC. 22)

Under the definition of "seller" in section 22 of the GCPR, where a seller makes sales through branch outlets or establishments, each such separate place of business is deemed to be a separate seller and must determine its own ceiling prices, regardless of whether such establishment is a wholesaler or a retailer, and regardless of whether or not the central office gave any discretion to such branch outlet in the fixing of prices. The original GCPR determines this result for retailers; Amendment 2 for other sellers. The only exception to this is the provision of section 12 as to retail sellers under common control.

GCPR, INT. 42—SELLER (SEC. 22)

A manufacturer delivered a certain commodity to ten different industrial users during the base period at different prices. The variation in price resulted from the fact that long-term contracts were involved, with the contract price being based upon the market situation at the time each contract was negotiated. If all such contracts had been negotiated on the same date, each of the purchasers would have received the same price, subject to the normal differentials based on the terms of sale. Under such circumstances, such purchasers are all considered as purchasers of the same class, as defined in section 22.

GCPR, INT. 43—SELLER (SEC. 22)

Where a wholesaler established different prices to retailers in different zones, on the basis of location, his retail customers in each zone are considered a different class of purchaser, since "class of purchaser" is defined in section 22, GCPR, as referring to the practice adopted by a seller in setting different prices for sales to purchasers located in different areas.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Supplementary Regulation 9, Revision 1]

GCPR, SR 9, REV. 1—EXEMPTION OF SALES AND DELIVERIES OF EXPORTED COMMODITIES UNDER EXISTING CONTRACTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Supplementary Regulation 9, Revision 1 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This Supplementary Regulation 9, Revision 1, regarding contracts for export sales entered into prior to January 26, 1951, extends to all exporters the authority to fulfill such contracts originally granted only to merchant exporters by the original Supplementary Regulation 9. There are a number of considerations which indicate why contracts for export sales should be permitted to be fulfilled at the contract price. In the case of the merchant exporter there is an extra time lag between contract date and delivery in the case of exports, which does not obtain for purely domestic transactions due to the special packaging, shipping arrangements, license clearances, and other requirements. In addition, merchant exporters customarily operate at a smaller margin over invoice costs than do domestic distributors and wholesalers, thus, in many cases, merchant exporters find that the ceiling prices of their suppliers are higher than their own ceilings. Furthermore, merchant exporters, in some instances, have been required to make part payments for export sales, particularly with respect to special purpose equipment for use abroad and not readily salable here.

With respect to producer exporters, similar problems are involved. The producer exporter has, in many cases, committed himself to the manufacture or production of special commodities for export sale, the market for which is peculiar to one or several foreign countries. Unless the producer exporter is also allowed to fulfill contracts entered into prior to January 26, 1951, to the performance of which he is firmly committed, he, too, may well suffer substantial hardship. There are a number of considerations applying equally to merchant exporters and producer exporters which in a larger sense make desirable the honoring of export contracts. If exporters decline to ship on contracts because of the lower price required by the ceiling regulation, the purchasers abroad unfamiliar with the price impact of the regulations might believe there was an effort to avoid any supply of the article, all to the detriment of the Nation's foreign trade and reputation for honoring international contracts, and perhaps to foreign relations in a larger sense. Delay in delivery on existing contracts for export sales pending issuance of tailored regulations, may jeopardize the transactions due to the difficulties of renewing letters of credit and governmental licenses. Cancellation of export contracts would have an unfortunate impact, contrary to the over-all national interests.

REGULATORY PROVISIONS

Sec.
1. Applicability of revised supplementary regulation.
2. Execution of contract.
3. Commodities covered.
4. Preservation of records.
5. GCPR governs all other transactions.
6. Definitions.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 6 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E.O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Applicability of revised supplementary regulation. This revised supplementary regulation grants authority to exporters to fulfill at the contract price those written contracts for the export sale of commodities remaining under the General Ceiling Price Regulation and not covered by specific "tailored regulations", which contracts (a) were entered into prior to January 26, 1951, or (b) entered into on or before February 2, 1951, and based on firm written offers made by such exporters prior to January 26, 1951.

SEC. 2. Execution of contract. If a written contract for an export sale (including exchange of written or cabled offers and acceptance) was entered into by a merchant exporter having an office or place of business in the United States, or by a producer exporter on or before January 26, 1951, or on or before February 2, 1951, but pursuant to a firm written offer for an export sale made by such merchant exporter or producer exporter on or before January 26, 1951, and such contract provides for delivery to a foreign buyer, such delivery may be made pursuant thereto at the contract price, provided that in the case of the merchant exporter the price paid by him in acquiring the commodity does not exceed the applicable ceiling price of his supplier, and provided that in the case of a producer exporter the price paid by him for the components of the exported product shall not exceed the ceiling price applicable to such components.

SEC. 3. Commodities covered. This revised supplementary regulation is limited in application to contracts for export sales of those commodities which remain under the General Ceiling Price Regulation and which are not otherwise covered by tailored regulations designed for particular industries.

SEC. 4. Preservation of records. All exporters making deliveries in accordance with this revised supplementary regulation shall preserve for examination by the Office of Price Stabilization, all documents and records which will substantiate that each such contract complied fully with the requirements as set forth in sections 2 and 3 of this regulation.

SEC. 5. GCPR governs all other transactions. Deliveries pursuant to this revised supplementary regulation shall not establish a ceiling price for any commodity or for any exporter, nor relieve any exporter from compliance with the General Ceiling Price Regulation or with any other regulation except as specifically set forth herein.

SEC. 6. Definitions. When used in this regulation, the term:

(a) "Merchant exporter" means any person, firm, corporation or other legal entity which purchases a commodity or commodities from a supplier, takes title to same and resells to a foreign buyer.

(b) "Producer exporter" means a manufacturer or prime producer of the commodity to be exported, or a wholly owned subsidiary corporation of the manufacturer or prime producer, which sells or delivers to a foreign buyer.

(c) "Export sale" is a sale to a person located outside the continental United States, its territories or possessions, by a seller who invoices it and who directly or through the seller's or the buyer's agent effects delivery to a carrier for transportation from the continental United States, its territories or possessions, to a point outside thereof, regardless of whether the invoicing is done within or outside the continental United States, its territories or possessions, by the seller or his agent.

(d) "Exporter" means merchant exporter and/or producer exporter.

(e) "Firm offer" means an offer which states price and quantity and the acceptance of which is not subject to confirmation by the offeror before he becomes bound.

All definitions used in the General Ceiling Price Regulation issued by the Director on January 26, 1951, which are pertinent to this revised supplementary regulation, are incorporated in this revised supplementary regulation by this reference, except those which are more particularly defined and used herein.

Effective date: This revised supplementary regulation to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is effective May 12, 1951.

NOTE: The record keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

[General Ceiling Price Regulation, Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 15]

GCPR, SR 15—EXCEPTIONS FOR CERTAIN SERVICES

SERVICES IN CONNECTION WITH FRESH FRUITS, VEGETABLES, BERRIES AND TREE NUTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this amendment to Supplementary Regulation 15 (16 F. R. 2908), is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 15 suspends control over the rates, charges and compensation for services performed in connection with harvesting, preparing for market and marketing of fresh fruits, vegetables, berries and tree nuts pending formulation of regulations applicable to all phases of marketing these commodities.

These commodities in general are selling below effective legal minimum prices. Fresh fruits, vegetables, berries and tree nuts were exempted from price control under the provision of section 14 (s) (7) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation. However, services performed on a fee or compensation basis in harvesting, packing and marketing of these commodities are subject to price control under the provisions of section 3 of that regulation. The same services when performed by the owner or by any person who takes title to these fresh commodities are not subject to price control as they are merely a part of the operations of marketing the commodities which are exempt from price control. This situation, if allowed to continue, threatens to disrupt the normal distribution of these commodities and to enhance marketing costs. Inequities have already resulted. There are also administrative problems hereinafter mentioned. These reasons induce the Director of Stabilization to believe that these services should be suspended from control until such time as it is found feasible to impose ceiling prices on the commodities themselves. At that time, consideration will be given to fixing ceiling prices for the services which are being suspended from price control at this time.

Due to increases in cost of labor and in packing and packaging materials since the previous marketing season, custom packers are put at a competitive disadvantage with cooperative packing and marketing organizations and with commercial packers who purchase these commodities for packing. Custom packers compete in the same areas with packers and handlers who are not now subject to price control for the reason that services are considered a cost of operation rather than a charge, inasmuch as ownership of the commodities does not pass from the producer or grower. Faced with these increases in cost of operation, the custom or commission operator, both at the shipping point and at the terminal market, is threatened with such an unprofitable position that he will be disinclined to render services in packing, packaging and preparing these commodities for market on a fee basis. Furthermore, he will be able to decline this method of operation in favor of buying the grower's products for his own account. In this way many growers would be left with no packing and marketing facilities, and would be forced to sell their products to the operator performing the services. Thus a major change in their customary manner of doing business would result.

Many marketing agencies, at all stages of the marketing process, conduct part of their business on a fee basis for the account of growers or other dealers; in the same enterprise, part of the business is done for the marketing agency's own account and with products to which it has acquired title. The latter part of the agency's business is now exempted from price control; the former part remains controlled. The same disruption of normal trade patterns and the same adverse impact upon growers are implicit in this situation. Handlers normally operating partly for their own account and partly for the account of growers will almost certainly abandon the latter form of operation. Growers will thus be denied a traditional method of marketing established over many decades. Maintenance of alternative and competing channels of marketing in these industries has always served as protection to growers and as an influence restraining increases in marketing costs.

The fact that most of the fresh fruits, vegetables and berries—which will be moving into marketing channels within the next few weeks—were not being marketed during the December 19, 1950, to January 25, 1951, base period set by the GCPR presents many administrative problems. Most agencies performing such customs services would have to resort to the provisions of section 7 to determine their ceilings. A heavy burden would thus be put upon the Office of Price Stabilization in establishing individual ceilings pursuant to this provision of the regulation.

In summary, this suspension of regulation over rates for custom or commission marketing services is temporary. General regulations governing all fresh fruits and vegetables and tree nuts cannot be promulgated prior to commencement of the 1951 shipping season. In the meantime, maintenance of regulation over custom and commission charges with no regulation over costs for the same services performed by commercial operators acquiring title would divert marketing to the latter type of enterprise. Traditional channels of sale would be closed. Competition would be lessened. The growers' right to market on their own account would be threatened. Since diversion is so easy, marketing costs in uncontrolled channels would probably rise as competition decreased. Secondly, the GCPR base period is entirely inappropriate for these operations. To the extent that business was not shifted from traditional custom and commission channels, individual applications for ceiling price determination would be necesitated. Thirdly, there is an inherent invitation to evasion where one or a few channels are controlled and others remain free of any restriction.

The services which are suspended from price control by this amendment include harvesting; packing and prepackaging (including such services as washing, trimming, grading, sizing, and so forth); car and truck pre-cooling and top icing (excepting services performed under general transportation tariff rates); and buying and selling services (performed generally for growers' accounts by country and carlot shippers, country and terminal brokers, auction sales companies and commission merchants).

Persons who perform any of the services covered by this amendment are, however, required to keep the records provided for by section 16 (b) of the GCPR. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, this suspension from price control will effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

AMENDATORY PROVISION

Section 2 (a) of Supplementary Regulation 15 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation is hereby amended by adding subparagraph (3), as follows:

(3) Services in connection with fresh fruits, vegetables, berries and tree nuts. The provisions of the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall not apply to rates, fees, and charges for services performed in connection with harvesting; car and truck pre-cooling and top-icing; packing and pre-packaging; and buying and selling of fresh fruits, vegetables, berries and tree nuts pending formulation of regulations applicable generally to fresh fruits, vegetables, berries and tree nuts, but in no event to exceed a period of six (6) months from the effective date of this amendment: Provided however, That during the period of this suspension, persons performing these services shall maintain the current records required to be maintained by section 16 (b) of the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.)

Effective date. This Amendment 2 to Supplementary Regulation 15 to the General Ceiling Price Regulation shall become effective May 4, 1951.

Chapter VI—National Production Authority, Department of Commerce

[NPA Order M-4, as Amended May 3, 1951]

M-4—CONSTRUCTION

This order as amended is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense, and is issued pursuant to authority granted by section 101 of the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this order, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-4 as amended April 16, 1951, as follows: It deletes the second sentence of section 1; it substitutes a new paragraph (c) to section 3; it deletes paragraph (h) of section 3 and reletters the following paragraphs of section 3 accordingly; it substitutes a new paragraph (b) of section 4; it substitutes new paragraphs (b), (c), and (e) of section 5, and deletes paragraphs (f) and (g) of section 5; it deletes the item "Outdoor advertising sign" from section 16 (list B) and adds it to section 15 (list A); and it adds a new section 17 (list C). It also makes other minor changes.

As amended, NPA Order M-4 reads as follows:

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. Policy of the National Production Authority.
3. Definitions.
4. Prohibited construction.
5. Exemptions.

16. List B—Construction where NPA authorization is required.
17. List C—Additional construction where NPA authorization is required.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 17 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.; sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.; sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61.

SECTION 1. What this order does. In order to further the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950 by conserving critical materials and services needed for the defense program, this order prohibits the commencement of construction of certain types of buildings, structures and projects unless specific exception is made, or authorization issued, by the National Production Authority. The order allows, within specified limits, small construction jobs, and necessary maintenance and repair of buildings, structures or projects, and also permits, under specified circumstances, the restoration of buildings, structures, or projects in the event of a disaster, act of God, or an act of war.

SEC. 2. Policy of the National Production Authority. In the event that increasing shortages clearly indicate the necessity for such action, in the national interest, the National Production Authority may further limit the commencement of construction of additional types of buildings, structures or projects which do not support the defense effort, or increase the Nation's production capacity for defense.

SEC. 3. Definitions. For the purpose of this order:

(a) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, and includes any agency of the United States or any other government.

(b) "Construction" means the erection of any building, structure, or project, or addition or extension thereto, or alteration thereof, through the incorporation-in-place on the site of materials which are to be an integral and permanent part of the building, structure or project.

(c) "Commence construction" means substantial site clearance (including demolition of buildings or structures), preliminary to the start of or incident to the work on a new building, structure, or project; or to incorporate into a building, structure, or project, substantial quantities of materials which are to be an integral and permanent part of such building, structure, or project.

(d) "Construction cost" means the total expense for demolition of existing structures in connection with a new construction, for site preparation, and for building materials, building equipment, labor and services used in the construction of the particular building, structure, or project, by whomever spent. It does not include the cost of personal property, or the expense for land acquisition, attorneys, architects, and financing.

(e) "Consumer goods" means articles or commodities that directly satisfy human wants or desires, and which are capable of use without further processing (for example, clothing, food, furniture, floor covering, household appliances, motor vehicles, etc.). They are distinguished from capital goods (for example, dynamos, industrial ovens, generators, etc.). They are distinguished also from production goods that satisfy wants only indirectly as factors in the production of other articles or commodities (for example, machine tools, heavy duty press, etc.).

(f) "Damage restoration" means restoring to substantially the same size and condition on the same site, any building, structure or project which has been damaged by storm, fire, flood, or other disaster, or by act of God, or act of war.

(g) "Maintenance and repair" means such work as is necessary to keep a building, structure, or project in sound working condition or to rehabilitate a building, structure, or project or any portion thereof, when the same has been rendered unsafe or unfit for service by wear and tear, or other similar causes. The term does not include any building operation or job where substantial structural alterations or changes in design are made.

(h) "Office building" means any building the principal use of which is to provide office space or office facilities, regardless of whether it is designed for the exclusive or partial use of its owner or is to be used commercially and rented to prospective tenants, including buildings for use by government agencies. The size of the building is not a determinative factor in deciding whether a building is an office building as the term includes both one-story and multi-storied structures; but the term does not include a private residence with incidental office space located therein for the use of the occupant.

(i) "Hotel" means either or both an establishment furnishing sleeping accommodations for transient guests, or an establishment classified as a hotel under applicable State, municipal, or other local law.

SEC. 4. Prohibited construction. (a) (1) Except as permitted in section 5 of this order, or pursuant to an adjustment or exception granted under section 11 of this order, after midnight October 26, 1950, no person shall commence construction of any building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 15 of this order.

(2) Since October 26, 1950, the National Production Authority has issued exceptions to permit the commencement of construction of specific buildings, structures, or projects of the type prohibited by section 15 of this order. All such exceptions granted prior to January 13, 1951, will cease to be effective 120 days after the date of issuance, unless construction has been commenced within that time; and construction of any such building, structure, or project may not be commenced thereafter without a further authorization from the National Production Authority.

(b) (1) After midnight, January 13, 1951, with respect to construction specified in section 16 (list B), and after midnight, May 3, 1951, with respect to construction specified in section 17 (list C), no person shall commence construction of any building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 16 (list B) or section 17 (list C), until a specific authorization therefor has been issued by the National Production Authority. The conditions which must exist before an authorization will be issued are set forth in section 6.

(2) In matters involving unreasonable hardship, or when required in the interest of the national defense, the National Production Authority may grant an exception from this order, pursuant to section 11, with respect to types of construction specified in section 16 (list B) and section 17 (list C).

SEC. 5. Exemptions. The following construction in connection with the buildings, structures, or projects to be used in connection with any of the purposes specified in sections 15, 16, and 17 of this order is exempted from this order:

(a) Maintenance and repair on any building, structure, or project.

(b) Small jobs of new construction or in connection with any such building, structure, or project including, but not limited to, alterations, additions, improvements, and modernization, where the cost of all such work shall not exceed:

(1) In the case of interior alterations, additions, improvements, or modernization of hotels, store space of department stores, office buildings, and loft buildings, 25 cents per square foot of occupied space for any consecutive 12-month period. (In computing this cost, both construction cost and all other expenses or charges incident to the work shall be taken into consideration.)

(2) In the case of any type of construction of all other buildings, structures, or projects specified in section 15 (list A), section 16 (list B), and section 17 (list C), $5,000 for any consecutive 12-month period. (In computing this cost, only construction cost shall be considered.)

(c) Reconstruction of any such building, structure, or project following a fire, flood, storm, disaster, act of God, or act of war, which occurred on or after July 29, 1950: Provided, however, That the reconstruction work will not require the use of more than a total quantity of 25 tons of steel, both in the forms and shapes as defined in NPA Order M-1 and also reinforcing steel.

(d) Construction by, or for the account of, the Department of Defense, the Atomic Energy Commission, or the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics.

(e) Installation of personal property, fixtures or equipment where the total cost incurred for installation in any consecutive 12-month period does not exceed $2,000.

SEC. 6. Authorization for certain construction. (a) Any person desiring to erect a building, structure, or project to be used for, or in connection with, any of the purposes specified, as set forth in section 16 or section 17 of this order, may apply for a National Production Authority authorization to commence such construction. The application shall be made on NPA Form NPAF-24, copies of which are available at all field offices of the Department of Commerce, and should be addressed to the field office of the Department of Commerce in the region of the site of the proposed construction.

(b) Authorization under this section will be granted if the National Production Authority is satisfied that the desired construction conforms to the following requirements:

(1) It furthers the defense effort by providing facilities of the type specified in section 16 of this order in areas adjacent to military establishments or defense plants and projects, which construction the National Production Authority considers necessary to furnish or to supplement facilities in connection with the activities of the Defense Production Administration, the Department of Defense or the Atomic Energy Commission, including their programs for increasing production capacity; or

(2) It is essential to maintenance of public health, safety or welfare.

(c) Further, with respect to an application for authorization to construct a facility not directly related to the defense effort, the NPA will consider the type and quantity of materials on hand, and needed, for the facility, and the effect on the community at large if the authorization were denied.

SEC. 7. Multiple use buildings, structures, or projects. Where a building, structure, or project to be constructed is designed for a number of different uses and occupants, no portion thereof shall be constructed for use or occupancy in connection with any of the purposes specified in sections 15, 16, or 17 of this order where the construction cost apportionable to such use or occupancy will exceed the small job exemption provided for in section 5 (b) of this order.

SEC. 8. Scope of this order. This order shall apply to construction in the 48 States, the District of Columbia, and in the territories and insular possessions of the United States.

SEC. 9. Prohibited deliveries. No person shall accept an order for, sell, deliver, or cause to be delivered, material, equipment, or supplies which he knows, or has reason to believe, will be used in violation of the provisions of this order.

SEC. 10. Defense against claims for damages. No person shall be held liable for damages or penalties for any default under contract or order which shall result directly or indirectly from compliance with any regulation or order of the National Production Authority (including any direction, directive or other instruction), notwithstanding that any such regulation or order shall thereafter be declared by a judicial or other competent authority to be invalid.

SEC. 11. Applications for adjustment or exception. Any person affected by any provision of this order may file a request for adjustment or exception upon the ground that:

(a) Such provision works an unreasonable hardship upon him not suffered generally by others in the same trade, industry, or other relative position; or that enforcement of such provision against him would not be in the interest of the national defense. In determining whether unreasonable hardship exists, the National Production Authority will consider, among other things:

(1) The extent of the work done by the applicant incident to the proposed construction.

(2) Whether the building, structure, or project requires reconstruction as a result of a fire, flood, storm, disaster, act of God, or act of war.

(3) Whether a building, structure, or project of the applicant has been seized by legal action under eminent domain, or condemned by responsible governmental authorities; and the applicant requests permission to replace such facility.

(b) Each request shall be made on NPA Form NPAF-24, copies of which are available at all field offices of the Department of Commerce, and should be addressed to the field office of the Department of Commerce in the region of the site of the proposed construction.

SEC. 12. Communications. All communications concerning this order shall be addressed to the Field Offices of the Department of Commerce, Ref: NPA, M-4.

SEC. 13. Reports. Persons subject to this order shall make such records and submit such reports to the National Production Authority as it shall require, subject to the terms of the Federal Reports Act (5 U. S. C. 139–13$F).

SEC. 14. Violations. Any person who wilfully violates any provisions of this order, or any other order or regulation of the National Production Authority, or who wilfully conceals a material fact, or furnishes false information in the course of operation under this order, is guilty of a crime, and upon conviction, may be punished by fine or imprisonment or both. In addition, administrative action may be taken against such person to suspend any authority to commence or complete construction or such other assistance as may be rendered pursuant to this order.

SEC. 15. List A—Prohibited contruction.

[NPA Order M-26, Interpretation 1]

M-26—PACKAGING CLOSURES

INTERPRETATION 1

SECTION 1. Section 4 of NPA Order M-26, as amended April 6, 1951, establishes a limitation on a packer's permitted inventory of packaging closures, and provides that the receipt or the acceptance of delivery of packaging closures must conform to such limitation.

SEC. 2. Questions have arisen with respect to the method of determining inventory and with respect to the necessity for a packer's adjusting an order for closures which have already been put into production.

SEC. 3. To answer such questions, this interpretation respecting the intent and effect of section 4 of NPA Order M-26 is issued pursuant to authority granted by the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.).

(a) In figuring his inventory of packaging closures, a packer must include all such closures in his possession or held for his account by others. A closure is considered to be in inventory until actually used in packaging by being applied or affixed to a container.

(b) A "75-day supply" means that quantity of packaging closures which a packer schedules for use during a period of 75 consecutive calendar days.

(c) The limitation as to a 75-day supply is to be applied on an item by item basis; thus, a packer is permitted to maintain a "75-day supply" of each size and type of packaging closure which he uses for packaging.

(d) The provisions of section 4 of NPA Order M-26 requiring the adjustment of outstanding orders for packaging closures apply only when the closures covered by an outstanding order had not been produced or were not in process of production prior to April 6, 1951. Accordingly, in any case in which the packaging closures covered by a packer's outstanding order had been produced or were in process of production prior to April 6, 1951, the packer is not warranted under the provisions of section 4 of NPA Order M-26 in refusing to accept delivery. Such closures so produced or in process of production are to be included in the packer's inventory, irrespective of his then inventory position, but the packer shall so schedule the deliveries under subsequent orders for packaging closures that his inventory will conform, at the earliest practicable date, to the requirements of section 4 of NPA Order M-26. Any adjustment of an outstanding order made between a packer and his supplier prior to the issuance of this interpretation of section 4 of NPA Order M-26 shall, if at variance with this interpretation, be further adjusted in conformity herewith.

(e) Nothing in this interpretation is intended or shall be construed in any way to relieve a packer from the restrictions on the use of aluminum packaging closures imposed by section 3 (b) of NPA Order M-26. A packer whose use of aluminum packaging closures is thus restricted may, subject to the provisions of section 3 (a) of NPA Order M-26, use packaging closures made of tin plate to maintain his scheduled method and rate of operation; his supply of packaging closures made of tin plate and of packaging closures made of aluminum shall, for inventory purposes, be considered as separate items in accordance with paragraph (c) of this interpretation.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply sec. 101, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., sec. 101, E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR, 1950 Supp., sec. 2, E. O. 10200, Jan. 3, 1951, 16 F. R. 61)

[NPA Order M-47, amendment of May 4, 1951]

M-47—USE OF IRON AND STEEL

This amendment to NPA Order M-47, as amended April 24, 1951, is found necessary and appropriate to promote the national defense and is issued pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950. In the formulation of this amendment, there has been consultation with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and consideration has been given to their recommendations.

This amendment affects NPA Order M-47, as amended April 24, 1951, as follows:

[Paragraph (b) of section 5 is hereby redesignated paragraph (c) of that section.]

[A new paragraph (b) is hereby added to section 5, providing as follows:]

(b) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section, subject to the exemptions stated in section 6 of this order and unless specifically authorized in writing by the National Production Authority, no person shall use during the month of June 1951 in the manufacture of item 1 of group VII of list A attached hereto, a total quantity by weight of iron and steel products in excess of 25 percent of his average quarterly use of such materials in said manufactured item during the base period. However, if such person manufactured one or more units of a part made wholly or partly from iron or steel products during the base period, and uses one or more purchased units of that part during said month in said item 1 of group VII, he shall include the weight of the iron and steel products used in the manufacture of each such part, whether by himself or another, in computing his use of iron and steel products during the base period and during said month. During said month any person who does not use any iron and steel product in the manufacture of said item, but who assembles parts made wholly or partly from such material into said item, shall not assemble a total number of units of said item in excess of 12½ percent of the number of such units which he assembled during the base period.

This amendment shall take effect on May 4, 1951.

MANLY FLEISCHMANN,
Administrator.

Chapter XVIII — National Shipping Authority, Maritime Administration, Department of Commerce

[NSA Order 5 (DRO–1)]

DRO–1—RATES ON GRAIN IN BULK BETWEEN UNITED STATES PORTS AND THE PORTS OF INDIA

Sec.
1. What this order does.
2. Freight rates and charter terms and conditions required under "Warshipvoy" form of charter as revised August 15, 1944.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 and 2 issued under sec. 204, 49 Stat. 1987, as amended; 46 U. S. C. 1114.

SECTION 1. What this order does. This order authorizes freight rates and charter terms and conditions for the transportation of full cargoes of Grain in bulk under "Warshipvoy" form of charter as revised August 15, 1944, in vessels operated for account of the National Shipping Authority, from one Atlantic, Gulf or Pacific Coast port of the United States to a port of discharge in India, effective on vessels commencing to load on and after March 13, 1951.

SEC. 2. Freight rates and charter terms and conditions required under "Warshipvoy" form of charter as revised August 15, 1944.

HEAVY GRAIN IN BULK, I. E., WHEAT, CORN OR RYE

[All rates in United States currency per ton of 2,240 pounds]

From—	To—
	West coast India ports	East coast India ports
United States Atlantic ports	$21.50	$23.50
United States Gulf ports	23.00	25.00
United States Pacific ports	22.00	20.50

On cargoes of Light Grains (i. e. Barley, Millet, and Linseed), in bulk, excluding Oats, a 10 percent differential shall be added to the above rates.

NOTE: Foregoing rates apply to cargoes loaded at one port and discharged at one port; for more than one port of loading or discharge, within the same general area or range, add fifty cents (50 cents) United States currency per ton for each additional port to the highest applicable rate, the total rate thus formed to apply on the entire cargo. Cargoes for more than one port of loading or discharge shall be subject to negotiation and mutual agreement between the owners and charterers.

The following clauses are to be inserted in Paragraphs E, F, G, H, and I of Part I of warshipvoy:

E. Freight rate. (Insert applicable rate in United States currency per ton of 2,240 pounds as above set forth.)

Freight fully prepaid in the United States on bill-of-lading quantity and to be considered due and payable and earned on the cargo as taken aboard, vessel and/or cargo lost or not lost.

Demurrage. Charterers to pay demurrage for each and every day, or pro rata for part of a day, for all time used in loading or discharging in excess of allowed laytime. The demurrage rate, per day, shall be Fifteen Hundred Dollars ($1,500) for Liberty type vessels and Eighteen Hundred Dollars ($1,800) for Victory type vessels.

Despatch. No despatch payable at loading port. Despatch if earned at discharging port will be payable at the rate of one-half (½) of the demurrage rate per day, or pro rata for part of a day, for all laytime saved in discharging.

F. Stevedoring. Loading and trimming to be for the vessel's account. Discharging expenses to be for the charterer's account.

G. Loading time. A maximum of five (5) days, Sundays and holidays excepted unless used, shall be allowed for loading. Time lost in loading due to weather preventing loading shall not count as laytime.

H. Discharging time. Cargo shall be discharged at the rate of 750 tons of 2,240 pounds per day, Sundays and holidays excepted unless used. Time lost in discharging due to weather preventing discharge shall not count as laytime.

I. Special provisions. 1. Laydays not reversible.

2. Any bags and/or bagging required for safe stowage to be for vessel's account.

3. General average clause. The adjustment and settlement of general average claims, pursuant to Clause 21, Part II shall be governed by the York-Antwerp Rules of 1950, exclusive of Rule 22.

4. Wherever the words "United States Maritime Commission" appear in Part II hereof, same shall be understood to mean "National Shipping Authority".

5. This contract is subject to the approval of the National Shipping Authority.

S. C. Supp. 721; sec. 1, Reorganization Plan No. 2 of 1946, 60 Stat. 1095, 11 F. R. 7873; Agency Order No. 9, 12 F. R. 479; sec. 401 (a), 64 Stat. 558, Part 201 of the regulations relating to Child Welfare Services is hereby amended as follows:

1. Section 201.6 of Part 201 is hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 201.6 Expenditures. (a) Funds paid to a State under Part 3 of Title V of the act shall be expended, in accordance with the State's approved plan and with the act and the regulations in this part only where such expenditures are:

(1) For one or more of the following purposes:

(i) For payment of part of the cost of district, county or other local child welfare services in areas predominantly rural; or,

(ii) For developing State services for the encouragement and assistance of adequate methods of community child welfare organization in areas predominantly rural and other areas of special need; or,

(iii) For paying the cost of returning any runaway child who has not attained the age of sixteen to his own community in another State in cases in which such return is in the interest of the child and the cost cannot otherwise be met; and,

(2) In accordance with policies issued from time to time by the Bureau with the approval of the Commissioner designed to utilize most effectively the funds granted in establishing, extending or strengthening child welfare services, under the conditions specified in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph: Provided, That policies heretofore issued by the Chief of the Children's Bureau shall continue to remain in effect unless superseded by new policies issued by the Children's Bureau with the approval of the Commissioner: Provided further, That State plans heretofore approved shall continue to be governed by such policies which were in effect at the time such State plans were approved.

(b) Except as specifically stated in the act and in the regulations in this part, State laws, rules, regulations and standards governing the custody and disbursement of State funds shall govern the custody and disbursement of Federal funds paid to the State.

2. The following new section is added at the end of Part 201:

§ 201.10 Definitions. (a) "Child Welfare Services" means public welfare services for the protection and care of homeless, dependent, and neglected children, and children in danger of becoming delinquent.

3. The word "Commissioner" is hereby substituted for the word "Secretary" in §§ 201.1 and 201.5.

4. These regulations shall become effective on the date of their publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Subchapter C—Management of Wildlife Conservation Areas

PART 33—CENTRAL REGION

SUBPART—CRAB ORCHARD NATIONAL WILDLIFE REFUGE, ILLINOIS

COMMERCIAL FISHING

Basis and purpose. On the basis of observations and reports by field representatives of the Fish and Wildlife Service it has been determined that more rough fish should be removed from refuge waters and that this can best be accomplished by extending the season during which commercial fishing is allowed on the Refuge.

Inasmuch as the following is a relaxation of existing regulations, publication prior to the effective date thereof is not required. (60 Stat. 237, 5 U. S. C. 1001 et seq.)

Effective immediately upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, § 33.55 is revised to read as follows:

§ 33.55 Period of fishing. Area I shall be open to commercial fishing during the period from January 1 to May 15, inclusive, of each year. Area II shall be open to commercial fishing during the period from March 1 to May 15, inclusive, of each year.

(Sec. 10, 45 Stat. 1224; 16 U. S. C. 715f.)

Dated: April 30, 1951.

O. H. JOHNSON,
Acting Director.

PROPOSED RULE MAKING

INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

[49 CFR, Parts 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 77, 78]

[Notice No. 1, Docket No. 3666]

TRANSPORTATION OF EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

MARCH 27, 1951.

The Commission is in receipt of applications for early amendment of the above entitled regulations insofar as they apply to shippers in the preparation of articles for transportation, and to all carriers by rail and highway, as published in orders pursuant to section 835, of the Criminal Code, and Part II of the Interstate Commerce Act;

Application for these amendments ordinarily would be considered at our next hearing in this docket. It appears, however, that the proposed amendments have been the subject of exchanges and study by interested parties, in which substantial agreement has been reached, and it is proposed that the applications be disposed of by modified procedure.

Any party desiring to be heard upon any of the proposed amendments shall advise the Commission in writing within 20 days from the date of this notice; otherwise, the Commission may proceed to investigate and determine the matters involved in the application, or may suspend action pending formal hearing in this docket.

[SEAL] W. P. BARTEL,
Secretary.

PART 71—GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

1. Amend § 71.13 paragraph (a) (3) (49 CFR 71.13, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(3) Shipments of explosive bombs and unfuzed explosive projectiles when not packed in wooden boxes, and large metal containers of incendiary bombs weighing 500 pounds or more, each, may be loaded in stock cars or in gondola cars (flat bottom) when adequately braced. Wooden boxed bombs which, due to size, cannot be loaded in closed cars may be loaded in open top cars but must be protected against accidental ignition.

2. Amend § 71.13 paragraph (b) (3) (15 F. R. 8263, Dec. 2, 1950) to read as follows:

(3) Shipments of explosive bombs and unfuzed explosive projectiles when not packed in wooden boxes, and large metal containers of incendiary bombs weighing 500 pounds or more, each, may be loaded in stock cars or in gondola cars (flat bottom) when adequately braced. Wooden boxed bombs which, due to size, cannot be loaded in closed cars may be loaded in open top cars but must be protected against accidental ignition.

PART 72—COMMODITY LIST OF EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES CONTAINING THE SHIPPING NAME OR DESCRIPTION OF ALL ARTICLES SUBJECT TO PARTS 71–78 OF THIS CHAPTER

Amend § 72.5, Commodity list (15 F. R. 8263, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 72.5, 1950 Rev.) as follows:

Article	Classed as—	Exemption and packing (see sec.)	Label required if not exempt	Maximum quantity in 1 outside container by rail express
Change
Acetyl benzoyl peroxide, solution	Oxy. M.	No exemption, 73.222.	Yellow	1 quart.
Magnesium peroxide, solid	Oxy. M.	73.153, 73.154	Yellow	100 pounds.
Peracetic acid	Oxy. M.	73.223	Yellow	5 pints.
*Rubber shoddy, reclaimed rubber, or reclaimed rubber.	F. S.	73.153, 73.201	Yellow	10 pounds.
Zinc peroxide	Oxy. M.	73.153, 73.154	Yellow	100 pounds.
Add
Antimony pentachloride, solution	Cor. L.	73.242, 73.245	White	5 pints.
Charged oil well jet perforating guns (total explosive contents in guns exceeding 12 pounds per motor vehicle).	Expl. A.	No exemption, 73.53 (a), 73.80.		Not accepted.
Charged oil well jet perforating guns (total explosive contents in guns not exceeding 12 pounds per motor vehicle).	Expl. C.	No exemption, 73.53 (a), 73.110.		Not accepted.
Chlorpicrin and methyl chloride, mixture	Pois. A.	No exemption, 73.329 (c).	Poison Gas.	75 pounds.
Formic acid, solution	Cor. L.	73.241, 73.245, 73.289	White	5 gallons.
Tetraethyldithio pyrophosphate and compressed gas mixture.	Pois. A.	No exemption, 73.203	Poison Gas.	Not accepted.
Tetranitromethane	Oxy. M.	No exemption, 73.203	Yellow	25 pounds.
Thiocarbonyl chloride (see thiophosgene).
Thiophosgene (thiocarbonyl chloride)	Pois. B.	No exemption, 73.356	Poison	1 gallon

PART 73—SHIPPERS

1. Cancel first three paragraphs and Note 1 appearing under authority citation for Part 73 (15 F. R. 8275, Dec. 2, 1950) (15 F. R. 8824, Dec. 12, 1950) (49 CFR 73, 1950 Rev.).

2. Add Note 1 to § 73.8 paragraph (a), (15 F. R. 8276, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.8, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

NOTE 1: Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, compressed gas cylinders 40 inches in length and 8 inches in diameter, charged with not more than 40 pounds of carbon dioxide and shipped by or to the Canadian Department of National Defense in accordance with Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada Order No. 76253 dated Mar. 10, 1951, may be shipped to destinations in the United States or through the United States to points in Canada.

SUBPART A—PREPARATION OF ARTICLES FOR TRANSPORTATION BY CARRIERS BY RAIL FREIGHT, RAIL EXPRESS, HIGHWAY, OR WATER

3. Amend § 73.28 paragraph (h) (15 F. R. 8277, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.28, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(h) Single-trip containers made under specifications prescribed in Part 78 of this chapter from which contents have once been removed following use for shipment of any article, must not be again used as shipping containers for explosives, flammable liquids, flammable solids, oxidizing materials, corrosive liquids, or poisons, class B or C, as defined in this part: Provided, That during the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, single-trip containers may be reused if retested and approved for service by the Bureau of Explosives. Containers reused under Bureau of Explosives' approval must be plainly marked "Authorized for Reuse by Bureau of Explosives" and must show the date of last retest. Applications for permission for reuse should be made to the Bureau of Explosives, 30 Vesey Street, New York 7, N. Y.

4. Amend § 73.29 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8277, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.29, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.29 Empty containers. (a) Empty cylinders, barrels, kegs, drums, or other containers, previously used for the shipment of any explosive or other dangerous article, as defined in this part, if authorized for reuse must have all openings including removable heads, filling and vent holes, tightly closed before being offered for transportation. Small quantities of the material with which containers were loaded may remain in "empty" containers and when the vapors remaining therein are unstable, it is permissible to add sufficient inert gas to render the vapors stable.

SUBPART B—EXPLOSIVES; DEFINITIONS AND PREPARATION

5. Amend § 73.53 paragraph (j) (15 F. R. 8286, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.53, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(j) Ammunition for cannon. Ammunition for cannon is fixed, semi-fixed or separate loading ammunition which is fired from a cannon, mortar, gun, howitzer or recoilless rifle.

6. Add Paragraph (u) to § 73.53 (15 F. R. 8286, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.53, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(u) Charged oil well jet perforating guns are steel tubes in which are installed one or more commercial shaped charges of the type described in paragraph (h) (1) of this section except that each charge shall contain not over 28 grams of high explosives and each must be protected by a metal cover. Charged oil well jet perforating guns must not be transported with detonating devices or other firing assemblies affixed to or installed in the guns. The guns are used in oil well operations and transporting is restricted to motor vehicles operated by private motor carriers and used only in such service.

7. Amend § 73.65 paragraph (b) (2) (15 F. R. 8289, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.65, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums. Net weight not to exceed 200 pounds.

8. Add § 73.80 (15 F. R. 8292, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.80, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.80 Charged oil well jet perforating guns. (a) Charged oil well jet perforating guns, when transported by motor vehicles operated by private carriers and used only in oil well operations, in which the total weight of explosive contents of shaped charges assembled to guns does not exceed 12 pounds per such vehicles, are classified as class C explosives. See § 73.110.

(b) Charged oil well jet perforating guns must be packed without detonating devices or other firing assemblies affixed to or installed in the guns, in substantial fully-enclosed especially-constructed compartments of motor vehicles operated by private motor carriers and used only in oil well operations. Shaped charges installed in the guns must be of the type described in § 73.53 (h) (1), except that each charge must not contain over 28 grams of high explosives and each must be protected by a metal cover after installation in the gun. The guns and the compartments of such motor vehicles must be so constructed that accidental damage to guns or shaped charges will be avoided. The assembled gun or guns must be secured in the compartments so as to prevent movement relative to each other or in the compartment.

(1) Detonating devices or other firing assemblies transported on any motor vehicle operated by private motor carriers transporting charged oil well jet perforating guns shall be segregated; each kind from every other kind, and from jet perforating guns, tools or other supplies. Any detonating devices or other firing assemblies shall be carried in a cloth container having individual pockets for each such device or assembly, or by at least equally safe means. No greater number of any such devices or assemblies shall be transported with the guns than is necessary for use on any particular trip.

(c) Charged oil well jet perforating guns must not be offered for transportation by rail freight, rail express, rail baggage, water, or by common or contract carriers by public highway.

9. Amend § 73.93 paragraph (a) (5) (15 F. R. 8294, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.93, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums. Use of these containers will be permitted because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission.

10. Amend § 73.94 paragraph (e) (15 F. R. 8295, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.94, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(e) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums. Drums having wooden heads must be provided with a strong, sift-proof liner. Use of these containers will be permitted because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission.

11. Amend § 73.100 paragraphs (b), (p), and (r), (1) (10), and (11) (15 F. R. 8295, 8296, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.100, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Small-arms ammunition, designed to be fired from a pistol, revolver, rifle, or shotgun held by the hand or by the hand and shoulder, or machine guns of caliber .60 or less, is fixed ammunition consisting of a metallic or paper cartridge case, a primer and a propelling charge, with or without bullet, shot, tear gas material, or tracer components, but not including bullets loaded with high explosives or incendiary compositions or mixtures.

(p) Toy paper caps, consisting of paper cap ammunition for toy pistols, in sheets, strips, rolls, or individual caps, must not contain more than an average of twenty-five hundredths of a grain of explosive composition per cap and must be packed in inside packages constructed of cardboard not less than 0.013 inch in thickness, metal not less than 0.008 inch in thickness, or noncombustible plastic not less than 0.015 inch in thickness, which shall provide a complete enclosure and the minimum dimensions of each side or end of such package shall be not less than ⅛ inch in height. Unless greater weight of composition is approved by the Bureau of Explosives, the number of caps in these inside packages shall be limited so that not more than 10 grains of explosive composition shall be packed into one cubic inch of space and not exceeding 17.5 grains of the explosive composition of toy caps shall be packed in any inside container. These inner containers must be packed in outside containers as specified in § 73.109.

(r) Common fireworks are manufactured articles designed primarily for the purpose of producing visible or audible pyrotechnic effects by combustion or explosion. Fireworks other than those specifically enumerated in this paragraph are classed as special fireworks (see § 73.88 (d)). Common fireworks must be in the finished state exclusive of mere ornamentation, as supplied to the retail trade and must be so constructed and packed that loose pyrotechnic composition will not be present in packages in transportation. No component part of any article listed in this paragraph which is designed to produce an audible effect (other than propelling or expelling charges) shall contain pyrotechnic composition in excess of 2 grains in weight.

(1) Roman candles, not exceeding ten balls spaced uniformly in the tube, total pyrotechnic composition in each candle not to exceed 20 grams in weight.

* * * * * *

(10) Mines and shells of which the mortar is an integral part, total pyrotechnic composition not to exceed 40 grams each in weight.

(11) Firecrackers and salutes with casings, the external dimensions of which do not exceed one and one-half inches in length or one quarter inch in diameter, total pyrotechnic composition not to exceed two grains each in weight.

12. Amend § 73.107 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8296, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.107, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Small-arms primers containing anvils must be packed in cellular inside packages, with partitions separating the layers and columns of the primers, so that the explosion of a portion of the primers in the completed shipping package will not cause the explosion of all the primers. They must be packed as prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section or in fiberboard boxes, spec. 12B (§ 78.205 of this chapter), and equipped with corrugated fiberboard liners having Mullen or Cady test equal to or exceeding that of the box. Not more than 5000 primers shall be packed in each fiberboard box.

13. Add § 73.110 (15 F. R. 8297), Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.110, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.110 Charged oil well jet perforating guns total explosive content in guns not exceeding twelve pounds per motor vehicle operated by private motor carriers. (a) Charged oil well jet perforating guns, transported by motor vehicles operated by private motor carriers and used only in oil well operations, in which the total weight of explosive contents does not exceed 12 pounds per such vehicles, must be packed as prescribed in § 73.80 (b).

(b) Charged oil well jet perforating guns must not be offered for transportation by rail freight, rail express, rail baggage, water, or by common or contract carriers by public highway.

SUBPART C—FLAMMABLE LIQUIDS; DEFINITION AND PREPARATION

14. Amend § 73.116 paragraph (h) (15 F. R. 8298, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.116, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(h) No cargo tank or compartment thereof used for the transportation of any flammable liquid shall be liquid full. The vacant space (outage) in a cargo tank or compartment thereof used in the transportation of flammable liquids shall be not less than 1 percent; sufficient space (outage) shall be left vacant in every case to prevent leakage from or distortion of such tank or compartment by expansion of the contents due to rise in temperature in transit.

15. Add paragraphs (d) and (e) to § 73.118 (15 F. R. 8298, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.118, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(d) Exemptions for private carriers by motor vehicle of flammable liquids in interstate and foreign commerce. Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, the following regulations shall apply to transportation of flammable liquids by private carriers by motor vehicle in interstate or foreign commerce:

(1) All regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter applying to common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in interstate commerce shall apply to such private carriers, except:

Cargo tanks of tank motor vehicles constructed previous to June 15, 1943, may be continued in service if maintained in safe operating condition and sufficiently frequent inspections are maintained to determine compliance with all requirements as specified below.

Any defect or deficiency, due to accident or otherwise, that is likely to cause serious hazard must be corrected before any such tank is continued in or returned to service; see, however, § 77.856 of this chapter.

Requirements applying to tests of tanks, and provisions for markers thereon except that indicating the flammable nature of the cargo, are waived.

Outages for shipments shall be those provided for in this part, except that filling of tanks to outage markers already incorporated in tanks, having due regard for safety in the transportation of the flammable liquids, need not be changed.

Section 77.815 of this chapter, labels, and § 77.819 of this chapter, certification of packages, need not be complied with by such private carriers, except as to packages transferred from one carrier to another.

(e) Exemptions for common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle of flammable liquids in intrastate commerce. Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, the following regulations shall apply to transportation of flammable liquids by common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce:

(1) All regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter applying to common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce shall apply to such carriers, except:

That common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle transporting flammable liquids in intrastate commerce shall not be subject to Parts 71–78 of this chapter.

16. Amend § 73.119 paragraphs (a) (9) and (a) (12), (15 F. R. 8298, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.119, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(9) Spec. 21A, 21B, 22A, or 22B (§§ 78.222, 78.223, 78.196, or 78.197 of this chapter). Fiber drums and plywood drums with a single inside glass, earthenware, or metal container of not over 1 gallon capacity in each drum. Inside container must be so cushioned at top, sides, and bottom, as to prevent breakage or leakage in transit.

(12) Spec. 103, 103–W, 103AL–W, 104, 104–W, 104A, 104A–W, 105A300, 105A-300–W, 105A400, 105A400–W, 105A500, 105A500–W, 105A600, 105A600–W, ARA–II,[2] ARA–III,[2] ARA–IV,[2] or ARA–IV–A.[2] Tank cars. (§§ 78.265, 78.280, 78.291, 78.269, 78.284, 78.270, 78.285, 78.271, 78.286, 78.272, 78.287, 78.273, 78.288, 78.274, and 78.289 of this chapter.) For cars equipped with expansion domes, manhole closures must be so designed that pressure will be released automatically by starting the operation of removing the manhole cover. (See § 73.432 for shipping instructions.)

17. Amend § 73.119 paragraph (e) (2) (15 F. R. 8299, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.119, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 103, 103–W, 103AL–W, 104, 104–W, 104A, 104A–W, 105A300, 105A300–W, 105A400, 105A400–W, 105A500, 105A500–W, 105A600, 105A600–W, ARA–II,[2] ARA–III,[2] ARA–IV,[2] or ARA–IV–A.[2] Tank cars. (§§ 78.265, 78.280, 78.291, 78.269, 78.284, 78.270, 78.285, 78.271, 78.286, 78.272, 78.287, 78.273, 78.288, 78.274, and 78.289 of this chapter). Cars having expansion domes must be equipped with manhole closures, identification marks, and dome placards as prescribed in paragraphs (f) (4), (g), (h), and (h) (1) of this section. (See Note 1 of paragraph (f) (3) of this section).

18. Amend § 73.119 paragraph (f) (4) (15 F. R. 8299, 8300, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.119, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(4) Spec. 103, 103–W, 103AL–W, 104, 104–W, ARA–II,[2] ARA–III,[2] or ARA–IV.[2] Tank cars. (§§ 78.265, 78.280, 78.291, 78.269, and 78.284 of this chapter). Cars must have their manhole closures equipped with approved safeguards making removal of closures from manhole openings practically impossible while car interior is subjected to vapor pressure of lading. These cars must be stenciled on each side of domes in line with the ladders, and in a color contrasting to the color of the dome, with the identification mark as prescribed in paragraph (g) of this section.

19. Amend § 73.119 paragraph (h) (15 F. R. 8300, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.119, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(h) Dome placards. Spec. 103, 103–W, 103AL–W, 104, 104–W, ARA–II,[1] ARA–III,[1] or ARA–IV.[1] Tank cars. (§§ 78.265, 78.280, 78.291, 78.269, 78.284, 78.270, 78.285, 78.271, 78.286, 78.272, 78.287, 78.273, 78.288, 78.274, and 78.289 of this chapter). Cars loaded with materials described in paragraphs (e) and (f) of this section must, in addition to the "Dangerous" placards, be protected by special dome placards, at least 4⅛ by 10⅞ inches, with legible wording as follows: (No change in dome placard).

20. Add paragraph (a) (6) to § 73.124 (15 F. R. 8301, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.124, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(6) Spec. 105A300, 105A300W, 105A400, 105A400W, 105A500, 105A500W, 105A600, or 105A600W. Tank cars. (§§ 78.271, 78.286, 78.272, 78.287, 78.273, 78.288, 78.274, or 78.289 of this chapter). Tanks must be restenciled 104A or 104A–W and be equipped with safety valves of the type and size used on 104A and 104A–W tank cars. See Note 1 in § 73.119 (f) (3). (See § 73.432 for shipping instructions.)

21. Amend § 73.138 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8302, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.138, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.138 Pentaborane. (a) Pentaborane must be packed in specification cylinders as prescribed for any compressed gas, except acetylene. Cylinders must be protected with valve protection caps or must be packed in strong wooden boxes and blocked therein so as to protect the valves from injury under conditions ordinarily incident to transportation.

SUBPART D—FLAMMABLE SOLIDS AND OXIDIZING MATERIALS; DEFINITION AND PREPARATION

22. Cancel paragraph (c) (27) of § 73.153 (15 F. R. 8303, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.153, 1950 Rev.).

23. Add paragraphs (c) (27) and (c) (60) to § 73.153, (15 F. R. 8303, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.153, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(27) Tetranitromethane.

(60) Acetyl benzoyl peroxide, solution.

24. Amend § 73.154 paragraph (a) (9) (15 F. R. 8303, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.154, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(9) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums.

25. Amend § 73.156 paragraph (a) (5) (15 F. R. 8304, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.156, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums.

26. Amend § 73.163 paragraph (a) (3) (15 F. R. 8305, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.163, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(3) Spec. 21A, 21B, 22A, or 22B (§§ 78.222, 78.223, 78.196, or 78.197 of this chapter). Fiber or plywood drums with inside metal drums, Spec. 2F (§ 78.25 of this chapter).

27. Amend § 73.168 paragraph (a) (2) (15 F. R. 8306, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.168, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums with inside metal drums, Spec. 2F (§ 78.25 of this chapter).

28. Amend § 73.175 paragraph (a) (4) (15 F. R. 8306, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.175, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(4) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums.

29. Amend § 73.178 paragraph (a) (6) (15 F. R. 8307, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.178, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(6) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums.

30. Amend § 73.195 paragraph (a) (5) (15 F. R. 8309, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.195, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums. Must be externally treated to provide protection against moisture.

31. Amend § 73.197 paragraph (a) (3) (15 F. R. 8309, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.197, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(3) Sheets, rolled, in fiber drums, spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter), having 2 straps applied lengthwise and 1 or more circumferentially; straps at least ½ by 0.02 inch steel.

32. Amend § 73.201 paragraph (a) (4) (5) and (8) and paragraph (b) (15 F. R. 8310, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.201, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.201 Rubber scrap, rubber buffings, rubber shoddy, regenerated rubber or reclaimed rubber. (a) Rubber scrap, if ground, powdered, or granulated, and the rubber content of which exceeds 45 percent, as determined by subtracting the sum of the percentage of ash and the percentage of acetone extract from 100; rubber buffings from any grade of rubber, irrespective of the percentage of rubber content; and rubber shoddy, regenerated rubber, or reclaimed rubber, must be packed in specification containers as follows (see paragraph (b) of this section):

• • • • •

(4) Spec. 12B (§ 78.205 of this chapter). Fiberboard boxes.

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums.

• • • • •

(8) Spec. 36A, 36B, or 44B (§§ 78.230, 78.231, or 78.236 of this chapter). Bags.

(b) Rubber scrap, rubber shoddy, regenerated rubber, or reclaimed rubber are not subject to Parts 71–78 of this chapter if shipped in the following forms:

(1) Rubber scrap, not ground or ground with cord or fabric insertion.

(2) Rubber shoddy, regenerated rubber, or reclaimed rubber when in the form of dense homogeneous nonporous sheets or rolls, the sheets of thickness of ⅛ inch or greater, packed flat or in rolls, and properly cooled before shipment.

33. Cancel § 73.203 paragraphs (a) and (b) (15 F. R. 8310, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.203, 1950 Rev.).

34. Add § 73.203 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8310, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.203, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.203 Tetranitromethane. (a) Tetranitromethane must be packed in specification containers as follows:

(1) Spec. 15A or 15B (§§ 78.168 or 78.169 of this chapter). Wooden boxes, gross weight not exceeding 150 pounds, with inside containers which must be: glass bottles not more than 1 quart capacity each, with closures securely fastened and of a type not deteriorated by the contents, each bottle individually packed in a tight metal container and cushioned therein with absorbent incombustible material; or aluminum cans or polyethylene bottles, not more than 5 pounds capacity each, with opening not more than 1.25 inches diameters, fitted with securely fastened screw type closures and gaskets of material not deteriorated by contact with the contents, cushioned with not less than 2 inches of absorbent incombustible cushioning material between the inside containers and any part of the wooden box.

(2) Spec. 6A, 6B, or 6C (§§ 78.97, 78.98, or 78.99 of this chapter). Metal barrels or drums, with inside stainless steel or aluminum drum (or drums) having no opening exceeding 2.5 inches diameter, openings to be securely closed by a screw type gasketed device, with gaskets of material not deteriorated by contact with the contents. The inside drum (or drums) must be cushioned with not less than 2 inches of absorbent incombustible cushioning material; inside drums shall be of not less than 20 gauge metal and shall be tested for leakage before packing in the outside drum.

35. Amend § 73.204 paragraphs (a) (5) and (a) (6) (15 F. R. 8310, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.204, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums with inside metal drums.

(6) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums, net weight not over 250 pounds; drums must have a metal foil (laminated between two sheets of kraft paper with thermoplastic adhesive) moisture and water barrier wound into the sidewall of the drum and located not more than 2 plies from the interior of drum but not to be wound as the first ply; a metal foil moisture and water barrier must also be present in the fiber or wood heading; exterior of drum sidewall must be protected with a water resistant coating; in addition to the tests prescribed by §§ 78.222–4 and 78.223–4 of this chapter, a drum having been given a 4-foot diagonal bottom chime drop must, after being emptied, withstand complete immersion of the bottom in 6 inches of water for 4 hours without leakage to the interior; drums must not be offered for transportation by carriers by water.

36. Amend § 73.206 (paragraph (c) (2), (15 F. R. 8310, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.206, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 17H or 37D (§§ 78.118 or 78.125 of this chapter). Metal drums (single-trip) authorized for cylindrical blocks at least 2 inches in diameter and not less than 6 inches in length, or rectangular blocks not less than 6 inches in length and not less than 2 inches in any other dimension. Net weight not over 30 pounds.

37. Amend § 73.207 paragraph (b) (5) (15 F. R. 8311, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.207, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums which must be lined or coated, or otherwise treated so as to prevent the entrance of moisture in quantities sufficient to create a hazardous condition in transportation; drums to withstand two drops from height of 4 feet in same spot or one 6 foot drop in place of drop test as provided in Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222–4 or 78.223–4 of this chapter); maximum loaded capacity 250 pounds net. Use of this container will be permitted because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission.

38. Amend § 73.222 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8312, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.222, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.222 Acetyl peroxide and acetyl benzoyl peroxide, solution. (a) Acetyl peroxide must be shipped in solution in a non-volatile solvent and must contain not more than 25 percent by weight of the peroxide. Acetyl benzoyl peroxide must be shipped in solution in a non-volatile solvent and must contain not more than 40 percent by weight of the peroxide. They must be packed in specification containers as follows:

39. Amend paragraph (b) to § 73.223 (15 F. R. 8312, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.223, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Peracetic acid solutions not exceeding 40 percent strength packed in strong wooden or fiberboard boxes, with not more than one inside glass container not exceeding 1 pint or 1 pound capacity, cushioned with sterile absorbent cotton or other cushioning material which will not react with the contents to generate heat, and with such cushioning material in sufficient quantity to completely absorb the contents of the bottle, are exempt from specification packaging, marking, other than name of contents, and labeling requirements.

40. Amend § 73.227 paragraph (a) (2) (15 F. R. 8312, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.227, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums completely coated on the inside with a suitable wax; or fiber drums having a metal foil (laminated) between two sheets of kraft paper with thermoplastic adhesive moisture and water barrier wound into the sidewall of the drum and located not more than 2 plies from the interior of drum but not be wound as the first ply; a metal foil moisture and water barrier must also be present in the fiber or wood heading; exterior of drum sidewall must be protected with a water resistant coating; in addition to the tests prescribed by §§ 78.222–4 or 78.223–4 of this chapter, a drum having been given a 4-foot diagonal bottom chime drop must, after being emptied, withstand complete immersion of the bottom in 6 inches of water for 4 hours without leakage to the interior.

SUBPART E—ACIDS AND OTHER CORROSIVE LIQUIDS: DEFINITION AND PREPARATION

41. Add paragraph (a) (5) to § 73.254 (15 F. R. 8315, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.254, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(5) Spec. MC 310 (§ 78.330 of this chapter). Tank motor vehicles.

42. Amend § 73.261 paragraph (a) (2), (15 F. R. 8316, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.261, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums with a single inside container consisting of a glass bottle not over 64 fluid ounces capacity filled with not over six pounds by weight of sulfuric acid (approximately 50 fluid ounces by volume). Bottle must be suspended in center of outside container by means of adequate supports and surrounded by bicarbonate of soda in sufficient quantity to fill drum and neutralize contents in the event of breakage.

43. Amend § 73.266 paragraph (f) (15 F. R. 8319, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.266, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(f) Hydrogen peroxide solution in water exceeding 52 percent hydrogen peroxide by weight may also be packed in specification containers as follows:

(1) Spec. 103A–AL–W (§ 78.292 of this chapter). Tank cars. Venting arrangement must be approved by the Bureau of Explosives.

44. Add paragraph (g) to § 73.266 (15 F. R. 8319, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.266, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(g) Hydrogen peroxide solution in water exceeding 52 percent hydrogen peroxide by weight may also be shipped in tank motor vehicles subject to Parts 71–78 of this chapter provided that such shipments are for ultimate use by the Departments of the Army, Navy, and Air Force of the United States Government. Tank motor vehicles must be of design and venting arrangement approved by the Bureau of Explosives.

45. Amend § 73.275 paragraph (a) (1) (15 F. R. 8321, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.275, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(1) Spec. 15A, 12B, 21A, or 21B (§§ 78.168, 78.205, 78.222, or 78.223 of this chapter). Wooden boxes, fiberboard boxes, or fiber drums with inside containers which must consist of polystyrene or polyethylene bottles not over 2 pounds capacity each, closed by means of threaded acid-resistant caps with a resilient gasket or lining impervious to the acid; caps must have at least one complete continuous thread and be wired or sealed to the bottle to prevent turning of cap after bottle is closed for shipment.

46. Amend § 73.289 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8323, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.289, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.289 Formic acid and formic acid solutions. (a) Formic acid and formic acid solutions must be packed in specification containers as follows:

SUBPART F—COMPRESSED GASES; DEFINITION AND PREPARATION

47. Amend § 73.301 paragraph (f) (2) (15 F. R. 8324, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.301, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Manifolding is authorized for containers of the following gases, provided individual containers are equipped with approved safety devices as required by § 73.34 (f) and further provided that each container is equipped with individual shut-off valve, or valves, which shall be tightly closed while in transit. Manifold branch lines to these individual shut-off valves shall be sufficiently flexible to prevent injury to the valves which otherwise might result from the use of rigid branch lines. When a temperature measuring device is used on a cylinder the manifold shut-off valve shall be deemed the equivalent of the individual shut-off valve; boron trifluoride; hydrogen; hydro-carbon gases (nonliquefied); methane.

48. Amend § 73.309 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8327, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.309, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.309 Acetylene gas. (a) Acetylene gas must be shipped in cylinders, spec. 8 or 8AL (§§ 78.59 or 78.60 of this chapter). The cylinders must be filled with a porous material that has been tested with satisfactory results by the Bureau of Explosives, and this material must be charged with a suitable solvent.

49. Amend § 73.314 paragraph (a) Table, (15 F. R. 8328, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.314, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

Kind of gas	Maximum permitted filling density, note 1	Required type of tank car, note 2
Change
Dichlorodifluoromethane	119 123	ICC–105A500, ICC–110A500–W, note 12, ICC–105A300.
Monochlorodifluoromethane	105 110	ICC–105A500, ICC–110A500–W, note 12, ICC–105A300.

50. Amend § 73.314 paragraph (a) Table Note 3 paragraph (b) (15 F. R. 8328, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.314, paragraph (a) Table Note 3 paragraph (b), 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, and only for shipments made during the months of November to March, inclusive, the following filling densities may be used in lieu of those specified in the table in Note 3 (a).

(No change in table.)

51. Amend § 73.314 paragraph (a) Table Note 12, (15 F. R. 8329, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.314 paragraph (a) Table Note 12, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

NOTE 12: tanks complying with specification 106A500 (§ 78.275 of this chapter), containing chlorine, anhydrous ammonia, sulfur dioxide, methyl chloride, dichlorodifluoromethane, monochlorodifluoromethane, monochlorotetrafluoroethane, vinyl chloride, inhibited, difluoroethane, difluoromonochloroethane, dispersant gas, n. o. s., or dichlorodifluoromethane and difluoroethane mixture (constant boiling mixture), tanks complying with specification 110A500W (§ 78.293 of this chapter), containing dichlorodifluoromethane or monochlorodifluoromethane, or tanks complying with specification 106A800 (§ 78.276 of this chapter), containing hydrogen sulfide, may be transported on trucks or semitrailers only, when securely chocked or clamped thereon to prevent shifting, and provided adequate facilities are present for handling tanks where transfer in transit is necessary. See § 74.560 of this chapter, for rail freight-motor vehicle shipments.

52. Amend § 73.314 paragraph (g) (15 F. R. 8329, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.314, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(g) The maximum quantity of any liquefied gas, except crude nitrogen fertilizer solution, fertilizer ammoniating solution containing free ammonia, methyl chloride, and vinyl chloride, inhibited, loaded into tanks mounted on one car structure must not exceed 60,000 pounds: Provided, That for single-unit tank car tanks having water weight capacities not less than 86,240 pounds nor over 90,640 pounds, lagged with 4 inches of corkboard, equipped with one or more safety valves set to open at a pressure of 225 pounds per square inch, the total discharge capacity of which must be sufficient to prevent building up of pressure in the tank in excess of 225 pounds per square inch, mounted on one car structure, tank jackets stenciled ICC–105A300 (§ 78.271 of this chapter) if tanks are forge-welded and ICC–105A300W (§ 78.286 of this chapter) if tanks are fusion-welded, and in all other respects constructed and maintained in full compliance with I. C. C. shipping container specification 105A500 or 105A500W (§§ 78.273 or 78.288 of this chapter), the quantity of liquefied chlorine gas or liquefied sulfur dioxide gas loaded into such tanks must be not more than 110,000 pounds and the quantity of liquefield chlorine gas loaded into such tanks must be at least 107,800 pounds. (See Appendix D to Subpart I of Part 78 of this chapter.)

SUBPART G—POISONOUS ARTICLES; DEFINITION AND PREPARATION

53. Amend § 73.329 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8332, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.329, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Chlorpicrin, mixture of chlorpicrin and methyl chloride, or mixtures of chlorpicrin with nonpoisonous liquid, in addition to containers prescribed in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, when offered for transportation by carriers by rail freight, highway, or water may be shipped in specification containers as follows:

54. Amend § 73.334 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8333, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.334, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.334 Hexaethyl tetraphosphate, parathion, tetraethyl dithio pyrophosphate, and tetraethyl pyrophosphate mixtures. (a) Hexaethyl tetraphosphate, parathion, tetraethyl dithio pyrophosphate, and tetraethyl pyrophosphate mixtures with compressed gas, containing no more than 10 percent by weight of hexaethyl tetraphosphate, parathion, tetraethyl dithio pyrophosphate, or tetraethyl pyrophosphate mixtures must be packed in specification containers as follows:

55. Add paragraph (b) (7) to § 73.345 (15 F. R. 8334, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.345, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(7) Thiophosgene.

56. Amend § 73.353 paragraph (a) (2) (15 F. R. 8335, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.353, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 15A, 15B, 15C, 16A, 19A, or 12B (§§ 78.168, 78.169, 78.170, 78.185, 78.190, or 78.205 of this chapter). Wooden, wire-bound wooden, or fiberboard boxes, with inside metal cans containing not over 1 pound each; outage required so can shall not become liquid-full at 130° F. Cans must be of tinplate or lined with suitable material and must have concave or pressure ends. Cans must be able to withstand an interior pressure of 130 pounds per square inch gauge without evidence of leakage or permanent distortion.

57. Add § 73.356 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8336, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.356, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 73.356 Thiophosgene. (a) Thiophosgene must be packed in specification containers as follows:

(1) Spec. 12B (§ 78.205 of this chapter). Fiberboard boxes, with inside containers which must be tightly closed glass bottles not exceeding 1 pint capacity each, securely packed in absorbent incombustible cushioning material must be capable of absorbing entire contents of the container.

(2) Spec. 15A or 15B (§§ 78.168 or 78.169 of this chapter). Wooden boxes, with inside containers which must be tightly closed glass bottles not exceeding 1 quart capacity each, securely packed in absorbent incombustible cushioning material. Cushioning material must be capable of absorbing entire contents of container.

58. Amend § 73.373 paragraph (a) (3) (15 F. R. 8338, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.373, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(3) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums, gross weight 400 pounds; side walls must be of at least 10-ply construction having strength not less than 1,200 pounds Mullen or Cady test; in addition to tests prescribed by §§ 78.222–4 or 78.223–4 of this chapter, a drum must withstand two drops from a height of 6 feet to solid concrete, the first drop to be made diagonally on bottom chime and the second drop diagonally on the top chime; when heads are made of wood, the grain of the wood must run parallel to concrete surface.

59. Amend § 73.374 paragraph (a) (2), (15 F. R. 8338, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.374, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(2) Spec. 21A or 21B (§§ 78.222 or 78.223 of this chapter). Fiber drums, authorized only for nitrochlorbenzene, para, flaked, gross weight 400 pounds; side walls must be of at least 10-ply construction having strength not less than 1,200 pounds Mullen or Cady test; in addition to tests prescribed by §§ 78.222–4 and 78.223–4 of this chapter, a drum must withstand two drops from a height of 6 feet to solid concrete, the first drop to be made diagonally on the bottom chime and the second drop diagonally on the top chime; when heads are made of wood, the grain of the wood must run parallel to concrete surface.

60. Amend § 73.392 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8339, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 73.392, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Radioactive materials such as ores, residues, etc., of low activity packed in strong tight containers are exempt from specification packaging and labeling requirements for shipment in carload lots by rail freight only provided the gamma radiation or equivalent will not exceed 10 milliroentgens per hour at a distance of 12 feet from any surface of the car and that the gamma radiation or equivalent will not exceed 10 milliroentgens per hour at a distance of 5 feet from either end surface of the car. There must be no loose radioactive material in the car, and the shipment must be braced so as to prevent leakage or shift of lading under conditions normally incident to transportation. The car must be placarded by the shipper as provided in §§ 74.541 (b) and 74.553 of this chapter. Shipment must be loaded by consignor and unloaded by consignee.

PART 74—CARRIERS BY RAIL FREIGHT

1. Amend § 74.501 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8344, 8345, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.501, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 74.501 Acceptable articles. (a) Explosives, including samples of explosives and explosive articles not exceeding 5 pounds net weight and other dangerous articles may be accepted and transported, provided they are in proper condition and are certified, for transportation by rail, highway, or water. Articles must be loaded, stayed, and handled in transit according to regulations applying to service or services used. Methods of manufacture, packing, and storage, in so far as they affect safety in transportation, must be open to inspection by a duly authorized representative of the initial carrier or by the Bureau of Explosives.

2. Add Note 1 to § 74.505 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8345, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.505, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

NOTE 1: Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, compressed gas cylinders 40 inches in length and 8 inches in diameter, charged with not more than 40 pounds of carbon dioxide and shipped by or to the Canadian Department of National Defense in accordance with Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada Order No. 76253 dated Mar. 10, 1951, may be shipped to destinations in the United States or through the United States to points in Canada.

SUBPART A—LOADING, UNLOADING, PLACARDING AND HANDLING CARS; LOADING PACKAGES INTO CARS

3. Amend § 74.526 paragraph (b) (1) (15 F. R. 8346, 8347, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.526, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Shipments of explosive bombs and unfuzed explosive projectiles when not packed in wooden boxes, and large metal containers of incendiary bombs weighing 500 pounds or more, each, may be loaded in stock cars or in gondola cars (flat bottom) when adequately braced. Wooden boxed bombs which, due to size, cannot be loaded in closed cars may be loaded in open top cars but must be protected against accidental ignition.

(1) Explosives, class A, must not be loaded, transported, or stored in cars equipped with lighted heaters.

4. Amend § 74.529 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8347, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.529, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 74.529 Cars for class B explosives. (a) Explosives, class B, must not be loaded, transported, or stored in cars equipped with lighted heaters.

5. Amend § 74.532 paragraphs (b), (d), and (e) (15 F. R. 8347, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.532, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Flammable liquids (red label) and flammable gases (red gas label) must not be loaded, transported, or stored in cars equipped with lighted heaters.

(d) Metal barrels or drums containing flammable liquids may be loaded on steel gondola or flat cars or into stock cars, but must not be loaded into hopper bottom cars.

(Note 1 to paragraph (d) remains unchanged.)

(e) Empty cylinders, barrels, kegs, or drums, previously used for the shipment of any dangerous article, as defined in Part 73 of this chapter, must have all openings including removable heads, filling and vent holes properly closed before being offered for transportation. Small quantities of the material with which containers were loaded may remain in "empty" containers and when the vapors remaining therein are unstable, it is permissible to add sufficient inert gas to render the vapors stable.

SUBPART B—LOADING AND STORAGE CHART OF EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES

6. Amend § 74.538, chart, footnotes a, b, c, and Notes 1, 2, and 3 (15 F. R. 8349, 8350, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.538, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 74.538 Loading and storage chart of explosives and oth er dangerous articles. (a) Explosives or other dangerous articles must not be loaded, transported, or stored together, except as provided in this section.

The following table shows the explosives and other dangerous articles which must not be loaded or stored together. The letter X at an intersection of horizontal and vertical columns shows that these articles must not be loaded or stored together, for example: Detonating fuzes, boosters (explosive) 7 horizontal column must not be loaded or stored with high explosives 2 vertical column.

Footnotes at bottom of the chart apply only to the items making reference to them.

8. Amend § 74.589 paragraph (g) (7), (15 F. R. 8356, Dec. 2, 1950) to read as follows:

(7) Loaded flat car.

NOTE: Flat cars equipped with permanently attached ends of rigid construction shall be considered as open-top cars. See subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.

9. Amend § 74.589 paragraph (h) (7) (49 CFR 74.589, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(7) Loaded flat car.

NOTE: Flat cars equipped with permanently attached ends of rigid construction shall be considered as open-top cars. See subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.

10. Amend § 74.589 paragraph (i) (7) (15 F. R. 8356, Dec. 2, 1950) to read as follows:

(7) Loaded flat car.

NOTE: Flat cars equipped with permanently attached ends of rigid construction shall be considered as open-top cars. See subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.

11. Amend § 74.589 paragraph (j) (7) (49 CFR 74.589, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(7) Loaded flat car.

NOTE: Flat cars equipped with permanently attached ends of rigid construction shall be considered as open-top cars. See subparagraph (8) of this paragraph.

12. Add paragraph (a) (1) to § 74.595 (15 F. R. 8357, 8358, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 74.595, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(1) Small quantities of the material with which the tank car was loaded may remain in the "empty" tank car and when the vapors remaining therein are unstable it is permissible to add sufficient inert gas to render the vapors stable.

PART 75—CARRIERS BY RAIL EXPRESS

13. Amend § 75.651 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8359, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 75.651, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 75.651 Acceptable articles. (a) Explosives and other dangerous articles, except such as will not be accepted, may be offered for transportation to rail express carriers engaged in interstate or foreign commerce and transported provided they are in proper condition for transportation and are certified that the regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter have been complied with, and provided their method of manufacture, packing, and storage, in so far as they affect safe transportation, are open to inspection by a duly authorized representative of the initial carrier or of the Bureau of Explosives.

PART 77—SHIPMENTS MADE BY WAY OF COMMON, CONTRACT, OR PRIVATE CARRIERS BY PUBLIC HIGHWAY

1. Amend first four paragraphs appearing under authority citation for Part 77 (15 F. R. 8361, Dec. 2, 1950) (15 F. R. 8824, Dec. 13, 1950) (49 CFR 77, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

[The regulations with respect to transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles as defined in Parts 71–78 of this chapter are applicable to every common,[1] contract,[2] and private[3] carrier by motor vehicle in interstate or foreign commerce, and also to every common,' contract,' and private' carrier by motor vehicle engaged solely in intrastate commerce.]

SUBPART A—GENERAL INFORMATION AND REGULATIONS

3. Amend § 77.800 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8361, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.800, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.800 Purpose of regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter. (a) To promote the uniform enforcement of law and to minimize the dangers to life and property incident to the transportation of explosives and other dangerous articles, by common, contract, and private carriers, by motor vehicles engaged in interstate, intrastate, or foreign commerce, the regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter are prescribed to define these articles for motor vehicle transportation purposes, and to state the precautions that must be observed by the carrier in handling them while in transit. It is the duty of each such carrier to make the prescribed regulations effective and to thoroughly instruct employees in relation thereto.

4. Amend § 77.801 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8361, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.801, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.801 Scope of regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter. (a) Explosives and other dangerous articles, except such as may not be accepted and transported under Parts 71–78 of this chapter, may be accepted and transported by common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle engaged in interstate, intrastate, or foreign commerce, provided they are in proper condition for transportation and are certified as being in compliance with Parts 71–78, and provided the method of manufacture, packing, and storage, so far as they affect safety in transportation, are open to inspection by a duly authorized representative of the initial carrier or of the Bureau of Explosives.

5. Amend § 77.802 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8361, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.802, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.802 Application of regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter. (a) The regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter apply to all common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle transporting explosives and other dangerous articles as defined in Parts 71–78 of this chapter in interstate, intrastate, or foreign commerce, except as follows:

(1) Exemptions for private carriers of flammable liquids in interstate or foreign commerce. Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, the following regulations shall apply to transportation of flammable liquids by private carriers by motor vehicle in interstate or foreign commerce:

All regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter applying to common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in interstate or foreign commerce shall apply to such private carriers, except:

Cargo tanks of tank motor vehicles constructed previous to June 15, 1943, may be continued in service if maintained in safe operating condition and sufficiently frequent inspections are maintained to determine compliance with all requirements as specified below.

Any defect or deficiency, due to accident or otherwise, that is likely to cause serious hazard must be corrected before any such tank is continued in or returned to service; see, however, § 77.856.

Requirements applying to tests of tanks, and provisions for markers thereon except that indicating the flammable nature of the cargo, are waived.

Outages for shipments shall be those provided for in Part 73 of this chapter, except that filling of tanks to outage markers already incorporated in tanks, having due regard for safety in the transportation of the flammable liquids, need not be changed.

Section 77.815 labels, and § 77.819 certification of packages, need not be complied with by such private carriers, except as to packages transferred from one carrier to another.

(2) Exemptions for common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle of flammable liquids in intrastate commerce. Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, the following regulations shall apply to transportation of flammable liquids by common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce:

All regulations in Parts 71–78 of this chapter applying to common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle in intrastate commerce shall apply to such carriers, except:

That common, contract, and private carriers by motor vehicle transporting flammable liquids in intrastate commerce shall not be subject to Parts 71–78 of this chapter.

(3) Shipments accepted by motor vehicle for further transportation by other carriers. When shipments are accepted by motor vehicle for further transportation by rail express (see also paragraph (c) of this section), rail baggage (see also paragraph (d) of this section), rail freight, or by water on board vessel, they must, in addition to Parts 71–78 of this chapter, comply with the applicable regulations for the service by which they are to be transported.

6. Amend § 77.804 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8362, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.804, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.804 Export shipments by domestic carriers by motor vehicle. (a) Explosives and other dangerous articles authorized to be exported from the United States when packed, marked, labeled, and described, in accordance with rules and regulations in force at destination ports, must not be offered to any common, contract, or private carrier by motor vehicle for domestic transportation unless in full accordance with Parts 71–78 of this chapter.

7. Add Note 1 to § 77.805 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8362, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.805, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

NOTE 1: Because of the present emergency and until further order of the Commission, compressed gas cylinders 40 inches in length and 8 inches in diameter, charged with not more than 40 pounds of carbon dioxide and shipped by or to the Canadian Department of National Defense in accordance with Board of Transport Commissioners for Canada Order No. 76253, dated March 10, 1951, may be shipped to destinations in the United States or through the United States to points in Canada.

8. Amend § 77.807 paragraph (a) (3) (15 F. R. 8362, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.807, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.807 Emergency shipments. (a) for the protection of the public against fire, explosion, or other or further hazard, with respect to shipments of explosives or other dangerous articles offered for transportation or in transit by any common, contract, or private carrier by motor vehicle, such carrier shall make immediate report to the Bureau of Explosives, 30 Vesey Street, New York, N. Y., for handling, any of the following emergency matters coming to their attention (see also §§ 77.853 to 77.870 for handling shipments in transit):

* * * * *

(3) Other like emergencies in which any common, contract, or private carrier by motor vehicle is or is likely to become involved, or may offer aid at its command.

9. Amend § 77.814 paragraph (a) Report Form (15 F. R. 8362, 8363, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.814, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

SUBPART B—LOADING AND UNLOADING

10. Amend § 77.835 paragraphs (g), (h), and (k) (15 F. R. 8365, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.835, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(g) Blasting caps or electric blasting caps in the same motor vehicle with other high explosives. Except as provided in paragraph (k) of this section, no blasting caps or electric blasting caps may be transported in or on a motor vehicle with any high explosive.

(h) Lading within body covered, tailgate closed. Except as provided in paragraph (k) of this section, all of that portion of the lading of any motor vehicle which consists of explosives shall be contained entirely within the body of the motor vehicle, and if such motor vehicle has a tailboard or tailgate, it shall be closed and secured in place during such transportation. Every motor vehicle transporting explosives must have a closed body or have the body thereof covered with a tarpaulin, and in either event care must be taken to protect the load from moisture and sparks.

(k) Transportation of liquid nitroglycerin, desensitized liquid nitroglycerin, and diethylene glycol dinitrate, other than desensitized liquid explosives as defined in § 73.53 (e) of this chapter. Liquid nitroglycerin, desensitized liquid nitroglycerin, and diethylene glycol dinitrate, other than desensitized liquid explosives as defined in § 73.53 (e) of this chapter, may be accepted for transportation and transported only by motor carriers other than common carriers. Such explosives must be loaded into or on a motor vehicle having the type of body specified in spec. MC–200 (§ 78.315 of this chapter). Liquid nitroglycerin, desensitized liquid nitroglycerin, and diethylene glycol dinitrate must not be loaded in excess of 10 quarts in any individual container nor shall the total quantity of such explosives exceed 900 quarts on one motor vehicle.

(1) Motor carriers, other than common carriers, engaged in geophysical, geological, seismograph, or well shooting operations transporting such explosives in accordance with this paragraph may also transport in the same motor vehicle in no greater quantity than is necessary for use on any particular trip, other explosives including percussion caps, detonators, blasting caps, electric blasting caps and tools or other supplies necessary for preparing and firing charges thereof: Provided, That such other explosives are packed as prescribed in the following table and are segregated, each kind from every other kind, and from tools and other supplies and are carried in a closed and covered bed or body which is firmly bolted or fastened above the lid of the compartment containing the liquid nitroglycerin, desensitized liquid nitroglycerin, or diethylene glycol dinitrate: Provided further, That in no case shall the net load exceed 7,500 pounds.

Materials for preparing and firing charges	Packing required
Other explosives.	1. Authorized outside shipping containers.
Percussion caps or detonators.	1. Cloth container having individual pockets for each percussion cap or detonator. 2. Container prescribed by Spec. MC–201.
Blasting caps or electric blasting caps.	1. Cloth container having individual pockets for each such cap. 2. Container prescribed by Spec. MC–201. 3. Authorized ICC outside shipping containers prescribed in § 73.66. 4. Authorized ICC inside shipping containers in an outside box made of 1 inch lumber lined with suitable padding material not less than ½ inch thick, or in an outside box made of not less than 12 gauge sheet metal lined with plywood or other suitable material not less than ¾ inch thick so that no metal is exposed; either type of box must have hinged cover and fastening device and must be so loaded in the motor vehicle so that contents or box will be immediately accessible for removal.
Tools and other supplies.	Shall be properly secured in place so as to prevent their coming in contact with the percussion caps, detonators, blasting caps or electric blasting caps.

(2) Motor carriers, other than common carriers, engaged in geophysical, geological, seismograph, or well shooting operations transporting desensitized liquid explosives as defined in § 73.53 (e) of this chapter (see also § 73.62 of this chapter), or high explosives (see §§ 73.63, 73.64, and 73.65 of this chapter), may also transport in the same motor vehicle, in no greater quantity than is necessary for use on any particular trip, other explosives including percussion caps, detonators, blasting caps, electric blasting caps and tools or other supplies necessary for preparing and firing charges thereof: Provided, That such other explosives are packed as prescribed in the table in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph and are segregated each kind from every other kind, and from tools and other supplies and are carried in a closed and covered box which is firmly bolted or fastened to the motor vehicle body and separated from the desensitized liquid explosives or high explosives by not less than 3 feet: Provided, further, That the intervening space of 3 feet must be filled with dry sand or earth in bags or in a crib so constructed or lined as to prevent sifting of the sand or earth. The crib must be secured against movement.

11. Cancel Paragraphs (l) and (m) of § 77.835 (15 F. R. 8365, 8366, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.835, 1950 Rev.).

12. Amend § 77.840 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8367, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.840, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Tanks complying with specification 106A500 (§ 78.275 of this chapter), containing chlorine, anhydrous ammonia, sulfur dioxide, methyl chloride, dichlorodifluoromethane, monochlorodifluoromethane, monochlorotetrafluoroethane, vinyl chloride, inhibited, difluoroethane, difluoromonochloroethane, dispersant gas, n. o. s., or dichlorodifluoromethane and difluoroethane mixture (constant boiling mixture), tanks complying with specification 110A500W (§ 78.293 of this chapter), containing dichlorodifluoromethane or monochlorodifluoromethane, or tanks complying with specification 106A800 (§ 78.276 of this chapter), containing hydrogen sulfide, may be transported on trucks or semitrailers only, when securely chocked or clamped thereon to prevent shifting, and provided adequate facilities are present for handling tanks where transfer in transit is necessary. See § 74.560 (b) (1) of this chapter, for rail freight-motor vehicle shipments.

SUBPART C—LOADING AND STORAGE CHART OF EXPLOSIVES AND OTHER DANGEROUS ARTICLES

13. Amend § 77.848, chart, footnotes a, b, c, and Notes 1, 2, and 3, (15 F. R. 8368, 8369, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 77.848, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 77.848 Loading and storage chart of explosives and other dangerous articles. (a) Explosives or other dangerous articles must not be loaded, transported, or stored together, except as provided in this section.

The following table shows the explosives and other dangerous articles which must not be loaded or stored together. The letter X at an intersection of horizontal and vertical columns shows that these articles must not be loaded or stored together, for example: Detonating fuzes, boosters (explosive) 7 horizontal column must not be loaded or stored with high explosives 2 vertical column.

Chemical ammunition of the same classification containing incendiary charges may be loaded or stored together.
• Blasting caps, electric blasting caps, or detonators, column 4, may also be transported in the same motor vehicle with liquid nitroglycerin, desensitized liquid nitroglycerin, and diethylene glycol dinitrate, including desensitized liquid explosives as defined in § 73.53 (e) of this chapter, and high explosives, column 2, by motor carriers, other than common carriers, engaged in geophysical, geological, seismograph, or well shooting operations in conformity with § 77.805 (k).
• Gas identification sets may also be loaded and transported with articles named in columns 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 16, 17, 18 and 19.

NOTE 1: Cyanides or cyanide mixtures must not be loaded or stored with acids, corrosive liquids, or alkaline caustic liquids.

PART 78—SHIPPING CONTAINER SPECIFICATIONS

SUBPART C—SPECIFICATIONS FOR CYLINDERS

1. Amend § 78.51-10 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8406, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.51-10, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Cylinders with wall thickness less than 0.100 inch, the ratio of tangential length to outside diameter shall not exceed 4.0.

2. Amend § 78.51-17 paragraph (d) (15 F. R. 8407, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.51-17, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(d) Alternate guided-bend test. An alternate guided-bend test jig, as illustrated in § 78.51-23 (a) and (b), may be used for testing the soundness of fillet welded lap joints and joggle butt joints. The test specimen shall be bent across the weld as illustrated in sketch A or B for fillet welded lap joints and as illustrated in sketches C and D for joggle butt joints. The specimen shall be bent until the elongation at the outer surface, adjacent to the root of the weld, between the lightly scribed gauge lines—a to b, shall be at least 20 percent; except that this percentage may be reduced for steels having a tensile strength in excess of 50,000 pounds per square inch, as provided in § 78.51-16. No tested specimen shall show a crack, or other defect, as specified in § 78.51-17 (c). The gauge lines shall be lightly scribed before bending. The amount of elongation may be conveniently determined with a Brinell microscope or any other suitable method may be employed.

4. Amend § 78.55-2 paragraph (c) (15 F. R. 8417, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.55-2, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(c) Size. The maximum water capacity of this type shall not exceed 12 pounds or 333 cubic inches. The maximum outside diameter of the shell shall be five inches and maximum length of shell 21 inches.

5. Amend § 78.59-12 paragraph (b) (15 F. R. 8420, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.59-12, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(b) Pressure must be maintained for 30 seconds and sufficiently longer to insure complete expansion. Any internal pressure applied after heat-treatment and previous to the official test must not exceed 90 percent of the test pressure.

6. Amend § 78.59-16 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8420, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.59-16, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.59-16 Porous filling. (a) Cylinders must be filled with an approved porous material of such structure that it will not disintegrate or sag when wet with solvent or when subjected to normal service. The porous filling material shall be uniform in quality and free of voids, except that a well drilled into the filling material beneath the valve is authorized: Provided, That such a well be filled with a material of such type that the functions of the filling material are not impaired. Overall shrinkage of the filling material is authorized, provided the total clearance between the cylinder shell and filling material, after solvent has been added, does not exceed ½ of 1 percent of the respective diameter or length but in no case to exceed ⅛ inch measured diametrically and lowitudinally and that such clearances do not impair the functions of the filling material. In all cases, the filling material as installed in the cylinder must be approved by the Bureau of Explosives.

7. Amend § 78.60-4 paragraph (a) Table 1 (15 F. R. 8422, 8423, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.60-4, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

17. Amend § 78.127–5 paragraph (a) Table and footnote (15 F. R. 8452, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.127–5, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

20. Amend § 78.136–9 paragraph (a) (3) (15 F. R. 8454, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.136–9, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

(3) Gauge of metal, Brown and Sharpe, at start of fabrication; rated capacity in gallons; year of manufacture (for example, 7–30–50).

SUBPART F—SPECIFICATIONS FOR FIBERBOARD BOXES, DRUMS AND MAILING TUBES

21. Amend § 78.205–28 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8476, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.205–28, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.205–28 Special box; authorized only for wet electric storage batteries of impregnated rubber, asphaltum composition, wooden-battery-box type, or aluminum-case type, having a net weight greater than 75 pounds. (a) Must comply with this specification except as follows: Must be one-piece type of double wall corrugated fiberboard at least 400-pound test, or solid fiberboard testing at least 400 pounds; boxes may or may not have hand holes provided for in ends of box providing same will not materially weaken box, top of battery to be protected by wood frame, corrugated trays or scored sheets of corrugated fiberboard having minimum test of 200 pounds, top protection must bear evenly on connectors of battery to facilitate stacking of batteries; bottom of batteries to be protected by minimum of one excelsior pad or double wall corrugated fiberboard pad; sides and ends to be cushioned between batteries and walls of box; combined thickness of cushioning material and walls of box must be not less than ½", cushioning to be of excelsior pads, corrugated fiberboard or other suitable cushioning material; no more than one battery to be packed per box, authorized gross weight 190 pounds.

22. Amend § 78.214–14 paragraph (a) (15 F. R. 8479, 8480, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.214–14, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.214–14 Flap closures. (a) Flaps must butt or have full overlap excepting that inner flaps may overlap ½ inch.

SUBPART I—SPECIFICATIONS FOR TANK CARS

23. Add § 78.291 (15 F. R. 8523, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.291, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.291 Specification for tank cars having fusion-welded aluminum tanks Class ICC–103–AL–W. This specification covers Class ICC–103–AL–W tank cars having fusion-welded aluminum tanks to which have been added Association of American Railroads details which are not inconsistent therewith. Wherever the word "approved" is used in this specification, it means approval by the Association of American Railroads' Committee on Tank Cars as prescribed in § 78.259 (b), (c), (d), and (e)—Procedure.

ICC–1. Type. (a) Tanks built under this specification must be cylindrical, with heads dished convex outward, and must have at least one expansion dome with manhole, and such other external projections as are prescribed herein.

AAR–1. Lagging. (a) Not a specification requirement. If applied, the tank shell and dome must be lagged with an approved insulation material of a thickness so that the thermal conductance is not more than 0.225 B. t. u. per square foot, per degree Fahrenheit differential in temperature, per hour.

AAR–1. (b) Before lagging is applied the tank surfaces to be lagged and the inside surface of the metal jacket shall be painted.

AAR–1. (c) The barrel, ends and dome of tank, except seatings of tanks on bolster and pads of fixtures, shall be lagged with insulating material.

AAR–1. (d) The lagging throughout shall be covered with a metal jacket not less than ⅛ inch in thickness.

AAR–1. (e) Openings through lagging shall be flashed around projections to prevent admission of water. Top of dome shall be so constructed that liquids cannot enter between dome wall and outer shell.

ICC–2. Bursting pressure. (a) The calculated bursting pressure, based on the lowest tensile strength of the plate and the efficiency of the longitudinal welded joint, must be at least 300 pounds per square inch.

AAR–2. Thickness of plates. (a) The wall thickness in the cylindrical portion of the tank must be calculated by the following formula but in no case shall the wall thickness be less than that specified in paragraph ICC–1.

$$t=\frac{Pd}{2SE},$$

t = thickness in inches of thinnest plate.
P = specified min. bursting pressure pounds per square inch.

d = inside diameter in inches.
S = minimum ultimate tensile strength in pounds per square inch in zone adjacent to welds as given below.
E = efficiency of longitudinal welded joint=90 percent.

Alloy 996A = 9,500 p. s. i.
Alloy 990A = 11,000 p. s. i.
Alloy M1A = 14,000 p. s. i.
Alloy GS11A=24,000 p. s. i.

ICC–3. Material. (a) All plates for tank and expansion dome shall be of an aluminum alloy suitable for fusion welding and not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading.

ICC–3. (b) All rivets must be of aluminum alloy of suitable composition. They must be handled and driven in a manner that will insure the requisite strength.

AAR–3. Material. (a) All plates for the tank and expansion dome must conform to Specification A. S. T. M. No. B–178, latest issue (Aluminum and Aluminum Alloy Sheet and Plate for Use in Pressure Vessels).

AAR–3 (b) Aluminum alloy castings must conform to Specification A. S. T. M. No. B–26, latest issue (Aluminum[3] Base Alloy Sand Castings) or B–108, latest issue (Aluminum-Base Alloy Permanent Mold Castings).

AAR–3. (c) Aluminum alloy forgings must be of suitable composition.

ICC–4. Thickness and width of plates. (a) The minimum thickness of plates must be as follows:

	Inch
Bottom sheet	5/8
Shell sheet	½
Expansion dome sheet	½
Tank head (dished)	5/8
Tank head (ellipsoidal)	½
Expansion dome head (dished or ellipsoidal)	½

ICC–4. (b) The minimum width of bottom sheet of tank must be 60 inches, measured on the arc, but in all cases the width must be sufficient to bring the entire width of the longitudinal welded joint, including welds, above the cradle.

AAR–4. (a) For extreme diameter A. A. R. clearance requirements govern.

AAR–4. (b) For tanks built of one piece cylindrical sections, the thickness specified for bottom sheet must apply to the entire cylindrical shell.

AAR–4. (c) Car must have underframe.

ICC–5. Tank heads. (a) Tank heads must be of approved contour.

AAR–5. Tank heads. (a–1) Tank heads may be dished or ellipsoidal for pressure on concave side.

AAR–5. (a–2) Dished heads must have main inside radius not exceeding ten feet. The inside knuckle radius must be not less than five inches.

AAR–5. (a–3) Ellipsoidal tank head shapes shall be an ellipsoid of revolution in which the major axis shall equal the diameter of the shell and the minor axis shall be one-half of this.

AAR–5. (b–1) The thickness of tank head must be determined by the following formulas but shall in no case be less than that specified in paragraph ICC–4 (a). The following formula shall be used in computing thickness of dished heads:

$$t=\frac{5PL}{6SE},$$

t = thickness of plate, inches.
P = bursting pressure, pounds per square inch.
L = main inside radius to which head is dished measured on concave side of head, inches.
S = minimum ultimate tensile strength in pounds per square inch in zone adjacent to welds. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)
E = efficiency of welded joint to shell = 90 percent.

AAR–5. (b–2) The thickness of an ellipsoidal head shall be determined by the following formula:

$$t=\frac{Pd}{2SE},$$

where

t = thickness of plate, inches.
P = specified minimum bursting pressure, pounds per square inch.
d = inside diameter, inches.
S = minimum ultimate tensile strength in pounds per square inch in zone adjacent to welds. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)
E = efficiency of welded joint to shell = 90 percent.

ICC–6. Welding. (a) All joints must be fusion welded by a process which investigation and laboratory tests by the Mechanical Division of the Association of American Railroads have proved will produce satisfactory results.

ICC–6 (b) Manhole ring, safety valve flange, and bottom outlet nozzle flange or other attachments may be riveted or fusion welded. Riveted joints must be made metal to metal without interposition of other material. Rivets must be calked inside. For computing rivet areas the effective diameter of a driven rivet is the diameter of its reamed hole, which hole must in no case exceed nominal diameter of rivet by more than 1/16 inch. Use of rivets of less than ⅝" nominal diameter prohibited. Fusion welding for securing these attachments in place must be of double welded butt joint type or double full-fillet lap joint type.

ICC–6. Calking. (c) All attachments riveted to the tank must have the rivets and the joints formed by attachments calked on the inside of tank.

AAR–6. Welding. (a) Fusion welding to be performed by fabricators certified by Association of American Railroads as qualified to meet the requirements of this specification. All joints must be fabricated by means of fusion welding in accordance with the following requirements:

AAR–6. Definitions—(b–1) Fusion welding. A process of welding metals in the molten, or molten and vaporous state without the application of mechanical pressure or blows.

AAR–6. (b–2) Double-welded butt joint. A joint formed by the fusion of two abutting edges with a filler metal added from both sides of the joint and with reinforcement on both sides. (For permission to remove reinforcements see par. AAR–6 (m–1).)

NOTE: A joint with filler metal added from one side only is considered equivalent to a double-welded butt joint when and if means are provided for accomplishing complete penetration and reinforcement on both sides of the joint.

AAR–6 (b–3) Full-fillet joint. A fusion weld of approximately triangular cross section the throat of which lies in a plane disposed approximately 45 degrees with respect to the surface of the parts joined, and built up to the full thickness of the plate or nozzle flange that is being joined to a parallel plate, having the throat not less than 0.7 the thickness of the edge of the plate being welded.

AAR–6. (b–4) Throat. The minimum thickness of a weld along a straight line passing through the bottom of the cross sectional space provided to contain a fusion weld.

AAR–6. (b–5) Single full-fillet lap joint. A single full-fillet-lap joint is one in which the overlapped edges of two plates are full-fillet welded along one edge only.

AAR–6. (b–6) Double full-fillet lap joint. A double full-fillet lap joint is one in which the overlapped edges of the plates to be joined are full-fillet welded at the edge of each plate.

NOTE: When attachments, referred to in paragraph ICC–6 (b) have flanges thicker than the plates to which they are joined, and are secured in place by fillet welds, such welds shall be of the double full-fillet-lap-joint type in which the throat is not less than 0.7 the thickness of the plate to which the attachment is joined.

AAR–6. (b–7) Plug weld. A plug weld is one used to join two plates by welding through a hole in one of them to secure a bond and subsequently filling the hole with weld metal. Plug welds to be used only in conjunction with fillet welds.

AAR–6. (c) Joint efficiency, maximum. The efficiencies for computing the value of the various types of fusion-welded joints in tanks constructed in conformity with requirements of this specification shall not exceed the following:

Types of joints	Efficiency of Joint (percent)
Double-welded butt joint	90.0
Full-fillet joint:
Single full-fillet lap joint without plug welds. (See fig. 21)	55.0
Single full-fillet lap joint with plug welds. (See fig. 20)	65.0
Double full-fillet lap joint	65.0

NOTE: Strength of fillet welds shall be computed on the throat dimension of the triangular section, using the strength in shear and in conjunction with the stresses given below, multiplied by the joint efficiency given above.

For end welds, the maximum shear stresses shall be 80.0 percent of the minimum ultimate tensile strength given in paragraph AAR–2 (a).

For side welds, the maximum shear stresses shall be 60.0 percent of the minimum ultimate tensile strength given in paragraph AAR–2 (a).

Plug-weld. The maximum load on each plug weld shall be computed for either shear or tension by the following formula:

$$L = 0.63\ (d - \tfrac{1}{4})^2 \times s,$$

where

L = total maximum load in shear or tension on each plug weld in pounds.
d = diameter of the bottom of the hole in which the plug is made in inches.
s = maximum stress in shear or tension, as the case may be, in pounds per square inch.
s for shear = 80 percent of minimum ultimate tensile strength. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)
s for tension = minimum ultimate tensile strength. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)

Welding must meet the following test requirements:

AAR–6. Test plates. (d–1) A test plate of the dimensions shown in figure 10 from aluminum of the same specifications and thickness as the shell plates prepared for welding may be attached to the shell plate being welded, as in figure 9, on one end of one longitudinal joint of each tank so that the edges to be welded in the test plate are a continuation of and duplication of the corresponding edges of the longitudinal joint. In this case the weld metal shall be deposited in the test plates continuously with the weld metal deposited in the longitudinal joint. The plates for test samples may be taken from any part of one or more plates of the same lot of material that is used in the fabrication of welded tanks and without reference to the direction of the mill rolling. As an alternate method, a detach-test plate may be welded as provided for in AAR–6 (d–2). When more than one welding operator is employed on a tank, the required test plates for the individual tanks shall be made by welding operator designated by the inspector.

AAR–6. (d–2) When a test plate is welded for the longitudinal joints, none need be furnished for circumferential joints in the same tank, providing the welding process, procedure, and technique are the same.

AAR–6. (d–3) When there are several tanks being welded in succession, or at any one time, the plate thicknesses of which fall within a range of ¼ inch, each 200 feet of longitudinal and circumferential seams may be considered as the equivalent of one tank and only the test plates required by paragraphs AAR–6 (d–1) and AAR–6 (d–2) need be made, provided they are welded in the same way as the joints in question. When the manufacturer is in the regular and continuous production of ICC–103–AL–W or ICC–103–A–AL–W tanks, only one test plate need be made for one tank out of twenty (20) of any of these classes, provided a minimum of one (1) test plate per week for any of these classes is made.

The test plates shall be so supported that warping due to welding shall not throw the finished test plate out of line by an angle of over five degrees.

AAR–6. Test specimens. (e) The coupons for tension and bend test shall be removed as shown in figure 10 and be of the dimensions shown in figures 10 and 11.

AAR–6. Tension tests. (f–1) Two types of tension-test specimens are required, one of the joint and the other of the weld metal. The tension specimen of the joint shall be transverse to the welded joint, and shall be the full thickness of the welded plate after the outer and inner surfaces of the weld have been machined to a plane surface flush with the plate.

AAR–6. (f–2) The tensile strength of the joint specimen in figure 10 shall not be less than the minimum ultimate tensile strength in zone adjacent to welds. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)

AAR–6. (f–3) The tension-test specimen of the weld metal shall be taken entirely from the deposited weld metal and shall meet the following requirements:

Tensile strength = at least that of the minimum ultimate tensile strength in zone adjacent to welds. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)

Elongation, minimum in 2", or 4D (D = diameter) for each aluminum alloy must be as follows:

	Percent
Alloy 996A	25
Alloy 990A	28
Alloy M1A	23
Alloy GS11A	5

For plate thicknesses less than ⅝ inch, the all-weld-metal tension test may be omitted.

AAR–6. Bend tests. (g–1) The bend-test specimen shall be transverse to the welded joint of the full thickness of the plate and shall be of rectangular cross section with the width 1½ times the thickness of the specimen. The inside and outside surfaces of the weld shall be machined to a plane surface flush with the plate. The edges of this surface shall be rounded to a radius not over 10 percent of the thickness of the plate. The specimen shall be bent cold under free bending conditions until the least elongation measured within or across approximately the entire weld on the outside fibers of the bend-test specimen is not less than the percentages specified in paragraph AAR–6 (f–3).

AAR–6. g–2) When a crack is observed in the convex surface of the specimen between the edges the specimen shall be considered to have failed and the test shall be stopped. Cracks at the corners of the specimen shall not be considered as a failure. The appearance of small defects in the convex surface shall not be considered as a failure if the greatest dimension does not exceed 1/16 inch.

AAR–6. Specific gravity of weld metal. (h) No specific gravity test required.

AAR–6. Retests. (i–1) Should any of the tests fail to meet the requirements by more than 10 percent, no retests shall be allowed. (See par. AAR–2 (a).)

AAR–6. (i–2) Should any of the tests fail to meet the requirements by 10 percent or less, retests shall be allowed. A second test plate shall be welded by the same operator who welded the plate which failed to meet the test requirements. The retest shall be made on specimens cut from the second plate.

AAR–6. (i–3) The retests shall comply with the requirements. For either of the tension retests, two specimens shall be cut from the second test plate, and both of these shall meet the requirements.

AAR–6. (i–4) When there is more than one specimen of the same type and when one or more of the group specimens fail to meet the requirements, the retest shall be made on an entire group of specimens which shall meet the requirements.

AAR–6. (i–5) If the percentage of elongation of any tension test specimen is less than that specified and any part of the fracture is more than ¾ inch from the center of the gauge length of the two-inch specimen, or is outside of the middle third of the gauge length of the full-size specimen as indicated by the scribe scratches marked on the specimen before testing, a retest shall be allowed.

AAR–6. Nondestructive tests. (j–1) All longitudinal and circumferential welded joints of the tank shell shall be examined throughout their entire length by the X-ray method of radiography. When a nozzle, expansion dome or fitting is attached to a tank by a flange or saddle inserted in and butt welded to the shell at the edge of the flange as shown in figure 22, the weld so made shall be radiographed. Radiographic examination of welds attaching other designs of nozzles, expansion domes or fittings to the tank shell may be omitted.

AAR–6. (j–2) Where excess metal is removed welded joints shall be prepared as follows: The weld reinforcements on both the inside and outside shall be ground, chipped and ground, or suitably machined to remove the irregularities of the weld surface so that it merges smoothly into the plate surface. The finished surface of the reinforcement may have a crown of uniform amount not to exceed approximately 1/16 inch.

ARR–6. (j–3) The films obtained by the use of X-rays shall be known as "exographs" or "radiographs".

AAR–6. (j–4) The weld shall be radiographed with a technique which will determine quantitatively the size of defects with thicknesses equal to and greater than two percent of the thickness of the base metal. To determine whether the radiographic technique employed is detecting defects of a thickness equal to and greater than two percent of the thickness of the base metal, suitable thickness gauges or penetrameters shall be placed on the side of the plate nearest the source of radiation and used in the following manner:

AAR–6. (j–4) (1) To determine whether the radiographic technique employed is detecting defects of a thickness equal to and greater than two percent of the thickness of the base material, thickness gauges or penetrameters of the type shown in figure 12 shall be placed on the side of the plate nearest the source of radiation and used as directed.

AAR–6. (j–4) (2) The material of the penetrameter shall be substantially the same as that of the plate under examination.

AAR–6. (j–4) (3) The thickness of the penetrameter shall not be more than two percent of the thickness of the plate.

AAR–6. (j–4) (4) There shall be three holes in each penetrameter of diameters equal respectively to two, three, and four times the penetrameter thickness, but in no case less than 1/16 inch. The smallest hole must be distinguishable on the radiograph.

AAR–6. (j–4) (5) Each penetrameter shall carry an identifying number representing, to two significant figures, the minimum thickness of plate for which it may be used.

AAR–6. (j–4) (6) The images of these identifying numbers shall appear clearly on the radiograph.

AAR–6. (j–4) (7) Each penetrameter shall be 1½ inches long and ½ inch wide. (See fig. 12.)

AAR–6. (j–5) Two penetrameters shall be used for each exposure, one at each end of the exposed length, parallel and adjacent to the weld seam with the small holes at the outer ends.

AAR–6. (j–6) The film during exposure shall be as close to the surface of the weld as is practicable. The distance of the film from the surface of the weld on the side opposite the source of radiation shall, if possible, be not greater than one inch. With the film not more than one inch from the weld surface the minimum distance between the source of radiation and the back of the weld shall be not less than 14 inches.

AAR–6. (j–7) There shall also be a plain indication on each film showing the job number, the shell, or shell section, and seam, as well as the manufacturer's identification, symbol or name.

AAR–6. (j–8) If it is necessary to expose the film at a distance greater than one inch from the weld, the following ratio of:

$$\frac{\text{Distance from source of radiation to weld surface toward radiation}}{\text{Distance from weld surface toward radiation to film}}$$ shall be at least 7 to 1.

AAR–6. (j–9) All radiographs shall be free from excessive mechanical processing defects which would interfere with proper interpretation of the radiograph.

AAR–6. (j–10) Identification markers, the images of which will appear on the film, shall be placed adjacent to the weld and their location accurately and permanently stamped near the weld on the outside surface of the shell, or shell section, so that a defect appearing on the radiograph may be accurately located in the actual weld.

AAR–6. (j–11) The radiographs shall be submitted to the inspector. If the inspector requests, the following data shall be submitted with the radiographs: (1) The thickness of the base metal, (2) the distance of the film from the surface of the weld, (3) the distance of the film from the source of radiation.

AAR–6. (j–12) The acceptability of welds examined by radiography shall be judged by comparing the radiographs with a standard set of radiographs for aluminum tanks, which may be obtained by purchase from Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads. In general, the standards of judgment shall be:

(1) Welds in which the radiographs show elongated inclusions or cavities shall be unacceptable if the length of any such imperfection is greater than $\frac{1}{3}T$, where T is the thickness of the weld. If the lengths of such imperfections are less than $\frac{1}{3}T$ and are separated from each other by at least $6L$ of acceptable weld metal, where L is the length of the longest imperfection, the weld shall be judged acceptable if the sum of the lengths of such imperfections is not more than T in a weld length of $12T$.

(2) Welds in which the radiographs show any type of crack or zones of incomplete fusion shall be unacceptable.

(3) Welds in which the radiographs show porosity shall be judged as acceptable or unacceptable by comparison with the standard set of radiographs.

AAR–6. (j–13) A complete set of radiographs for each tank shall be retained for not less than 20 years by the tank builder or by the car owner if he so requests.

AAR–6. Qualification of welders. (k–1) The manufacturer shall be responsible for the quality of the welding done by his organization and shall conduct tests of welding operators to determine their ability to produce welds of the required quality.

AAR–6. (k–2) The manufacturer shall satisfy the inspector that all the welding operators employed on a car tank have previously made test plates which comply with the requirements of this specification. Such test plates shall have been made within a period of six months, except that when the welding operator is regularly employed on production work embracing the same process and type of welding the tests may be effective for one year.

AAR–6. (k–3) It is the duty of the inspector to satisfy himself that only welding operators who are proved competent by these tests are used to weld any car tank and that all welding complies with the requirements of this specification.

AAR–6. (k–4) The inspector has the right at any time to call for and witness the making of welding operator's qualification test plates described in this paragraph by any welding operator, employed in connection with the inspector's contract and to observe the physical tests of the test plates. For such qualification tests the thickness of the test plate shall be approximately the thickness of the plate or parts on which the welding operator is to work.

AAR–6. (k–5) The tests conducted by one manufacturer shall not qualify a welding operator to do work for any other manufacturer.

AAR–6. Preparation for welding. (l–1) The plates may be cut to size and shape by machining, shearing or saw cutting. Oxygen Arc Method of cutting is allowed providing burned surface is cut back to clean up all evidence of burned edge. The plates or sheets to be joined shall be accurately cut to size and formed. In all cases the forming shall be done by pressure and not by blows, including the edges of the plates forming longitudinal joints of tanks.

AAR–6. (l–2) Particular care should be taken in the layout of joints in which fillet welds are to be used so as to make possible the fusion of the weld metal at the bottom of the fillet. Great care must also be exercised in the deposition of the weld metal so as to secure satisfactory penetration.

AAR–6. (l–3) If the thickness of the flange of a head to be attached to a tank shell by a butt joint exceeds the shell thickness by more than 25 percent (maximum ¼ inch), the flange thickness shall be reduced at the abutting edges either on the inside or the outside, as shown in figure 13 (b), or on both sides, as shown in figure 13 (a). Reduction of abutting edges as illustrated in figure 13 (c) is not permissible.

AAR–6 (l–4) The edges of the plates at the joints shall not have an offset from each other at any point in excess of 25 percent of the thickness of the plate (maximum ⅛ inch for longitudinal seams) and (maximum ¼ inch for girth joints).

AAR–6. (l–5) In all cases where plates of unequal thicknesses are abutted, and have offsets exceeding 25 percent of the plate thickness or ⅛" whichever is lesser, the edge of the thicker plate shall be reduced in some manner so that it is approximately the same thickness as the other plate. In longitudinal tank joints the middle lines of the plate thickness shall be in alignment, within the fabricating tolerances specified in paragraph AAR–6 (l–4).

AAR–6. (l–6) Bars, jacks, clamps, or other appropriate tools may be used to hold the edges to be welded in line. Tack welds may also be used to hold the edges in line, provided these tack welds are removed so that they do not become a part of the joint. The edges of butt joints shall be so held that they will not overlap during welding. Where fillet welds are used, the lapped plates shall fit closely and be kept together during welding.

AAR–6. (l–7) The surfaces of sheets or plates to be welded shall be cleaned thoroughly. When it is necessary to deposit metal over a previously welded surface, any foreign matter thereon shall be removed by a roughing tool, a chisel, an air chipping hammer, or other suitable means to prevent inclusion of impurities in the weld metal.

AAR–6. (l–8) The dimensions and shape of the edges to be joined shall be such as to allow thorough fusion and complete penetration.

AAR–6. (l–9) For double-welded butt joints the reverse sides shall be chipped or ground out so as to secure a clean surface of the originally deposited weld prior to the application of the first bead of welding on the second side. Such chipping or grinding out shall be done in a manner that will insure proper fusion of the weld metal. These requirements are not intended to apply to any process of welding by which proper fusion and penetration are otherwise obtained and no impurities remain at the base of the weld.

AAR–6. (l–10) If the welding is stopped for any reason, extra care shall be taken in restarting to get full penetration to the bottom of the joint and thorough fusion between the weld metal and the plates, and to the weld metal previously deposited.

AAR–6. Longitudinal joints. (m–1) Longitudinal joints shall be of the double-welded butt type and shall be reinforced at the center of the weld on each side of the plate by at least 1/16 inch up to and including ⅝-inch plate, and up to ⅛ inch for heavier plates. The reinforcement may be removed but if not removed shall be built up uniformly from the surface of the plate to a maximum at the center of the weld. Particular attention is called, however, to the importance of the provision that there shall be no valley or groove along the edge of or in the center of the weld, but that the deposited metal must be fused smoothly and uniformly into the plate surface. (If the reinforcement is built up so as to form a ridge with a valley or depression at the edge of the weld next to the plate, the result is a notch which causes concentration of stress and reduces the strength of the joint.) The finish of the welded joint shall be reasonably smooth and free from irregularities, grooves, or depressions. Where a welded butt joint is made the equivalent of a double-welded butt joint (see note in paragraph AAR–6 (b–2)) by using a backing-up strip and adding filler metal from one side only, the reinforcement shall not be less than 1/16 inch.

AAR–6. (m–2) Where tanks are made up of two or more courses with welded longitudinal joints, the joints of adjacent courses shall be not less than 60 degrees apart.

AAR–6. Circumferential joints. (n) Circumferential joints shall be of double-welded butt type. The details of all of these joints shall conform to the requirements of longitudinal joints given in AAR–6 (m–1).

AAR–6. Inspection. (o–1) Purchaser of tanks must provide for inspection by a competent inspector. The manufacturer shall submit the tank for inspection at such stages as may be designated by the inspector.

AAR–6. (o–2) Each tank must also be inspected at the time of the hydrostatic-pressure test by the inspector.

AAR–6. (o–3) The manufacturer shall certify that the welding on the tank has been done only by welding operators who have passed the test requirements and that the same material and technique used in making the tests were employed in fabricating the tank.

AAR–6. Distortion. (p) The shell of the completed tank shall be circular within a limit of plus or minus one percent of the inside diameter of the tank.

AAR–6. Repairs during original welding. (q–1) Pinholes, cracks, or other defects in welded joints shall be repaired only by chipping or machining out defect and rewelding.

AAR–6. (q–2) After repairs have been made the tank shall again be tested in the regular way, and if it passes the test the inspector shall accept it. If it does not pass the test the inspector can order supplementary repairs, or, if in his judgment the tank is not suitable for service, he may permanently reject it.

ICC–7. Stress relieving. Not a specification requirement.

ICC–8. Tank mounting. (a) The manner in which tank is supported on and securely attached to the car structure must be approved.

AAR–8. Anchorage. (a) See § 78.263 (m) to (p). The requirements of this section must be met by providing aluminum anchors. The total shear value of anchor must not be less than 1,320,000 pounds for cars with rail load limit of 169,000 pounds (single piece anchor). When multiple-piece anchorage is used, the minimum requirements prescribed for a single-piece anchorage shall be increased by 20 percent. When the rail load limit of a tank car is more than 169,000 pounds but does not exceed 210,000 pounds, all minimum requirements for a single-piece anchorage specified herein shall be increased by 25 percent. When the rail load limit of a tank car is over 210,000 pounds, all minimum requirements for single-piece anchorage specified herein shall be increased by 50 percent.

AAR–8. (b) Designs of anchorage employing other means of securement to tank than rivets, as described in § 78.263 may be used if approved.

ICC–9. Expansion dome. (a) The expansion dome must have a capacity, measured from the inside top of shell of tank to the inside top of dome or bottom of any vent pipe projection inside of dome, of at least two percent of the total capacity of the tank and dome combined, except that when safety valve or safety vent is applied to side of dome, the effective capacity of dome must be measured from top of safety valve or safety vent opening in the side of dome to inside top of shell of tank.

ICC–9. (b) The opening in manhole ring must be at least 16 inches in diameter. The opening in the tank shell within the dome must be at least 29 inches in diameter, and when the inside diameter of the dome exceeds 29 inches, the opening in the tank shell may be cut out to a diameter sufficiently greater than that of the dome to permit welding of tank shell to the base of the dome or to a tank shell reinforcing plate. Shell of tank about dome must be adequately reinforced.

ICC–9. (c) The dome head must be of approved contour.

AAR–9. (a) The dome shell thickness shall be calculated by the formula, paragraph AAR–2 (a).

AAR–9. (b) The dome head, if dished, must be dished to a radius not exceeding 96 inches. Thickness of the dished dome head shall be calculated by the formula, paragraph AAR–5 (b–1).

AAR–9. (c) Dome head may be an ellipsoid of revolution in which the major axis shall be equal to the diameter of the dome shell and the minor axis shall be one-half of this. The thickness in this case shall be determined by using formula of the main head. (See par. AAR–5 (b–2).)

AAR–9. (d) Tank shell shall be reinforced by the addition of a plate equal to or greater than shell in thickness and the cross sectional area shall exceed metal removed for dome opening, or tank shell shall be reinforced by a seamless saddle plate equal to or greater than shell in thickness and butt welded to tank shell. The reinforcing saddle plate shall be provided with a flued opening having a vertical flange of the diameter of the dome for butt welding shell of dome to the flange. The reinforcing saddle plate shall extend about the dome a distance measured along shell of tank at least equal to the extension at top of tank. Other approved designs may be used. Reinforcement should be computed as shown on figure 24A or figure 24B.

ICC–10. Closure for manholes. (a) The manhole cover must be of approved type and designed to make it practically impossible to remove the cover while the interior of the tank is subjected to pressure.

ICC–10. (b) Manhole covers and rings must be of aluminum alloys or other approved materials, cast or wrought.

ICC–10. (c) All covers not hinged to tank must be attached to outside of the dome head, by at least ⅜ inch chain or its equivalent.

ICC–10. (d) All joints between manhole covers and their seats must be made tight against leakage of vapor and liquid by use of gaskets of suitable material.

AAR–10. (a) Bolted type, bolted and hinged type or other approved type manhole cover must be used. See figures 5 and 6.

ICC–11. Gaging, bottom outlet valve operating, venting, loading, and discharging, and air inlet devices extending through domes of tanks. (a) Not specification requirements. When installed, these devices, including their valves, must be protected from accidental injury by being set into a securely covered recess, or by means of a cast, pressed, or forged housing of suitable material with cover securely attached. Housing, if welded to dome of tank, must be made of cast, forged or pressed metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of dome. Openings in wall of housing must be equipped with screw plugs or other closures. Drain holes permitted. Discharging siphon pipe must be securely anchored.

AAR–11. (a) These devices must be of approved design.

ICC–12. Venting, loading and discharging, and air inlet devices. (a) These devices, when installed, must be closed by efficient valves or fittings made of approved materials not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading. Provision must be made for closing the openings of the valves or fittings.

AAR–12. (a) These devices must be of approved design.

ICC–13. Bottom discharge outlets. (a) The bottom discharge outlet, when installed, must be made of approved metals not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading, be of approved construction, and be provided with a valve at its upper end and a liquid-tight closure at its lower end.

ICC–13. (b) The valve operating mechanism and outlet nozzle construction must be such as to insure against unseating of valve due to stresses or shocks incident to transportation.

ICC–13. (c) Tanks used for the transportation of poisonous solids, when designed for bottom unloading, must have the openings securely closed against leakage.

AAR–13. (a) Bottom discharge outlet nozzle may be cast, pressed, forged, or built up of plates, pipe or tubing welded together. The nozzle must be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of tank.

AAR–13. (b) To provide for the attachment of unloading connections, the outlet valve nozzle, or some affixed attachment thereto, must be equipped with a flange or with external U. S. F. threads, four threads per inch.

AAR–13. (c) For outlet nozzles that project six inches or more from shell of tank a "V" groove must be cut (not cast) in the upper part of outlet valve nozzle at a point immediately below the lowest part of valve to a depth that will leave thickness of nozzle wall at the root of the "V" not over ⅜ inch. In the case of steam jacketed outlet nozzles this groove must be below the steam chamber but above the bottom of center sill construction. Where outlet nozzle is not a single piece, arrangement must be made to provide the equivalent of the breakage groove.

AAR–13. (d) The flange on the outlet nozzle must be of a thickness which will prevent distortion of the valve seat or valve by any change in contour of the shell resulting from expansion of lading, or other causes, and which will insure that accidental breakage of the outlet nozzle will occur at or below the "V" groove.

AAR–13. (e) The valve must have no wings or stem projecting below the "V" groove in the outlet nozzle, unless they are scored or designed to break or bend without unseating valve. The valve and seat must be readily accessible or removable for repairs, including grinding.

AAR–13. (f) The valve operating mechanism must have means for compensating for variation in the vertical diameter of the tank produced by expansion, weight of the liquid contents, or other causes, and should operate from the interior of the tank, but in the event the rod is carried through the dome, leakage must be prevented by packing in stuffing box and cap nut.

AAR–13. (g) In no case must extreme projection of bottom discharge outlet equipment extend to within twelve inches above top of rail. All bottom discharge outlet reducers and closures and their attachments must be secured to car by at least ⅜ inch chain or its equivalent, except that outlet closure plugs may be attached by ¼ inch chain. When the bottom discharge outlet closure is of the combination cap and valve type, the pipe connection to the valve must be closed by a plug or cap.

ICC–14. Safety valves. (a) The tank must be equipped with one or more safety valves of approved materials mounted on expansion dome. Total valve discharge capacity must be sufficient to prevent building up of pressure in the tank in excess of 45 pounds per square inch.

ICC–14. (b) One safety valve must be provided for each tank of 6,650 gallons capacity or less, and two safety valves for each tank of over 6,650 gallons capacity.

ICC–14. (c) Each safety valve must be set to open at a pressure of 25 pounds per square inch. (For tolerance see paragraph ICC–18).

ICC–14. (d) Tanks used for the transportation of corrosive liquids, flammable solids, oxidizing materials or poisonous liquids or solids, class B, need not be equipped with safety valves, but if not so equipped must have one safety vent made of approved material at least two inches inside diameter closed with a frangible disc of suitable material, of a thickness that will hold a pressure of 45 pounds per square inch for a period of at least one hour, but will rupture within eight hours. Means for holding disc in place must be such as to prevent distortion or damage to disc when applied. Safety vent closure must be chained or otherwise fastened to prevent misplacement. An additional sealed vent of approved design, to prevent use of unloading pressures in excess of 45 pounds per square inch, may be applied. All tanks equipped with vents must be stenciled "Not for Flammable Liquids."

AAR–14. (a) Safety valve must be of approved design. See paragraph AAR–18. For safety vent, closure of bolted type preferable, see figure 3–A. For screw type safety vent closure, see figure 3.

AAR–14. (b) Safety valves or safety vent flanges, if welded to dome, must be of cast, forged, or pressed metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of dome.

ICC–15. Fixtures, reinforcements, and attachments not otherwise specified. (a) All attachments to tank and dome must be applied by approved means. When attachments are riveted the edges of plates must be beveled so that the angle of the calking edge will be between 60 and 70 degrees with the flat surface of the attachment. The extreme calking edge distance, measured from center line of rivet hole, must be at least one and one-half times the diameter of the hole and not more than that distance plus ¼ inch. The joints formed by attachment of all riveted external projections must be calked on the inside. Split calking prohibited. Interior heater systems, when installed, must be so constructed that the braking off of their external connections will not cause leakage of contents of tanks.

AAR–15. Heater systems. (a) See §§ 78.260 to 78.262, inclusive, Tank Car Heater Systems.

AAR–15. (b) Heater system and plug flanges, if welded to tank or dome, must be of cast, forged, or pressed metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of tank or dome.

ICC–16. Plugs for openings. (a) All plugs must be solid, of cast, rolled or forged metal of approved material with standard pipe thread, and when in contact with lading must be of a length which will screw at least six threads inside the face of fitting or tank. Plugs when inserted from the outside of tank must have the letter "S" at least ¾ inch in size stamped with steel stamp or cast on the outside surface to indicate the plug is solid.

ICC–17. Test of tanks. (a) Each tank must be tested, before being put into service, by completely filling tank and dome with water, or other liquid having similar viscosity, of a temperature which must not exceed 100° F. during the test, and applying a pressure of 60 pounds per square inch. Tank must hold the prescribed pressure for at least 10 minutes without leakage or evidence of distress. All rivets and closures, except safety valves or safety vents, must be in place while test is made.

ICC–17. (b) Calking of welded joints to stop leaks developed during the foregoing tests prohibited. Repairs in welded joints must be made as prescribed in paragraph ICC–6 (a).

ICC–17. (c) Test of interior heater systems. Before interior heater systems are placed in service, they must be tested with hydrostatic pressure and must be tight at 200 pounds per square inch.

AAR–17. Hammer tests. (a) Not a specification requirement.

AAR–17. (b) If tanks are to be lagged, the hydrostatic test of tank must be made before lagging is applied.

ICC–18. Tests of safety valves. (a) Each valve must be tested, before being put into service, by attaching to an air line and applying pressure. The valve must not leak below 20 pounds pressure (see § 73.31 (1), Note 1, of this chapter). The valve must open at the pressure prescribed in paragraph ICC–14 (c) with a tolerance of plus or minus 5 pounds.

AAR–18. (a) The above referred to note in § 73.31 (1) of this chapter reads in part as follows: "Safety valves now used on tank cars are reported to permit slow leakage of vapor and it appears that material changes in the design and construction of these valves are necessary to make them tight * * * the necessary changes must be made with the least possible delay".

ICC–19. Retests of tanks, safety valves, and interior heater systems. (a) Tanks, safety valves, and interior heater systems must be retested, as prescribed for original tests in paragraphs ICC–17 and ICC–18, at intervals of ten years or less after the original test. Tanks must also be retested before being returned to service after any repairs requiring welding, riveting, or calking of rivets. Interior heater systems must be retested after repairs. Reports must be rendered as prescribed in paragraph ICC–21.

AAR–19. (a) For lagged tanks, if the jacket and lagging are not removed, the tank must hold the prescribed pressure for at least 20 minutes. A drop in pressure shall be evidence of leakage, and such portion of the jacket and lagging must be removed as may be necessary to locate the leak and make repairs.

ICC–20. Marking. (a) Each tank must be marked, thus certifying that the tank complies with all the requirements of this specification. These marks must be as follows:

ICC–20. (b) ICC–103–AL–W in letters and figures at least ⅜ inch high stamped plainly and permanently into the metal near the center of both outside heads of the tank by the tank builder. This mark must also be stencilled on the tank, or jacket if lagged, in letters and figures at least two inches high by the party assembling the completed car.

ICC–20. (c) Initials of tank builder and date of original test of tank in letters and figures at least ⅜ inch high stamped plainly and permanently into the metal immediately below the stamped marks specified in paragraph ICC–20 (b).

ICC–20. (d) Initials of company and date of additional tests performed by the party assembling the completed car, in those cases where the tank builder does not complete the fabrication of tank in letters and figures at least ⅜ inch high stamped plainly and permanently into the metal immediately below the stamped marks specified in paragraph ICC–20 (c) by the party assembling the completed car. These marks must also be stencilled on the tank, or jacket if lagged, in letters and figures at least two inches high immediately below the stencilled mark specified in paragraph ICC–20 (b) by the party assembling the completed car.

ICC–20. (e) Date on which the tank was last tested, pressure to which tested, place where test was made, and by whom, stencilled on the tank, or jacket if lagged.

ICC–20. (f) Date on which the safety valves were last tested, pressure to which tested, place where test was made, and by whom, stencilled on the tank, or jacket if lagged.

ICC–20. (g) Date on which interior heater systems were last tested, pressure to which tested, place where test was made, and by whom, stencilled on tank, or jacket if lagged.

ICC–20. (h) Identification mark, illustrated herein, for approved manhole closures must be stencilled on each side of dome, or jacket if lagged, in line with the ladders and in a color contrasting to color of dome.

ICC–20. (i) When a tank car and its appurtenances are designed and authorized for the transportation of a particular commodity only, the name of that commodity followed by the word "only," or such other wording as may be required to indicate the limits of usage of the car, must be stencilled on each side of the tank, or jacket if lagged, in letters at least two inches high, immediately above the stencilled mark specified in paragraph ICC–20 (b).

AAR–20. (a) For all other markings, see figure 1.

ICC–21. Reports. (a) Before a tank car is placed in service, the party assembling the completed car must furnish to car owner, Bureau of Explosives, and the Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads, a report in approved form certifying that the tank and its equipment comply with all the requirements of this specification. In case of welded repairs to, alterations of or additions to tanks or equipment therefore from original design and construction, all of which must be approved, there must be furnished to the same parties a report in detail of the welded repairs, alterations or additions made to each tank covered by a particular application, showing the initials and number of each tank involved. Reports of retests must be rendered to the Bureau of Explosives and and car owner.

AAR–21. Application for approval. (a) See § 78.259 (f), Application for approval.

AAR–21. Certificate of construction. (b) See § 78.259 (g), Certificate of construction.

AAR–22. Car structure. (a) See § 78.263 Car structure.

24. Add § 78.292 (15 F. R. 8523, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.292, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.292 Specification for tank cars having fusion-welded aluminum tanks Class ICC–103–A–AL–W. This specification covers Class ICC–A–AL–W tank cars having fusion-welded aluminum tanks to which have been added Association of American Railroads details which are not inconsistent therewith. Wherever the word "approved" is used in this specification, it means approval by the Association of American Railroads' Committee on Tank Cars as prescribed in § 78.259 (b), (c), (d), and (e)—Procedure.

(a) General requirements. Tanks built under this specification must comply with all provisions of Specification ICC–103–AL–W, except as modified in the following paragraphs (paragraph numbers refer to like numbers in § 78.291 Specification ICC–103–AL–W):

ICC–6. (b) Manhole ring, safety vent flange, and bottom washout nozzle flange or other attachments may be riveted or fusion-welded. Riveted joints must be made metal to metal without interposition of other materials. Rivets, if used, must be calked inside. For computing rivet areas, the effective diameter of a driven rivet is the diameter of its reamed hole, which hole must in no case exceed nominal diameter of rivet by more than 1/16". Use of rivets of less than ⅝" nominal diameter prohibited. Fusion-welding for securing these attachments in place must be of double-welded butt joint type or double full-fillet lap joint type.

ICC–9. Expansion dome. (a) The expansion dome must have a capacity, measured from the inside top of shell of tank to the inside top of dome or bottom of any vent pipe projecting inside of dome, of at least one percent of the total capacity of the tank and dome combined, except that when safety vent is applied to side of dome, the effective capacity of dome must be measured from top of safety vent opening in the side of dome to inside top of shell of tank.

ICC–9. (b) The opening in manhole ring must be at least 16 inches in diameter. The opening in the tank shell within the dome must be at least 29 inches in diameter, and when the inside diameter of the dome exceeds 29 inches, the opening in the tank shell may be cut out to a diameter sufficiently greater than that of the dome to permit welding of tank shell to the base of the dome or to a tank shell reinforcing plate. Shell of tank about dome must be adequately reinforced. When the tank shell is not cut out to permit welding and the opening in the tank does not exceed 30 inches in diameter, dome pocket drain holes must be provided with nipples projecting inside the tank at least one inch.

ICC–9. (c) The dome head must be of approved contour. The dome head must be of aluminum alloys or other approved materials, cast or wrought.

ICC–10. Closure for manholes. (a) The manhole cover must be of approved type and designed to provide a secure closure of the manhole.

ICC–10. (b) Requirements of this paragraph optional.

AAR–10. (a) Bolted type. bolted and hinged type, or other approved type manhole cover must be used.

ICC–11. Gaging, venting, loading and discharging, and air inlet devices extending through domes of tanks. (a) These devices when installed must be tightly closed as prescribed in paragraph ICC–12. Protective housing not required, except when the characteristics of the commodity for which the car is authorized are such that these devices must be equipped with valves to provide for the loading, and unloading of the contents. Discharging siphon pipe must be securely anchored.

ICC–12. Gaging, venting, loading and discharging, and air inlet devices. (a) These devices when installed must be tightly closed with approved caps, plugs, valves, or other fittings. Provision must be made for closing pipe connections of valves. The venting device must be equipped as prescribed in paragraph ICC–14.

ICC–13. Bottom discharge outlets. (a) Bottom outlet for discharge of lading prohibited, but tank may be equipped with a bottom wash-out nozzle of aluminum alloy not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading, which must be of approved construction complying with the following requirements.

ICC–13. (b) The construction and closure of the bottom wash-out nozzle must be such that it is liquid tight and should the nozzle be broken, loss of contents will not occur.

ICC–13. (c) The extreme projection of the bottom wash-out nozzle must be at least 12 inches above the top of rail.

AAR–13. (a) Bottom wash-out nozzle may be cast, pressed, forged, or built up of plates, pipe or tubing welded together. The nozzle must be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal in tank.

AAR–13. (b) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–13. (c) For bottom wash-out nozzles that project 6 inches or more from shell of tank, a "V" groove must be cut (not cast) in the upper part of bottom wash-out nozzle at a point immediately below lowest part of inside closure seat to a depth that will leave thickness of nozzle wall at the root of the "V" not over ⅜ in. Where bottom wash-out nozzle is not a single piece, arrangement must be made to provide the equivalent of the breakage groove.

AAR–13. (d) The flange on the bottom wash-out nozzle must be of a thickness which will prevent distortion of the inside closure seat or closure casting by any change in contour of the shell, resulting from expansion of lading, or other causes, and which will insure that accidental breakage of the wash-out nozzle will occur at or below the "V" groove.

AAR–13. (e) The closure casting must not project below the "V" groove in the wash-out nozzle. The closure casting and seat must be readily accessible for repairs, including grinding.

AAR–13. (f) This paragraph does not apply.

AAR–13. (g) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–14. Safety devices. (a) The tank must be equipped with a safety valve or safety vent at least 2 inches inside diameter mounted on top of expansion dome.

ICC–14. (b) At least one safety valve or vent must be provided for each tank.

ICC–14. (c) The safety valve, if used, must be set to open at a pressure of 45 pounds per square inch. (For tolerances see paragraph ICC–18).

ICC–14. (d) If tank is equipped with a safety vent it must be closed with a frangible disc of suitable material of a thickness that will hold a pressure of 45 pounds per square inch for a period of at least one hour but will rupture within eight hours. Means for holding disc in place must be such as to prevent distortion or damage to disc when applied. Safety vent closure must be chained or otherwise fastened to prevent misplacement. An additional sealed vent of approved design, to prevent use of unloading pressures in excess of 45 pounds per square inch, may be applied. Tanks may also be equipped with an approved device that will permit continuous venting.

AAR–14. (a) Safety valve must be of approved design. For safety vent, closure of bolted type preferable, see figure 3A. For screw type safety vent closure, see figure 3.

AAR–14. (b) Safety valve or safety vent flanges, if welded to dome, must be of cast, forged, or pressed metal and be of good weldable quality in conjunction with metal of dome.

ICC–15. Fixtures, reinforcements, and attachments not otherwise specified. (a) All attachments to tank and dome must be applied by approved means. When attachments are riveted, the edges of plates must be beveled so that the angle of the calking edge will be between 60 and 70 degrees with the flat surface of the attachment. The extreme calking edge distance, measured from center line of rivet hole, must be at least one and one-half times the diameter of the hole and not more than that distance plus ¼ inch. The joints formed by attachment of all riveted external projections must be calked on the inside. All rivet heads on the inside and outside of tank and dome must be calked. Split calking prohibited. Heater systems, when installed, must be so constructed that the breaking off of their external connections will not cause leakage of contents of tanks.

ICC–18. Tests of safety valves. (a) Valve must be tested before being put into service, by attaching to an air line and applying pressure. The valve must open at the pressure prescribed in paragraph ICC–14 (c), with a tolerance of minus 3 pounds.

AAR–18. (a) This paragraph does not apply.

ICC–19. Retests of tanks, safety valves and interior heater systems. (a) Tanks, safety valves and interior heater systems must be retested as prescribed for original tests in paragraphs ICC–17 and ICC–18, except that commodity to be transported may be used for filling the tank and dome when testing tanks which have not been in service more than 12 years. The first retest must be conducted within four years after the original test, and subsequent retests at four-year intervals up to 12 years of service, thereafter at two-year intervals up to 20 years of service, and annually after 20 years of service. Tanks in service over 12 years must be internally inspected and interior heater systems inspected for defects which would make leakage or failure probable during transit and must be tested with water only. Tanks must also be retested before being returned to service after any repairs requiring welding, riveting or calking of rivets. Interior heater systems must be retested after repairs. Reports must be rendered as prescribed in paragraph ICC–21.

ICC–20. (b) ICC–103–A–AL–W in letters and figures at least ⅜" high stamped plainly and permanently into the metal near the center of both outside heads of the tank by the tank builder. This mark must also be stenciled on the tank, or jacket if lagged, in letters and figures at least 2" high by the party assembling the completed car.

ICC–20. (h) This paragraph does not apply.

25. Add § 78.293 (15 F. R. 8523, Dec. 2, 1950) (49 CFR 78.293, 1950 Rev.) to read as follows:

§ 78.293 Specification for tank cars having metallic arc fusion-welded steel tanks Class ICC–110A–500–W. This specification covers Class ICC–110A–500–W tank cars having metallic arc fusion-welded tanks to which have been added Association of American Railroads details which are not inconsistent therewith. Wherever the word "approved" is used in this specification, it means approval by the Association of American Railroads' Committee on Tank Cars as prescribed in § 73.259 (b), (c), (d), and (e)—Procedure.

ICC–1. Type and general requirements. (a) Tanks built under this specification must be cylindrical with dished heads, one of which may be dished convex to the pressure. All operating fittings must be located in one of the heads, and no openings of any sort are permitted in the cylindrical shell. Tanks must be securely attached to the car structure in a manner such that they may be removed for filling by the consignor and emptying by the consignee. Each tank must have a capacity of at least 1,600 pounds of water and not more than 2,600 pounds of water.

ICC–1. (b) The tanks must be fabricated by approved methods.

ICC–1. (c) For tanks made in foreign countries, a chemical analysis of material and all tests as specified must be carried out within the limits of the United States under the supervision of a competent and disinterested inspector.

ICC–2. Material. (a) All plates for the tank must be made of open-hearth or electric furnace boiler plate steel of flange quality, the carbon content of which does not exceed 0.30 percent. The steel shall otherwise conform to the requirements of either the current A. A. R. Specification M–115, entitled Steel, Carbon and Carbon-Silicon, Boiler and Firebox, for Locomotives, Stationary Boilers, and Other Pressure Vessels, or to the current A. S. T. M. Specification A–212, entitled High Tensile Strength Carbon-Silicon Steel Plates for Boilers and Other Pressure Vessels, Grades A and B, Flange and Firebox, or A. S. T. M. Standard Specification A–201 titled Carbon-Silicon Steel Plates of Intermediate Tensile Ranges for Fusion Welded Boilers and Other Pressure Vessels, Grade A, or A. S. T. M. Standard Specifications A–285 titled Low and Intermediate Tensile Strength Carbon Steel Plates of Flange and Firebox Qualities, Grade C. These plates may also be clad with other metals such as nickel, etc.

ICC–2. (b) All plates must have their heat number and the name or brand of the manufacturer legibly stamped on them at the rolling mill.

ICC–2. (c) Tanks made of clad plates must be stenciled "Tank clad with (naming material)."

AAR–2. Lining. (a) Not a specification requirement. If applied, must be approved as to material and method of application.

ICC–3. Thickness of plates. (a) The wall thickness of the cylindrical portion of the tank must be not less than 11/32" and, in addition, must be not less than that calculated by the following formula:

$$t = \frac{PR}{SE - 0.6P}$$

where

t = thickness in inches of thinnest plate.
P = calculated bursting pressure in pounds per square inch, 1,250 psig min.
R = inside radius in inches.
S = minimum specified ultimate tensile strength of plate in pounds per square inch.
E = efficiency of longitudinal welded joint (see par. AAR–5. (c).)

ICC–4. Tank heads. (a) The tank heads must be hot pressed with a straight flange of at least 1½" and with a radius of dish not greater than the diameter of the tank. The inside knuckle radius must be not less than 6 percent of the inside diameter of the vessel.

ICC–4. (b) The heads may be either torispherical or ellipsoidal in form and one may be reversed dished convex to the pressure, if desired. The thickness of the heads shall be not less than that determined by the following formulae:

(1) For torispherical heads concave to pressure

$$t = \frac{5PL}{6SE}$$

(2) For ellipsoidal heads concave to pressure and having a ratio of major to minor axis of 2 to 1

$$t = \frac{PR}{SE - 0.6P}$$

where

t = minimum thickness in inches of finished head.
P = minimum bursting pressure 1,250 psig.
S = minimum specified ultimate tensile strength of plate material in pounds per square inch.
R = inside radius of vessel.
L = inside radius of dish.
E = 1.0 for heads made from one plate.

The thickness of heads convex to the pressure shall be 1¾ times the thickness as calculated by the above formulae.

ICC–4. (c) Threads for openings in tank heads must be American Standard Taper, tapped to gauge, clean cut, even and without checks to insure tight joints. If the thickness of the heads is not sufficient to give an adequate length of thread, the thickness must be increased by welding into the head a plate of sufficient thickness and of the same material as the head. The outside diameter of such plate must be at least twice the nominal diameter of the threaded opening.

ICC–5. Welding. (a) All joints must be fusion welded by a process which investigation and laboratory tests by the Mechanical Division of the Association of American Railroads have proved will produce satisfactory results.

AAR–5. Welding. (a) Fusion welding to be performed by fabricators certified by Association of American Railroads as qualified to meet the requirements of this specification. All joints must be fabricated by means of fusion welding in accordance with the following requirements:

AAR–5. Definitions—(b–1) Fusion welding. A process of welding metals in the molten, or molten and vaporous state without the application of mechanical pressure or blows.

AAR–5. (b–2) Double-welded butt joint. A joint formed by the fusion of two abutting edges with a filler metal added from both sides of the joint and with reinforcement on both sides. (For permission to remove reinforcement see paragraph AAR–5 (m–1)).

NOTE: A joint with filler metal added from one side only is considered equivalent to a double-welded butt joint when and if means are provided for accomplishing complete penetration and reinforcement on both sides of the joint.

AAR–5. (b–3) Full-fillet joint. A fusion weld of approximately triangular cross section the throat of which lies in a plane disposed approximately 45 degrees with respect to the surfaces of the parts joined, and built up to the full thickness of the plate or nozzle flange that is being joined to a parallel plate, having the throat not less than 0.7 the thickness of the edge of the plate being welded.

AAR–5. (b–4) Throat. The minimum thickness of a weld along a straight line passing through the bottom of the cross sectional space provided to contain a fusion weld.

AAR–5. (b–5) Single full-fillet lap joint. A single full-fillet lap joint is one in which the overlapped edges of two plates are full-fillet-welded along one edge only.

AAR–5. (b–6) Double full-fillet lap joint. A double full-fillet lap joint is one in which the overlapped edges of two plates are full-fillet-welded at the edge of each plate.

NOTE: When attachment having flanges thicker than the plates to which they are jointed, are secured in place by fillet welds, such welds shall be of the double full-fillet lap joint type in which the throat is not less than 0.7 the thickness of the plate to which the attachment is joined.

AAR–5. (b–7) Plug weld. A plug weld is one used to join two plates by welding through a hole in one of them to secure a bond and subsequently filling the hole with weld metal. Plug welds are to be used only in conjunction with fillet welds.

AAR–5. Joint efficiency, maximum. (c) The efficiencies for computing the value of the various types of fusion-welded joints in tanks constructed in conformity with requirements of this specification shall not exceed the following:

Type of joint	Efficiency of joint (percent)
Double-welded butt joint:
With 100 percent radiographic examination	90.0
With radiograph examination of longitudinal joints only	80.0
Full-fillet joint:
Single full-fillet lap joint without plug welds (see fig. 21)	55.0
Single full-fillet lap joint with plug welds (see fig. 20)	65.0
Double full-fillet lap joint	65.0

NOTE: Strength of fillet welds shall be computed on the throat dimension of the triangular section, using the strength in shear and in conjunction with the stresses given below, multiplied by the joint efficiency given above.

For end welds, the maximum shear stresses shall be 80 percent of the tensile strength of the plate used.

For side welds, the maximum shear stresses shall be 60 percent of the tensile strength of the plate used.

Plug weld. The maximum load on each plug weld shall be computed for either shear or tension by the following formula:

$$L = 0.63\ S\ (d - \tfrac{1}{4})^2$$

where

L = total maximum load in shear or tension on each plug weld, in pounds.
d = diameter of the bottom of the hole in which the plug is made, in inches.
S = maximum stress in shear or tension, as the case may be, in pounds per square inch.

S for shear = 44,000
S for tension = 55,000

Welding must meet the following test requirements:

AAR–5. Test plates. (d–1) A test plate of the dimensions shown in figure 10 from steel of the same specification and thickness as the shell plates prepared for welding, may be attached to the shell plate being welded, as in figure 9, on one end of one longitudinal joint of each tank so that the edges to be welded in the test plate are a continuation of and duplication of the corresponding edges of the longitudinal joint. In this case the weld metal shall be deposited in the test plates continuously with the weld metal deposited in the longitudinal joint. The plates for test samples may be taken from any part of one or more plates of the same lot of material that is used in the fabrication of welded tanks and without reference to the direction of the mill rolling. As an alternate method, a detached test plate may be welded as provided for in AAR–5 (d–2). When more than one welding operator is employed on a tank, the required test plates for the individual tanks shall be made by the welding operator designated by the inspector.

AAR–5. (d–2) When a test plate is welded for the longitudinal joints, none need be furnished for circumferential joints in the same tank, providing the welding process, procedure, and technique are the same.

AAR–5. (d–3) When there are several tanks being welded in succession, or at any one time, the plate thicknesses of which fall within a range of ¼", each 200 ft. of longitudinal and circumferential seams may be considered as the equivalent of one tank and only the test plates required by paragraph AAR–5 (d–1) and AAR–5 (d–2) need be made, provided they are welded in the same way as the joints in question. The test plates shall be so supported that warping due to welding shall not throw the finished test plate out of line by an angle of over 5 degrees.

AAR–5. (d–4) Where the welding has warped the test plates they shall be straightened before being stress relieved. The test plates shall be subjected to the same stress-relieving operation as required by AAR–5 (p). At no time shall the test plates be heated to a temperature higher than that used for stress relieving the tank.

AAR–5. Test specimens. (e) The coupons for tension and bend tests shall be removed as shown in figure 10 and be of the dimensions shown in figures 10 and 11.

AAR–5. Tension test. (f–1) Two types of tension test specimens are required, one of the joint and the other of the weld metal. The tension specimen of the joint shall be transverse to the welded joint, and shall be the whole thickness of the welded plate after the outer and inner surfaces of the weld have been machined to a plain surface flush with the plate.

AAR–5. (f–2) The tensile strength of the joint specimen in figure 10 shall not be less than the minimum of the specified tensile range of the plate used. (The tension test of the joint specimen as specified herein is intended as a test of the welded joint and not of the plate. If the specimen breaks in the plate and the weld shows no sign of weakness, the test may be accepted as meeting the requirements even though the stress at which failure occurs is less than the minimum of the specified range.)

AAR–5. (f–3) The tension test specimen of the weld metal shall be taken entirely from the deposited weld metal and shall meet the following requirements:

Tensile strength = at least that of the minimum of the range of the plate which is welded.

Elongation, minimum = 20 percent in 2 inches.

For plate thicknesses less than ⅝ inch, the all-weld-metal tension test may be omitted.

AAR–5. Bend tests. (g–1) The bend-test specimen shall be transverse to the welded joint of the full thickness of the plate and shall be of rectangular cross-section with the width one and one-half times the thickness of the specimen. The inside and outside surfaces of the weld shall be machined to a plain surface flush with the plate. The edges of this surface shall be rounded to a radius not over 10 percent of the thickness of the plate. The specimen shall be bent cold under free bending conditions until the least elongation measured within or across approximately the entire weld on the outside fibers of the bend-test specimen is 30 percent.

AAR–5. (g–2) When a crack is observed in the convex surface of the specimen between the edges, specimens shall be considered to have failed and the test shall be stopped. Cracks at the corner of the specimen shall not be considered as a failure. The appearance of all defects in the convex surface shall not be considered as a failure if the greatest dimension does not exceed $\frac{1}{16}$ inch.

AAR–5. Specific gravity of welded metals. (h) No specific gravity test required.

AAR–5. Retests. (I–1) Should any of the tests fail to meet the requirements by more than 10 percent, no retests shall be allowed.

AAR–5. (I–2) Should any of the tests fail to meet the requirements by 10 percent or less, retests shall be allowed. A second test plate shall be welded by the same operator who welded the plate which failed to meet the test requirements. The retest shall be made on specimens cut from the second plate.

AAR–5. (I–3) The retest shall comply with the requirements. For either of the tension retests, two specimens shall be cut from the second test plate, and both of these shall meet the requirements.

AAR–5. (I–4) When there is more than one specimen of the same type and when one or more of the group specimens fail to meet the requirements by 10 percent or less, the retest shall be made on an entire group of specimens, which shall meet the requirements.

AAR–5. (I–5) If the percentage of elongation of any tension test specimen is less than that specified and any part of the fracture more than ¾ inch from the center of the gauge length of the 2-inch specimen, or is outside of the middle third of the gauge length of the full-size specimen as indicated by the scribe scratches marked on the specimen before testing, a retest shall be allowed.

AAR–5. Nondestructing tests. (J–1) All longitudinal welded joints in the vessel shall be examined throughout their entire length by the X-ray or the gamma ray method of radiography. Other welded joints need not be examined by radiographic methods provided an efficiency of 80 percent is used in the design of the vessel. If an efficiency of 90 percent is used in the design of the vessel, the circumferential welded joints of the tanks shall also be radiographed. When a fitting is attached to a tank by a flange or plate inserted in and butt-welded to the head at the edge of the flange, the weld so made shall be radiographed. Radiographic examination of welds attaching other designs of nozzles or fittings to the tank head may be omitted.

AAR–5. (J–2) Where excess metal is removed welded joints shall be prepared as follows: The weld reinforcements on both the inside and outside shall be ground, chipped and ground, or suitably machined to remove the irregularities of the weld surface so that it merges smoothly into the plate surface. The finished surface of the reinforcement may have a crown of uniform amount not to exceed approximately 1/16 inch.

AAR–5. (J–3) The films obtained by the use of X-rays shall be known as "exographs", and those obtained by the use of gamma rays as "gamma graphs". Both types of film shall be generally termed "radiographs".

AAR–5. (J–4) The weld shall be radiographed with a technique which will determine quantitatively the size of defects with thicknesses equal to and greater than 2 percent of the thickness of the base metal. To determine whether the radiographic technique employed is detecting defects of a thickness equal to and greater than 2 percent of the thickness of the base metal, suitable thickness gauges or penetrameters shall be placed on the side of the plate nearest the source of radiation and used in the following manner:

AAR–5. (J–4) (1) To determine whether the radiographic technique employed is detecting defects of a thickness equal to and greater than 2 percent of the thickness of the base material, thickness gauges or penetrameters of the type shown in figure 12 shall be placed on the side of the plate nearest the source of radiation and used as directed.

AAR–5. (J–4) (2) The material of the penetrameter shall be substantially the same as that of the plate under examination.

AAR–5. (J–4) (3) The thickness of the penetrameter shall be not more than 2 percent of the thickness of the plate.

AAR–5. (J–4) (4) There shall be three holes in each penetrameter of diameters equal respectively to two, three, and four times the penetrameter thickness, but in no case less than 1/16 inch. The smallest hole must be distinguishable on the radiograph.

AAR–5. (J–4) (5) Each penetrameter shall carry an identifying number representing, in two significant figures, the minimum thickness of plate for which it may be used.

AAR–5. (J–4) (6) The images of these identifying numbers shall appear clearly on the radiograph.

AAR–5. (J–4) (7) Each penetrameter shall be 1½ inches long and ½ inch wide. (See figure 12.)

AAR–5. (J–5) Two penetrameters shall be used for each exposure, one at each end of the exposed length, parallel and adjacent to the weld seam with the small holes at the outer ends.

AAR–5. (J–6) The film during exposure shall be as close to the surface of the weld as is practicable. The distance of the film from the surface of the weld on the side opposite the source of radiation shall, if possible, be not greater than 1 inch. With the film not more than 1 inch from the weld surface the minimum distance between the source of radiation and the back of the weld shall not be less than 14 inches.

AAR–5. (J–7) There shall also be a plain indication on each film showing the job number, the shell, or shell section, and seam, as well as the manufacturer's identification, symbol, or name.

AAR–5. (J–8) If it is necessary to expose the film at a distance greater than 1 inch from the weld, the following ratio of:

$$\frac{\text{Distance of source from radiation to weld surface toward radiation}}{\text{Distance from weld surface toward radiation to film}}$$ shall be at least 7 to 1. When a grid of the Buckey type is employed to reduce scattered radiation, the above ratio may be reduced to 5. These conditions are imposed so as to limit the allowable distortion and magnification of any defects in the welded seam.

AAR–5. (J–9) All radiographs shall be free from excessive mechanical processing defects which would interfere with proper interpretation of the radiograph.

AAR–5 (J–10) Identification markers, the images of which will appear on the film, shall be placed adjacent to the weld and their location accurately and permanently stamped near the weld on the outside surface of the shell, or shell section, so that a defect appearing the radiograph may be accurately located in the actual weld.

AAR–5. (J–11) The radiographs shall be submitted to the inspector. If the inspector requests, the following data shall be submitted with the radiographs: (1) The thickness of the base metal, (2) the distance of the film from the surface of the weld, (3) the distance of the film from the source of radiation.

AAR–5. (J–12) Acceptability of welds examined by radiography shall be judged by comparing the radiographs with a standard set of radiographs which may be obtained by purchase from Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads. In general, the standard of judgment shall be:

(1) Welds in which the radiographs show elongated slag inclusions or cavities shall be unacceptable if the length of any such imperfection is greater than ⅓ T, where T is the thickness of the weld. If the lengths of such imperfections are less than ⅓ T and are separated from each other by at least 6 L of acceptable weld metal, where L is the length of the longest imperfection, the weld shall be judged acceptable if the sum of the lengths of such imperfections is not more than T in a weld length of 12 T.

(2) Welds in which the radiographs show any type of crack or zones of incomplete fusion shall be unacceptable.

(3) Welds in which the radiographs show porosity shall be judged as acceptable or unacceptable by comparison with the standard set of radiographs.

AAR–5. (J–13) A complete set of radiographs for each tank shall be retained for not less than 20 years by the tank builder or by the car owner if he so requests.

AAR–5. Qualification of welders. (K–1) The manufacturer shall be responsible for the quality of the welding done by his organization and shall conduct tests of welding operators to determine their ability to produce welds of the required quality.

AAR–5. (K–2) The manufacturer shall satisfy the inspector that all the welding operators employed on a car tank have previously made test plates which comply with the requirements of this specification. Such test plates shall have been made within a period of six months, except when the welding operator is regularly employed on production work embracing the same process and type of welding the tests may be effective for one year.

AAR–5. (K–3) It is the duty of the inspector to satisfy himself that only welding operators who are proved competent by these test plates are used to weld any car tank and that all welding complies with the requirements of this specification.

AAR–5. (K–4) The inspector has the right at any time to call for and witness the making of welding operator's qualification test plates described in this paragraph by any welding operator employed in connection with the inspector's contract, and to observe the physical tests of the test plates. For such qualification tests the thickness of the test plate shall be approximately the thickness of the plate or parts on which the welding operator is to work.

AAR–5. (K–5) The tests conducted by one manufacturer shall not qualify a welding operator to do work for any other manufacturer.

AAR–5. Preparation for welding. (L–1) The plates may be cut to size and shape by machining or shearing, or by flame cutting. If shaped by flame cutting, the edges must be uniform and smooth and must be free of all loose scale and slag accumulations before welding. The discoloration which may remain on the flame-cut surface is not considered to be a detrimental oxidation. The plates or sheets to be joined shall be accurately cut to size and formed. In all cases the forming shall be done by pressure and not by blows, including the edges of the plates forming longitudinal joints of tanks.

AAR–5. (L–2) Particular care should be taken in the layout of joints in which fillet welds are to be used so as to make possible the fusion of the weld metal at the bottom of the fillet. Great care must also be exercised in the deposition of the weld metal so as to secure satisfactory penetration.

AAR–5. (L–3) If the thickness of the flange of a head to be attached to a tank shell by a butt joint exceeds the shell thickness by more than 25 percent (maximum ¼ inch), the flange thickness shall be reduced at the abutting edges either on the inside or the outside, as shown in figure 13 (b), or on both sides, as shown in figure 13 (a). Reduction of abutting edges as illustrated in figure 13 (c) is not permissible. For vessels 36 inches in inside diameter or smaller, the head to shell joints may be a single-welded butt joint with a backing-up strip, or, in cases where the head thickness is at least ⅛ inch greater than the shell thickness, the backing-up strip may be integral with the head flange machined in such a manner as to have the inner edge of the head flange project beyond the end of the shell plate to form a backing-strip as shown in figure 26 (a). The head shall be a snug fit into the shell. If the thickness of the head exceeds the thickness of the shell by more than ¼ inch, the thickness of the integral backing-strip shall not exceed ¼ inch and the additional flange thickness shall be reduced on the outside, as shown in figure 26 (b).

AAR–5. (L–4) The edges of the plates at the joints shall not have an offset from each other at any point in excess of 25 percent of the thickness of the plate (maximum ⅛ inch).

AAR–5. (L–5) In all cases where plates of unequal thicknesses are abutted, and have offsets exceeding 1/16 inch, the edge of the thicker plate shall be reduced in some manner so that it is approximately the same thickness as the other plate except as noted for head to shell joints in paragraph AAR–5. (I–3). In longitudinal tank joints the middle lines of the plate thickness shall be in alignment, within the fabricating tolerances specified in paragraph AAR–5. (I–4).

AAR–5. (L–6) Bars, jacks, clamps, or other appropriate tools may be used to hold the edges to be welded in line. Tack welds may also be used to hold the edges in line, provided the tack welds are removed so that they do not become a part of the joints. The edges of butt joints shall be so held that they will not overlap during welding. Where fillet welds are used, the lapped plates shall fit closely and be kept together during welding.

AAR–5. (L–7) The surfaces of the sheets or plates to be welded shall be cleaned thoroughly of all scale, rust, or oil and grease for a distance of not less than ½ inch from the welding edge. Grease or oil may be removed with gasoline, lye, or the equivalent. A steel wire scratch brush may be used for removing light rust or scale, but for heavy scale, slag, and the like, a grinder, chisel, air hammer, or other suitable tool shall be used to obtain clean and bright metal. When it is necessary to deposit metal over a previously welded surface, any scale or slag therefrom shall be removed by a roughing tool, chisel, air chipping hammer, or other suitable means to prevent inclusion of impurities in the weld metal.

AAR–5. (L–8) The dimensions and shape of the edges to be joined shall be such as to allow thorough fusion and complete penetration.

AAR–5. (L–9) For double welded butt joints the reverse sides shall be chipped, ground, or melted out so as to secure a clean surface of the originally deposited weld prior to application of the first bead of welding on the second side. Such chipping, grinding, or melting out shall be done in a manner that will insure proper fusion of the weld metal. These requirements are not intended to apply to any process of welding by which proper fusion and penetration are otherwise obtained and no impurities remain at the base of the weld.

AAR–5. (L–10) If the welding is stopped for any reason, extra care shall be taken in restarting to get full penetration to the bottom of the joint and thorough fusion between the weld metal and the plates, and to the weld metal previously deposited.

AAR–5. Longitudinal joints. (M–1) Longitudinal joints shall be of the double-welded butt type and shall be reinforced at the center of the weld on each side of the plate by at least 1/16 inch up to and including ⅝ inch plate and up to ⅛ inch for heavier plates. The reinforcement may be removed, but if not removed shall be filled up uniformly from the surface of the plate to a maximum at the center of the weld. Particular attention is called, however, to the importance of the provision that there shall be no valley or grooves along the edge of or in the center of the weld, but that the deposited metal must be fused smoothly and uniformly into the plate surface. (If the reinforcement is built up so as to form a ridge with a valley or depression at the edge of the weld next to the plate, the result is a notch which causes concentration of stress and reduces the strength of the joints.) The finish of the welded joint shall be reasonably smooth and free from irregularities, grooves, or depressions. Where a welded butt joint is made the equivalent of a double-welded butt joint (see note in paragraph AAR–5 (d–2)) by using a backing-up strip and adding filler metal from one side only, the reinforcements shall not be less than 1/16 inch.

AAR–5. (m–2) Where tanks are made up of two or more courses with welded longitudinal joints, the joints of adjacent courses shall be not less than 60° apart.

AAR–5. Circumferential joints. (n) Circumferential joints shall be of the double-welded butt type. The details of all of these joints shall conform to the requirements of longitudinal joints given in AAR–5 (m–1) except as specified in AAR–5 (I–3).

AAR–5. Stress relieving. (o) Each tank must be stress relieved by heating uniformly to at least 1100° F. The tank shall be brought slowly up to the specified temperature and held at that temperature for a period of time proportioned on the basis of at least one hour per inch of maximum thickness, minimum 1 hour, and shall be allowed to cool slowly in a still atmosphere. Welded attachments must be welded in place before tank is stress relieved. Fusion welded anchors, if applied, must be welded in place before tank is stress relieved. The entire tank must be stress relieved by heating the complete tank as a unit.

AAR–5. Inspection. (p–1) Purchaser of tanks must provide for inspection by a competent inspector. The manufacturer shall submit the tank for inspection at such stages as may be designated by the inspector.

AAR–5. (p–2) Each tank must also be inspected at the time of hydrostatic pressure and hammer tests by the inspector.

AAR–5. (p–3) The manufacturer shall certify that the welding on the tank has been done only by welding operators who have had passed the test requirements and that the same material and technique used in making the test were employed in fabricating the tank.

AAR–5. Distortion. (q) The shell of the completed tank shall be circular within a limit of plus or minus one percent of the inside diameter of the tank.

AAR–5. Repairs during original construction. (r–1) Pin holes, cracks, or other defects in welded joints shall be repaired only by chipping, machining, or burning out the defect and rewelding. For metallic arc welding preheating or reheating is not required.

AAR–5. (r–2) Tanks shall be stress relieved after any welding repairs have been made.

AAR–5. (r–3) After repairs have been made the tank shall again be tested in the regular way, and, if it passes the test, the inspector shall accept it. If it does not pass the test the inspector can order supplementary repairs, or, if in his judgment the tank is not suitable for service, he may permanently reject it.

ICC–6. Stress relieving. (a) All welding of the tank and of attachments welded directly thereto must be stress relieved as a unit.

AAR–6. Stress relieving. (a) See paragraph AAR–5 (o).

ICC–7. Anchorage. (a) The manner in which tanks are supported on and securely attached to the car structure must be approved.

ICC–7. Protective rings. (b) A plate ring flange must be welded to the outside of each head and extending a greater distance beyond the head than any fitting or attachment to the head, including the housing referred to in the following paragraph. This flange must be at least as thick as the shell plates and must slope or curve inward toward the axis such that the diameter at the outboard end is at least 2 inches less than the maximum diameter.

ICC–8. Protective housing and cover. (a) All operating fittings shall be located in one head. Valves and other closures of openings in tank heads, except fusible plug vents and drain plugs, must be protected against accidental injury by a detachable cast or pressed steel housing at least 7/16 inch thick, which must not project beyond the protective ring on the end of the tank and must be securely fastened to tank head. This housing must be provided with an opening having an area equal to the total safety valve or vent discharge area.

ICC–8. (b) The upper head of tanks mounted vertically on the car structure must be completely covered by a light metal cover designed to exclude moisture, cinders, and other foreign matter, and to be displaced by pressure of gas discharged through safety valves or vent.

ICC–9. Venting, and loading and discharging valves. (a) These valves must be of approved type, made of metal not subject to rapid deterioration by lading, and must withstand a pressure of 500 pounds per square inch without leakage. The valves must be screwed directly into tank heads or attached to tank heads by other approved methods. Provision must be made for closing the pipe connections of the valves.

ICC–9. (b) Tanks must not be equipped with safety valves or vents, if prohibited for the service in which they are used.

ICC–10. Safety valves and vents. (a) The tank must be equipped with one or more safety valves or vents of approved type, made of metal not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading and screwed directly into tank heads or attached to tank heads by other approved methods. The total value of vent discharge capacity must be sufficient to prevent building up of pressure in tank in excess of ¾ of the test pressure; when safety vents of the fusible plug type are used, the required discharge capacity must be available in each head.

ICC–10. (b) Tanks mounted vertically on the car structure must have safety valves, or vents of the frangible disc type, which must be located on the upper head.

ICC–10. (c) Safety valves must be set to open and vents of the frangible disc type must function at a pressure of not exceeding 375 pounds per square inch. Vents of the fusible plug type must function at a temperature of not exceeding 175° F. (for tolerance see paragraph ICC–13).

ICC–11. Fixtures. (a) Siphon pipes and their couplings on the inside of the tank head and lugs on the outside of the tank head for attaching the valve protection housing may be fusion welded in place, provided they are properly heat-treated at the time the entire tank is heat-treated. All other fixtures and appurtenances, except as provided for in paragraphs ICC–7, ICC–8, ICC–9, ICC–10, and ICC–11 (b) are prohibited.

ICC–11. (b) A threaded drain plug for cleaning purposes made of metal not subject to rapid deterioration by the lading, not to exceed 2 inches nominal pipe size, may be included in the head concave to the pressure. (See par. ICC–4 (c).)

ICC–12. Tests of tanks. (a) After heat treatment each tank must be subjected to a hydrostatic test in a water jacket, or by other accurate method, operated so as to obtain reliable data. No tank shall have been subjected previously to internal pressure within 100 pounds of the final test pressure.

ICC–12. (b) The tank must be prepared for testing by completely filling with water, or other liquid having similar viscosity, having a temperature not exceeding 100° F. during the test.

ICC–12. (c) While subject to a hydrostatic pressure of 375 pounds per square inch, the tank shall be given a thorough hammer impact test. This impact test shall consist of striking the metal at 6 inch intervals on both sides of all butt welded joints and for the full length of the joints. The weight of the hammer in pounds shall approximately equal the thickness of the thinnest plate of the joint in tenths of an inch, but not to exceed 10 pounds. The plates shall be struck with a sharp swinging blow. The edges of the hammer shall be rounded so as to prevent defacing the plate.

ICC–12. (d) Following the impact test the tank shall be hydrostatically tested at a final test pressure of 500 pounds per square inch. The tank must hold this pressure for at least 10 minutes without leakage or evidence of distress.

ICC–12. (e) The pressure gauge must permit reading to an accuracy of 1 percent. The expansion gauge must permit reading of the total expansion to an accuracy of 1 percent. The expansion must be recorded in cubic centimeters.

ICC–12. (f) The permanent volumetric expansion must not exceed 10 percent of the total volumetric expansion at final test pressure.

ICC–12. (g) Following the hydrostatic test each tank must be subjected to an internal air pressure test of at least 100 pounds per square inch under conditions favorable to detection of any leakage. No leaks shall appear.

ICC–12. (h) Caulking of welded joints to stop leaks developed during foregoing tests is prohibited. Repairs in welded joints must be made as prescribed in paragraph ICC–5 (a).

ICC–13. Tests of safety valves and vents. (a) Each valve must be tested by air or gas before being put into service and also at intervals as prescribed in paragraph ICC–14. The valve must open at a pressure of not exceeding 375 pounds per square inch and be vapor tight at 300 pounds per square inch, which limiting pressures must not be affected by any auxiliary closure or other combination.

ICC–13. (b) For safety vents of the frangible disc type, a sample of the discs used must burst at a pressure of not exceeding 375 pounds per square inch and be vapor tight at 300 pounds per square inch.

ICC–13. (c) For safety vents of the fusible plug type, a sample of the fusible plugs used must function at a temperature of not exceeding 175° F. and be vapor tight at a temperature of 130° F.

ICC–14. Retests, alterations, and upkeep of tanks, safety valves, and vents. (a) Each tank must be subjected, at least once every five years, to the hydrostatic test as prescribed in paragraph ICC 12 (b) and the volumetric expansion test prescribed in paragraphs ICC 12 (d) and 12 (e). A tank must be condemned when it leaks or when the permanent expansion exceeds 10 percent of the total expansion. Report giving data showing the results of these tests must be rendered by party making tests to the owner of the tank and to the Bureau of Explosives, and each tank passing the test must be marked with the date (month and year) plainly and permanently stamped into the metal of one head or flange ring. For example, 1–51 for January, 1951. Dates of previous tests must not be obliterated.

ICC–14. (b) Safety valves must be retested, at least once every 2 years, in the manner prescribed in paragraph ICC–13 (a). Safety vents of the frangible disc and fusible plug types must be inspected after each loaded trip of tank as follows: Remove at least one vent for visual inspection and, if it shows signs of deterioration, all the vents on the tank must be removed and inspected and those which do not meet the requirements must be renewed.

ICC–14. (c) All prescribed markings on tanks must be kept legible. Copy of the said markings, in letters and figures of the prescribed size stamped on a brass plate secured to the tank, is authorized. Markings must not be changed except as follows:

(1) By application of additional marks not affecting the test pressure or water capacity; these must not obliterate previously applied marks.

(2) By application of test pressure marks, or alteration of such marks, to indicate a reduced test pressure; authorized only for tanks that have not failed in the 5-year test.

(3) By change of serial numbers or ownership marks, or both; report in sufficient detail so that previous serial number and ownership mark can be determined for each tank, arranged by lot numbers or by consecutive serial numbers, must be filed with the Bureau of Explosives.

ICC–15. Marking. (a) Each tank must be plainly and permanently marked, thus certifying that the tank complies with all the requirements of this specification. These marks must be stamped into the metal of one head or flange ring, in letters and figures at least ⅜ inch high, as follows:

ICC–15. (b) ICC–110A500–W.

ICC–15. (c) Serial number (immediately below foregoing).

ICC–15 (d) Inspector's official mark (immediately below serial number).

ICC–15. (e) Name, mark (other than a trade mark) or initials of company or person for whose use the tanks are being made, which must be recorded with the Bureau of Explosives.

ICC–15. (f) Date of tank test (month and year), such as 1–51 for January, 1951, so placed that dates of subsequent tests may easily be added thereto.

ICC–15. (g) Water capacity—0000 pounds.

ICC–15. (h) When a tank and its appurtenances are designed and authorized for the transportation of a particular commodity only, the name of that commodity, followed by the word "only" or such other wording which may be required to indicate the usage of the tank, must be stenciilled on head of the tank containing operating fittings, in letters at least 1 inch high.

AAR–15. (a) For determining water capacity of tank in pounds the weight of a gallon (231 cu. in.) of water at 60° F. in air shall be 8.32828 pounds.

ICC–16. Inspection and report. (a) Purchaser of tank must provide for inspection by a competent inspector as follows:

(1) The inspector must carefully inspect all plates from which tanks are to be made and records pertaining thereto, and plates which do not comply with the requirements of this specification must be rejected.

(2) The inspector must secure complete certified records, including chemical analyses and physical tests on samples taken from each heat and steel used in the manufacture of the plate.

(3) The inspector must report capacity in pounds of water and tare weight of each tank and the minimum thickness of tank wall noted.

(4) The inspector must make such inspection as may be necessary to see that all the requirements of this specification are fully complied with, must see that the finished tanks are properly heat treated, and must witness all air and hydrostatic tests.

(5) The inspector must stamp his official mark on each accepted tank immediately below the Serial No. and make certified report (see paragraph ICC–16 (b)), to the builder, to the company or person for whose use the tanks are being made, to the builder of the car structure on which the tanks are to be mounted, if any, to the Bureau of Explosives, and to the Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads.

ICC–16. (b) Inspector's report required herein must be in the following form:

These tanks were made by process of ----------

The steel used was identified as indicated by the attached list showing the serial number of each tank, followed by the heat number of the plate, head, and bottom used in the tank.

The steel used was verified as to chemical analysis and record thereof is attached hereto. The heat numbers were stamped into the metal.

All material, such as plates, billets, and seamless tubing, was inspected and each tank was inspected both before and after closing in the ends; all that was accepted was found free from seams, cracks, laminations, and other defects which might prove injurious to the strength of the tank. The processes of manufacture and heat treatment of tanks were supervised and found to be efficient and satisfactory.

The tank walls were measured and the minimum thickness noted was ------ inch. The outside diameter was determined by a close approximation to be ------ inches. The wall stress was calculated to be ------ pounds per square inch under an internal pressure of ------ pounds per square inch.

Hydrostatic tests, bend and tensile tests of material, and other tests as prescribed in this specification were made in the presence of the inspector and all material and tanks accepted were found to be in compliance with the requirements of this specification. Records thereof are attached hereto.

I hereby certify that all of these tanks proved satisfactory in every way and comply with the requirements of Interstate Commerce Specification No. ----------

Inspector.

ICC–16. (c) Before a tank built under this specification is placed in service, the builder must furnish to the owner, Bureau of Explosives, and the Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads, a report in proper form certifying that the tank and its equipment comply with all the requirements of this specification, including information as to the serial numbers, date of test, and ownership marks on the tanks.

In the event the owner of the tank instead of the builder elects to furnish appurtenances such as valve protection caps, loading and unloading valves, and safety valves or vents of the frangible disc or fusible plug type, the owner must furnish to the Bureau of Explosives and to the Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads, a report in proper form certifying that these appurtenances comply with all the requirements of this specification.

In case of alterations of or additions to tank or equipment therefor from original design and construction or of repairs, there must be furnished to the owner, Bureau of Explosives, and the Secretary, Mechanical Division, Association of American Railroads, a report in detail of the repairs, alterations, or additions made to each tank covered by a particular application, showing the serial number of each tank involved and stating that heat treatment called for by the particular type of repair authorized has been performed and, that after repairs, alterations, or additions, the tests prescribed in paragraph ICC–12 were made, results of hydrostatic tests reported, and tanks marked as prescribed in paragraph ICC–14.

Reports of retests must be rendered to the Bureau of Explosives and tank owner.

CONSOLIDATED INCOME AND EXCESS PROFITS TAX RETURNS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth in tentative form in the attached appendix are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in section 141 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 58; 26 U. S. C. 141).

[SEAL] GEORGE J. SCHOENEMAN,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

SEC. 141, I. R. C. CONSOLIDATED RETURNS.

(a) Privilege to file consolidated returns. An affiliated group of corporations shall, subject to the provisions of this section, have the privilege of making a consolidated return for the taxable year in lieu of separate returns. The making of a consolidated return shall be upon the condition that all corporations which at any time during the taxable year have been members of the affiliated group consent to all the consolidated return regulations prescribed under subsection (b) prior to the last day prescribed by law for the filing of such return. The making of a consolidated return shall be considered as such consent. In the case of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for a fractional part of the year, the consolidated return shall include the income of such corporation for such part of the year as it is a member of the affiliated group.

(b) Regulations. The Secretary shall prescribe such regulations as he may deem necessary in order that the tax liability of any affiliated group of corporations making a consolidated return and of each corporation in the group, both during and after the period of affiliation, may be returned, determined, computed, assessed, collected, and adjusted, in such manner as clearly to reflect the income- and excess-profits-tax liability and the various factors necessary for the determination of such liability, and in order to prevent avoidance of such tax liability.

(c) Computation and payment of tax. In any case in which a consolidated return is made or is required to be made, the tax shall be determined, computed, assessed, collected, and adjusted in accordance with the regulations under subsection (b) prescribed prior to the last day prescribed by law for the filing of such return; except that the tax imposed under section 15 or section 204 shall be increased by 2 per centum of the consolidated corporation surtax net income of the affiliated group of includible corporations. If the affiliated group includes one or more Western Hemisphere trade corporations (as defined in section 109), the increase of 2 per centum provided in the preceding sentence shall be applied only on the amount by which the consolidated corporation surtax net income of the affiliated group exceeds the portion (if any) of the consolidated corporation surtax net income attributable to the Western Hemisphere trade corporations included in such group. For the purposes of the tax imposed by section 430, the sum of the excess profits credit and the unused excess profits credit adjustment of the affiliated group shall not be increased under the last sentence of section 431 to an amount in excess of $25,000 for the entire group.

(d) Definition of "Affiliated Group". As used in this section, an "affiliated group" means one or more chains of includible corporations connected through stock ownership with a common parent corporation which is an includible corporation if—

(1) Stock possessing at least 95 per centum of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 95 per centum of each class of the nonvoting stock of each of the includible corporations (except the common parent corporation) is owned directly by one or more of the other includible corporations; and

(2) The common parent corporation owns directly stock possessing at least 95 per centum of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 95 per centum of each class of the nonvoting stock of at least one of the other includible corporations.

As used in this subsection, the term "stock" does not include nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends.

(e) Definition of "includible corporation". As used in this section, the term "includible corporation" means any corporation except—

(1) Corporations exempt from taxation under section 101.

(2) Insurance companies subject to taxation under section 201 or 207.

(3) Foreign corporations.

(4) Corporations entitled to the benefits of section 251, by reason of receiving a large percentage of their income from sources within possessions of the United States.

(5) Corporations organized under the China Trade Act, 1922.

(6) Regulated investment companies subject to tax under Supplement Q.

(7) Any corporation described in section 449, or in section 454 (d), (f), and (g) (without regard to the exception in the initial clause of section 454), but not including such a corporation which has made and filed a consent, for the taxable year or any prior taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, to be treated as an includible corporation. Such consent shall be made and filed at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary.

(8) Regulated public utilities described in section 448 (d) which compute their excess profits credit under section 448 but not including any such regulated public utility which has made and filed a consent, applicable to the taxable year, to compute its excess profits credit without regard to section 448. The consent shall be made and filed at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary. The consent shall be applicable to the taxable year for which filed and to each consecutive subsequent taxable year for which a consolidated return is filed.

(f) Includible insurance companies. Despite the provisions of paragraph (2) of subsection (e), two or more domestic insurance companies each of which is subject to taxation under the same section of this chapter shall be considered as includible corporations for the purpose of the application of subsection (d) to such insurance companies alone.

(g) Subsidiary formed to comply with foreign law. In the case of a domestic corporation owning or controlling, directly or indirectly, 100 per centum of the capital stock (exclusive of directors' qualifying shares) of a corporation organized under the laws of a contiguous foreign country and maintained solely for the purpose of complying with the laws of such country as to title and operation of property, such foreign corporation may, at the option of the domestic corporation, be treated for the purpose of this chapter as a domestic corporation.

(h) Suspension of running of statute of limitations. If a notice under section 272 (a) in respect of a deficiency for any taxable year is mailed to a corporation, the suspension of the running of the statute of limitations, provided in section 277, shall apply in the case of corporations with which such corporation made a consolidated return for such taxable year.

(i) Allocation of income and deductions. For allocation of income and deductions of related trades or businesses, see section 45.

(j) Includible regulated public utilities. Despite the provisions of paragraph (8) of subsection (e), two or more regulated public utilities each of which has made and filed a consent, applicable to the taxable year, to compute its excess profits credit under section 448 only, shall be considered as includible corporations for the purpose of the application of subsection (d) to such regulated public utilities alone. The consent shall be made and filed at such time and in such manner as may be prescribed by the Secretary. The consent shall be applicable to the taxable year for which filed and to each consecutive subsequent taxable year for which a consolidated return is filed.

GENERAL PROVISIONS

§ 24.0 Introductory. (a) The regulations in this part, authorized by section 141 (b)[1] of the Internal Revenue

[1] In connection with the revision of section 141 of the Code as enacted by section 301 of the Excess Profits Tax Act of 1950, the report of the Committee on Ways and Means (Rept. No. 3142, 81st Cong., 2d Sess., p. 74), after describing certain substantive changes proposed, states:

"Aside from these substantive changes in section 141 for taxable years ending after June 30, 1950, and several clerical amendments to the section, the other general rules and provisions of the section are continued unchanged."

With respect to the corresponding section of the Revenue Act of 1928, the report of the Committee on Finance (S. Rept. No. 960, 70th Cong., 1st sess., p. 15) accompanying the revenue bill of 1928 contains the following statement (a similar statement being contained also in the statement of the managers on the part of the House, accompanying the conference report upon the bill, see H. Rept. No. 1882, 70th Cong., 1st sess., pp. 16–17):

"Among the regulations which it is expected that the Commissioner will prescribe are: (1) The extent to which gain or loss shall be recognized upon the sale by a member of the affiliated group of stock issued by any other member of the affiliated group or upon the dissolution (whether partial or complete) of a member of the group; (2) the basis of property (including property included in an inventory) acquired, during the period of affiliation, by a member of the affiliated group, including the basis of such property after such period of affiliation; (3) the extent to which and the manner in which net losses sustained by a corporation before it became a member of the group shall be deducted in the consolidated return; and the extent to which and the manner in which net losses sustained during the period for which the consolidated return is filed shall be deducted in any taxable year after the affiliation is terminated in whole or in part; (4) the extent to which and the manner in which gain or loss is to be recognized, upon the withdrawal of one or more corporations from the group, by reason of transactions occurring during the period of affiliation; and (5) that the corporations filing the consolidated return must designate one of their members as the agent for the group, in order that all notices may be mailed to the agent, deficiencies collected, refunds made, interest computed, and proceedings before the Board of Tax Appeals conducted as though the agent were the taxpayer."

The report of the Committee on Ways and Means (Rept. No. 1860, 75th Cong., 3d sess., p. 44) accompanying the revenue bill of 1938 (the pertinent provisions of which were reenacted without change in substance in the Internal Revenue Code) contains the following statement:

"Among the matters to be detailed in regulations which the Commissioner is expected to prescribe under the provisions of subsection (b) of this section are (a) the treatment of inter-company dividend distributions, (b) definitions of the 'net income,' the 'adjusted net income,' and the 'special class net income,' of the affiliated group, and (c) the computation of the 'net operating loss,' the 'basic surtax credit,' the 'dividend carry-over,' the 'dividends paid credit,' and the 'capital gains and losses,' insofar as these several factors may pertain to the case of an affiliated group."

In connection with the original enactment authorizing the filing of consolidated excess profits tax returns, the report of the Committee on Finance (Rept. No. 2114, 76th Cong., 3d sess., p. 17) accompanying the Code, are prescribed as a supplement to the income tax regulations and the excess profits tax regulations applicable generally under the Code. They are applicable, in the case of all corporations (with certain statutory exceptions), to all taxable years ending after December 31, 1949. With respect to taxable years to which these regulations are applicable, they supersede all prior consolidated returns regulations.

(b) The several sections of the regulations in this part, have been given numbers corresponding respectively to the section numbers of prior consolidated returns regulations but with the Code number 24.

§ 24.1 Privilege of making consolidated returns. (a) Section 141 gives to the corporations of an affiliated group the privilege of making a consolidated income and excess profits tax return for the taxable year in lieu of separate returns. This privilege is given, however, upon the condition that all corporations which have been members of the affiliated group at any time during the taxable year for which the return is made consent to these regulations, and any amendments thereof duly prescribed prior to the last day prescribed by law for the filing of the return; and the making of the consolidated return is considered as such consent. The last day prescribed by law for the filing of the return includes the last day of the period of any extension of time granted by the Commissioner.

(b) The tax liability of the members of the affiliated group for the taxable year involved will be determined in accordance with the provisions of the regulations to which consent is given and without regard to any changes of the rules therein prescribed made subsequent to the last day prescribed by law for the filing of the return for such year.

§ 24.2 Definitions—(a) Code. The term "Code" means the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, and the sections of statutory law referred to in these regulations, unless otherwise stated, are sections of that Code.

(b) Affiliated group. (1) The term "affiliated group" includes the common parent corporation and every other corporation for the period during which such corporation is a member of the affiliated group within the meaning of section 141 of the Code as amended; it does not include (i) any corporation which, under section 141, as amended, cannot be included in a consolidated return, (ii) an insurance company taxable under section 201 or 207 in the case of a consolidated return for corporations taxable under section 13, 14, or 204, (iii) a corporation taxable under section 13, 14, or 204 in the case of a consolidated return for insurance companies taxable under section 201 or 207, (iv) an insurance company taxable under section 201 in the case of a consolidated return for insurance companies taxable under section 27, (v) an insurance company taxable under section 207 in the case of a consolidated return for insurance companies taxable under section 201, (vi) a regulated public utility computing its excess profits credit under section 448 in the case of a consolidated return for corporations other than such regulated public utilities, or (vii) a corporation other than a regulated public utility consenting under section 141 (j) to compute its excess profits credit under section 448 in the case of a consolidated return for such regulated public utilities.

(2) In the case of a domestic corporation owning or controlling, directly or indirectly, 100 percent of the capital stock (exclusive of directors' qualifying shares) of a corporation organized under the laws of Canada or of Mexico and maintained solely for the purpose of complying with the laws of such country as to title and operation of property, such foreign corporation may, at the option of the domestic corporation, be treated for income tax purposes as a domestic corporation. The option to treat such foreign corporation as a domestic corporation so that it may be included in a consolidated return must be exercised at the time of making the consolidated return, and cannot be exercised at any time thereafter. If the election is exercised to treat such foreign corporation as a domestic corporation, it must be included in the consolidated return of the affiliated group of which it is a member for each consecutive year thereafter for which such group makes or is required to make a consolidated return.

(3) An affiliated group of corporations, within the meaning of section 141 of the Code, is formed at the time that the common parent corporation, which is an includible corporation, becomes the owner directly of stock possessing at least 95 percent of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 95 percent of each class of nonvoting stock (not including nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends) of another includible corporation; a corporation becomes a member of such an affiliated group at the time that one or more members of such group become the owners directly of stock possessing at least 95 percent of the voting power of all classes of its stock and at least 95 percent of each class of its nonvoting stock (not including nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends); and a corporation ceases to be a member of such an affiliated group at the time that the members of such group cease to own directly stock possessing at least 95 percent of the voting power of all classes of its stock, or at least 95 percent of each class of its nonvoting stock (not including nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends).

(4) In the determination of the includible corporations of the affiliated group for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, a personal service corporation as described in section 449 or a corporation otherwise entitled to exemption from excess profits tax under section 454 (d), (f), or (g) shall be treated as an includible corporation only if it has made and filed pursuant to section 141 (e) (7) its consent to be treated as an includible corporation for such year or for a prior taxable year ending after June 30, 1950.

(5) A regulated public utility as described in section 448 (d) shall be treated as an includible corporation only if it has made and filed—

(i) In the case of an affiliated group consisting wholly of regulated public utilities or of one or more regulated public utilities together with other corporations, a consent to compute its excess profits credit without regard to section 448; or

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group consisting wholly of regulated public utilities, a consent to compute its excess profits credit under section 448 only, and without regard to sections 435 and 436.

(c) Consolidated return period. The term "consolidated return period" means the taxable year 1929, or any subsequent taxable year, for which a consolidated return is made or is required, income tax return, excess profits tax return, or both, including the period during which a subsidiary corporation is engaged in distributing its assets in liquidation.

(d) Subsidiary. The term "sudsidiary" means a corporation (other than the common parent corporation) which is a member of the affiliated group during any part of the consolidated return period.

(e) Tax. The term "tax" means the normal tax, the excess profits tax, and any surtax imposed by chapter 1, and the surtax imposed by subchapter A of chapter 2, and includes any interest, penalty, additional amount, or addition to the tax, payable in respect thereof.

(f) Excess profits tax taxable year. For excess profits tax purposes, in the case of an affiliated group filing a consolidated return for the taxable year, the prior taxable years of the group shall be the prior taxable years of the common parent corporation, whether or not consolidated returns were filed and whether or not the members of the group were affiliated for such prior taxable years. For any period during which the common parent was not in existence, the taxable year of the group shall be determined with respect to such members of the group as were in existence on the basis of the annual accounting period established by the common parent for its first taxable year. If the common parent was in existence on July 1, 1950, the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group is the first taxable year of the common parent ending after June 30, 1950. If the common parent was not in existence on July 1, 1950, the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group is the first taxable year of the group ending after June 30, 1950, determined under this paragraph, during which any member of the group was in existence.

(g) Terms defined in Internal Revenue Code. Terms which are defined in the Code shall, when used in the regulations in this part, have the meaning assigned to them by the Code, unless specifically otherwise defined.

§ 24.3 Applicability of other provisions of law. Any matter in the determination of which the provisions of the regulations in this part are not applicable shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of the Code or other law applicable thereto.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROVISIONS

§ 24.10 Exercise of privilege—(a) When privilege must be exercised. The privilege of making a consolidated return under these regulations for any taxable year of an affiliated group must be exercised at the time of making the return of the common parent corporation for such year. Under no circumstances can such privilege be exercised at any time thereafter. The filing of separate returns for a taxable year does not constitute an election binding upon the corporations in subsequent years. If the privilege is exercised at the time of making the return, separate returns cannot thereafter be made for such year. (See, however, § 24.18, relating to failure to comply with the regulations in this part.)

(b) Effect of tentative returns. In no case will the privilege under paragraph (a) of this section be considered as exercised at the time of making a so-called "tentative return" (made, for example, in order to obtain an extension of time for making the return required by law). However, if any such tentative return is made upon the basis of a consolidated return or a separate return, the return required by law must be made upon the same basis, unless upon the making of the return required by law (either a separate return or a consolidated return, as the case may be) the payments theretofore made and to be made are adjusted in a manner satisfactory to the Commissioner.

§ 24.11 Consolidated returns for subsequent years—(a) Consolidated returns required for subsequent years. If a consolidated return is made under the regulations in this part for any taxable year, a consolidated return must be made for each subsequent taxable year during which the affiliated group remains in existence unless (1) a corporation (other than a corporation created or organized, directly or indirectly, by a member of the group) has become a member of the group during such subsequent taxable year, or (2) subsequent to the exercise of the election to make consolidated returns, chapter 1 of the Code to the extent applicable to corporations, or these regulations which have been consented to, have been amended and any such amendment is of a character which makes less advantageous to affiliated groups as a class the continued filing of consolidated returns, regardless of the effective date of such amendment, or (3) the Commissioner, prior to the time of making the return, upon application made by the common parent corporation and for good cause shown, grants permission to change.

(b) Effect of separate returns when consolidated return is required. If the making of a consolidated return is required for any taxable year, the tax liability of the members of the affiliated group shall be computed in the same manner as if a consolidated return had been made, even though separate returns are made; amounts assessed upon the basis of separate returns shall be considered as having been assessed upon the basis of a consolidated return; and amounts paid upon the basis of separate returns shall be considered as having been paid by the common parent corporation. In such cases the making of separate returns shall not be considered as the making of a return for the purpose of computing any period of limitation or any deficiency. If a consolidated return for such taxable year is thereafter made, such return shall, for the purpose of computing periods of limitation and any deficiency be considered as the return for such year.

(c) When affiliated group remains in existence. For the purpose of the regulations in this part, an affiliated group shall be considered as remaining in existence if the common parent corporation remains as a common parent and at least one subsidiary remains affiliated with it, whether or not such subsidiary was a member of the group at the time the group was formed and whether or not one or more corporations have become subsidiaries or have ceased to be subsidiaries at any time after the group was formed.

(d) When affiliated group terminates. For the purpose of the regulations in this part, an affiliated group shall be considered as terminated if the common parent corporation ceases to be the common parent or if there is no subsidiary affiliated with it.

§ 24.12 Making consolidated return and filing other forms—(a) Consolidated return made by common parent corporation. A consolidated return shall be made on Form 1120 by the common parent corporation for the affiliated group. Such return shall be filed at the time, and in the office of the collector of the district, prescribed for the filing of a separate return by such common parent corporation.

(b) Authorizations and consents. (1) Each subsidiary must prepare duplicate originals of Form 1122, consenting to these regulations and authorizing the common parent corporation to make a consolidated return on its behalf for the taxable year and authorizing the common parent (or, in the event of its failure, the Commissioner or the collector) to make a consolidated return on its behalf (as long as it remains a member of the affiliated group), for each year thereafter for which, under § 24.11 (a), the making of a consolidated return is required. One of such forms as prepared by each subsidiary shall be attached to the consolidated return, as a part thereof; and the other shall be filed, at or before the time the consolidated return is filed, in the office of the collector for the district prescribed for the filing of a separate return by such subsidiary. No such consent can be withdrawn or revoked at any time after the consolidated return is filed.

(2) The filing of Form 1122 for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, by a subsidiary which is either a personal service corporation as described in section 449 or a corporation described in section 454 (d), (f), or (g) shall constitute the making and filing of its consent to be treated as an includible corporation under section 141 (e) (7).

(3) If the common parent corporation is a personal service corporation as described in section 449 or a corporation described in section 454 (d), (f), or (g), the making and filing of the consolidated return for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, shall constitute the making and filing of its consent to be treated as an includible corporation under section 141 (e) (7).

(4) A corporation which consents under section 141 (e) (7) to be treated

"Second Revenue Act of 1940" contains the following statement:

"The regulations which the Commissioner is authorized to prescribe are such regulations as he may deem necessary in order that the tax liability of any affiliated group of corporations making a consolidated return and of each corporation in the group, both during and after the period of affiliation, may be returned, determined, computed, assessed, collected, and adjusted, in such manner as clearly to reflect the excess-profits tax liability and the various factors necessary for the determination of such liability, and in order to prevent avoidance of such tax liability in addition to the matters which, in the light of current and previous consolidated returns regulations, are expected to be covered in detail in the regulations to be issued by the Commissioner, are the extent to which and the manner in which the following items, among others, will be computed and given effect in determining the excess-profits-tax liability of an affiliated group: (a) Equity invested capital, borrowed capital, and invested capital, (b) admissible and inadmissible assets, and excluded capital, (c) net capital additions and reductions, (d) consolidated net operating losses, net operating losses incurred by members of the group in taxable years prior to that for which the consolidated return is filed, and the net operating loss deduction of members of the group in taxable years following that for which the consolidated return was filed, and (e) excess-profits net income and adjusted excess-profits net income."

The report of the Committee on Finance (Rept. No. 1631, 77th Cong., 2d sess., p. 133) accompanying the revenue bill of 1942, amending section 141, contains the following statement:

"The consolidated normal tax net income, the consolidated corporation surtax net income, and the consolidated capital gains and losses of the group are among those factors with respect to which the Commissioner, in view of experience with current and past consolidated returns regulations, is expected to prescribe regulations in order to reflect clearly the income and excess profits tax liability of the group and of each member thereof and the various factors necessary for the determination of such liability. In addition to these matters, your committee expects that such regulations will provide for the application of the excess profits relief provisions, and the provisions of section 710 (a) (1) (B) limiting excess profits taxes, in cases where consolidated returns are filed. Although the present regulations with respect to the determination of consolidated net income quite properly limit the deduction of the net operating loss carry-over of a member of a group from years prior to that in which its income is first included in a consolidated return to the amount of the separate income of such member, this section provides that such limitation shall not be applied to prevent the portion of the net operating loss carry-over which is attributable to a 1941 war loss of the member (see sec. 158 of the bill) being taken into account in computing consolidated net income."

as an includible corporation for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, shall be treated as an includible corporation for all subsequent years, regardless of whether the affiliated group of which such corporation is a member during such subsequent years is the same as the affiliated group of which such corporation was a member when such consent was filed. No consent to be treated as an includible corporation under section 141 (e) (7) can be withdrawn or revoked at any time after the consolidated return is filed for the first taxable year for which the consent is filed.

(5) A subsidiary which is a regulated public utility as described in section 448 (d) shall indicate on its Form 1122 filed for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, whether it consents, pursuant to section 141 (e) (8), to compute its excess profits credit without regard to section 448, or, pursuant to section 141 (j), to compute such credit under section 448 only.

(6) If the common parent corporation is a regulated public utility as described in section 448 (d) or (e), the making and filing of a consolidated return for a taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, subject to the provisions of section 141 (e) (8), or to the provisions of section 141 (j), shall constitute the making and filing of its consent to compute its excess profits credit without regard to section 448, or to compute such credit under section 448, respectively.

(7) A consent made by a regulated public utility under either of the two preceding paragraphs cannot be withdrawn or revoked at any time after the consolidated return is filed, and shall be applicable to the taxable year for which such consent is made and to each consecutive subsequent taxable year for which a consolidated return is made or is required.

(c) Affiliations schedule filed by common parent corporation. The common parent corporation shall prepare Form 851 (Affiliations Schedule), which shall be attached to and made a part of the consolidated return.

(d) Persons qualified to swear to returns and forms. Each return or form required to be made or prepared by a corporation must be sworn to by the persons authorized under section 52 to swear to returns of separate corporations. In cases where receivers or trustees in bankruptcy are operating the property or business of corporations, each return or form required to be made or prepared by such corporation must be executed by the receiver or trustee, as the case may be, pursuant to an order or instructions of the court, and be accompanied by a copy of such order or instructions.

(e) Signatures in case subsidiary has left affiliated group. Since Form 1122 is required even though, during the taxable year of the common parent corporation, the subsidiary (because of a dissolution or sale of stock, or otherwise) has ceased to be a member of the affiliated group, it may be advisable for the common parent to obtain the proper signatures to the form prior to the time the subsidiary ceases to be a member of the group.

§ 24.13 Change in affiliated group during taxable year[1]—(a) General rule. Except as hereinafter provided, a consolidated return must include the income of the common parent corporation and of each subsidiary for the entire taxable year of the affiliated group.

(b) Formation of affiliated group after beginning of year. If an affiliated group is formed after the beginning of the taxable year of the corporation which becomes the common parent corporation, the consolidated return must include the income of the common parent for its entire taxable year (excluding any portion of such year during which its income is included in the consolidated return of another affiliated group) and the income of each subsidiary from the time it became a member of the affiliated group.

(c) Complete termination of affiliated group prior to close of taxable year. If an affiliated group is terminated prior to the close of the taxable year of the group, the consolidated return must include the income of the common parent corporation for its entire taxable year (excluding any portion of such year during which its income is included in the consolidated return of another affiliated group) and of each subsidiary for the period prior to the termination. (See paragraphs (c) and (d) of § 24.11, in determining whether the group has terminated.)

(d) Addition to affiliated group of a subsidiary during year. If a corporation becomes a member of the affiliated group during the taxable year of the group, the consolidated return must include its income from the time when it became a member of the group.

(e) Elimination from affiliated group of a subsidiary during year. If a subsidiary ceases to be a member of the affiliated group during the taxable year of the group, the consolidated return must include its income for the period during which it was a member of the group.

(f) Period of 30 days or less may be disregarded. A subsidiary may at its option be considered as having been a member of the affiliated group during the entire taxable year of the group (or during the entire period of the existence of the subsidiary, whichever is shorter) if the period during which it was not a member of such group does not exceed 30 days. If a corporation has been a member of the affiliated group for a period of less than 31 days during the taxable year of the group, it may at its option be considered as not having been a member of the group during the taxable year. An option under this paragraph must be exercised at or before the time when the consolidated return is made.

(g) Separate returns for periods not included in consolidated return. If a corporation, during its taxable year (determined without regard to the affiliation), becomes a member of an affiliated group, its income for the portion of such taxable year not included in the consolidated return of such group must be included in a separate return (or, if a member of another affiliated group which makes a consolidated return for such period, then in such consolidated return). If a corporation ceases to be a member of the affiliated group during the taxable year of the group, its income for the period after the time when it ceased to be a member of the group must be included in a separate return (or, if it becomes a member of another affiliated group which makes a consolidated return for such period, then in such consolidated return).

(h) Time for making separate returns for periods not included in consolidated return. If a corporation, during its taxable year (determined without regard to the affiliation), becomes a member of an affiliated group, the separate return required for the portion of such taxable year during which it was not a member of the group must be made on or before the 15th day of the third month following the close of its taxable year (determined without regard to the affiliation). For example, Corporation P, reporting its income on a calendar year basis, acquires on January 1, 1951, all the stock of Corporation S, which reports its income on a fiscal year basis ending March 31. P and S elect to make a consolidated return for the calendar year 1951. The separate return of S for the taxable period April 1, 1950, to December 31, 1950, should be made on or before June 15, 1951.

§ 24.14 Accounting period of an affiliated group. (a) The taxable year of an affiliated group which makes a consolidated return shall be the same as the taxable year of the common parent corporation; and, upon having elected to file consolidated returns, each subsidiary corporation shall, not later than the close of the first consolidated taxable year ending thereafter, adopt an annual accounting period, fiscal year or calendar year as the case may be, in conformity with that of the common parent.

(b) If a change of accounting period is necessary in order to conform the accounting periods of the common parent and of its subsidiaries, and if the requirements of § 29.46–1 of this chapter (Regulations 111), relating to notice of change, cannot otherwise be complied with, such notice shall be furnished at or before the time of filing the consolidated return.

(c) With respect to computations for years involved in the change to the consolidated basis, see § 24.32.

§ 24.15 Liability for tax—(a) Several liability of members of affiliated group. Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section, the common parent corporation and each subsidiary, a member of the affiliated group during any part of a consolidated return period, shall be severally liable for the tax (including any deficiency in respect thereof) computed upon the consolidated net income of the group.

[1] This section has no bearing upon the question whether a consolidated return may or must be made, but relates only to the effect of changes in the affiliated group during the taxable year.

(b) Liability of a corporation in bankruptcy or receivership. If, at the time of filing a consolidated return, one or more, but not all, of the members of the affiliated group are in bankruptcy under the laws of the United States or in receivership in any court of the United States or of any State, Territory, or the District of Columbia, then the liability under paragraph (a) of this section of each such member of the group with respect to the period covered by such return shall not exceed such portion of the consolidated tax liability for such period as the several corporations included in the consolidated return may, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, agree upon, or, in the absence of such an agreement, an amount equal to its liability for such year computed as if a separate return had been filed.

(c) Liability of subsidiary after withdrawal. If a subsidiary has ceased to be a member of the affiliated group, its liability under paragraph (a) of this section shall remain unchanged, except that if such cessation occurred prior to the date upon which any deficiency is assessed and resulted from a bona fide sale of stock for fair value, the Commissioner may, if he believes that the assessment or collection of the balance of the deficiency will not be jeopardized, make assessment and collection of such deficiency from such former subsidiary in an amount not exceeding the portion thereof allocable to it upon the bases of income used in the computations respectively of the normal tax, any surtax, and the excess profits tax, included in such deficiency.

(d) Effect of intercompany agreements. Any agreement entered into by one or more members of the affiliated group with any other members of such group or with any other person shall in no case have the effect of reducing the liability prescribed under this section.

(e) Liability of transferee not affected. This section shall not be considered as extinguishing or diminishing any liability, at law or in equity, of a transferee of property of a taxpayer, including any liability under any provision of law, State or Federal, relating to liabilities pursuant to corporate dissolution or transfer or distribution of assets, whether or not in connection with a merger or consolidation.

§ 24.16 Common parent corporation agent for subsidiaries—(a) Scope of agency of common parent corporation. Except as provided in paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section—

The common parent corporation shall be for all purposes (other than the making of the subsidiary consent required by § 24.12 (b)), in respect of the tax for the taxable year for which a consolidated return is made or is required, the sole agent, duly authorized to act in its own name in all matters relating to such tax, for each corporation which during any part of such year was a member of the affiliated group. The corporations, other than the common parent, shall not have authority to act for or to represent themselves in any such matter. For example, all correspondence will be carried on directly with the common parent; notices of deficiencies will be mailed only to the common parent, and the mailing to the common parent shall be considered as a mailing to each such corporation; notice and demand for payment of taxes will be given only to the common parent, and such notice and demand shall be considered as a notice and demand to each such corporation; the common parent will file petitions and conduct proceedings before The Tax Court of the United States, and any such petition shall be considered as having also been filed by each such corporation; the common parent will file claims for refund or credit; refunds will be made directly to and in the name of the common parent and will discharge any liability of the Government in respect thereof to any such corporation; and the common parent in its name will give waivers, give bonds, and execute closing agreements, offers in compromise, and all other documents, and any waiver or bond so given, or agreement, offer in compromise, or any other document so executed, shall be considered as having also been given or executed by each such corporation. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, however, any notice of deficiency, in respect of the tax for a consolidated return period, will name each corporation which was a member of the affiliated group during any part of such period, and any assessment (whether of the original tax or of a deficiency) will be made in the name of each such corporation (but a failure to include the name of any such corporation will not affect the validity of the notice of deficiency or the assessment as to the other corporations); any notice and demand for payment will name each corporation which was a member of the affiliated group during any part of such period (but a failure to include the name of any such corporation will not affect the validity of the notice and demand as to the other corporations); and any distraint (or warrant in respect thereof), any levy (or notice in respect thereof), any notice of a lien, or any other proceeding to collect the amount of any assessment, after the assessment has been made, will name the corporation from which such collection is to be made. The provisions of this paragraph shall apply whether or not a consolidated return is made for any subsequent year, and whether or not one or more subsidiaries have become or have ceased to be members of the group at any time. Notwithstanding the provisions of this paragraph, the Commissioner may, if he deems it advisable, deal directly with any member of the group in respect of its liability, in which event such member shall have full authority to act for itself.

(b) Effect of withdrawal of subsidiary. For the purpose of the assertion, assessment, and collection of any deficiency, and of a credit or refund of any amount paid by a former subsidiary as a deficiency determined under § 24.15 (c), but for no other purpose, the agency of the common parent corporation in respect of any subsidiary which has ceased to be a member of the affiliated group shall be terminated upon the expiration of 30 days (or prior thereto if the Commissioner consents) from the date upon which such subsidiary files written notice with the Commissioner that it has ceased to be a member of the affiliated group and that it is terminating such agency. For example, if a subsidiary has ceased to be a member of the group (and if the 30-day period has expired) prior to the mailing of a notice of deficiency to the common parent, a separate notice of deficiency will be mailed in due course to the subsidiary in respect of its deficiency if it becomes necessary to enforce its liability.

(c) Effect of dissolution of common parent corporation. If the common parent corporation contemplates dissolution, or is about to be dissolved, or if for any other reason its existence is about to terminate, it shall forthwith notify the Commissioner of such fact and designate, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, another member of the affiliated group to act as agent in its place, to the same extent and subject to the same conditions and limitations as are applicable to the common parent. If the notice thus required is not given by the common parent, the remaining members of the group may, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, designate another member of the group to act as such agent, and notice of such designation shall be given to the Commissioner. Until a notice in writing designating a new agent has been received by the Commissioner, any notice of deficiency or other communication mailed to the common parent shall be considered as having been properly mailed to the agent of the group; or, if the Commissioner has reason to believe that the existence of the common parent has terminated, he may, if he deems it advisable, deal directly with any member of the group in respect of its liability.

§ 24.17 Waivers—(a) Effect of waiver given by common parent corporation. Any consent given by the common parent corporation (or by an agent in accordance with paragraph (c) of § 24.16) extending the time within which an assessment may be made or distraint or proceeding in court begun, in respect of the tax for a consolidated return period, shall be applicable (1) to each corporation which was a member of the affiliated group during any part of such period (whether or not any such corporation has ceased to be a member of the group), and (2) to each corporation the income of which was included in the consolidated return, or which filed Form 1122, for such period, even though it is subsequently determined that such corporation was not a member of the group.

(b) Acceptance of waivers from common parent corporation and alleged subsidiary. In no case will a separate waiver be accepted from a corporation the income of which was included in the consolidated return (for example, a corporation which the Commissioner determines was not a member of the affiliated group), or which filed Form 1122, unless a waiver is also obtained from the common parent, or unless the Commissioner is dealing directly with such corporation to enforce its liability.

§ 24.18 Failure to comply with regulations—(a) Exclusion of a subsidiary from consolidated return. If there has been a failure to include in the consolidated return the income of any subsidiary, or a failure to file any of the forms required by the regulations in this part, notice thereof shall be given the common parent corporation by the Commissioner, and the tax liability of each member of the affiliated group shall be determined on the basis of separate returns unless such income is included or such forms are filed within the period prescribed in such notice, or any extension thereof, or unless under § 24.11 a consolidated return is required for such year.

(b) Common parent corporation incorrectly designated in consolidated return. If a consolidated return includes a corporation as the common parent and such corporation was not (under the provisions of section 141) the common parent, the tax liability of each corporation included in the return will be computed in the same manner as if separate returns had been made, unless, upon application, the Commissioner approves the making of a consolidated return, or unless under § 24.11 a consolidated return is required for such year.

(c) Inclusion of one or more subsidiaries not members of affiliated group. If a consolidated return includes a corporation as a subsidiary and such corporation was not a member of the affiliated group during the consolidated return period, the tax liability of such corporation will be determined upon the basis of a separate return (but see paragraph (a) of this section), and the consolidated return shall be considered as including only the corporations which were members of the group during such period. If the consolidated return includes two or more corporations which are not members of the group but which constitute a separate affiliated group, the tax liability of the corporations constituting the separate group will be computed in the same manner as if separate returns had been made by such corporations, unless the Commissioner, upon application, approves the making of a consolidated return for the separate group, or unless under § 24.11 a consolidated return is required for the separate group.

(d) Effect of authorization and consent filed pursuant to notice. If Form 1122 is filed by any corporation, pursuant to a notice under paragraph (a) of this section, such corporation shall be considered for all purposes as having joined in the making of the consolidated return.

(e) Allocation of payments in the event of change by one or more corporations to separate returns. In any case in which amounts have been assessed and paid upon the basis of a consolidated return and the tax liability of one or more of the corporations included in the consolidated return is to be computed in the same manner as if separate returns had been made, the amounts so paid shall be allocated between the affiliated group composed of the corporations properly included in the consolidated return and each of the corporations the tax liability of which is to be computed on a separate basis, in such manner as the corporations included in the consolidated return may, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, agree upon, or, in the absence of an agreement, upon the bases used in the respective computations of the normal tax, any surtax, and the excess profits tax, as shown upon the consolidated return.

§ 24.19 Tentative carry-back adjustments—(a) Groups with constant membership; consolidated returns only. In the case of an affiliated group the membership of which remains unchanged and for which consolidated returns are made or are required for the taxable years involved, any statement filed under section 3779 of the Code with respect to an expected carry-back and any application for a tentative carry-back adjustment filed under section 3780 shall be filed by the common parent corporation and shall disclose all material facts and circumstances relating to the group as a whole. Such statement or application shall be filed on the appropriate form prescribed for such purpose, Form 1138 or Form 1139, as the case may be. Any refunds allowable under any such application will be made directly to and in the name of the common parent. The making of any such refund will discharge any liability of the Government in respect thereof to the several affiliated corporations. The common parent corporation and its several subsidiaries shall be severally liable for any amounts assessed pursuant to section 3780 (b) or (c) or 294 (e), together with any interest or penalty assessed in connection therewith.

(b) Groups with changing membership; cases involving a separate return period. (1) The membership of an affiliated group may change during a taxable year for which a net operating loss or an unused excess profits credit arises, or in the preceding taxable year affected by such net loss or unused credit. Or an affiliated group making a consolidated return for the year of such net loss or unused credit may have made separate returns for the preceding year; or a group making separate returns for the year of the net loss or unused credit may have made a consolidated return for the preceding year. In any such case, the statement provided for in section 3779 (b) of the Code and the application for the tentative carry-back adjustment provided for in section 3780 (a) shall be a joint statement or application concurred in and executed by each corporation which was a member of the group at any time during either of the taxable years involved in the deferment or adjustment sought. The time for the payment of taxes shall be extended under section 3779 and the adjustment provided for in section 3780 shall be made only in accordance with an agreement of the several corporations involved to be made a part of such statement or application. Any refund allowable under any such application with respect to a consolidated return period will be made directly to and in the name of the common parent corporation, and the making of any such refund will discharge any liability of the Government in respect thereof to the several affiliated corporations. The common parent corporation and its several subsidiaries shall be severally liable for any amounts assessed pursuant to section 3780 (b) or (c) or 294 (e), together with any interest or penalty assessed in connection therewith.

(2) In the absence of an agreement between the several corporations, or in the event of their failure to set forth the provisions of such an agreement as a part of their statement or application, no extension of time for the payment of any tax under the provisions of section 3779 shall be granted, and no tentative adjustment shall be made under section 3780.

(3) Nothwithstanding any agreement between the several affiliated corporations, no tentative adjustment shall be made with respect to either a consolidated or a separate return period in disregard of the several liability of the several corporations with respect to any taxable year for which a consolidated return was made or was required.

COMPUTATION OF TAX, RECOGNITION OF GAIN OR LOSS, AND BASIS

§ 24.30 Computation of tax—(a) General rule. In the case of an affiliated group which makes, or is required to make, a consolidated return for any taxable year, the tax liability of each corporation for the period during such year that it was a member of such group shall be computed, subject to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, upon the consolidated normal-tax net income and the consolidated corporation surtax net income of the group, or, in the case of the taxes imposed by section 102, section 201, subchapter A, and subchapter D, upon the consolidated undistributed section 102 net income, the consolidated adjusted normal-tax net income and the consolidated adjusted corporation surtax net income, the consolidated undistributed subchapter A net income, or the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income, as the case may be, determined in each case in accordance with the regulations in this part. In the case of an affiliated group realizing long-term capital gains and computing its tax under the alternative tax provisions of section 117 (c), the tax shall be computed with reference to the consolidated net income, and the excess of the consolidated net long-term capital gain over the consolidated net short-term capital loss.

(b) Special rules. The general rule prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section is subject to the following special rules:

(1) In the case of Western Hemisphere trade corporations—(i) Years beginning after June 30, 1950, and calendar year 1950. If the affiliated group filing a consolidated return for a taxable year beginning after June 30, 1950, or for the calendar year 1950, includes a Western Hemisphere trade corporation, as defined in section 109, the increase of 2 percent provided in section 141 (c) in the corporation surtax rate shall be applied only on that portion of the consolidated corporation surtax net income attributable to the members of the group other than the Western Hemisphere trade corporation.

(ii) Other taxable years. In the case of an affiliated group filing a consolidated return for a taxable year other than one subject to the provisions of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph, and including as a member of the group a Western Hemisphere trade corporation, as defined in section 109, the surtax of the group shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the surtax computed on the consolidated corporation surtax net income as the portion of the consolidated corporation surtax net income attributable to the other members of the group bears to the entire consolidated corporation surtax net income.

(2) In case of abnormalities. If the affiliated group for any taxable year is subject to the provisions of section 456 (relating to abnormalities)—

(i) The excess profits tax liability of the group for the taxable year in which the whole of the abnormal income would, without regard to section 456, be includible shall not exceed the sum of (a) the excess profits tax computed upon the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income of the group computed without the inclusion in gross income of the portion of the net abnormal income which is attributable to any other taxable year, plus (b) the aggregate of the increase in the excess profits tax which would have resulted for the taxable year (computed under subdivision (a)) and for each previous taxable year to which any portion of such net abnormal income is attributable, computed as if an amount equal to such portion had been included in the gross income for such previous taxable year of the corporation deriving such portion;

(ii) The excess profits tax liability of the group for any future taxable year shall be the excess profits tax computed upon the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income of the group computed with the inclusion in gross income of the net abnormal income attributable to such future taxable year, but shall not exceed the sum of (a) the excess profits tax computed upon the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income of the group computed without the inclusion in excess profits net income of the portion of the net abnormal income which is attributable to such year, and (b) the decrease in the excess profits tax for the previous taxable year in which the whole of such abnormal income would, without regard to section 456, be includible, which decrease resulted by reason of the exclusion of the whole or a part of the abnormal income from the gross income for such previous taxable year; but the amount of such decrease shall be diminished by the aggregate of the increases in the excess profits tax which would have resulted for the future taxable year (computed under subdivision (a)) and for the taxable years intervening between such previous taxable year and such future taxable year because of the inclusion in gross income of the portions of such net abnormal income attributable to such intervening years.

(iii) Whether or not an abnormality within the meaning of section 456 exists shall be determined in the light of the aggregate business and of the collective experience during the four previous taxable years of the several members of the group.

(3) In case of Merchant Marine contracts. If the affiliated group for any taxable year includes a corporation subject to the provisions of section 457, relating to corporations completing contracts under the Merchant Marine Act of 1936, the excess profits tax liability of the group shall be the tax under section 430 computed on the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income or the tax computed in accordance with the provisions of section 457 (b), whichever is the lesser. The computation under section 457 (b) shall be made as if the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income and the payments made or to be made to the Federal Maritime Board were the adjusted excess profits net income of and payments made or to be made by a separate corporation.

(4) In case of profits from mining strategic minerals. If the affiliated group for any taxable year includes a corporation a portion of the income of which is, pursuant to section 450, exempt from excess profits tax by reason of such corporation having engaged in the mining of strategic minerals, the excess profits tax liability of the group shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the excess profits tax computed on the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income as the portion of the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income not exempt from excess profits tax bears to the entire consolidated adjusted excess profits net income. The portion of the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income not exempt from excess profits tax shall be determined in the same manner as if the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income were the adjusted excess profits net income of a separate corporation.

(c) Limitation on excess profits tax. The consolidated excess profits tax liability shall be whichever of the following amounts is the lesser:

(1) An amount equal to 30 percent of the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income, or

(2) An amount equal to the excess of 62 percent of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for the taxable year over the tax which would be imposed for the taxable year under sections 13, 14, and 15, supplement G, and supplement Q, whichever are applicable to the affiliated group, computed (subject to section 108, if applicable, and to section 141 (c)) as if the amount of the consolidated normal-tax net income and the amount of the consolidated corporation surtax net income (or the amount subject to the rate of tax in such supplement) were equal to the amount of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for such year.

(d) Several liability. With respect to the liability of the several members of the group, see § 24.15.

§ 24.31 Bases of tax computation. In the case of an affiliated group of corporations which makes, or is required to make, a consolidated return for any taxable year, and except as otherwise provided in the regulations in this part, the tax liability determined under § 24.30 shall be determined subject to the definitions and rules of computation set forth in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section.

(a) Definitions—(1) Consolidated net income. The consolidated net income shall be the combined net income of the several affiliated corporations—

(i) Minus the sum of—

(a) Any consolidated net operating loss deduction,

(b) Any consolidated section 117 (j) net loss, relating to net losses from involuntary conversions and from sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j), and

(c) The aggregate amount of any contributions or gifts made by the several affiliated corporations during the taxable year, subject to the provisions of section 23 (q), but not in excess of 5 percent of the consolidated net income computed without regard to such contributions or gifts, and

(ii) Plus any consolidated net capital gain, or

(iii) Minus, in the case of an affiliated group including as members one or more corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 204, the combined additional capital loss deductions of such corporations authorized by section 204 (c) (5), but in an amount not in excess of the consolidated net capital loss.

(2) Consolidated net operating loss deduction. The consolidated net operating loss deduction shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of the consolidated net operating loss carry-overs and of the consolidated net operating loss carry-back to the taxable year reduced by the amount, if any, by which the consolidated net income (computed with the exceptions and limitations provided in section 122 (d) (1), (2), (3), and (4)) exceeds the consolidated normal-tax net income (computed without any net operating loss deduction and without the credits provided in section 26 (h), relating to dividends paid by public utilities on certain preferred stock, and section 26 (i), relating to western hemisphere trade corporations).

(3) Consolidated net operating loss carry-overs. The consolidated net operating loss carry-overs to the taxable year shall consist of—

(i) The consolidated net operating losses, if any, for the five preceding taxable years (not including as a third, fourth, or fifth preceding taxable year any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1950) to the extent that the consolidated net operating loss for any such preceding taxable year was not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and was not absorbed as a carry-over or carry-back by the consolidated or separate net income for preceding or intervening taxable years, and, with respect to a net operating loss sustained by a corporation in a taxable year for which a separate return was filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, but subject to the limitations prescribed in section 24.31 (b) (3),

(ii) The amount of the net operating losses, if any, of such corporation for the five preceding taxable years (not including as a third, fourth, or fifth preceding taxable year any taxable year beginning prior to January 1, 1950) to the extent that the net operating loss for any such preceding taxable year was not absorbed as a carry-over or carry-back by consolidated or separate net income for preceding or intervening taxable years.

(4) Consolidated net operating loss carry-back. The consolidated net operating loss carry-back to the taxable year shall consist of—

(i) The amount of the consolidated net operating loss, if any, for the succeeding taxable year to the extent not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and with respect to a net operating loss sustained by a corporation which, for the succeeding taxable year, files a separate return or joins in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group but subject to the limitations prescribed in § 24.31 (b) (3),

(ii) The amount of the net operating loss, if any, of such corporation for the succeeding taxable year.

(5) Consolidated net operating loss. The consolidated net operating loss, computed for the purpose of the net operating loss deduction, shall be an amount equal to the excess of the sum of—

(i) The combined net operating losses of the several affiliated corporations having net operating losses (computed subject to the exceptions, additions, and limitations provided in section 122 (d)), and

(ii) The consolidated section 117 (j) net loss, over the sum of—

(iii) The combined net income of the several affiliated corporations having net income (adjusted with respect to the exceptions, additions, and limitations provided in section 122 (d) in connection with the computation of net operating losses), and

(iv) The consolidated net capital gain.

(6) Consolidated section 117 (j) net loss. The consolidated section 117 (j) net loss shall be the excess of the aggregate of the recognized losses of the character described in section 117 (j) sustained by the several affiliated corporations over the aggregate of the recognized gains of the character described in section 117 (j) realized by the several affiliated corporations.

(7) Consolidated net capital gain. The consolidated net capital gain shall be the excess of the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the capital gains of the several affiliated corporations, and

(ii) The consolidated section 117 (j) net gain, over the sum of—

(iii) The aggregate of the capital losses of such corporations, and

(iv) The aggregate of the consolidated net capital loss carry-overs to the taxable year.

(8) Consolidated section 117 (j) net gain. The consolidated section 117 (j) net gain shall be the excess of the aggregate of the recognized gains of the character described in section 117 (j) realized by the several affiliated corporations over the aggregate of the recognized losses of the character described in section 117 (j) sustained by the several affiliated corporations.

(9) Consolidated net capital loss carry-over. The consolidated net capital loss carry-overs to the taxable year shall consist of—

(i) The consolidated net capital losses, if any, for the five preceding taxable years to the extent that such losses were not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and were not absorbed by net capital gains for intervening taxable years pursuant to the provisions of section 117 (e) (1), consolidated or separate, as the case may be,

and, with respect to net capital losses sustained by a corporation for taxable years for which separate returns were filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group—

(ii) The net capital losses, if any, sustained by such corporation for its five preceding taxable years to the extent that such losses were not absorbed by the net capital gains of such corporation (or, if the income of such corporation was included in a consolidated return, by the consolidated net capital gain) for intervening taxable years pursuant to the provisions of section 117 (e) (1).

(10) Consolidated net capital loss. The consolidated net capital loss shall be the excess of the aggregate of the capital losses of the several affiliated corporations over the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the capital gains of such corporations, and

(ii) The consolidated section 117 (j) net gain, reduced, in the case of an affiliated group including as members one or more corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 204, but only for the purpose of net capital loss carry-over computations, by whichever of the following amounts is the lesser:

(iii) The combined additional capital loss deductions of such corporations authorized by section 204 (c) (5), or

(iv) The consolidated corporation surtax net income computed without regard to capital gains and losses.

(11) Consolidated normal-tax net income. The consolidated normal-tax net income shall be the consolidated adjusted net income minus—

(i) The consolidated section 26 (b) credit, relating to dividends received, and, for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and for the calendar year 1950—

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group including as a member a public utility as defined in section 26 (h) (2) (A), the consolidated section 26 (h) credit; and

(iii) In the case of an affiliated group including as a member a western hemisphere trade corporation as defined in section 109, the consolidated section 26 (i) credit.

(12) Consolidated adjusted net income. The consolidated adjusted net income shall be the consolidated net income minus the consolidated section 26 (a) credit, relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and Government corporations.

(13) Consolidated section 26 (a) credit. The consolidated section 26 (a) credit, relating to interest on certain obligations of the United States and Government corporations, shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of the interest, of the class with respect to which credit is allowed by section 26 (a), received by the several affiliated corporations.

(14) Consolidated section 26 (b) credit. The consolidated section 26 (b) credit, relating to dividends received, shall be—

(i) An amount equal to 85 percent of the aggregate dividends, of the class with respect to which credit is allowed by section 26 (b) received by the several affiliated corporations, not including dividends on preferred stock of public utilities subject to the provisions of (ii), and

(ii) With respect to the aggregate dividends received by the several affiliated corporations on the preferred stock of a public utility described in section 26 (h)—

(a) For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, an amount equal to 59 percent of the aggregate of such dividends received in such year, or

(b) For the calendar year 1950, an amount equal to 57 percent of the aggregate of such dividends received in such year, but in an amount not greater than 85 percent of the consolidated adjusted net income computed without regard to the consolidated net operating loss deduction.

(15) Consolidated section 26 (h) credit. The consolidated section 26 (h) credit, relating to dividends paid by public utilities on preferred stock, shall be—

(i) With respect to a taxable year beginning after June 30, 1950, and the calendar year 1950, an amount equal to 30 percent (33 percent for the calendar year 1950) of the lesser of—

(a) The aggregate of the dividends paid by members of the affiliated group which are public utilities within the meaning of section 26 (h) (2) (A) on preferred stock within the meaning of section 26 (h) (2) (B), or

(b) The portion of the consolidated adjusted net income attributable to such members minus the portion of the consolidated section 26 (b) credit attributable to such members; and

(ii) With respect to other taxable years, an amount equal to the aggregate of the dividends paid by members of the affiliated group which are public utilities within the meaning of section 26 (h) (2) (A) on preferred stock within the meaning of section 26 (h) (2) (B), but in an amount not greater than that portion of the consolidated corporation surtax net income (computed without regard to this credit) attributable to such members.

(16) Consolidated section 26 (i) credit. For taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and the calendar year 1950, the consolidated section 26 (i) credit shall be an amount equal to 30 percent (33 percent for the calendar year 1950) of the portion of the consolidated normal-tax net income, computed without regard to this credit, attributable to those members of the affiliated group which are western hemisphere trade corporations.

(17) Consolidated corporation surtax net income. The consolidated corporation surtax net income shall be the consolidated net income minus the sum of—

(i) The consolidated section 26 (b) credit relating to dividends received (computed for taxable years beginning prior to July 1, 1950, other than the calendar year 1950, without regard to dividends received of the class with respect to which a public utility is allowed a dividends paid credit under section 26 (b));

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group including as a member a public utility as defined in section 26 (h) (2) (A), the consolidated section 26 (h) credit; and

(iii) In the case of an affiliated group including as a member a western hemisphere trade corporation as defined in section 109, for taxable years beginning after June 30, 1950, and for the calendar year 1950, the consolidated section 26 (i) credit.

(18) Consolidated net long-term capital gain. The consolidated net long-term capital gain shall be the excess of the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the long-term capital gains of the several affiliated corporations, and

(ii) The consolidated section 117 (j) net gain, over

(iii) The aggregate of the long-term capital losses of such corporations.

(19) Consolidated net short-term capital loss. The consolidated net short-term capital loss shall be the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the short-term capital losses of the several affiliated corporations, and

(ii) The consolidated net capital loss carry-over, minus

(iii) The aggregate of the short-term capital gains of such corporations.

(20) Consolidated section 102 net income. The consolidated section 102 net income shall be the consolidated net income, computed without regard to any capital loss carry-over and without regard to any net operating loss deduction, minus the sum of—

(i) The combined Federal income, war-profits, and excess-profits taxes (other than a tax imposed by subchapter E of Chapter 2 of the Code for taxable years beginning after December 31, 1940) paid or accrued during the taxable year by the several affiliated corporations, to the extent not allowed as a deduction by section 23, but not including the tax imposed by section 102 of the Code, or by a corresponding section of prior income tax laws,

(ii) The combined contributions or gifts of the several affiliated corporations, payment of which is made within the taxable year, not otherwise allowed as a deduction, to or for the use of donees described in section 23 (o) of the Code for the purposes therein specified, and

(iii) The excess of the sum of the capital losses of the several affiliated corporations (computed without regard to any capital loss carry-over) over the sum of the capital gains of such corporations.

(21) Consolidated undistributed section 102 net income. The consolidated undistributed section 102 net income shall be the consolidated section 102 net income minus the consolidated basic surtax credit.

(22) Consolidated subchapter A net income. The consolidated subchapter A net income shall be the consolidated net income computed with the adjustments provided in section 505.

(23) Consolidated undistributed subchapter A net income. The consolidated undistributed subchapter A net income shall be the consolidated subchapter A net income minus the sum of—

(i) The consolidated dividends paid credit with the exceptions and limitations provided in section 504 (a),

(ii) The aggregate amount, subject to the provisions of section 504 (b), used or irrevocably set aside by the several affiliated corporations to pay or to retire indebtedness incurred prior to January 1, 1934, not including such portion of any such indebtedness as was owned on January 1, 1934, or at any time thereafter, directly or indirectly, by another member of the group, and

(iii) The aggregate amount of dividends paid by the several affiliated corporations after the close of the taxable year, subject to the provisions of section 504 (c).

(24) Consolidated dividends paid credit. The consolidated dividends paid credit shall be the sum of—

(i) The consolidated basic surtax credit, and

(ii) The consolidated dividend carry-over.

(25) Consolidated basic surtax credit. The consolidated basic surtax credit shall be the sum of—

(i) The excess of the aggregate amount of dividends paid by the several affiliated corporations during the taxable year (computed, in the case of the tax imposed by subchapter A, of Chapter 2, with the qualifications provided in section 504 (a), relating to dividends paid after the close of the taxable year) over the consolidated section 26 (h) credit, relating to dividends paid by public utilities on certain preferred stock, and

(ii) The combined consent dividends credit of the several affiliated corporations provided in section 28, and, in an aggregate amount not exceeding the consolidated section 102 net income or the consolidated subchapter A net income, as the case may be, the sum of—

(iii) The consolidated net operating loss credit, and

(iv) In the case of an affiliated group including one or more holding company affiliates of a bank as defined in section 2 of the Banking Act of 1933, the consolidated section 26 (d) credit, relating to earnings or profits devoted to the acquisition of readily marketable assets other than bank stock.

(26) Consolidated dividend carry-over. The consolidated dividend carry-over for the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The amount, if any, by which the consolidated basic surtax credit for the first preceding taxable year exceeds the consolidated subchapter A net income for such year, to the extent that such credit and such income are not attributable to a corporation making a separate return or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year,

(ii) The amount of the consolidated basic surtax credit for the second preceding taxable year reduced by the consolidated subchapter A net income for such year and further reduced by the amount, if any, by which the consolidated subchapter A net income of the first preceding taxable year exceeds the sum of—

(a) The consolidated basic surtax credit for such year, and

(b) The excess, if any, of the consolidated basic surtax credit for the third preceding taxable year over the consolidated subchapter A net income for such year, to the extent that any such basic surtax credit and any such subchapter A net income are not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and, with respect to the unused basic surtax credit of a corporation for taxable years for which separate returns were filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group—

(iii) The amount, if any, by which the basic surtax credit of such corporation for the first preceding taxable year exceeds the subchapter A net income of such corporation for such year, and

(iv) The amount of the basic surtax credit of such corporation for the second preceding taxable year reduced by the subchapter A net income of such corporation for such year and further reduced by—

(a) The excess, if any, of the subchapter A net income of such corporation for the first preceding taxable year over the sum of—

(1) The basic surtax credit of such corporation for such year, and

(2) The amount, if any, by which the basic surtax credit of such corporation for the third preceding taxable year exceeds the subchapter A net income of such corporation for such year, or

(b) If the income of such corporation is included in the consolidated return for the first preceding taxable year, the excess, if any, of the consolidated subchapter A net income for the first preceding taxable year over the sum of—

(1) The consolidated basic surtax credit for such year, and

(2) The amount, if any, by which the basic surtax credit of such corporation for the third preceding taxable year exceeds the subchapter A net income of such corporation for such year.

(27) Consolidated net operating loss credit. The consolidated net operating loss credit shall be an amount equal to the sum of—

(i) The consolidated net operating loss for the preceding taxable year, computed for the purpose of the credit, to the extent not attributable to those corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and, with respect to a corporation which filed a separate return or joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group for the preceding taxable year,

(ii) The net operating loss of such corporation for such preceding taxable year, computed subject to the exceptions and limitations provided in section 26 (c) (2), and further limited, as the case may be, to that portion of the consolidated section 102 net income, or the consolidated subchapter A net income, attributable to such corporation for the taxable year, but not in excess of the consolidated section 102 net income for the taxable year, or the consolidated subchapter A net income, as the case may be.

(28) Consolidated net operating loss for purpose of credit. The consolidated net operating loss, computed for the purpose of the net operating loss credit, shall be the excess of the sum of—

(i) The combined net operating losses of the several affiliated corporations having net operating losses, computed subject to the exceptions and limitations provided in section 26 (c) (2),

(ii) The consolidated section 117 (j) net loss, and

(iii) In the case of an affiliated group including as members one or more corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 204, the combined additional capital loss deductions of such corporations authorized by section 204 (c) (5),

over the sum of—

(iv) The combined net income, computed with respect to the exceptions and limitations provided in section 26 (c) (2) in connection with the computation of net operating losses, of the several affiliated corporations having net income, and

(v) The consolidated net capital gain.

(29) Consolidated section 26 (d) credit. The consolidated section 26 (d) credit, relating to bank affiliates, shall be an amount equal to the aggregate of the earnings or profits of members of the group which are holding company affiliates of a bank as defined in section 2 of the Banking Act of 1933 devoted to the acquisition of readily marketable assets other than bank stock (not including any asset acquired, directly or indirectly, from another member of the group), subject, in the case of each such affiliate, to the limitations imposed by section 26 (d) determined without regard to the qualifications expressed in (b) (1) (ii) and (iii) of this section.

(30) Consolidated adjusted normal-tax net income of life insurance companies. The consolidated adjusted normal-tax net income, in the case of an affiliated group consisting of corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 201, shall be the consolidated normal-tax net income minus the consolidated section 202 (b) credit, and plus the consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment.

(31) Consolidated adjusted corporation surtax net income of life insurance companies. The consolidated adjusted corporation surtax net income, in the case of an affiliated group consisting of corporations subject to the tax imposed by section 201, shall be the consolidated corporation surtax net income minus the consolidated section 203 (b) credit, and plus the consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment.

(32) Consolidated section 202 (b) credit. The consolidated section 202 (b) credit, relating to reserve and other policy liabilities, shall be the consolidated normal-tax net income multiplied by a figure to be determined and proclaimed by the Secretary for each taxable year pursuant to section 202 (b).

(33) Consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment. The consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment, relating to certain reserves provided in section 202 (c), shall be an amount equal to 3½ percent of the combined unearned premiums and unpaid losses of the several affiliated corporations on contracts other than life insurance or annuity contracts, computed in the case of each corporation pursuant to the provisions of section 202 (c), but the combined unearned premiums shall not be considered to be less than 25 percent of the combined net premiums on such other contracts written during the taxable year.

(34) Consolidated section 203 (b) credit. The consolidated section 203 (b) credit, relating to reserve and other policy liabilities, shall be the consolidated corporation surtax net income multiplied by a figure to be determined and proclaimed by the Secretary for each taxable year pursuant to section 202 (b).

(35) Consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income. The consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for any taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, shall be the consolidated normal-tax net income increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the consolidated section 433 (a) adjustment.

(36) Consolidated section 433 (a) adjustment. The consolidated section 433 (a) adjustment shall be the net amount of the aggregate adjustments provided in section 433 (a) (1) (D), (E), (F), (G), (I), (K), (L), (M), (N), (O), (P), and (Q), computed and determined in the case of the several affiliated corporations, except as otherwise provided in (b) of this section, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions as if separate returns were filed, increased or decreased, as the case may be, with respect to—

(i) The excess of the aggregate amount of the dividends received by the several corporations of the class with respect to which adjustment is provided for in section 433 (a) (1) (A), computed subject to the limitation relating to dividends in kind, over the consolidated section 26 (b) credit;

(ii) The sum of the consolidated section 26 (h) credit, relating to dividends paid by a public utility, and the consolidated section 26 (i) credit, relating to western hemisphere trade corporations;

(iii) The amount of—

(a) The consolidated net capital gain, or

(b) The combined additional capital loss deductions authorized by section 204 (c) (5), but not in excess of the consolidated net capital loss.

(iv) In the case of life insurance companies subject to the tax imposed by section 201—

(a) If the consolidated excess profits credit is based on income, the excess of the product of the figure determined and proclaimed under section 202 (b) and the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income, computed without regard to this adjustment over the consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment, relating to certain reserves, or

(b) If the consolidated excess profits credit is based on invested capital, 50 percent of the excess of the product of the figure determined and proclaimed under section 202 (b) and the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income, computed without regard to this adjustment, over the consolidated section 202 (c) adjustment;

(v) The consolidated net operating loss deduction adjustment.

(37) Consolidated net operating loss deduction adjustment. The consolidated net operating loss deduction adjustment shall be the difference between the amount of the consolidated net operating loss deduction for the taxable year otherwise computed under these regulations and the amount of such consolidated net operating loss deduction computed subject to the provisions of section 433 (a) (1) (J).

(38) Consolidated adjusted excess profits net income. The consolidated adjusted excess profits net income shall be the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income minus whichever is the greater—

(i) The amount of $25,000, or

(ii) An amount equal to the sum of—

(a) The consolidated excess profits credit, and

(b) The consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment.

(39) Consolidated excess profits credit. The consolidated excess profits credit shall be—

(i) In general—

(a) The consolidated excess profits credit based on invested capital, or

(b) In the case of an affiliated group one or more of the members of which would have been entitled in a separate return to an excess profits credit based on income, either the consolidated excess profits credit based on income or the consolidated excess profits credit based on invested capital, whichever results in the lesser excess profits tax; or

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group consisting wholly of regulated public utilities, in conformity with consents made under section 141 (e) (2) of section 141 (j) applicable to the taxable year, either a credit determined under the general rule of this paragraph, or the consolidated section 448 excess profits credit.

(40) Consolidated excess profits credit based on invested capital. The consolidated excess profits credit based on invested capital shall be the sum of—

(i) The consolidated invested capital credit reduced by the consolidated inadmissible asset adjustment, and

(ii) The consolidated new capital credit.

(41) Consolidated invested capital credit. The consolidated invested capital credit shall be the sum of—

(i) Twelve precent of that portion of the consolidated invested capital not in excess of $5,000,000,

(ii) Ten percent of that portion of the consolidated invested capital in excess of $5,000,000 but not in excess of $10,000,000, and

(iii) Eight percent of that portion of the consolidated invested capital in excess of $10,000,000.

(42) Consolidated invested capital. The consolidated invested capital for the taxable year shall be—

(i) In general—

(a) The consolidated adjusted invested capital for such year, or

(b) At the election of the affiliated group exercised by the common parent corporation at the time of the making of the consolidated return for the taxable year, the consolidated historical invested capital for such year, or

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group of mutual insurance companies taxable under section 207, the sum of—

(a) The mean of the combined surplus of the several affiliated corporations, and

(b) Fifty percent of the mean of the aggregate of all reserves of the several affiliated corporations required by law, such surplus and reserves being computed in the case of each affiliated corporation pursuant to the provisions of section 437 (b) (3) and as if such corporation were making a separate return.

(43) Consolidated adjusted invested capital. The consolidated adjusted invested capital for the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The consolidated equity capital as of the beginning of the taxable year,

(ii) The combined capital addition for the taxable year of the several affiliated corporations,

(iii) Seventy-five percent of the consolidated average borrowed capital for the taxable year, and

(iv) The consolidated recent loss adjustment, minus the sum of—

(v) The combined capital reduction for the taxable year of the several affiliated corporations, and

(vi) If the amount of the consolidated adjusted invested capital so determined, but without regard to this subdivision (subdivision (vi)), exceeds $5,000,000, the consolidated net new capital addition.

(44) Consolidated equity capital. The consolidated equity capital as of any time shall be—

(i) The aggregate of the total assets of the several affiliated corporations held at such time in good faith for the purpose of the business, reduced by the aggregate of the total liabilities of such corporations at such time, or

(ii) In the case of an affiliated group including one or more insurance companies (other than mutual and other than life or marine), an amount determined under (i) increased by the sum of—

(a) Fifty percent of the combined reserves of such insurance companies required by law (other than reserves used in computing borrowed capital under section 439 (b) (2)), and

(b) The combined organization expenses of such insurance companies.

(45) Consolidated recent loss adjustment. The consolidated recent loss adjustment shall be the excess of the combined net operating losses of the several affiliated corporations for the taxable years in the consolidated recent loss period, computed under section 437 (f), over the combined net income of such corporations for the taxable years in such period, computed under section 437 (f).

(46) Consolidated recent loss period. The consolidated recent loss period shall be whichever of the following results in the higher consolidated recent loss adjustment:

(i) The consolidated base period, or

(ii) The period beginning on January 1, 1940, and ending December 31, 1949.

(47) Consolidated net new capital addition. The consolidated net new capital addition for the taxable year shall be—

(i) The excess, divided by the number of days in the taxable year, of the aggregate of the consolidated daily new capital additions for each day of the taxable year, over the aggregate of the consolidated daily new capital reductions for each such day, reduced (but not below zero) by

(ii) The consolidated increase in inadmissible assets for the taxable year, less 25 percent of the excess, if any, of such consolidated increase in inadmissible assets over an amount computed under (i) without regard to the amounts determined under (48) (iii) and (49) (iii), relating to borrowed capital.

(48) Consolidated daily new capital addition. The consolidated daily new capital addition for any day of the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the amounts of money and property (other than excluded equity capital) paid in to the several members of the affiliated group for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, after the beginning of such taxable year and prior to such day;

(ii) The amount, if any, by which the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the taxable year minus the amount of the aggregate of the excluded equity capital paid in to the several members of the group before the beginning of the taxable year and after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group exceeds the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of such first excess profits tax taxable year; and

(iii) Seventy-five percent of the excess of—

(a) The amount by which the consolidated daily borrowed capital for such day is greater than the consolidated daily borrowed capital for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, over

(b) The amount by which the consolidated excluded borrowed capital for such day is greater than the consolidated excluded borrowed capital for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year.

(49) Consolidated daily new capital reduction. The consolidated daily new capital reduction for any day of the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the distributions by the several members of the affiliated group to shareholders (other than members of the group) previously made during such taxable year which are not out of the earnings and profits of such taxable year;

(ii) The amount, if any, by which the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group plus the amount of the aggregate of the excluded equity capital paid in to the several members of the group after the beginning of such first excess profits tax taxable year and before the beginning of the taxable year exceeds the amount of the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the taxable year; and

(iii) Seventy-five percent of the amount, if any, by which the consolidated daily borrowed capital for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group exceeds the consolidated daily borrowed capital for such day.

(50) Consolidated daily borrowed capital. The consolidated daily borrowed capital for any day shall be the aggregate of the daily borrowed capital of the several members of the affiliated group for such day.

(51) Consolidated excluded borrowed capital. The consolidated excluded borrowed capital for any day shall be the aggregate of the excluded borrowed capital of the several members of the affiliated group for such day.

(52) Consolidated increase in inadmissible assets. The consolidated increase in inadmissible assets shall be the excess of the consolidated average inadmissible assets for the taxable year over the consolidated original inadmissible assets.

(53) Consolidated average inadmissible assets. The consolidated average inadmissible assets for the taxable year shall be the aggregate of the average inadmissible assets of the several members of the affiliated group for the taxable year.

(54) Consolidated original inadmissible assets. The consolidated original inadmissible assets shall be the aggregate of the original inadmissible assets of the several members of the affiliated group.

(55) Consolidated historical invested capital. The consolidated historical invested capital for the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The combined average invested capital for the taxable year of the several affiliated corporations computed in the case of each corporation without including any accumulated earnings and profits, and

(ii) The consolidated accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of such taxable year.

(56) Consolidated accumulated earnings and profits. The consolidated accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of the taxable year shall be an amount equal to the excess of the combined accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of such year of the several affiliated corporations having accumulated earnings and profits over the combined deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of such year of the several affiliated corporations having such deficits.

(57) Consolidated inadmissible asset adjustment. The consolidated inadmissible asset adjustment shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the consolidated invested capital credit as the aggregate inadmissible assets of the several affiliated corporations bears to the aggregate admissible and inadmissible assets of such corporations.

(58) Consolidated new capital credit. The consolidated new capital credit for any taxable year shall be an amount equal to 12 percent of the consolidated net new capital addition for the taxable year except that such credit shall not be allowed—

(i) If the consolidated invested capital for the taxable year (computed without reduction by the amount of the consolidated net new capital addition) is $5,000,000 or less;

(ii) If the consolidated invested capital is the consolidated historical invested capital; or

(iii) If the affiliated group is composed of mutual insurance companies (other than life or marine).

(59) Consolidated excess profits credit based on income. The consolidated excess profits credit based on income for any taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) Eighty-five percent of the consolidated average base period net income,

(ii) If the consolidated average base period net income is the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income or the consolidated alternative average base period net income, 12 percent of the amount of the consolidated base period capital addition, and

(iii) Twelve percent of the consolidated net capital addition for the taxable year, minus 12 percent of the consolidated net capital reduction for the taxable year.

(60) Consolidated average base period net income. The consolidated average base period net income shall be the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income unless the affiliated group is entitled to the benefits of sections 435 (e), 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446, in which case the consolidated average base period net income shall be whichever of the following, applicable to the group, results in the lowest excess profits tax for the taxable year:

(i) The consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income,

(ii) The consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income,

(iii) The consolidated alternative average base period net income.

(61) Consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income. The consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income shall be one-third of the aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for each month in the consolidated selected base period.

(62) Consolidated selected base period. The consolidated selected base period shall be—

(i) The 36 months in the consolidated base period remaining after eliminating the 12 consecutive months having the lowest aggregate consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income, or

(ii) The 36 consecutive months in the consolidated base period having the highest aggregate consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income, whichever produce the higher aggregate consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income.

(63) Consolidated base period. The consolidated base period shall be the base period of the common parent corporation.

(64) Consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income. The consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for any month shall be an amount equal to the excess of the combined excess profits net income of the several affiliated corporations for such month determined under section 433 (b) over the combined deficits in excess profits net income of such corporations for such month determined under section 433 (c).

(65) Consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income. The consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income shall be whichever of the following is the highest:

(i) The aggregate, divided by two, of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the last 24 months in the consolidated base period; or

(ii) The aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the last 12 months in the consolidated base period; or

(iii) The sum of the aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the six months beginning July 1, 1949, and ending December 31, 1949, and the aggregate of the consolidated weighted excess profits net income for the six months beginning January 1, 1950, and ending June 30, 1950; or

(iv) In the case of an affiliated group entitled to the benefits of section 435 (e) (2) (G), the sum of the aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the six months beginning July 1, 1948, and ending December 31, 1948, and the aggregate of the consolidated weighted excess profits net income for the six months beginning January 1, 1950, and ending June 30, 1950.

(66) Consolidated weighted excess profits net income. The consolidated weighted excess profits net income for any month shall be an amount equal to the excess of the combined weighted excess profits net income of the several affiliated corporations for such month over the combined weighted deficit in excess profits net income of such corporations for such month.

(67) Consolidated base period capital addition. The consolidated base period capital addition shall be the sum of—

(i) The amount by which the consolidated yearly base period capital for the first excess profits tax taxable year of the affiliated group exceeds, whichever is greater, the consolidated yearly base period capital for the immediately preceding taxable year or the consolidated yearly base period capital for the second preceding taxable year, and

(ii) Fifty percent of the amount by which the consolidated yearly base period capital for such first excess profits tax taxable year or the consolidated yearly base period capital for the immediately preceding taxable year, whichever is lesser, exceeds the consolidated yearly base period capital for the second preceding taxable year.

(68) Consolidated yearly base period capital. The consolidated yearly base period capital for a taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the first day of such taxable year, and

(ii) An amount equal to 75 percent of the consolidated daily borrowed capital for such first day, reduced by the sum of—

(iii) The aggregate of the inadmissible assets of the several members of the affiliated group at the beginning of such first day minus 25 percent of the excess, if any, of such aggregate over the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of such first day,

(iv) Seventy-five percent of the consolidated controlled group indebtedness for such first day, and

(v) Seventy-five percent of the aggregate of the adjustments for interest on borrowed capital under section 435 (f) (5) of the several members of the group for such first day.

(69) Consolidated controlled group indebtedness. The consolidated controlled group indebtedness for any day shall be the aggregate of the indebtedness owed to each of the several members of the affiliated group by other corporations which are members on such day of the same controlled group, as defined in section 435 (g) (6), as such member of the affiliated group.

(70) Consolidated net capital addition. The consolidated net capital addition for the taxable year shall be—

(i) The excess, divided by the number of days in the taxable year, of the aggregate of the consolidated daily capital addition for each day of the taxable year over the aggregate of the consolidated daily capital reduction for each such day, reduced (but not below zero) by

(ii) The consolidated increase in inadmissible assets for the taxable year, less 25 percent of the excess, if any, of such consolidated increase in inadmissible assets over an amount computed under (i) without regard to section 435 (g) (3) (C), relating to borrowed capital.

(71) Consolidated net capital reduction. The consolidated net capital reduction for the taxable year shall be—

(i) The excess, divided by the number of days in the taxable year, of the aggregate of the consolidated daily capital reduction for each day of the taxable year over the aggregate of the consolidated daily capital addition for each such day, reduced (but not below zero) by

(ii) The consolidated decrease in inadmissible assets for the taxable year, less 25 percent of the excess, if any, of such consolidated decrease in inadmissible assets over an amount computed under (i) without regard to section 435 (g) (4) (C) and (E), relating to borrowed capital and loans to members of a controlled group.

(72) Consolidated daily capital addition. The consolidated daily capital addition for any day of the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the amounts of money and property paid in to the several members of the affiliated group for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, after the beginning of such taxable year and prior to such day;

(ii) The amount, if any, by which the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the taxable year exceeds the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group; and

(iii) Seventy-five percent of the excess of the consolidated average borrowed capital for the taxable year over the consolidated daily borrowed capital for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group.

(73) Consolidated daily capital reduction. The consolidated daily capital reduction for any day of the taxable year shall be the sum of—

(i) The aggregate of the distributions by the several members of the affiliated group to shareholders (other than members of the group) previously made during such taxable year which are not out of the earnings and profits of such taxable year;

(ii) The amount, if any, by which the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group exceeds the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the taxable year;

(iii) Seventy-five percent of the amount, if any, by which the consolidated daily borrowed capital for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group exceeds the consolidated average borrowed capital for the taxable year;

(iv) The consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment, relating to increase in certain inadmissible assets; and

(v) Seventy-five percent of the consolidated section 435 (g) (7) adjustment, relating to increase in certain loans to members of a controlled group.

(74) Consolidated average borrowed capital. The consolidated average borrowed capital for the taxable year shall be the aggregate of the consolidated daily borrowed capital for each day of the taxable year divided by the number of days in the taxable year.

(75) Consolidated decrease in inadmissible assets. The consolidated decrease in inadmissible assets shall be the excess of the consolidated original inadmissible assets over the consolidated average inadmissible assets for the taxable year.

(76) Consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment. The consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment for any day shall be whichever of the following amounts is the lesser:

(i) The excess of the consolidated controlled group stock for such day over the consolidated original controlled group stock; or

(ii) The excess of the aggregate of the inadmissible assets held by the several members of the group at the beginning of such day over the consolidated original inadmissible assets.

(77) Consolidated controlled group stock. The consolidated controlled group stock for any day of the taxable year shall be the aggregate of the adjusted basis of the stock held by the several members of the affiliated group at the beginning of such day which is stock in a corporation included in a controlled group (as defined in section 435 (g) (6)) which also includes a member of the affiliated group.

(78) Consolidated original controlled group stock. The consolidated original controlled group stock shall be the consolidated controlled group stock for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group.

(79) Consolidated section 435 (g) (7) adjustment. The consolidated section 435 (g) (7) adjustment shall be the excess of the consolidated controlled group indebtedness for such day over the consolidated original controlled group indebtedness.

(80) Consolidated original controlled group indebtedness. The consolidated original controlled group indebtedness shall be the consolidated controlled group indebtedness for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group.

(81) Consolidated alternative average base period net income. The consolidated alternative average base period net income shall be one-third of the aggregate of the consolidated alternative excess profits net income for each month in the consolidated alternative selected base period.

(82) Consolidated alternative selected base period. The consolidated alternative selected base period shall be—

(i) The 36 months in the consolidated base period remaining after eliminating the 12 consecutive months having the lowest aggregate consolidated alternative excess profits net income, or

(ii) The 36 consecutive months in the consolidated base period having the highest aggregate consolidated alternative excess profits net income, whichever produce the higher aggregate consolidated alternative excess profits net income.

(83) Consolidated alternative excess profits net income. The consolidated alternative excess profits net income for any month shall be an amount equal to the sum of—

(i) The combined excess profits net income for such month determined under section 433 (b) for the several affiliated corporations other than the affiliated corporations described in (ii) and other than the affiliated corporations to which (iii) is applicable for such month,

(ii) In the case of any member of the affiliated group to which section 442 (d), 443, 444, 445, or 446 is applicable, one-twelfth of the average base period net income separately computed under such section for such member, and

(iii) In the case of any member of the group (other than a member described in (ii)) to which section 442 (c) is applicable, and for which such month is a month identified under section 442 (c) (3) the substitute excess profits net income for such month separately computed under section 442 (c) for such member, minus the combined deficits in excess profits net income for such month determined under section 433 (c) for the several affiliated corporations other than the corporations described in (ii) and other than the affiliated corporations to which (iii) is applicable for such month.

(84) Consolidated section 448 excess profits credit. The consolidated section 448 excess profits credit shall be the sum of—

(i) The tax imposed upon the affiliated group by sections 13, 14, 15, and 141 (c) for the taxable year, and

(ii) The excess of the consolidated section 448 (b) gross amount over the consolidated section 448 inadmissible asset adjustment.

(85) Consolidated section 448 (b) gross amount. The consolidated section 448 (b) gross amount shall be the excess of an amount determined by multiplying the applicable percentage prescribed by section 448 (c) (determined as if the affiliated group were a single corporation) by the sum of—

(i) The consolidated adjusted invested capital for the taxable year computed without regard to the consolidated net new capital addition and without regard to the consolidated average borrowed capital, and

(ii) The consolidated average borrowed capital for the taxable year, over the aggregate of the amount of the interest deduction of the several members of the group for the taxable year with respect to indebtedness included in the consolidated average borrowed capital.

(86) Consolidated section 448 inadmissible asset adjustment. The consolidated section 448 inadmissible asset adjustment shall be an amount which bears the same ratio to the consolidated section 448 (b) gross amount as the aggregate inadmissible assets of the several affiliated corporations bear to the aggregate admissible and inadmissible assets of such corporations.

(87) Consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment. The consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment shall be an amount equal to the sum of the consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-overs and the consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-back to the taxable year.

(83) Consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-over. The consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-overs to the taxable year shall consist of—

(i) The consolidated unused excess profits credits, if any, for the five preceding taxable years (not including any taxable year ending prior to July 1, 1950) to the extent that the consolidated unused excess profits credit for any such preceding taxable year was not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and was not absorbed as a carry-over or carry-back by the consolidated or separate adjusted excess profits net income for preceding or intervening taxable years, and, with respect to an unused excess profits credit of a corporation for a taxable year for which a separate return was filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, but subject to the limitations prescribed in section 24.31 (b) (21),

(ii) The amount of the unused excess profits credits, if any, of such corporation for the five preceding taxable years (not including any taxable year ending prior to July 1, 1950) to the extent that the unused excess profits credit for any such preceding taxable year was not absorbed as a carry-over or carry-back by consolidated or separate adjusted excess profits net income for preceding or intervening taxable years.

(89) Consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-back. The consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-back to the taxable year shall consist of—

(i) The amount of the consolidated unused excess profits credit, if any, for the succeeding taxable year, to the extent not attributable to a corporation making a separate return, or joining in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, for the taxable year, and, with respect to an unused excess profits credit of a corporation which, for the succeeding taxable year, files a separate return or joins in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, but subject to the limitations prescribed in § 24.31 (b) (21),

(ii) The amount of the unused excess profits credit, if any, of such corporation for the succeeding taxable year.

(90) Consolidated unused excess profits credit. The consolidated unused excess profits credit for any taxable year ending after June 30, 1950, shall be an amount equal to the excess of the consolidated excess profits credit over the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for such taxable year, both computed on the basis of the consolidated excess profits credit applicable to such taxable year, and computed without the allowance of any consolidated net operating loss deduction for such taxable year, except that—

(i) In the case of a taxable year of the affiliated group of less than 12 months, such amount shall be reduced to an amount which is such part thereof as the number of days in the taxable year of the group is of the number of days in the 12 months period ending with the close of such taxable year;

(ii) In the case of a taxable year of the group beginning before July 1, 1950, and ending after June 30, 1950, such amount shall be reduced to an amount which is such part thereof as the number of days in such taxable year after June 30, 1950, is of the total number of days in such taxable year;

(iii) In the case of a taxable year of the group beginning before July 1, 1953, and ending after June 30, 1953, such amount shall be reduced to an amount which is such part thereof as the number of days in such taxable year before July 1, 1953, is of the total number of days in such taxable year; and

(iv) In the case of a taxable year for which the group is exempt from the excess profits tax, such amount shall be zero.

(b) Computations. In the case of affiliated corporations which make, or are required to make, a consolidated return, and except as otherwise provided in the regulations in this part—

(1) Net income. The net income of each corporation shall be computed in accordance with the provisions covering the determination of net income of separate corporations, except—

(i) There shall be eliminated unrealized profits and losses in transactions between members of the affiliated group and dividend distributions from one member of the group to another member of the group (referred to in these regulations as intercompany transactions);

(ii) No net operating loss deduction shall be taken into account;

(iii) No capital gains or losses shall be taken into account;

(iv) There shall be disregarded all gains and losses from involuntary conversions and from sales and exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j);

(v) In the computation of the deduction under section 23 (v), relating to amortizable bond premium, there shall be disregarded the bonds of one member of the group owned by another member of the group during the taxable year;

(vi) In the computation of the net income of a corporation for the taxable year in which it became the common parent corporation of the affiliated group filing a consolidated return, the aggregate deductions of such corporation for such year otherwise allowable in excess of the gross income of such corporation for such year shall be excluded to the extent that such excess is attributable to that portion of such year preceding the date upon which such corporation became the common parent corporation of the group. Any amount excluded under this subdivision shall, to the extent that it constitutes a net operating loss within the provisions of section 122 or a net capital loss within the provisions of section 117, be considered as a net operating loss or a net capital loss, as the case may be, separately sustained by such corporation and subject to the provisions of (a) (3) (ii) or (a) (9) (ii) of this section;

(vii) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the affiliated group subsequent to March 14, 1941, common parent corporation or subsidiary, as the case may be, allowable deductions shall be determined subject to the qualifications prescribed in subparagraph (11) of this paragraph; and

(viii) No deduction under section 23 (q) with respect to charitable or other contributions shall be taken into account.

Intercompany profits and losses which have been realized by the group through final transactions with persons other than members of the group, and intercompany transactions which do not affect the consolidated net income, consolidated normal-tax net income, consolidated corporation surtax net income, or consolidated adjusted excess profits net income, shall not be eliminated. As used in this paragraph, the term "net income" includes the case in which the allowable deductions of a member (not including any net operating loss deduction) exceed its gross income.

(2) Other computations on separate basis. The various other computations required by the regulations in this part to be made by the several affiliated corporations shall be made in the case of each such corporation in the same manner and under the same conditions as if a separate return were to be filed, but with the following exceptions:

(i) Net income. The net income used in any such computation shall be the net income of the corporation determined in accordance with the provisions of this section.

(ii) Dividends received. In the computation of the dividends received, there shall be excluded all dividends received from other members of the affiliated group.

(iii) Capital gains and losses. Capital gains and losses, short-term capital gains and losses, long-term capital gains and losses, and the additional capital loss deduction authorized by section 204 (c) (5) shall be determined without regard to

(a) Gains or losses arising in intercompany transactions,

(b) Gains or losses from involuntary conversions and from sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j),

(c) The net capital loss carry-overs provided in section 117 (e) (1), and,

(d) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the affiliated group subsequent to March 14, 1941, common parent corporation or subsidiary, as the case may be, capital losses to the extent disallowed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (11) of this paragraph.

(iv) Net operating loss. In the computation of the net operating loss as defined, either in section 26 (c) (2) or in section 122 (a), the provisions of this section pertaining to the determination of net income shall apply.

(v) Dividends paid. In the computation of dividends paid, there shall be excluded all dividends paid by one member of the group to another.

(vi) Consent dividends credit. In the computation of the consent dividends credit, no amounts shall be included with respect to consents given by other members of the group.

(vii) Federal income tax. In the computation of the Federal income tax, there shall be used the consolidated tax, or a proportionate part thereof, if the tax payable is properly computed on the basis of the consolidated return.

(viii) Dividends paid by public utility. In the computation of dividends paid on the preferred stock of a public utility, there shall be excluded all dividends paid by such public utility to another member of the group.

(ix) Gains or losses under section 117 (j). Gains and losses from involuntary conversions and from sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j) shall be determined without regard to—

(a) Gains or losses from intercompany transactions, and

(b) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the affiliated group subsequent to March 14, 1941, common parent corporation or subsidiary, as the case may be, such portion of any such loss as is disallowed pursuant to the provisions of subparagraph (11) of this paragraph.

(x) Capital addition. In the computation of the capital addition under section 437 (d), there shall be disregarded money and property paid in during the taxable year for stock, or as paid-in surplus, or as a contribution to capital, by one member of the group to another member of the group.

(xi) Capital reduction. In the computation of the capital reduction under section 437 (e), there shall be disregarded distributions made during the taxable year by one member of the group to another member of the group.

(xii) Borrowed capital. In the computation of the average borrowed capital under section 439 (a), in the computation of the daily borrowed capital under section 439 (b), and in the computation of excluded borrowed capital under section 438 (f), there shall be excluded from borrowed capital the amount of any outstanding indebtedness of the corporation owing to another member of the affiliated group.

(xiii) Total assets for equity capital purposes. In the computation of the total assets for consolidated equity capital purposes, the following rules shall apply:

(a) In the case of a corporation owning stock of another member of the affiliated group, there shall be subtracted an amount equal to the adjusted basis of such stock for determining gain.

(b) In the case of a corporation the stock of which is held by other members of the group with a basis for equity capital purposes determined to be a cost basis, the adjusted basis of its assets attributable to the stock so held on the date on which such corporation became a member of the group (whether such date falls before, on, or after July 1, 1950, and whether such date falls within a consolidated or separate return period) shall be determined as if, on such date, the adjusted basis of its assets were equal to the fair market value of such assets as of such date. If the aggregate cost basis of the stock of such corporation held by other members of the group as of the date on which such corporation became a member of the group differs, plus or minus, from the aggregate fair market value of all assets of such corporation (other than goodwill) reduced by the aggregate of its liabilities as of such date, the difference, to the extent attributable to such stock, shall be considered as an intangible asset of such corporation, positive goodwill or negative goodwill, as the case may be, which shall be taken into account in determining total assets. The adjusted basis of any assets held by such corporation during the taxable year with a basis fixed, in whole or in part, by reference to the basis of other assets held by such corporation as of the date on which it became a member of the group shall be properly adjusted, for such purposes, so as to reflect the unrealized appreciation or depreciation in the value of such other assets recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes as of such date.

(c) If additional stock of a corporation is acquired by other members of the group subsequent to the date on which the corporation became a member of the group and is held by such other members with a basis determined for consolidated equity capital purposes to be a cost basis, an adjustment similar to that prescribed in (b) shall be made in determining the adjusted basis of the assets of such corporation attributable to such stock as of the date on which such stock was acquired.

(d) In the case of assets subject to the provisions of (b) or (c) which are transferred, either in a consolidated or separate return period, from one member of the group to another member of the group in a transaction in which the basis to the transferee is determined, in whole or in part, by reference to the basis of such assets in the hands of the transferor, the basis determined and adjusted under (b) or (c) in the case of the transferor shall be given effect for consolidated equity capital purposes in the determination of the basis of such assets in the hands of the transferee.

(xiv) Net income and net operating loss for consolidated recent loss period. In computing the net income and net operating loss for the consolidated recent loss period—

(a) In the case of two or more members of the affiliated group (including any component corporation of any such member as defined in section 461) affiliated with each other within the meaning of section 141 during any of the years in the consolidated recent loss period, whether or not consolidated returns were filed for any of such years, there shall be excluded intercompany profits and losses resulting from transactions between such corporations to the extent that such profits and losses would otherwise be taken into account;

(b) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the group after the beginning of the consolidated recent loss period, there shall be excluded its net income and net operating losses for the period prior to the date on which it became a member of the group, to the extent attributable to its stock held with a cost basis on such date;

(c) In the case of a corporation, additional stock of which is acquired with a cost basis after the date on which such corporation became a member of the group and after the beginning of the consolidated recent loss period, there shall be excluded its net income and net operating losses for the period prior to the date of acquisition of such stock, to the extent attributable to such stock.

(xv) Money and property paid in for stock, etc., and excluded equity capital. In computing (for the purpose of the consolidated adjusted invested capital, the consolidated net new capital addition, and the consolidated net capital addition and reduction) the amount of money and property paid in for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, and in the computation of excluded equity capital—

(a) There shall be disregarded any amount paid in by one member of the affiliated group to another member of the group;

(b) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the group after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, there shall be disregarded the amount paid in prior to the date on which it became a member of the group, to the extent attributable to its stock held with a cost basis on such date;

(c) In the case of a corporation, additional stock of which is acquired with a cost basis after the date on which such corporation became a member of the group and after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, there shall be disregarded the amount paid in prior to the date of the acquisition of such stock, to the extent attributable to such stock;

(d) There shall be disregarded any amount paid in which consists of the stock of a corporation which is already a member of the group; and

(e) For the purpose only of computing the consolidated net capital addition or reduction, if a corporation becomes a member of the group during the taxable year, and if, during the taxable year and on or before the date on which it became a member of the group, stock of such corporation was paid in to other members of the group, the amount so paid in shall be disregarded for each day after such date.

(xvi) Distributions of stock of members of affiliated group. For the purpose of computing the consolidated adjusted invested capital, the consolidated net new capital addition, and the consolidated net capital addition or reduction, a distribution of stock of a member of the group shall be disregarded if such distribution does not break the affiliation.

(xvii) Distributions prior to affiliation. For the purpose of computing the consolidated adjusted invested capital, the consolidated net new capital addition, and the consolidated net capital addition or reduction, in the case of a corporation which becomes a member of the group after the beginning of the taxable year, there shall be disregarded distributions made by such corporation during the taxable year and prior to the date such corporation became a member of the group, to the extent attributable to its stock held with a cost basis on such date.

(xviii) Admissible and inadmissible assets. In the computation of admissible and inadmissible assets—

(a) There shall be excluded all intercompany items;

(b) Inventories shall be computed pursuant to the provisions of § 24.39;

(c) Except for the purpose described in (d), such assets shall be determined under the rules applicable in determining total assets for consolidated equity capital purposes;

(d) For the purpose of computing the consolidated invested capital credit based upon the consolidated historical invested capital, proper adjustment shall be made with respect to any unrealized appreciation and depreciation in assets reflected in consolidated historical invested capital; and

(e) In determining the consolidated increase in inadmissible assets for the purpose of computing the consolidated net capital addition, the inadmissible assets of a corporation, a member of the affiliated group, for any day shall be decreased by the portion of the consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment for such day attributable to such corporation.

(xix) Average invested capital. In the computation of average invested capital (which, under this section, may be a minus amount), the following rules shall apply:

(a) There shall be excluded any accumulated earnings and profits.

(b) Intercompany distributions made during the taxable year shall be disregarded.

(c) Money or property paid in for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital during the taxable year by one member of the group to another member of the group shall be disregarded.

(d) With respect to the stock of another member of the affiliated group held with a basis for consolidated invested capital purposes determined to be a basis other than cost, there shall be subtracted from equity invested capital otherwise computed an amount equal to such basis adjusted by an amount equal to the adjustments proper under section 115 (l) for determining earnings and profits, except that no adjustment shall be made with respect to—

(1) Transactions referred to in (b) and (c), and

(2) Losses of the issuing corporation subsequent to the acquisition of such stock which losses were included in a consolidated income or excess profits tax return.

(e) In the case of a member of the affiliated group the stock of which is held by other members of such group with a basis for consolidated invested capital purposes determined to be a cost basis, there shall be excluded as of the date on which such corporation became a member of the group that portion of its equity invested capital attributable to the shares of stock so held; there shall also be excluded, as of the date of any subsequent acquisition, that portion of its equity invested capital attributable to shares of stock similarly acquired and held by other members of the group; no addition shall be made on account of money or property (not including stock of another member of the group held with a basis determined to be a basis other than cost) thereafter paid in for stock held by any other member of the group or as paid-in surplus or a contribution to capital paid in with respect to shares of stock subject to the provisions of this sentence; and no reduction shall be made on account of any distribution thereafter made to any other member of the group.

(f) With respect to distributions made in a consolidated income or excess profits tax return period prior to the taxable year by one member of the affiliated group to another member of the group, the average invested capital of the distributee shall not be increased by any amount in excess of the amount by which the average invested capital of the distributor or its earnings and profits, accumulated before March 1, 1913, were decreased.

(g) The average invested capital of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for only a part of the taxable year shall be its aggregate daily invested capital computed with the adjustments set forth in this section for each day of such taxable year during which it is a member of the group (excluding the day on which it became a member) divided by the number of days in the taxable year of the group.

(xx) Accumulated earnings and profits. In the computation of accumulated earnings and profits or the deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of the taxable year, the following rules shall apply:

(a) In the case of a member of the affiliated group the stock of which is held by other members of such group with a basis for consolidated invested capital purposes determined to be a cost basis, there shall be excluded as of the date on which such corporation became a member of the group that portion of its earnings and profits, or deficit in earnings and profits, previously accumulated and properly allocable to the shares of stock so held; there shall also be excluded, as of the date of any subsequent acquisition, any earnings and profits, or deficit in earnings and profits, previously accumulated and properly allocable to any shares of stock similarly acquired and held by other members of the group.

(b) There shall be excluded profits and losses unrealized by the affiliated group reflected in the opening inventory of the taxable year, whether or not a consolidated return was filed for the preceding taxable years, together with all other unrealized profits and losses reflected in transactions between members of the affiliated group in prior taxable years for which a return was made or was required on a consolidated basis, whether under section 141 or under the provisions of any prior income or excess profits tax law.

(c) With respect to distributions from such accumulated earnings and profits made during the taxable year by one member of the affiliated group to another member of the group, such accumulated earnings and profits of the distributee shall be increased in an amount equal to that by which such accumulated earnings and profits of the distributor are decreased.

(d) With respect to distributions in stock, as defined by section 458 (f) (1), made prior to the taxable year by one member of the affiliated group to another member of the group, the accumulated earnings and profits of the distributee shall not be increased in any amount in excess of that by which the sum of the average invested capital and the accumulated earnings and profits of the distributor is decreased.

(e) With respect to distributions made in a prior taxable year for which a return was made or was required on a consolidated basis, whether under section 141 or under the provisions of any prior income or excess profits tax law, by one member of the group to another member of the group, the accumulated earnings and profits of the distributee shall not be increased by any amount in excess of the amount by which either the average invested capital or the earnings and profits of the distributor were decreased.

(f) If the invested capital of the affiliated group is computed pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (xix) (e) of this subparagraph, proper adjustment shall be made with respect to the amount of any realizations prior to the beginning of the taxable year upon any unrealized appreciation or depreciation in assets previously reflected in consolidated historical invested capital.

(g) In the case of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for only a part of the taxable year, the accumulated earnings and profits or the deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of the taxable year shall be an amount equal to its accumulated earnings and profits or its deficit in accumulated earnings and profits as of the beginning of the taxable year of the group or the beginning of the day following the day on which it becomes a member of the group, as the case may be, multiplied by the number of days of such year during which it is a member of the group (excluding the day on which it becomes a member) and divided by the total number of days in such year.

(h) In the case of distributions from earnings and profits made by a member of the group with respect to stock held by another member of the group with a cost basis, there shall be subtracted from the earnings and profits of the distributee an amount equal to the aggregate of such distributions as were made between the date of acquisition of such stock and the date as of which the distributor became a member of the group.

(xxi) Equity invested capital. In the computation of equity invested capital (which, under this section, may be a minus amount), effect shall be given to the adjustments prescribed in subdivision (xix) of this subparagraph (relating to the computation of average invested capital) to the extent that such adjustments pertain to the computation of equity invested capital.

(xxii) Determination of excess profits net income under section 433 (b) and (c). In computing the excess profits net income under section 433 (b) or the deficit in excess profits net income under section 433 (c) of a corporation, the following rules shall apply:

(a) The excess profits net income under section 433 (b) for any month or the deficit in excess profits net income under section 433 (c) for any month shall be the excess profits net income under section 433 (b), or the deficit in excess profits net income under section 433 (c), as the case may be, for the taxable year of the corporation in which such month falls, divided by the number of full calendar months in such taxable year.

(b) If two or more members of the affiliated group (including any component corporation of any such member within the meaning of section 461) were affiliated with each other during any taxable year, whether or not a consolidated return was filed for such year, there shall be excluded intercompany profits and losses resulting from transactions between such corporations to the extent that such profits and losses would otherwise be taken into account.

(c) The amount of the adjustment under section 433 (b) (5), relating to repayment of processing taxes to vendees, shall be computed without regard to any repayment or credit to another member of the affiliated group.

(d) In the case of an affiliated group of life insurance companies determining the adjustment under section 433 (b) (14), there shall be computed a tentative adjustment as if such corporations were affiliated and were filing a consolidated return for such taxable year, and the adjustment of each corporation shall be the portion thereof attributable to such corporation.

(e) In the case of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for only a part of a taxable year for which the excess profits credit is being computed, the amount to be included with respect to the taxable year for which excess profits net income is being computed shall be limited to an amount which bears the same ratio to its excess profits net income or its deficit in excess profits net income for such year, as the case may be, as the number of days of the taxable year for which the credit is being computed during which it was a member of the group (excluding the day on which it becomes a member) bears to the total number of days in such taxable year.

(f) If the stock of a subsidiary corporation owned by other members of the group at any time during the taxable year for which the credit is being computed was acquired by such members, or by other members of the group, at any time on or after the first day of the taxable year for which excess profits net income is being computed, but only to the extent to which the consideration for such acquisition was not the issuance of the stock of the acquiring corporation (not including an acquisition from another member of the group which was affiliated with the acquiring corporation at the time of such acquisition, whether or not a consolidated return was filed for the year in which such acquisition occurred), or if the stock of another subsidiary owned at any time during the taxable year for which the credit is being computed was owned by such first subsidiary, the stock of which was so acquired, as of the date of such acquisition, there shall be excluded in the computation of the excess profits net income of each such subsidiary corporation, or of its deficit in excess profits net income, a proportionate part of the amount thereof otherwise computed, such proportionate part to be determined pursuant to the provisions of section 462 (j) (1), as if such subsidiaries were component corporations within the provisions of section 461 (b).

(xxiii) Weighted excess profits net income and weighted deficit in excess profits net income. The weighted excess profits net income and the weighted deficit in excess profits net income of a corporation for any month shall be the weighted excess profits net income, or the weighted deficit in excess profits net income, for the taxable year in which such month falls, divided by the number of full calendar months in such taxable year. The weighted excess profits net income and the weighted deficit in excess profits net income for any taxable year shall be the excess profits net income determined under section 433 (b), or the deficit in excess profits net income determined under section 433 (c), as the case may be, for such taxable year, reduced to an amount which is the same percentage thereof as the percentage, applicable to such taxable year, specified in section 435 (e) (2) (E).

(xxiv) Controlled group indebtedness. The indebtedness included in computing consolidated controlled group indebtedness for any day shall be determined under the following rules:

(a) The amount of such indebtedness shall be ascertained under the rules applicable in determining total assets for consolidated equity capital purposes;

(b) The indebtedness of one member of the affiliated group owed to another member of the group shall be disregarded; and

(c) There shall be included only indebtedness which constitutes daily borrowed capital for such day of the corporation owing such indebtedness.

(xxv) Stock in member of controlled group. For the purpose of determining the consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment for any day, the adjusted basis of stock held by a member of an affiliated group in a corporation included in a controlled group (as defined in section 435 (g) (6)) which also includes a member of the affiliated group, shall be determined under the following rules:

(a) The adjusted basis of such stock shall be determined under the rules applicable in determining total assets for consolidated equity capital purposes; and

(b) Stock of a member of the affiliated group shall be disregarded.

(xxvi) Average base period net income computed under section 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446. In computing the average base period net income of any member of the affiliated group under section 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446, the following rules shall apply:

(a) In computing total assets as of any day after December 1, 1950 (the date of introduction in the House of Representatives of the Excess Profits Tax Bill of 1950)—

(1) The total assets otherwise computed shall be reduced by an amount equal to—

(i) The cash, and

(ii) The adjusted basis of those assets having a basis determined in whole or in part by reference to their basis in the hands of another member of the group,

acquired from another member of the group after December 1, 1950, properly adjusted with respect to any money paid or property (other than stock or securities of a member of the group) exchanged for such cash or assets; and

(2) The total assets otherwise computed shall be reduced by the outstanding indebtedness incurred after December 1, 1950, to another member of the group, properly adjusted with respect to any such indebtedness incurred in the transactions described in (1).

(b) If total assets are determined for any day after December 1, 1950, the total interest paid or incurred by such member for any period including such day shall be determined without regard to the amount paid or incurred to another member of the group with respect to indebtedness which reduced such total assets under (a) (2).

(c) In determining total facilities for the purpose of applying section 444 to a member of the group, any facility held by such member on the last day of the consolidated base period which was acquired from another member of the group with a basis determined in whole or in part by reference to its basis in the hands of such other member shall be deemed to have been held by the member to which section 444 is applicable from the date of its acquisition by a member of the group.

(d) If the stock of a subsidiary corporation owned by other members of the group at any time during the taxable year for which the credit is being computed was acquired by such members, or by other members of the group, at any time on or after the first day of the consolidated base period, but only to the extent to which the consideration for such acquisition was not the issuance of the stock of the acquiring corporation (not including an acquisition from another member of the group which was affiliated with the acquiring corporation at the time of such acquisition, whether or not a consolidated return was filed for the year in which such acquisition occurred), or if the stock of another subsidiary owned at any time during the taxable year for which the credit is being computed was owned by such first subsidiary, the stock of which was so acquired, as of the date of such acquisition, there shall be excluded in the computation of the average base period net income under such section of each such subsidiary corporation, a proportionate part of the amount thereof otherwise computed, such proportionate part to be determined pursuant to the provisions of section 462 (j) (1), as if such subsidiaries were component corporations within the provisions of section 461 (b).

(c) For the purpose of such computations, if the taxable year of the member is different from the taxable year of the group, the taxable year of the group shall be used.

(xxvii) Base period capital addition and net capital addition or reduction if alternative average base period net income is used. In computing the base period capital addition or the net capital addition or reduction of a member of the group for the purpose of determining the consolidated base period capital addition or the consolidated net capital addition or reduction if the consolidated alternative average base period net income is used, the items involved in such computation shall be properly adjusted to reflect the amounts thereof which would be included in computing the consolidated base period capital addition or the consolidated net capital addition or reduction if such consolidated alternative average base period net income were not used. For the purpose of such computations, if the taxable year of the member is different from the taxable year of the group, the taxable year of the group shall be used.

(3) Limitations on net operating loss carry-overs and carry-backs from separate return years. In no case shall there be included in the consolidated net operating loss deduction for the taxable year as consolidated net operating loss carry-overs under paragraph (a) (3) (ii) of this section (relating to the net operating losses sustained by a corporation in years for which separate returns were filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group), and as a consolidated net operating loss carry-back under paragraph (a) (4) (ii) of this section (relating to a net operating loss sustained by a corporation in the year subsequent to the last taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return), an amount exceeding in the aggregate the net income of such corporation (computed with the exceptions and limitations provided in section 122 (d) (1), (2), (3), and (4)) included in the computation of the consolidated net income for the taxable year increased by its separate net capital gain and increased or decreased, as the case may be, with respect to its separate gains or losses from involuntary conversions and from sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j).

(4) Minimum deduction involving carry-overs and carry-backs from separate return years. If a portion of the consolidated net operating loss deduction arises as a carry-over pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) (3) (ii) of this section (relating to net operating losses sustained by a corporation in years for which separate returns were filed, or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group), or as a carry-back pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (a) (4) (ii) of this section (relating to a net operating loss sustained by a corporation in the year subsequent to the last taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return), the consolidated net operating loss deduction shall not be less than the amount of such portion reduced by the amount, if any, by which the net income of such corporation (computed with the exceptions and limitations provided in section 122 (d) (1), (2), (3), and (4)) exceeds the normal-tax net income of such corporation (computed without any net operating loss deduction, but taking into account the additional capital loss deduction authorized by section 204 (c) (5)), or, in the case of two or more such corporations, the sum of such portions so reduced.

(5) Limitation on absorption of net operating loss carry-overs. In the computation of the consolidated net operating loss deduction for the taxable year, if there is involved a net operating loss sustained in a prior year by a corporation filing a separate return for such prior year, or joining in a consolidated return for such prior year filed by another affiliated group, together with a consolidated net income for a consoli there are involved net operating losses of two or more members of the group so separately sustained, no portion of the consolidated net operating loss, or, if dated return period of the group intervening between the year of the loss and the taxable year shall be taken into account more than once in giving effect to the provisions of paragraph (a) (3) (ii) of this section, relating to the computation of the consolidated net operating loss carry-overs originating in separate return years.

(6) Limitation on absorption of unused basic surtax credits. If, in the computation of the consolidated dividend carry-over for the second consolidated return period in respect of which the income of a corporation is included in the consolidated return of the group, there is involved a separate unused basic surtax credit of such corporation for the second preceding taxable year together with a consolidated unused basic surtax credit for the second preceding taxable year, or if, for the second consolidated return period in respect of which the income of two or more members of the group is included in the consolidated return of the group, there are involved the separate unused basic surtax credits of such corporations for the second preceding taxable year, no portion of the excess of the consolidated subchapter A net income over the consolidated basic surtax credit for the first preceding taxable year shall be taken into account more than once in giving effect to the provisions of paragraph (a) (26) (ii) and (iv) of this section (relating to the computation of that part of the consolidated dividend carry-over attributable to the unused basic surtax credits of the second preceding taxable year).

(7) Apportionment of consolidated net operating loss. If an affiliated group filing a consolidated return sustains a consolidated net operating loss within the provisions of section 26 (c), relating to the net operating loss credit, or within the provisions of section 122, relating to the net operating loss deduction, and if there are included as members of such group one or more corporations which made separate returns, or joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, either in the preceding taxable year or in a succeeding taxable year, the portion of such consolidated net operating loss attributable to such corporations severally shall be determined, such portion in the case of any such corporation being determined in an amount proportionate to the net losses (capital net losses and ordinary net losses alike) of the several affiliated corporations having net losses, to the extent that such losses were taken into account in the computation of the consolidated net operating loss.

(8) Apportionment of consolidated net capital loss. If an affiliated group filing a consolidated return sustains a consolidated net capital loss, and if there are included as members of such group one or more corporations which make separate returns, or join in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, in a succeeding taxable year, the portion of such consolidated net capital loss attributable to such corporations severally shall be determined, such portion in the case of any such corporation being an amount which bears the same ratio to the consolidated net capital loss which the net capital loss of such corporation bears to the aggregate of the net capital losses for the taxable year sustained by the several affiliated corporations having net capital losses.

(9) Apportionment of unused consolidated basic surtax credit. If an affiliated group filing a consolidated return has an unused consolidated basic surtax credit, and if there are included as members of such group one or more corporations which make separate returns, or join in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, in a succeeding taxable year, the portion of such unused consolidated basic surtax credit attributable to such corporations severally shall be determined for the purpose of the dividend carry-over, such portion in the case of any such corporation being determined in an amount proportionate to the dividends paid, the consent dividend credits, the several factors involved in the computation of the consolidated net operating loss credit, and the subchapter A net incomes of the several affiliated corporations, to the extent that such items were taken into account in the computation of the consolidated basic surtax credit and the consolidated subchapter A net income.

(10) Limitation on net capital loss carry-over from separate return year. In no case shall there be included in the computation of the consolidated net capital gain for the taxable year as a consolidated net capital loss carry-over under paragraph (a) (9) (ii) of this section (relating to net capital losses separately sustained) an amount exceeding in the aggregate net capital gains of such corporation (determined without regard to any net capital loss carry-over) included in the computation of the consolidated net capital gain for the taxable year increased with respect to its separate net gains from involuntary conversions and from sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j).

(11) Qualifications on deductions where group membership changed after March 14, 1941. In the case of an affiliated group formed at any time subsequent to March 14, 1941, or having among its members in the taxable year one or more subsidiaries which became members of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941, the consolidated net income for the taxable year, and for prior and subsequent taxable years to the extent affected by carry-backs and carry-overs from the taxable year, shall be determined subject to the following qualifications:

(i) There shall be excluded in the case of the common parent corporation and in the case of any subsidiaries which were members of the group on March 14, 1941, those deductions from gross income otherwise allowable with respect to—

(a) Sales or exchanges of capital assets,

(b) Involuntary conversions and sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j),

(c) Securities subject to the provisions of section 23 (g) (4) or section 23 (k) (5), or

(d) Debts subject to the provisions of section 23 (k) (1), to the extent that such deductions otherwise allowable exceed in the aggregate—

(e) In the case of capital losses, the excess of the aggregate capital gains over the aggregate capital losses of such corporations for the taxable year, or

(f) In the case of ordinary losses, the aggregate of the ordinary net income of such corporations for the taxable year, increased in an amount equal to any excess of aggregate capital gains over aggregate capital losses of such corporations, such capital gains and losses and such ordinary net income being determined pursuant to the provisions of the regulations in this part but without regard to the provisions of subparagraphs (1) (iv) and (2) (iii) (b) of this paragraph and without regard to the losses in question;

(ii) There shall be excluded in the case of a subsidiary corporation which became a member of the affiliated group subsequent to March 14, 1941, those deductions from gross income otherwise allowable with respect to—

(a) Sales or exchanges of capital assets,

(b) Involuntary conversions and sales or exchanges of property subject to the provisions of section 117 (j),

(c) Securities subject to the provisions of section 23 (g) (4) or section 23 (k) (5), or

(d) Debts subject to the provisions of section 23 (k) (1), to the extent that such deductions otherwise allowable are attributable to events preceding the date upon which such corporation became a member of the group, and

(e) Being capital losses, exceed—

(1) The capital gains reduced by all other capital losses of such corporation for the taxable year, in the case in which such corporation was not, on March 14, 1941, a member of an affiliated group within the meaning of section 141, or

(2) In case such corporation was a member of an affiliated group on March 14, 1941, an amount which, together with like losses computed subject to the provisions of the regulations in this part in the case of other members of the group during the taxable year which were affiliated with such corporation on March 14, 1941, within the meaning of section 141, is equal to the aggregate capital gains reduced by the aggregate of all other capital losses of such corporation and of such other members of the group, or

(f) Being ordinary losses, exceed—

(1) The ordinary net income of such corporation for the taxable year increased in an amount equal to any excess of capital gains over capital losses for the taxable year, in the case in which such corporation was not, on March 14, 1941, a member of an affiliated group within the meaning of section 141, or

(2) In case such corporation was a member of an affiliated group on March 14, 1941, an amount which, together with like losses computed subject to the provisions of the regulations in this part in the case of other members of the group during the taxable year which were affiliated with such corporation on March 14, 1941, within the meaning of section 141, is equal to the ordinary net income of such corporation for the taxable year increased by the aggregate of the ordinary net income and decreased by the aggregate of the ordinary net losses of other members of the affiliated group during the taxable year which were affiliated with such corporation on March 14, 1941, within the meaning of section 141, and increased further in an amount equal to any excess of aggregate capital gains over aggregate capital losses of such corporations, such capital gains and losses, and ordinary net income and net losses, as the case may be, being determined pursuant to the provisions of the regulations in this part but without regard to the provisions of subparagraphs (1) (iv) and (2) (iii) (b) of this paragraph (b) and without regard to the losses in question;

(iii) The portion of any loss otherwise allowable as a deduction for the taxable year which is disallowed pursuant to the provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph shall, to the extent that it constitutes a net capital loss within the provisions of section 117 or a net operating loss within the provisions of section 122, be considered as a net capital loss or a net operating loss, as the case may be, in respect of those members of the group by reference to which the amount of the deduction disallowed under subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph was determined, originating, for the purpose of the carry-back provisions, in a taxable year subsequent to the last taxable year in respect of which their income was included in a consolidated return, and, for the purpose of the carry-over provisions, in a taxable year prior to the first taxable year in respect of which their income was included in a consolidated return;

(iv) The provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) of this subparagraph shall not apply with respect to the common parent corporation of an affiliated group formed subsequent to March 14, 1941, or to the common parent corporation or subsidiaries of a group in existence on March 14, 1941, acquiring new members subsequent to March 14, 1941, or with respect to subsidiaries becoming members of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941—

(a) If the group consists solely of the common parent corporation and one or more subsidiaries created, directly or indirectly, by the common parent corporation or by other members of the group;

(b) If, immediately after the corporation involved became a member of the group, common parent corporation or subsidiary, as the case may be, stock possessing at least 95 percent of the voting power of all classes of its stock then outstanding and at least 95 percent of each class of its nonvoting stock then outstanding is owned, directly or indirectly, by substantially the same interests by which such stock was owned on March 14, 1941;

(c) If the affiliated group involved was formed, or the new subsidiary became a member of the group, as an incident to an involuntary conversion or to a transfer made pursuant to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a similar regulatory body of State or Federal Government; or

(d) To the extent to which, upon consideration of the facts or circumstances presented by the particular case, the Commissioner determines that a consolidated net income computed with respect to the affiliated group but without regard to those subdivisions will not serve to distort the income tax liability of the group or of any of its members.

(e) If, upon consideration of the facts and circumstances presented by the particular case, the Commissioner determines that the general purpose of the provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) would be better served in a particular respect by adherence to a date subsequent to March 14, 1941, such subdivisions shall be administered in that respect as if the appropriate date determined by the Commissioner were substituted in such subdivisions in lieu of the date March 14, 1941.

(12) Basis of intercompany stockholdings. For the purpose of computing the consolidated excess profits credit for the taxable year, the following rules shall apply:

(i) Basis other than cost. Stock of one member of the affiliated group held by another member of the group at any time during the taxable year shall be determined to be stock held with a basis other than cost if—

(a) Such stock is held with a basis fixed by reference to the basis of other property previously held by the corporation, but not including—

(1) Stock acquired from another corporation in exchange for property previously held with a cost basis if, at the time of such acquisition or immediately thereafter—

(i) The acquiring corporation or its shareholders were in control of the corporation from which such stock was acquired, or

(ii) The corporation from which such stock was acquired or its shareholders were in control of the acquiring corporation; or

(2) Stock held at a lower level in a corporate chain of three or more affiliated corporations to the extent that the lower-level corporation is connected with the affiliated group through intercompany stockholding interests at a higher level in such chain acquired subsequent to the date of acquisition of such lower-level stock and held with a cost basis; or

(b) Such stock is held with a basis fixed by reference to its basis in the hands of a preceding owner, but not including—

(1) Stock acquired from another member of an affiliated group of corporations in a taxable year for which the acquiring corporation and the transferring corporation filed a consolidated income or excess profits tax return if, immediately prior to such acquisition—

(i) Such stock was held by the transferring corporation with a cost basis, or

(ii) The stock of the transferring corporation or of any other member of the affiliated group holding stock in the transferring corporation, directly or indirectly, was held by other members of the group with a cost basis, whether or not the stock transferred was held by the transferring corporation with a cost basis, but including stock so acquired which would have a basis other than cost if it had been acquired in an intercorporate liquidation described in (2) or in an exchange described in (3);

(2) Stock acquired in an intercorporate liquidation if, immediately prior to such liquidation—

(i) Such stock was held by the liquidated corporation with a cost basis, or

(ii) The stock of the liquidated corporation was held with a cost basis;

(3) Stock acquired from another member of a controlled group of corporations if, immediately prior to such acquisition—

(i) Such stock was held by the transferring corporation with a cost basis, or

(ii) The stock of the transferring corporation or of any other member of the controlled group holding stock in the transferring corporation, directly or indirectly, was held with a cost basis, whether or not the stock transferred was held by the transferring corporation with a cost basis, but including stock so acquired which would have a basis other than cost if it had been acquired in an intercorporate liquidation described in (2); or

(4) Stock held at a lower level in a corporate chain of three or more affiliated corporations to the extent that the lower-level corporation is connected with the affiliated group through intercompany stockholding interests at a higher level in such chain acquired subsequent to the date of acquisition of such lower-level stock and held with a cost basis.

(ii) Cost basis. Stock of one member of the affiliated group held by another member of the group at any time during the taxable year shall be determined to be stock held with a cost basis in all cases other than those in which the stock is determined to be stock held with a basis other than cost pursuant to the provisions of subdivision (i) of this subparagraph.

(iii) Intercompany stock transfers. In the case of stock of one member of the affiliated group held by another member of the group subject to the application of subdivision (i) (b) (1) (ii) of this subparagraph, relating to intercompany acquisitions during a consolidated return period, or (i) (b) (3) (ii), relating to acquisitions from another member of a controlled group of corporations, such stock shall have a basis for consolidated excess profits credit purposes in an amount equal to the basis which such stock would have in the hands of its present owner determined pursuant to the provisions of section 470 (a) and (b) or section 472 (c) (1) and (e) if such stock were acquired as the result of an intercorporate liquidation of the corporation transferring such stock and of each member of the group owning stock of the transferring corporation, directly or indirectly, through which such stock would have passed prior to its acquisition by its present owner.

(iv) Definitions. In determining whether stock of one member of the affiliated group held by another member of the group is held with a cost basis or a basis other than cost, the following definitions are applicable:

(a) The term "control" means the ownership of stock possessing at least 80 percent of the total combined voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote and at least 80 percent of the total number of shares of all other classes of stock of the corporation (except nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends).

(b) The term "controlled group" means one or more chains of corporations connected through stock ownership with a common parent corporation if stock possessing at least 80 percent of the voting power of all classes of stock entitled to vote and at least 80 percent of each class of the nonvoting stock of each of the corporations (except the common parent corporation) is owned directly by one or more of the other corporations and the common parent corporation owns directly stock possessing at least 80 percent of the voting power of all classes of stock and at least 80 percent of each class of the nonvoting stock of at least one of the other corporations. As used in the preceding sentence, the term "stock" does not include nonvoting stock which is limited and preferred as to dividends.

(c) The term "intercorporate liquidation" means the receipt by a corporation of property in complete liquidation of another corporation to which—

(1) The provisions of section 112 (b) (6), or the corresponding provisions of a prior revenue law, are applicable, including the case in which an election has been made pursuant to the last sentence of section 113 (a) (15) of the Revenue Act of 1936, as amended by section 808 of the Revenue Act of 1938, or

(2) A provision of law is applicable prescribing the nonrecognition of gain or loss, in whole or in part, upon such receipt, including a provision of the regulations applicable to a consolidated income or excess profits tax return, but not including the provisions of section 112 (b) (7) of the Revenue Act of 1938 relating to certain complete liquidations occurring during December 1938, the provisions of section 112 (b) (7) of the Internal Revenue Code relating to certain complete liquidations occurring during some one calendar month in 1944 or 1951, the provisions of section 112 (b) (9) relating to certain complete liquidations of railroad corporations, or the provisions of section 112 (b) (10) relating to reorganizations of corporations in certain receivership and bankruptcy proceedings, but only if none of such property so received is a stock or a security in a corporation the stock or securities of which are specified in the law applicable to the receipt of such property as stock or securities permitted to be received (or which would be permitted to be received if they were the sole consideration) without the recognition of gain.

(v) Rules applicable in determination of basis. In determining the total assets of a member of an affiliated group for consolidated equity capital purposes under subparagraph (2) (xiii) of this paragraph (b), or in determining the extent to which the equity invested capital of a subsidiary corporation is to be excluded under subparagraph (2) (xix) (e) of this paragraph (b), by reference to intercompany stockholding interests at a higher level in the corporate chain held with a cost basis (subparagraph (12) (i) (b) (4) of this paragraph (b)), and in adjusting the accumulated earnings and profits of a corporation the stock of which is held with a cost basis, either by reference to the date as of which such corporation became a member of the affiliated group or the date of any subsequent acquisition of its stock (subparagraph (2) (xx) (a) of this paragraph (b)), or by reference to realizations upon unrealized appreciation or depreciation of assets previously reflected in consolidated invested capital (subparagraph (2) (xx) (f) of this paragraph (b)), such determination and adjustment shall be made subject to the following rules:

(a) The determination and adjustment shall be made by reference to those acquisitions and holdings of stock held in the corporate chain with a cost basis, and by reference to those acquisitions and holdings only, which, considering the time of such acquisitions and the position in the corporate chain in which such holdings appear, reflect the ultimate cost acquisition and the resulting ownership, direct or indirect, by the group of those economic interests of the group underlying such stockholding acquisitions.

Example (1). Suppose that A acquired for cash in 1930 all of the stock of B, that P subsequently, in 1935, acquired for cash all of the stock of A; and that the P–A–B group files a consolidated return for 1951. P's cash acquisition and holding of the stock of A acquired in 1935 reflects the group acquisition and holding of the entire subsidiary chain. Every adjustment of earnings and profits prescribed by these regulations, and every determination made by reference to stock acquired and held with a cost basis, those in the cases of A and B alike, will be made with respect to the costs incurred in 1935 and with respect to that date. The cost of the stock of B incurred in 1930 is a matter of no significance in the computation of consolidated invested capital for the taxable year.

Example (2). Suppose a state of facts similar to that suggested in example (1), but varied to this extent: A acquired the stock of B in 1940 instead of 1930. This change in the order of acquisition renders the cash acquisition by A of the stock of B a matter of significance in the consolidated computation. The cash outlay incurred by P in 1935 did not serve to bring within the group that portion of the group enterprise reflected by the business and assets of B. The assets and the earnings and profits of B will be adjusted accordingly as of 1940 and by reference to the cost of its stock then incurred; those of A will be adjusted as of 1935 and by reference to 1935 costs.

Example (3). Suppose a state of facts similar to that suggested in example (1), but varied to this extent: A had acquired the stock of B with a basis other than cost. Adjustments to be made in the computation of consolidated equity capital, of equity invested capital, and of earnings and profits will be made precisely as in example (1), and for the same reasons, notwithstanding the character of A's stockholding interest in B. P holds the stock of B indirectly with a cost basis determined in character by reference to P's acquisition of the stock of A in 1935.

Example (4). Suppose a state of facts similar to that suggested in example (1), but varied to this extent: A had acquired the stock of B with a basis other than cost, and this acquisition was effected in 1940, instead of 1930, without breaking the affiliation between P and A. The stock of B acquired in 1940 is not to be considered as a part of the enterprise in respect of which P incurred costs in 1935. The higher-level holdings with a cost basis bear no significant relationship to the acquisition and holding by A of the stock of B. The stock of B is not to be considered to be held with a cost basis. No adjustment will be made in computing the earnings and profits of B.

Example (5). Suppose a state of facts similar to that suggested in example (1), but varied to this extent: P's acquisition of the stock of A in 1935 was made with a basis other than cost. B will be regarded for the purpose of the adjustments prescribed in subparagraph (2) (xiii) and (xix) (e) of this paragraph (b) as having become "a member of the group" as of 1930, the year in which its stock was acquired by A, regardless of the subsequent acquisition by P of the stock of A. The assets and the earnings and profits of B will be adjusted as of 1930, and by reference to the cost of its stock then incurred.

Example (6). If A had acquired the stock of B with a cost basis at a date subsequent to P's acquisition of the stock of A with a basis other than cost, the adjustment of B's assets and earnings and profits would be made by reference to the later date and by reference to the costs then incurred.

(b) The adjustment will be made by reference to the most recent acquisition of the required holdings of the stock of the corporation in the case of a corporation the stock of which was once held by other members of the affiliated group to the extent provided in section 141 (d), was later disposed of in whole or in part, and was subsequently reacquired.

(c) The adjustment will be made without regard to any exclusion of the corporation from the affiliated group in intervening years by reason of a loss of the voting control prescribed by section 141 (d) if such loss of voting control was attributable to the fact that stock which did not possess voting power at the time control was originally acquired later became entitled to vote.

(d) Except as otherwise provided in (f), if stock of the corporation held with a cost basis was acquired from another corporation which had held such stock with a cost basis, and if the cost basis with which such stock is held by the present owner is fixed by reference to the basis of such stock in the hands of such other corporation, the adjustment will be made as if the present owner had acquired such stock as of the date upon which such stock was acquired by such other corporation.

(e) If stock of the corporation held with a cost basis was acquired from another corporation in a liquidation subject to the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), or the corresponding provisions of a prior revenue law, and if the stock of the liquidated corporation was held by the acquiring corporation with a cost basis but the stock acquired was held by the liquidated corporation with a basis other than cost, the acquiring corporation shall be deemed to have acquired the stock received in the liquidation as of the date upon which it had acquired the stock of the liquidated corporation.

(f) If stock of the corporation held with a cost basis was acquired from another corporation in a liquidation subject to the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), or the corresponding provision of a prior revenue law, and if the stock so acquired was held by the liquidated corporation and the stock of the liquidated corporation was held by the acquiring corporation, both with a cost basis, the acquiring corporation shall be deemed to have acquired the stock received in the liquidation as of the date upon which such stock was acquired by the liquidated corporation, or as of the date upon which the acquiring corporation acquired the stock of the liquidated corporation with respect to which the distribution was made, whichever date was the later.

(g) If stock of the corporation held with a cost basis is deemed to be so held by virtue of the fact that the basis of such stock is fixed by reference to the cost basis of other stock in the hands of the present owner, such stock shall be deemed to have been acquired as of the date of acquisition of such other stock.

(h) If the basis of the stock of the corporation held by another member of the affiliated group was increased as the result of a statutory merger or consolidation of such corporation with another corporation, or as the result of a transaction having the effect of a statutory merger or consolidation, and if the stock of such other corporation was held by such member of the affiliated group with a cost basis, that portion of such member's stockholding interest in such corporation represented by the increase shall be deemed to have been acquired as of the date upon which such member acquired the stock of such other corporation.

Example. Suppose that P acquired all of the stock of A in 1930 with a basis other than cost in the amount of $10,000; that it acquired for $15,000 in cash in 1935 all of the stock of B; that it caused B to be merged into A in 1936 without the issuance by A of any additional shares of stock; and that the P-A group files a consolidated return for 1951. The $15,000 cost incurred by P in 1935 will be reflected in the increased basis with which P holds the stock of A. P will be deemed to have acquired for cash in 1935 a portion of its stockholding interest in A; the total assets of A for consolidated equity capital purposes will be adjusted accordingly; the earnings and profits of A, to the extent that they reflect the earnings and profits originally accumulated by B, will be adjusted as of 1935; and the earnings and profits of A will be further adjusted with respect to realizations by B and A upon the unrealized appreciation or depreciation in the assets of B as of 1935 reflected in the consolidated invested capital.

(13) Consolidated computations involving changes in membership.—(i) Equity capital. For the purpose of computing the consolidated net new capital addition and the consolidated net capital addition or reduction—

(a) If the affiliated group at the beginning of the taxable year includes a corporation which was not a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated equity capital for such first day shall include such portion of the equity capital of such corporation for such first day as is not attributable to the stock of such corporation held with a cost basis by other members of the group on the day on which such corporation became a member of the group, and the consolidated equity capital shall not include the stock in such corporation held on such first day with a basis other than cost;

(b) If the affiliated group at the beginning of the taxable year does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated equity capital for such first day shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the group.

(ii) Borrowed capital. The following rules shall apply with respect to borrowed capital:

(a) For the purpose of computing the consolidated daily new capital addition or reduction for any day of the taxable year—

(1) If the group includes for such day a corporation which was not a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the borrowed capital for such first day shall include such portion of the borrowed capital of such corporation for such first day as does not consist of indebtedness owed to corporations which are members of the group on such day of the taxable year;

(2) If the group does not include for such day a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the borrowed capital for such first day of the members of the group shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the group.

(b) For the purpose of computing the consolidated net capital addition or reduction for any taxable year, if any corporation is a member of the affiliated group for only part of the taxable year, the consolidated daily borrowed capital of the group for the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group shall be the consolidated daily borrowed capital for such day computed as if such corporation were not a member of the group for such day, increased or decreased, as the case may be, by such portion of the difference between the consolidated daily borrowed capital so computed and the consolidated daily borrowed capital computed as if such corporation were a member of the group for such first day, as the number of days during the taxable year during which such corporation is a member of the group is of the total number of days in the taxable year.

(iii) Capital addition or reduction. (a) If a corporation becomes a member of the group after the beginning of the taxable year of the group, proper adjustment shall be made in computing the consolidated adjusted invested capital and the consolidated net new capital addition by reflecting as property paid in to the members of the group in a transaction described in section 438 (e) or as a distribution by such members, as the case may be, on the date such corporation becomes a member of the group, the difference between the adjusted basis of the stock of such corporation held with a basis other than cost immediately after such corporation becomes a member of the group and the portion of the equity capital of such corporation as of the beginning of the taxable year of the group not attributable to stock held with a cost basis immediately after such corporation became a member of the group.

(b) If a member of the group holds during the taxable year stock in a corporation which ceases to be a member of the group during the taxable year, proper adjustment shall be made in computing the consolidated adjusted invested capital and the consolidated adjusted net new capital addition by reflecting as property paid in to such member in a transaction described in section 438 (e), or as a distribution by such member, as the case may be, on the date such corporation ceased to be a member of the group, the difference between the adjusted basis of stock held immediately before such corporation ceased to be a member of the group and—

(1) If such corporation was a member of the group at the beginning of the taxable year, an amount equal to the portion of the consolidated equity capital at the beginning of the taxable year attributable to such corporation, or

(2) If such corporation became a member of the group after the beginning of the taxable year, the amount with respect to such corporation deemed paid in to a member of the group during the taxable year for stock or as paid-in surplus or as a contribution to capital, properly adjusted in either case for capital changes with respect to such corporation occurring during the taxable year and prior to the date on which affiliation is broken.

(iv) Consolidated increase or decrease in inadmissible assets. For the purpose of computing the consolidated increase or decrease in inadmissible assets—

(a) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the group after the beginning of the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group and prior to the beginning of the taxable year, the consolidated original inadmissible assets shall include the inadmissible assets of such corporation on such first day (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes), and shall not include any stock in such corporation held by other members of the group;

(b) If the affiliated group at the beginning of the taxable year does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated original inadmissible assets for such first day shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the group;

(c) In the case of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for only part of the taxable year, the consolidated original inadmissible assets—

(1) Shall include such portion of the amount of the adjusted basis of the inadmissible assets of such corporation on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis of such assets recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes), and

(2) Shall not include such portion of the adjusted basis of the stock of such corporation held by other members of the group at the beginning of such first day, as the number of days during the taxable year during which such corporation is a member of the group is of the total number of days in the taxable year.

(v) Base period capital addition. For the purpose of computing the consolidated base period capital addition—

(a) If the affiliated group at the beginning of the taxable year includes a corporation which was not a member of the group on the first day of a taxable year for which consolidated yearly base period capital is computed (the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group or either one of the two taxable years preceding such first taxable year)—

(1) The consolidated equity capital shall include with respect to such corporation only such portion of the equity capital of such corporation for such first day as is not attributable to the stock of such corporation held with a cost basis by other members of the group on the day on which such corporation became a member of the group, and the consolidated equity capital shall not include the stock in such corporation held on such first day with a basis other than cost;

(2) The consolidated daily borrowed capital for such first day shall include such portion of the borrowed capital of such corporation for such first day as does not consist of indebtedness owed to other members of the group;

(3) The aggregate of the inadmissible assets of the group for such first day shall include the portion of the inadmissible assets (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes) of such corporation for such first day as does not consist of stock of other members of the group, and shall not include any stock of such corporation held by other members of the group;

(4) The consolidated controlled group indebtedness for such first day shall include the portion of the indebtedness (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes) described in section 435 (f) (4) owed to such corporation on such first day, which does not consist of indebtedness owed by other members of the affiliated group; and

(5) The aggregate of the adjustments for interest on borrowed capital under section 435 (f) (5) shall include such adjustment determined under section 435 (f) (5) for such corporation on such first day, computed without regard to any borrowed capital owed to another member of the group;

(b) If the affiliated group at the beginning of the taxable year does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of a taxable year for which yearly base period capital is computed, the consolidated equity capital, the consolidated daily borrowed capital, the aggregate of the inadmissible assets, the consolidated controlled group indebtedness, and the aggregate of the adjustments for interest on borrowed capital under section 435 (f) (5) for such first day shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the affiliated group; and

(c) If a corporation is a member of the affiliated group for only part of the taxable year, the consolidated equity capital, the consolidated daily borrowed capital, the aggregate of the inadmissible assets, the consolidated controlled group indebtedness, and the aggregate of the adjustments for interest on borrowed capital under section 435 (f) (5) for the first day of each taxable year for which yearly base period capital is computed shall be determined as if such corporation were not a member of the group, and each such item so determined shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by an amount which is such portion of the difference between such item so determined and such item determined as if (a) were applicable as the number of days in the taxable year during which such corporation is a member of the group is of the total number of days in the taxable year.

(vi) Section 435 (g) (6) inadmissible asset adjustment. For the purpose of computing the section 435 (g) (6) adjustment for any day—

(a) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the group after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group and prior to such day, the consolidated original inadmissible assets shall include the inadmissible assets of such corporation for such first day (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes), and shall not include any stock in such corporation held by other members of the group; and

(b) If the affiliated group at the beginning of such day does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated original inadmissible assets for such first day shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the affiliated group.

(vii) Stock in member of controlled group. For the purpose of determining the consolidated section 435 (g) (6) adjustment for any day—

(a) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the affiliated group after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group and prior to such day, the consolidated original controlled group stock—

(1) Shall not include any stock of such corporation held by other members of the affiliated group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, and

(2) Shall include the aggregate of the adjusted basis (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes) of the stock held by such corporation on such first day which was stock described in section 435 (g) (6) (A) of a member of a controlled group; and

(b) If the affiliated group for such day does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated original controlled group stock shall not include any amount with respect to stock held by such corporation, and the stock of such corporation held by other members of the affiliated group on such first day shall be taken into account in determining the consolidated original controlled group stock as if such corporation were not a member of the affiliated group.

(viii) Section 435 (g) (7) adjustment. For the purpose of computing the consolidated section 435 (g) (7) adjustment for any day—

(a) In the case of a corporation which became a member of the group after the beginning of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group and prior to such day, the consolidated original controlled group indebtedness shall include the indebtedness described in section 435 (g) (7) owed to such corporation on such first day (properly adjusted to reflect the adjusted basis of such indebtedness recognized for consolidated equity capital purposes), and shall not include any indebtedness described in section 435 (g) (7) owed by such corporation to any other member of the affiliated group; and

(b) If the affiliated group at the beginning of such day does not include a corporation which was a member of the group on the first day of the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated original section 435 (g) (7) indebtedness for such first day shall be computed as if such corporation were not a member of the affiliated group.

(ix) Additional adjustment. In computing an amount for which an adjustment is required by reason of the affiliated group including a corporation which was not a member of the group on a prior day or by reason of the group not including a corporation which was a member on a prior day, proper adjustment shall be made for the case in which—

(a) Such corporation was created on or after such prior day, directly or indirectly, by another member of the group in a transaction in which the bases of its assets are determined by reference to the bases of the assets in the hands of the other member of the group, or

(b) Such corporation was absorbed on or after such prior date by a member of the group in a transaction in which the bases of its assets became the bases of such assets in the hands of the transferee.

(14) Consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income. In computing the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income, the following rules shall apply:

(i) In no case shall the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for any month be less than zero; and

(ii) The consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for any month during no part of which any member of the group was in existence shall be zero.

(15) Eligibility requirements for consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income. For the purpose of determining whether an affiliated group may compute its consolidated average base period net income by reference to the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income, the following rules shall apply:

(i) The group shall be eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income computed under paragraph (a) (65) (i), (ii), or (iii) of this section, if at least one member of the affiliated group commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period, and if—

(a) The sum of the aggregate of the total assets of the several members of the affiliated group as of the beginning of the first day of the consolidated base period and the aggregate of the total assets as of such first day of any other corporation which was affiliated with a member of the group for the first taxable year of such member ending after June 30, 1950, if such other corporation commenced business prior to such first day, does not exceed $20,000,000; and either

(b) The aggregate of the total payroll (determined under section 435 (e) (4)) for the last half of the consolidated base period of those members of the group which had commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period is 130 percent or more of the aggregate of the total payroll of such members for the first half of the consolidated base period; or

(c) The aggregate of the gross receipts (determined under section 435 (e) (5)) for the last half of the consolidated base period of those members of the group which had commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period is 150 percent or more of the aggregate of the gross receipts of such members for the first half of the consolidated base period.

(ii) The group shall be eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income computed under paragraph (a) (65) (i), (ii), or (iii) of this section if at least one member of the group commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period, and if—

(a) The aggregate of the net sales for the period beginning January 1, 1950, and ending June 30, 1950, of those members of the group which had commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period, equals or exceeds 75 percent of the average of the aggregate of the net sales for the calendar years 1946 and 1947 of such members of the group; and

(b) Forty percent or more of the aggregate of the net sales for the calendar year 1950 of those members of the group which had commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period is attributable to a product, or class of products (including any article in which such product or class of products is the principal component and including any article which is a component of such product or class of products), of a kind not generally available to the public at any time prior to January 1, 1946; and

(c) The aggregate of the net sales for the calendar year 1946 of the members described in (b) which is attributable to the product or class of products described in (b) is 5 percent or less of the aggregate of the net sales of such members so attributable for the calendar year 1949.

(iii) The group shall be eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income computed under paragraph (a) (65) (iv) of this section if it is eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income computed under paragraph (a) (65) (i), (ii), or (iii) of this section, solely by reason of (ii) of this subparagraph, and if the aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the 12 months in the calendar year 1949 is not more than 25 percent of the aggregate of the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for the 12 months in the calendar year 1948.

(16) Computations under section 435 (e). For the purpose of computing the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income, and for the purpose of applying subparagraph (15) of this paragraph relating to eligibility requirements, the following rules shall apply:

(i) For the purpose of computing the consolidated section 433 (b) excess profits net income for any month, the excess profits net income determined under section 433 (b), or the deficit in excess profits net income determined under section 433 (c), as the case may be, of any member of the affiliated group—

(a) Shall be disregarded if such member did not commence business before the beginning of the consolidated base period; and

(b) Shall be computed as if the group included only those members which commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period.

(ii) In computing as of the beginning of the consolidated base period, the aggregate of the total assets of the corporations described in subparagraph (15) (i) (A) of this paragraph—

(a) There shall be included the cash and property other than cash held by each such corporation for the purpose of the business;

(b) Such property shall be included in an amount equal to its adjusted basis for determining gain upon sale or exchange; and

(c) There shall be disregarded stock of one such corporation held by another such corporation.

(iii) The consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income shall not exceed the sum of—

(a) If those members of the affiliated group which were members of the group on June 30, 1950, would be eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income on the basis of a computation limited to those members only, an amount which would be the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income or the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income, whichever is higher, if computed with respect to the excess profits net income or deficit in excess profits net income of those members only;

(b) If those members of the group which were not members of the group on June 30, 1950, but which were affiliated with each other on that day, would be eligible to use the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income on the basis of a computation limited to those members only, an amount which would be the consolidated section 435 (e) average base period net income or the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income, whichever is the higher, if computed with respect to the excess profits net income or deficit in excess profits net income of those members only;

(c) In the case of each member of the affiliated group which was not affiliated with any other member of the group on June 30, 1950, and which would be eligible to use the average base period net income computed under section 435 (e) if a separate return were filed, the average base period net income under section 435 (e) or the average base period net income under section 435 (d), whichever is the higher, computed separately for such member but subject to the rules provided in § 24.31 (b) (2); and

(d) An amount which would be the consolidated section 435 (d) average base period net income if computed without regard to the excess profits net income or deficit in excess profits net income of any member of the group which is described in (a), (b), or (c) above, or which did not commence business before the beginning of the consolidated base period.

(17) Computation of consolidated alternative average base period net income. For the purpose of determining the consolidated alternative average base period net income, the following rules shall apply:

(i) In the application of section 442 (c), 442 (d), 443, 444, or 446, in the case of those members of the affiliated group which commenced business before the beginning of the consolidated base period and which were affiliated with each other at the close of the consolidated base period and at all subsequent times involved in the application of such section—

(a) Such section shall be applied to all such members as a unit;

(b) All computations involved shall be made on the basis of the aggregate of the items separately determined for each such member; and

(c) Such section shall be considered applicable to such members only if such application results in a lower excess profits tax on the affiliated group for the taxable year.

Example. In the case of such members, the requirement of section 443 (a) (2) would be met as to all such members if the aggregate of the gross income or net income of such members attributable to new products or services of one or more of such members constitutes, respectively, more than 40 percent of the aggregate of the gross income, or 33 percent of the aggregate of the net income, separately computed for such members.

(ii) Section 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446 shall be considered applicable to any member of the affiliated group other than a member described in (i) only if such section would be applicable to such member if it filed a separate return, and only if the application of such section to such member results in a lower excess profits tax of the group for the taxable year.

(iii) Section 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446 shall not be considered applicable to the members of the group described in (i) or to any member of the group described in (ii) unless a proper application therefor is filed under section 447.

(iv) In the case of a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for only a part of the taxable year for which the excess profits credit is being computed, and to which section 442, 443, 444, 445, or 446 is applicable, the amount to be included with respect to such corporation in computing the consolidated alternative average base period net income for the purpose of the consolidated excess profits credit for such taxable year shall be limited to an amount which bears the same ratio to the amount which would be included if such corporation were a member of the group throughout the taxable year as the number of days in the taxable year for which the credit is being computed during which it was a member of the group (excluding the day on which it became a member) bears to the total number of days in such taxable year.

(18) Base period capital addition in case consolidated alternative average base period net income is used. If the consolidated average base period net income is the consolidated alternative average base period net income, the consolidated base period capital addition shall be computed as if the affiliated group did not include any member for which an amount computed under section 442 (d), 443, 444, 445, or 446 is included in consolidated alternative average base period net income, or for which a substitute excess profits net income computed under section 442 (c) is included in consolidated alternative excess profits net income for any month in the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group or in the two immediately preceding taxable years. In the case of any member of the group for which a substitute excess profits net income computed under section 442 (c) (1) was included in consolidated alternative excess profits net income for any month in the second taxable year preceding the first excess profits tax taxable year of the group, the consolidated base period capital addition computed under the preceding sentence shall be increased by an amount equal to the base period capital addition separately computed for such corporation under section 435 (f) (3) (C).

(19) Net capital addition or reduction in case consolidated alternative average base period net income is used. If the consolidated average base period net income is the consolidated alternative average base period net income, the consolidated net capital addition or reduction shall be computed as if the affiliated group did not include any member for which an amount computed under section 443 or section 445 is included in computing consolidated alternative average base period net income. The consolidated net capital addition or reduction so computed shall be properly increased or decreased, as the case may be, by the net capital addition or reduction separately computed for each such member.

(20) Computations under section 443. In the computation of the consolidated section 443 excess profits credit, the consolidated section 448 gross credit and the consolidated section 448 inadmissible asset adjustment, the following rules shall apply in the case of any member of the affiliated group described in section 448 (c) (1) (A), (c) (1) (B), (c) (2) or (c) (4), the corporate books of account of which are maintained in accordance with systems of accounts prescribed by an appropriate regulatory body or, if not so prescribed, are maintained in accordance with the uniform systems of accounts prescribed by the Federal Power Commission or the National Association of Railway and Utility Commissioners:

(i) The sum specified in paragraph (a) (85) of this section shall be computed without regard to any amount with respect to such member otherwise includible in such computation, and the sum so computed shall be increased or decreased, as the case may be, by an amount equal to—

(a) The sum of—

(1) The average outstanding common and preferred capital stock accounts for the taxable year plus the capital surplus and earned surplus accounts (or minus any deficits therein) at the beginning of the taxable year as properly recorded on the corporate books of account of such member, and

(2) The average borrowed capital of such member for the taxable year, minus

(b) The average for the taxable year of the amount, as properly recorded on the corporate books of account, of the stock of other members of the group held by such member.

(ii) For the purpose of computing the consolidated section 448 inadmissible asset adjustment, the amounts attributable to the assets of such member shall be determined according to the amounts properly recorded in its corporate books of account.

(iii) In the case of any such member which is a member of the group for only part of the taxable year, the amount referred to in (i) shall be reduced to an amount which is such part thereof as the number of days in the taxable year during which such corporation is a member of the group (excluding the day on which it became a member of the group) is of the total number of days in the taxable year.

(21) Limitation on separate carry-overs or carry-backs of unused excess profits credit. In no case shall there be included in the consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment for the taxable year—

(i) As a consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-over under (a) (88) (ii) of this section, relating to the unused excess profits credit of a corporation for a year for which a separate return was filed or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, and

(ii) As a consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-back under (a) (89) (ii) of this section, relating to the unused excess profits credit of a corporation for a year for which a separate return was filed or for which such corporation joined in a consolidated return filed by another affiliated group, an amount in excess of the portions thereof which could have been availed of by such corporation as unused excess profits credit carry-overs and as a carry-back if a separate return had been filed for such taxable year, but with its net income computed subject to the provisions of subparagraph (1) (i) of paragraph (b) of this section.

(22) Limitation on consolidated unused excess profits credit in case of liquidation, etc. If any member of the affiliated group distributes during the taxable year substantially all of its assets in liquidation or completes the conversion of substantially all of its assets into assets not held in good faith for the purpose of the business, appropriate adjustment shall be made in the computation of the consolidated unused excess profits credit for such taxable year in accordance with section 432 (e) upon the basis of the portion of the consolidated unused excess profits credit attributable to such corporation.

(23) Limitation on absorption of unused excess profits credit carry-overs. In the computation of the consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment for the taxable year, if there is involved an unused excess profits credit for a prior year of a corporation filing a separate return for such prior year or joining in a consolidated return for such prior year filed by another affiliated group, together with a consolidated unused excess profits credit, or if there are involved such separate unused excess profits credits of two or more members of the group, no portion of the consolidated adjusted excess profits net income for a consolidated return period of the group intervening between the year of the unused excess profits credit and the taxable year shall be taken into account more than once in giving effect to the provisions of (a) (88) (ii) of this section, relating to the computation of the consolidated unused excess profits credit carry-overs originating in separate return years.

(24) Qualifications on excess profits credit where group membership changed after March 14, 1941. In the case of an affiliated group formed at any time subsequent to March 14, 1941, or having among its members one or more subsidiaries which became members of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941, the consolidated excess profits credit for the taxable year shall be determined subject to the following qualifications:

(i) The portion of the consolidated excess profits credit otherwise allowable with respect to the common parent corporation and with respect to any subsidiaries which were members of the group on March 14, 1941, shall not exceed—

(a) The portion of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for the taxable year attributable to such common parent corporation, in the case of a group formed subsequent to March 14, 1941, or

(b) In the case of a group formed prior to March 15, 1941, but having among its members in the taxable year one or more subsidiaries which became members of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941, the aggregate of the portion of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for the taxable year attributable to the common parent corporation and to the several subsidiary corporations which were members of the group on March 14, 1941.

(1) The portion of the consolidated excess profits credit otherwise allowable with respect to a subsidiary corporation which became a member of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941, shall not exceed—

(a) The portion of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for the taxable year attributable to such subsidiary corporation in the case in which such subsidiary corporation was not on March 14, 1941, a member of an affiliated group within the meaning of section 141, or

(b) If such subsidiary corporation was a member of an affiliated group on March 14, 1941, an amount which, together with that portion of the consolidated excess profits credit computed subject to the provisions of these regulations and attributable to other members of the group during the taxable year which were affiliated with such subsidiary corporation on March 14, 1941, within the meaning of section 141, does not exceed the aggregate of the portion of the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for the taxable year attributable to such subsidiary corporation and to such other members of the group.

(iii) The portion of the consolidated excess profits credit otherwise allowable for the taxable year which is disallowed pursuant to the provisions of (i) and (ii) shall be considered as an unused excess profits credit in respect of those members of the group by reference to which the amount of the credit disallowed under (i) and (ii) was determined, originating, for the purpose of the unused excess profits credit carry-back provisions, in a taxable year subsequent to the last taxable year in respect of which their income was included in a consolidated return, and, for the purpose of the unused excess profits credit carry-over provisions, in a taxable year prior to the first taxable year in respect of which their income was included in a consolidated return.

(iv) The provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) shall not apply with respect to the common parent corporation of an affiliated group formed subsequent to March 14, 1941, or to the common parent corporation or subsidiaries of a group in existence on March 14, 1941, acquiring new members subsequent to March 14, 1941, or with respect to subsidiaries becoming members of the group subsequent to March 14, 1941—

(a) If the group consists solely of the common parent corporation and one or more subsidiaries created, directly or indirectly, by the common parent corporation or by other members of the group;

(b) If, immediately after the corporation involved became a member of the group, common parent corporation or subsidiary, as the case may be, stock possessing at least 95 percent of the voting power of all classes of its stock then outstanding and at least 95 percent of each class of its nonvoting stock then outstanding is owned, directly or indirectly, by substantially the same interests by which such stock was owned on March 14, 1941;

(c) If the affiliated group involved was formed, or the new subsidiary became a member of the group, as an incident to an involuntary conversion or to a transfer made pursuant to an order of the Securities and Exchange Commission, the Federal Communications Commission, the Interstate Commerce Commission, or a similar regulatory body of State or Federal Government; or

(d) To the extent to which, upon consideration of the facts or circumstances presented by the particular case, the Commissioner determines that a consolidated excess profits credit computed with respect to the affiliated group but without regard to subdivisions (i) and (ii) will not serve to distort the excess profits tax liability of the group or of any of its members.

(e) If, upon consideration of the facts and circumstances presented by the particular case, the Commissioner determines that the general purpose of the provisions of subdivisions (i) and (ii) would be better served in a particular respect by adherence to a date subsequent to March 14, 1941, such subdivisions shall be administered in that respect as if the appropriate date determined by the Commissioner were substituted in such subdivisions in lieu of the date March 14, 1941.

(25) Loss to group of investment in an affiliate. In the case of a loss to one or more members of an affiliated group sustained during the taxable year as the result of the worthlessness of the investment of such members in another affiliate, whether such investment was reflected in the stock, bonds, or open account advances to such other affiliate—

(i) Such losses shall be taken into account in the computation of consolidated net income for the year of the loss in an amount not greater in the aggregate than the excess of the consolidated net income for such year computed without regard to any such loss over that portion of such consolidated net income so computed attributable to such other affiliate; and

(ii) The portion of any such loss otherwise allowable as a deduction for the taxable year which is disallowed pursuant to the provisions of (i) shall be considered as a consolidated net operating loss to be taken into account as a consolidated carry-back to the preceding taxable year and as consolidated carry-overs to succeeding taxable years, but in an amount not greater for any such year than the excess of the consolidated net income for such year, computed without regard to such carry-back or carry-over, as the case may be, over that portion of such consolidated net income so computed for such year attributable to such other affiliate.

(c) Statements and schedules for subsidiaries. The statement of gross income and deductions and the several schedules required by the instructions on the return must be prepared and filed by the common parent corporation in columnar form so that the details of the items of gross income, deductions, invested capital, and credits, for each member of the affiliated group, may be readily audited. Such statements and schedules shall include in columnar form a reconciliation of surplus for each such corporation, together with a reconciliation of the consolidated surplus. Consolidated balance sheets as of the beginning and close of the taxable year of the group, taken from the books of the members of the group, shall accompany the consolidated return prepared in a form similar to that required for reconciliation of surplus.

(d) Net operating loss deduction, net operating loss credit, and dividend carry-over before or after consolidated return period. The consolidated net operating loss (whether computed for the purpose of the deduction or the credit) of an affiliated group, or the unused consolidated basic surtax credit of such group, shall be used in computing the consolidated net operating loss deduction, the consolidated net operating loss credit, or the consolidated dividend carry-over, as the case may be, notwithstanding that one or more corporations, members of the group in the taxable year in which such loss or such unused basic surtax credit originates, make separate returns (or join in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group) for a subsequent taxable year (or, in the case of a carry-back computation, for the preceding taxable year), but only to the extent that such consolidated net operating loss or such unused consolidated basic surtax credit is not attributable to such corporations; and such portion of such consolidated net operating loss or such unused consolidated basic surtax credit as is attributable to the several corporations making separate returns (or joining in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group) for a subsequent taxable year (or, in the case of a carry-back computation, for the preceding taxable year) shall be used by such corporations severally as carry-overs, or as carry-backs, in such separate returns, or in such consolidated returns, of the other affiliated group. Any unused basic surtax credit of a corporation separately produced for a year prior to a taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return of the group shall be used in computing the dividend carry-over of such corporation (or the consolidated dividend carry-over of another affiliated group of which it becomes a member) for a subsequent taxable year for which it makes a separate return or joins in a consolidated return of another group, but only to the extent that such unused basic surtax credit was not absorbed in the computation of the consolidated dividends paid credit for the intervening consolidated return period. Any net operating loss separately sustained by a corporation prior to a first taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return of the group (or, in the year immediately following a consolidated return year) shall be used in computing the net operating loss deduction of such corporation (or the consolidated net operating loss deduction of another affiliated group of which it becomes a member) for a subsequent taxable year for which it makes a separate return or joins in a consolidated return of another group, but only to the extent that such net operating loss was not absorbed (either as a carry-over or as a carry-back) in the computation of the consolidated net operating loss deduction for consolidated return periods.

(e) Unused excess profits credit before or after consolidated return period. The consolidated unused excess profits credit of an affiliated group shall be used in computing the consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment notwithstanding that one or more corporations, members of the group in the taxable year in which such unused excess profits credit originates, make separate returns (or join in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group) for a subsequent taxable year (or, in the case of a carry-back computation, for the preceding taxable year), but only to the extent that such consolidated unused excess profits credit is not attributable to such corporations; and such portion of such consolidated unused excess profits credit as is attributable to the several corporations making separate returns (or joining in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group) for a subsequent taxable year (or, in the case of a carry-back computation, for the preceding taxable year) shall be used by such corporations severally as carry-overs, or as carry-backs, in such separate returns, or in such consolidated return of the other affiliated group. Any unused excess profits credit of a corporation for a year prior to a taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return of the group (or, for the year immediately following a consolidated return year) shall be used in computing the unused excess profits credit adjustment of such corporation (or the consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment of another affiliated group of which it becomes a member) for a subsequent taxable year for which it makes a separate return or joins in a consolidated return of another group, but only to the extent that such unused excess profits credit was not absorbed (either as a carry-over or as a carry-back) in the computation of the consolidated unused excess profits credit adjustment for consolidated return periods.

(f) Taxable year of less than 12 months. Any period of less than 12 months for which either a separate return or a consolidated return is filed, under the provisions of § 24.13, shall be considered as a taxable year, and the excess profits net income or the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income for such year, as the case may be, shall be placed on an annual basis pursuant to the provisions of section 433 (a) (2).

§ 24.32 Method of computation of income for period of less than 12 months. If a corporation, during the taxable year of the group, becomes a member or ceases to be a member of an affiliated group which makes or is required to make a consolidated return for such year, the income of such corporation to be included in the consolidated return shall be computed on the basis of its income as shown by its books if the accounts are so kept that the income for the period during which it is a member of the group can be clearly and accurately determined. If the accounts are not so kept, the income to be included in the consolidated return shall be computed on the basis of that proportion of its income (subject to the elimination of items exempt from taxation and the addition of items not allowable as deductions) for the full period covered by its books which the number of days for which its income is included in the consolidated return bears to the number of days in the full period covered by its books; but, in the discretion of the Commissioner, there may be eliminated before the proration is made items of income or deduction clearly and accurately determined to be attributable to particular periods, and, after the proration is made, such eliminated items will be added to (if items of income) or deducted from (if deductible items) the income determined by proration for the period to which such items are applicable. The credits allowable under sections 13 and 15 of the Code shall be given for the period to which they are properly applicable under the facts in the case.

§ 24.33 Gain or loss from sale of stock, or bonds or other obligations. Gain or loss from the sale or other disposition (whether or not during a consolidated return period), by a corporation which during any period of time has been a member of an affiliated group which makes or is required to make a consolidated return, of any share of stock or any bond or other obligation issued or incurred by another corporation which during any part of such period was a member of the same group, shall be determined, and the extent to which such gain or loss shall be recognized and shall be taken into account shall also be determined, in the same manner, to the same extent, and upon the same conditions as though such corporations had never been affiliated (see sections 111 to 115, inclusive, and section 117, and the regulations thereunder), except—

(a) In the case of a disposition (by sale, or in complete or partial liquidation not involving cash in an amount in excess of the adjusted basis of both the stock and the bonds and other indebtedness liquidated, or otherwise) during a consolidated return period to another member of the group (see §§ 24.31 and 24.37);

(b) That the basis for determining the gain or loss, in the case of shares of stock, or in the case of bonds or other obligations, held during any part of a consolidated return period, shall be determined in accordance with §§ 24.34 and 24.35; and

(c) As provided in § 24.36 (imposing certain limitations upon losses otherwise allowable upon sales of stock, or bonds or other obligations).

§ 24.34 Sale of stock; basis for determining gain or loss—(a) Scope of section. This section prescribes the basis for determining the gain or loss upon any sale or other disposition (hereinafter referred to as "sale") by a corporation which is (or has been) a member of an affiliated group which makes (or has made) a consolidated return for any taxable year, of any share of stock issued by another member of such group (whether issued before or during the period that it was a member of the group and whether issued before, during, or after the taxable year 1929), and held by the selling corporation during any part of a period for which a consolidated return is made or required under these regulations. For the basis in the case of a sale of bonds, see § 24.35.

(b) Sales made while selling corporation is member of affiliated group. If the sale is made within a period during which the selling corporation is a member of the affiliated group, whether or not during a consolidated return period, and whether or not, as a result of such sale, the issuing corporation ceases to be a member of the group, the basis shall be determined as follows:

(1) The aggregate bases of all shares of stock of the issuing corporation held by each member of the affiliated group (exclusive of the issuing corporation) immediately prior to the sale, shall be determined separately for each member of the group, and adjusted in accordance with the Code, but without regard to any adjustment under the last sentence of section 113 (a) (11) relating to losses of the issuing corporation sustained by such corporation after it became a member of the group.

(2) From the combined aggregate bases as determined in subparagraph (1) of this paragraph, there shall be deducted the sum of—

(i) All losses of such issuing corporation sustained during taxable years for which consolidated income tax returns were made or were required (whether the taxable year 1929 or any prior or subsequent taxable year) after such corporation became a member of the affiliated group and prior to the sale of the stock to the extent that such losses could not have been availed of by such corporation as net loss or net operating loss in computing its net income for such taxable years if it had made a separate return for each of such years,

(ii) With respect to each of such taxable years for which consolidated returns were made or were required both for income and for excess profits tax purposes, the excess, if any, of all losses of such issuing corporation for such year, properly adjusted in the computation of consolidated excess profits net income or consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income, over the amount of such losses for such year computed under subdivision (i) of this subparagraph to the extent that such excess could not have been availed of by such corporation as a net operating loss in computing its excess profits net income for such taxable years if it had made a separate return for each of such years, and

(iii) With respect to each of such taxable years for which consolidated returns were made or were required for excess profits tax purposes only, all losses of such issuing corporation for such year, properly adjusted in the computation of consolidated excess profits net income, to the extent that such losses could not have been availed of by such corporation as a net operating loss in computing its excess profits net income for such taxable years if it had made a separate excess profits tax return for each of such years, reduced by any losses of the issuing corporation apportioned under this section to its stock sold or otherwise disposed of in a prior transaction, disregarding any transaction between members of the affiliated group during a consolidated income or excess profits tax return period which did not constitute a partial liquidation of the issuing corporation. For any taxable year in which the group sustained a consolidated loss not availed of in prior or subsequent years as a deduction under net loss or net operating loss provisions, the amount deducted under this subparagraph shall be further reduced by an amount equal to that proportion of such consolidated loss which the loss of the issuing corporation for the year in which such loss was sustained bears to the aggregate losses of the members of the group for such year.

(3) The sum of the aggregate bases of all shares of stock, after making the deduction under subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, shall then be apportioned among the members of the affiliated group which hold stock of the issuing corporation, by allocating to each such member that proportion of the sum of the aggregate bases so reduced which the aggregate basis of the stock in the issuing corporation held by such member bears to the sum of the aggregate bases.

(4) The aggregate basis as determined under subparagraph (3) of this paragraph for each member of the affiliated group shall then be equitably apportioned among the several classes of stock of the issuing corporation held by such member according to the circumstances of the case—ordinarily by allocating to each class of such stock that proportion of the aggregate basis which the basis of each class of such stock held by it at the time of the sale is to the sum of the bases of the several classes of such stock held by it.

(5) The basis of each share of stock of each class held by a member of the affiliated group shall then be determined by dividing the basis apportioned to such class under subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, by the total number of shares of such class held by it.

(c) Sales after selling corporation has ceased to be member of affiliated group. If the sale is made after the selling corporation has ceased to be a member of the affiliated group, such basis shall be determined in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section, except that—

(1) The aggregate basis (under paragraph (b) (1) of this section) shall be determined for all shares of the issuing corporation held by each member of the group immediately prior to the time the selling corporation ceased to be a member of the group (rather than immediately prior to the sale);

(2) The reduction (under paragraph (b) (2) of this section) with respect to losses apportioned to stock sold or otherwise disposed of in prior transactions shall be determined without regard to the transaction which terminated the affiliation and all subsequent transactions;

(3) The allocation (under paragraph (b) (3) of this section) shall be made to each member of the group which held stock of the issuing corporation immediately prior to the time the selling corporation ceased to be a member of the group (rather than to the members holding such stock at the time of the sale); and

(4) The basis of each share of stock held by the selling corporation (determined, as above, as of the time the selling corporation ceased to be a member of the group) shall then be adjusted in accordance with the Code (see, particularly, sections 111 to 115, inclusive) in order to determine the basis at the time of the sale.

(d) Definition of "loss," "consolidated loss," and "net loss" or "net operating loss". As used in this section, the term "loss" means the excess over the gross income of the issuing corporation of the sum of its allowable deductions (not including any net loss or net operating loss deduction) plus the proportionate part properly attributable to such corporation of the credits relating to interest on certain Government obligations and dividends received allowable in computing consolidated normal-tax net income, the consolidated special class net income, or consolidated net income subject to tax; the term "consolidated loss" means the excess of the sum of the losses, separately computed, over the sum of the normal-tax net income, the special class net income, or the net income subject to tax, separately computed, of the several members of the affiliated group, determined in accordance with the provisions of the Code, or the Revenue Act, and pursuant to the provisions of consolidated returns regulations, applicable to the period; and the term "net loss" or "net operating loss" means the net loss or net operating loss, as the case may be, determined in accordance with the provisions of the Code, or the Revenue Act, and pursuant to the provisions of consolidated returns regulations, applicable to the period.

§ 24.35 Sale of bonds or other obligations; basis for determining gain or loss. In the case of a sale or other disposition by a corporation, which is (or has been) a member of an affiliated group which makes (or has made) a consolidated income tax or excess profits tax return for any taxable year, of bonds or other obligations issued or incurred by another member of such group (whether or not issued or incurred while it was a member of the group and whether issued or incurred before, during, or after the taxable year 1929) and held by the selling corporation during any part of a period for which a consolidated return is made or required under these regulations, the basis of each bond or obligation, for determining the gain or loss upon such sale or other disposition, determined in accordance with the Code, but without regard to any adjustment under the last sentence of section 113 (a) (11), shall be decreased (except as otherwise provided in this section) by the excess, if any, of the aggregate of the deductions computed under paragraph (b) (2) or (c) of § 24.34 over the sum of the aggregate bases of the stock of the debtor corporation as computed under paragraph (b) (1) or (c) of § 24.34, as the case may be, held by the members of the group. The adjustment with respect to so much of such deductions as is based upon losses sustained during the taxable year 1929 and subsequent taxable years for which the last day prescribed by law for the filing of the return fell on or before March 1, 1945 (the date on which Treasury Decision 5441 was filed with the Division of the Federal Register), and availed of on consolidated returns filed for such years shall be made only in those cases in which the sales or other disposition of such bonds or other obligations resulted in a loss. See, also, § 24.40, relating to disallowance of loss upon intercompany bad debts.

§ 24.36 Limitation on allowable losses on sale of stock, or bonds or other obligations—(a) General rule. No loss shall be allowed under § 24.33, § 24.34, or § 24.35 upon the sale or other disposition of stock or bonds or obligations to the extent that such loss is attributable to (1) transfers of assets within the affiliated group (by sale, gift, or otherwise) without consideration or at markedly fictitious values, during the period in which the corporations were affiliated (whether or not a consolidated return was made), or (2) a distribution during a period in which the corporations were affiliated of earnings or profits accumulated prior to the date upon which the distributing corporation became a member of the group.

(b) Qualification of general rule. Paragraph (a) of this section shall not be considered as in any way limiting the operation of the provisions of the Code relating to the basis for determining gain or loss upon the sale or other disposition of property (see sections 111 to 115, inclusive), but as being in amplification of and not in substitution for such provisions; subject, however, to this qualification: that to the extent that the transfers of assets referred to in paragraph (a) of this section are taken into account under the terms of the Code in making adjustments in the basis, such transfers will not be taken into account in denying losses under paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 24.37 Liquidations; recognition of gain or loss—(a) During consolidated return period. (1) Gain or loss shall not be recognized upon a distribution during a consolidated return period, by a member of an affiliated group to another member of such group, in cancellation or redemption of all or any portion of its stock, except—

(i) Where such distribution is in complete liquidation and redemption of all of its stock (whether in one distribution or a series) and of its bonds and other indebtedness, if any, and falls without the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), and is the result of a bona fide termination of the business and operations of such member of the group, in which case the adjustments specified in §§ 24.34 and 24.35 shall be made, and § 24.36 shall be applicable; or

(ii) Where such a distribution without the provisions of section 112 (b) (6) is one made in cash in an amount in excess of the adjusted basis of the stock, and bonds and other indebtedness, in which case gain shall be recognized to the extent of such excess.

(2) When the business and operations of the liquidated member of the affiliated group are continued by another member of the group, it shall not be considered a bona fide termination of the business and operations of the liquidated member. With respect to the acquisition of its bonds by the issuing company, see § 24.41 (b).

(3) For the purpose of determining whether an affiliated corporation receiving property in a liquidating distribution qualifies under the provisions of section 112 (b) (6) (A), the aggregate amount of the stock of the liquidated corporation owned by the several members of the affiliated group on the date of the adoption of the plan of liquidation and at all times subsequent thereto and prior to the receipt of the property in liquidation shall be considered as owned by the distributee.

(b) After consolidated return period. In case any such distribution is made after a consolidated return period, whether in complete or partial liquidation, except a complete liquidation within the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), with respect to stock and with respect to bonds, debentures, notes, certificates, and other indebtedness of the liquidated corporation acquired prior to or during any taxable year subsequent to 1928 for which a consolidated income or excess profits tax return was filed, the adjustments specified in §§ 24.34 and 24.35 shall be made, and § 24.36 will be applicable.

§ 24.38 Basis of property—(a) General rule. Subject to the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) of this section and except as otherwise provided in §§ 24.34 and 24.39, the basis during a consolidated return period for determining the gain or loss from the sale or other disposition of property, or upon which exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion are to be allowed, shall be determined and adjusted in the same manner as if the corporations were not affiliated (see sections 111 to 115, inclusive), whether such property was acquired before or during a consolidated return period. Except as otherwise provided in § 24.39, such basis immediately after a consolidated return period (whether the affiliation has been broken or whether the privilege of making a consolidated return is not exercised) shall be the same as immediately prior to the close of such period.

(b) Intercompany transactions. The basis prescribed in paragraph (a) of this section shall not be affected by reason of a transfer during a consolidated return period, other than upon liquidation as provided in paragraph (c) of this section (whether by sale, gift, dividend, or otherwise) from a member of the affiliated group to another member of such group.

(c) Basis after liquidation. (1) Where property is acquired upon a distribution described in § 24.37 (a) in which gain or loss is recognized to the distributee, the basis of such property shall be its fair market value at date of acquisition.

(2) Where property is acquired upon a distribution in which gain or loss to the distributee is not recognized pursuant to the provisions of section 112 (b) (6), the basis of such property shall be the same as it would be in the hands of the transferor.

(3) Where property is acquired upon a distribution (not a complete liquidation within the provisions of section 112 (b) (6)) in which gain or loss to the distributee is not recognized as provided in

§ 24.37 (a), the basis of such property shall be the same as the basis (determined in accordance with sections 111 to 115, inclusive, and §§ 24.34 and 24.35) of the stock and the bonds and other obligations exchanged therefor, adjusted for—

(i) The transfer of assets within the affiliated group by the distributing corporation (by sale, gift, or otherwise) without consideration or at markedly fictitious values, during the period for which the corporations were affiliated (whether or not a consolidated return was made);

(ii) Distributions during a period in which the corporations were affiliated of earnings or profits accumulated prior to the date upon which the distributing corporation became a member of the group; and

(iii) Cash received in the distribution.

(4) Where property was acquired upon a distribution in which gain or loss to the distributee was recognized pursuant to the provisions of section 112 (b) (7), or the corresponding provisions of the Revenue Act of 1938, the basis of such property shall be the same as the basis (determined in accordance with sections 111 to 115, inclusive, and § 24.34) of the stock exchange therefor, adjusted for—

(i) The transfer of assets within the affiliated group by the distributing corporation (by sale, gift, or otherwise) without consideration or at markedly fictitious values, during the period for which the corporations were affiliated (whether or not a consolidated return was made);

(ii) Distribution during a consolidated return period of earnings or profits accumulated prior to the date upon which the distributing corporation became a member of the group;

(iii) Cash received in the distribution; and

(iv) The amount of gain recognized to the distributee in the liquidation.

(d) Basis not affected by acquisition or sale of stock. Neither the acquisition of stock of a corporation nor its sale or other disposition shall affect the basis of the property of such corporation for determining gain or loss or upon which exhaustion, wear and tear, obsolescence, amortization, and depletion are to be allowed.

§ 24.39 Inventories—(a) Consolidated return for first year of affiliation. If the income of an affiliated corporation is included in a consolidated return for the period immediately following the date upon which such corporation became a member of the affiliated group, the value of its opening inventory to be used in computing the consolidated net income shall be the proper value of the closing inventory used in computing its net income for the preceding taxable year.

(b) Consolidated return after separate return by affiliates. If a corporation which is a member of the affiliated group for the first consolidated return period was a member of the group in the preceding taxable year, the value of its opening inventory to be used in computing the consolidated net income for the first consolidated return period shall be the proper value of the closing inventory used in computing its net income for the preceding taxable year decreased in the amount of profits or increased in the amount of losses reflected in such inventory which arose in transactions between members of the affiliated group and which have not been realized by the group through final transactions with persons other than members of the group.

(c) Separate returns made after consolidated returns. If a corporation which was a member of an affiliated group in a consolidated return period makes or is required to make a separate return for the succeeding taxable year, the value of its opening inventory to be used in computing its net income for such succeeding taxable year shall be the proper value of its closing inventory used in computing consolidated net income for the last consolidated return period increased in the amount of profits or decreased in the amount of losses eliminated in the computation of such inventory as profits or losses arising in transactions between members of the affiliated group, but in an amount not exceeding, in the case of profits, either the amount of profits arising from such intercompany transactions reflected in the closing inventory of such corporation for such succeeding taxable year or the amount of such intercompany profits eliminated from its opening inventory for its first consolidated return period pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section, and not exceeding, in the case of losses, either the amount of losses arising from intercompany transactions reflected in the closing inventory for such corporation for such succeeding taxable year or the amount of such intercompany losses eliminated from its opening inventory for its first consolidated return period pursuant to the provisions of paragraph (b) of this section.

(d) Years in consolidated base period, etc. For each of the years in the consolidated recent loss period, in the consolidated base period, or in any other period involved in the computation of the consolidated average base period net income, proper adjustment with respect to unrealized profits or losses in transactions between members of the affiliated group (including any component corporation of any such member as defined in section 461) which were affiliated with each other during such year shall be made in the opening and closing inventories of each such affiliated corporation.

§ 24.40 Bad debts—(a) Deduction during consolidated return period. No deduction shall be allowed during a consolidated return period to any member of the affiliated group on account of worthlessness in whole or in part of any obligation (including accounts receivable, bonds, notes, debts, and claims of whatsoever nature) of any other corporation which was a member of the group as of the last day of the taxable year or which was liquidated by the group during such year, except as a loss resulting from a bona fide termination of the business and operations of such other corporation, whether in liquidation or otherwise, in which case the loss shall be computed subject to the adjustments specified in § 24.35, and the provisions of § 24.36 shall be applicable.

(b) Limitation of allowance after consolidated return period. With respect to obligations (including accounts receivable) of a member of an affiliated group acquired in any way by another member of the group prior to or during any taxable year subsequent to 1928 for which a consolidated income or excess profits tax return was filed, the adjustments prescribed with respect to the allowance of losses upon the sale of bonds shall be applicable to the allowance of any bad debt deduction for any period subsequent to the consolidated return period. See § 24.35.

§ 24.41 Sale and retirement by corporation of its bonds—(a) Issued at discount or premium. If a corporation which during any taxable year has been a member of an affiliated group which makes or is required to make a consolidated return, has issued its bonds at a discount or premium (whether or not during a consolidated return period), deduction will be allowed for the amortization of the discount, and income included for the amortization of the premium, in the same manner, to the same extent, and upon the same conditions as if the corporation had never been affiliated, except that no deduction for amortization of discount shall be allowed, and no income shall be included for amortization of premium, during a period for which a consolidated return is made, on bonds of one member of the group owned by another member of the group.

(b) Acquisition of bonds by issuing company. If a corporation which has been a member of an affiliated group which makes or is required to make a consolidated return, acquires its bonds (whether or not from another member of such group and whether or not during a consolidated return period), gain or loss shall be recognized in the same manner, to the same extent, and upon the same conditions as if the corporation had never been affiliated, except that, if such bonds are acquired from another member of the group during a consolidated return period, and in a transaction other than a distribution in a liquidation in which gain or loss to the distributee is recognized pursuant to § 24.37 (a), in determining the gain or loss to the issuing company from such acquisition, the basis thereof to such other member of the group shall be deemed the purchase price.

§ 24.42 Capital loss limitations and carry-over. (a) The provisions of sections 23 (g) and (k), 117 (d), (e), and (j), 122 (d), and 204 (c) (5), with respect to gains and losses from sales or exchanges of capital assets shall be applied, in respect of such gains and losses sustained during a consolidated return period as if the affiliated group were the taxpayer.

(b) With respect to a net capital loss sustained by a corporation in a taxable year prior to the first consolidated return period in respect of which its income is included in a consolidated return, such loss (in an amount not in excess of the net capital gain of such corporation for succeeding consolidated return periods) shall, for the purposes of section 117 (e), relating to net capital loss carry-overs, be treated as if such net capital loss had been sustained by the affiliated group.

(c) A consolidated net capital loss of an affiliated group for a consolidated return period shall be considered as a consolidated short-term capital loss in subsequent consolidated return periods notwithstanding that one or more corporations, members of the group in the taxable year in which such loss was sustained, make separate returns for subsequent taxable years (or join in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group), but only to the extent that such consolidated net capital loss is not attributable to such corporations; and such portion of such consolidated net capital loss as is attributable to the several corporations making separate returns (or joining in a consolidated return made by another affiliated group) for a subsequent taxable year shall be considered as a short-term capital loss in such separate returns, or in such consolidated return of the other affiliated group, but only to the extent that such portion of such consolidated net capital loss was not absorbed in intervening taxable years by net capital gains, consolidated or separate, as the case may be. Any net capital loss sustained by a corporation prior to the first taxable year in respect of which its income is included in the consolidated return shall be considered as a short-term capital loss in the separate return of such corporation (or the consolidated return of another affiliated group of which it becomes a member) for a subsequent taxable year for which it makes a separate return or joins in a consolidated return of another group, but only to the extent that such net capital loss was not absorbed in intervening taxable years by net capital gains, consolidated or separate, as the case may be.

§ 24.43 Credit for foreign taxes. The credit allowed to an affiliated group for taxes paid or accrued during the consolidated return period to any foreign country or to any possession of the United States (under section 131) shall be computed and allowed as if the affiliated group were the taxpayer, and as if the aggregate taxes paid by the several members of the group and the credits allowed with respect to such payments were payments made by and credits allowed to the group.

§ 24.44 Methods of accounting—(a) In general. All members of the affiliated group shall adopt that method of accounting which clearly reflects the consolidated net income. A method of accounting which does not treat with reasonable consistency all items of gross income and deductions of the various members of the group shall not be regarded as clearly reflecting the consolidated net income. For example, one member of the group will not be permitted to report items of income or deductions on the cash method of accounting, while another member of the same group reports the same or similar items on the accrual method. The provisions of this paragraph are subject to the exceptions stated in paragraph (b) of this section.

(b) Combination of methods. If the members of an affiliated group have established different methods of accounting, each member may retain such method with the consent of the Commissioner, provided that the consolidated net income and the consolidated section 433 (a) excess profits net income are clearly reflected: And provided further, That intercompany transactions affecting such consolidated items shall be eliminated, and adjustments on account of such transactions shall be made with reference to a uniform method of accounting to be selected by the members of the group with the consent of the Commissioner.

(c) Change to accrual method. In the case of a corporation which previously has reported its income (whether in a separate or a consolidated return) in accordance with a method other than the accrual method and is required under this section to report its income for the taxable year under the accrual method, items of income which accrued prior to the taxable year but were properly omitted in the determination of net income under the method of accounting formerly followed shall be included in the income for the taxable year of the change in accounting method, and items of income which were properly included in the determination of net income under the method of accounting formerly followed shall not be included in the income for the taxable year of the change or any subsequent year. In such a case, deductions which accrued prior to the taxable year but which were properly omitted in the determination of net income under the method of accounting formerly followed shall be allowed for the taxable year of the change in accounting method, and deductions which were properly included in the determination of net income under the method of accounting formerly followed shall not be allowed in the determination of net income for the taxable year of the change or any subsequent year.

PAYMENT OF EMPLOYERS' TAX AND EMPLOYEES' TAX UNDER THE RAILROAD RETIREMENT TAX ACT

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING WITH RESPECT TO USE OF FEDERAL RESERVE BANKS AND AUTHORIZED COMMERCIAL BANKS

Notice is hereby given, pursuant to the Administrative Procedure Act, approved June 11, 1946, that the regulations set forth below in tentative form are proposed to be prescribed by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, with the approval of the Secretary of the Treasury. Prior to the final adoption of such regulations, consideration will be given to any data, views, or arguments pertaining thereto which are submitted in writing in duplicate to the Commissioner of Internal Revenue, Washington 25, D. C., within the period of 30 days from the date of publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER. The proposed regulations are to be issued under the authority contained in sections 1535 and 3791 of the Internal Revenue Code (53 Stat. 183, 467; 26 U. S. C. 1535, 3791).

[SEAL] GEO. J. SCHOENEMAN,
Commissioner of Internal Revenue.

Regulations 114 (26 CFR Part 411) are hereby amended as follows:

PARAGRAPH 1. Immediately preceding § 411.601, the row of asterisks following the provisions of paragraph (1) of section 3310 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, added by Treasury Decision 5794, approved July 6, 1950, is striken, and the following provisions of law, being paragraph (2) of such section 3310 (f), are inserted in lieu thereof:

(2) Use of Government depositaries. The Secretary may authorize Federal Reserve banks, and incorporated banks or trust companies which are depositaries or financial agents of the United States, to receive any tax imposed by this title, in such manner, at such times, and under such conditions as he may prescribe; and he shall prescribe the manner, times, and conditions under which the receipt of such tax by such banks and trust companies is to be treated as payment of such tax to the collector.

PAR. 2. Immediately after § 411.606, the following new section is inserted:

§ 411.606a Use of Federal Reserve banks and authorized commercial banks in connection with payment of employers' tax and employees' tax with respect to compensation paid on or after July 1, 1951—(a) In general. If the amount of employees' tax deducted during a calendar month after June 30, 1951, plus the amount of employers' tax imposed for such month, exceeds $100 in the case of an employer, it will be the duty of such employer to deposit the aggregate amount of such taxes with a Federal Reserve bank. The employer, at his election, may forward the remittance to a commercial bank authorized by the Secretary of the Treasury to accept remittances of the aforementioned taxes for transmission to a Federal Reserve bank. If a portion of the aforementioned taxes for a calendar month is reportable under § 411.601 on the return on Form CT-1 for the tax-return period immediately preceding such month, it will be the duty of the employer to deposit such portion in the same manner as if it were for the last calendar month in such tax-return period, except that no deposit shall be made for a calendar month prior to July 1, 1951.

(b) Procedure. The deposit of the taxes for the first or second calendar month of a tax-return period shall be made on or before the fifteenth day after the close of the month for which the deposit is made. The deposit of the taxes for the third calendar month of a tax-return period shall be made on or before the last day of the first calendar month following the close of such period. Each deposit shall be accompanied by a Railroad Retirement Depositary Receipt (Form 515), which shall be prepared in accordance with the instructions applicable thereto. After the Federal Reserve bank has validated the depositary receipt, such depositary receipt will be returned to the employer. Every employer making deposits pursuant to this section shall attach to his return on Form CT-1 for the tax-return period with respect to which such deposits are made, in part or full payment of the taxes shown thereon, depositary receipts so validated. If the taxes due for such tax-return period exceed the aggregate amount of the depositary receipts so attached, the employer shall pay to the collector the balance due. If the aggregate amount of such depositary receipts exceeds such taxes, a credit or refund may be obtained; and in the event a credit is taken on the return on Form CT-1 for a subsequent quarter, the employer shall reduce the amount of the deposit otherwise required under paragraph (a) of this section for one of the months of such subsequent quarter by the amount of such credit.

(c) Procurement of prescribed form. Initially, Form 515, Railroad Retirement Depositary Receipt, will so far as possible be furnished the employer by the collector. An employer not supplied with the proper form should make application therefor to the collector in ample time to have such form available for use in making his initial deposit within the time prescribed in this section. Thereafter a blank form will be sent to the employer by the Federal Reserve bank when returning the validated depositary receipt. An employer may secure additional forms from a Federal Reserve bank by applying therefor and advising the bank of the identification number to be shown on his depositary receipts. The identification number to be shown by an employer on each depositary receipt should be the same as the identification number required to be shown by the employer on each quarterly return, Form 941, to be filed with the collector pursuant to Regulations 116 (26 CFR Part 405), relating to the collection of income tax at source on wages. The address of the employer, as shown on each depositary receipt, should be the address to which the receipt should be returned following validation by the Federal Reserve bank.

HANDLING OF HOPS GROWN IN OREGON, CALIFORNIA, WASHINGTON, AND IDAHO AND OF HOP PRODUCTS PRODUCED THEREFROM IN THESE STATES

MINIMUM STANDARDS OF QUALITY

Notice is hereby given that the Department is considering the issuance of the proposal herein set forth in accordance with the provisions of Marketing Agreement No. 107 and Order No. 86, regulating the handling of hops grown in Oregon, California, Washington, and Idaho, and of hop products produced therefrom in these States (7 CFR Part 986), effective under the Agricultural Marketing Agreement Act of 1937, as amended (7 U. S. C. 601 et seq.).

All persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration in connection with the proposal should forward the same to the Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C., in sufficient time to be received not later than the close of business on the thirtieth day after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

The Hop Control Board, the administrative agency established pursuant to the provisions of the aforesaid marketing agreement and order, at a meeting in San Francisco on July 21-22, 1950, by unanimous resolution, requested action by the Secretary to change the minimum standards of quality for hops from 15 percent to 10 percent leaf and stem content. Pursuant to advice from the Department that additional evidence in regard to the desirability of changing the minimum standards would be necessary before a proposed rule could be issued, the Board on December 29, 1950, invited hop growers, dealers, and brewers to submit written evidence during January 1951 to the Department as to the propriety or impropriety of a change in the minimum standards. The Department received 130 statements from brewers and hop dealers favoring the change recommended by the Board in regard to minimum standards. Only one communication in opposition to the recommended change was received. Evidence submitted was generally to the effect that excessive leaf and stem content of hops imparts a harsh or bitter flavor to the fermented malt beverage produced, and hops with more than 10 percent leaf and stem content are therefore unacceptable to brewers; that fermented malt beverage produced with such hops are unacceptable to the public; and that hops with more than 10 percent leaf and stem content in some instances have clogged valves and otherwise interfered with brewing operations, making it difficult to obtain a uniform product.

A report of the Grain Branch, Production and Marketing Administration, United States Department of Agriculture, which operates the inspection service on hops, shows the average leaf and stem content for hops of the 1946, 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950 crops, respectively, was as follows: 6.05 percent, 6.42 percent, 5.75 percent, 3.91 percent, and 3.9 percent. For the five years indicated, 4.5 percent, 8.1 percent, 1.4 percent, 0.2 percent, and 0.1 percent, of the respective crops contained leaves and stems in excess of 10 percent.

The proposal is as follows:

(a) The initial standards and requirements in § 986.5 (a) (2) of Marketing Agreement No. 107 and Order No. 86 (14 F. R. 3660) shall be superseded at 12:01 a. m., P. s. t. August 1, 1951, in respect to hops of the 1951 and subsequent crops, by the standards of quality and requirements set forth in (b) hereof.

(b) Standards of quality and requirements. Until such time as other standards and requirements are prescribed under this section, no hops of the 1951 and subsequent crops shall be deemed merchantable or entitled to certification which contain more than 10 percent by weight of leaves and stems as defined in § 986.5 (a) (1) of said agreement and order and as determined by the Federal-State inspection service.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 2d day of May 1951.

[SEAL] S. R. SMITH,
Director, Fruit and Vegetable Branch, Production and Marketing Administration.

AERONAUTICAL FIXED COMMUNICATIONS

NOTICE OF PROPOSED RULE MAKING

Part 612 was published on August 25, 1950, in 15 F. R. 5701. Notice is hereby given that adoption of the following revision of that part is contemplated. All interested persons who desire to submit written data, views, or arguments for consideration by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics in connection with the proposed revision shall send them to the Civil Aeronautics Administration, Office of Federal Airways, Washington 25, D. C., within 15 days after publication of this notice in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

PART 612—AERONAUTICAL FIXED COMMUNICATIONS

Sec.
612.1 Basis and purpose.
612.2 Acceptability of messages.
612.3 Assessment of fees.
612.4 Methods of payment.
612.5 Priority of transmission.

AUTHORITY: §§ 612.1 to 612.5 issued under sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended, sec. 10, 62 Stat. 453; 49 U. S. C. and Sup., 425, 1159. Interpret or apply secs. 201, 202, 52 Stat. 985, sec. 606, 56 Stat. 1067; 49 U. S. C. 451, 452, 5 U. S. C. 606.

§ 612.1 Basis and purpose. The purpose of this part is to prescribe the types of messages pertaining to international or overseas aircraft operations which will be accepted for transmission by CAA communications stations and the fees which will be assessed for the transmission of certain types of these messages on an interim basis pending the results of the studies now in progress by the International Civil Aviation Organization and International Telecommunications Union with respect to Resolutions 8 and 11 of the International Telegraph Regulations, Paris 1949 Revision. The basis for the part is found in sections 301 and 302 of the Civil Aeronautics Act of 1938, as amended, and section 10 of the International Aviation Facilities Act of 1948.

§ 612.2 Acceptability of messages. (a) CAA Overseas Foreign Aeronautical

Communications Stations and CAA Interstate Airway Communications Stations located in territory (including Alaska) outside the continental United States, will accept for transmission messages regarding international or overseas operations where such messages are of the following types:

(1) Messages which concern an aircraft, ship, other vehicle, or person, that is in danger and requires immediate assistance.

(2) Air traffic control messages.

(3) Aircraft movement messages.

(4) Messages of immediate safety concern to an aircraft in flight or about to depart.

(5) Meteorological messages exchanged between meteorological offices or ones which request or contain meteorological observations.

(6) Notices to airmen.

(7) Messages concerning public aircraft.

(8) Messages dealing with the operation of air navigation facilities.

(9) Messages exchanged between public officials connected with civil aviation.

(10) Messages which contain data necessary for weight and balance computation with regard to specific flights.

(11) Messages concerning changes in aircraft operating schedules to become effective within 72 hours after the message is filed.

(12) Messages concerning the servicing of aircraft, or concerning parts or materials required for aircraft, when the aircraft is actually in flight or is scheduled for flight within 48 hours.

(13) Messages concerning non-routine landings to be made by aircraft actually in flight.

(14) Messages concerning the preflight arrangement of air navigation services, and operational servicing for non-scheduled or irregular operations of aircraft, filed within 48 hours of proposed time of departure.

(15) Reservation messages originated by an airline operating agency to secure space required in a public transport aircraft scheduled to depart within 72 hours after the message is filed.

(b) CAA Interstate Airway Communications Stations located within the continental United States (excluding Alaska) will accept for transmission messages regarding international or overseas operations where such messages are of the types listed in paragraph (a) (1) through (9) of this section.

(c) Where adequate non-government communication facilities are not available, CAA Overseas Foreign Aeronautical Communications Stations, and CAA Interstate Airway Communications Stations located in territory (including Alaska) outside the continental United States, will accept messages originated by an airline operating agency where such messages relate to international or overseas operations and contain matter concerning the following:

(1) Messages concerning changes in aircraft operating schedules to become effective more than 72 hours after the message is filed.

(2) Messages concerning the servicing of aircraft, or concerning parts or materials required for aircraft, when the aircraft is not actually in flight or is not scheduled for flight within 48 hours.

(3) Messages concerning the preflight arrangement of air navigation services, and operational servicing for non-scheduled or irregular operations of aircraft, filed more than 48 hours prior to the proposed time of departure.

(4) Reservation messages originated by an airline operating agency to secure space required in a public transport aircraft scheduled to depart more than 72 hours after the message is filed.

(5) Parts, equipment or supplies required for other than aircraft or air navigation, communication and other essential ground facilities.

(6) Train reservations or hotel accommodations for passengers or agency personnel.

(7) Lost baggage or personal effects.

(8) Tickets or cargo shipments or payment therefore.

(9) Inquiries relative to passenger whereabouts and cargo receipt or delivery.

(10) New or revised passenger or cargo rates.

(11) Crew assignments and similar operations personnel matters to become effective within seven days after the time of the message.

(12) Post-flight reports for routine record purposes.

(13) Publicity messages and special handling of dignitaries.

§ 612.3 Assessment of Fees. No fee shall be assessed for the transmission of a message which is of a type or types specified in § 612.2 (a) (1) through (14) or (b). A separate fee shall be assessed for the transmission to each addressee of a message which contains, in whole or in part, matter related to any of that described in § 612.2 (a) 15 or (c).

Transmission of such a message to an addressee may in some cases consist of receipt of the message from a non-CAA communications station and the forwarding of that message without additional use of the CAA communications system. Only one fee per addressee shall be assessed regardless of the number of CAA communications stations through which the message may be sent. Each fee shall be computed on the basis of one dollar ($1.00) for each twenty words or portion thereof contained in the text and signature of the message. If delivery of the message involves refiling with a non-CAA communications facility, such refiling will be accomplished on a "Collect" basis at no additional cost to nor assumption of liability by the CAA. Local telecommunication facilities required for the acceptance or delivery of messages will be provided by the user without expense to the CAA.

NOTE: The Internal Revenue Code provides that there shall be imposed on the amount paid within the states of the United States, the Territories of Alaska and Hawaii, and the District of Columbia, for each telegraph, cable, or radio dispatch or message, a tax equal to (a) twenty-five per cent of the amount so paid, or (b) ten percent of the amount so paid in the case of an international communication. (Sec. 3797 (a) (9), 53 Stat. 469, Sec. 3465 (a) (1) (B). 56 Stat. 975, Sec. 1650, 58 Stat. 61; 26 U. S. C. 3797, 3465, 1650.)

§ 612.4 Methods of payment. Fees shall be paid in United States dollars to the CAA official in charge of the communications station first transmitting or receiving the message. Deferred payment of fees shall be permitted only where prior written arrangements have been made for such payment on a periodic basis. Such arrangements may be made with the CAA Regional Administrator having jurisdiction over the CAA communications station first transmitting or receiving the message.

§ 612.5 Priority of transmission. The aeronautical messages of the types stated in § 612.2 (a) (1) through (14) shall have priority over messages containing matter described in § 612.2 (a) (15) and (c).

WYOMING

STOCK DRIVEWAY WITHDRAWAL NO. 188, WYOMING NO. 31, MODIFIED

MAY 2, 1951.

By virtue of the authority contained in section 10 of the act of December 29, 1916 (39 Stat. 865), as amended by the act of January 29, 1929 (45 Stat. 1144; 43 U. S. C. 300), and in section 7 of the act of June 28, 1934 (48 Stat. 1272), as amended by the act of June 26, 1936 (49 Stat. 1976; 43 U. S. C. 315f) and in accordance with Departmental Order No. 2583, section 2.22 (a) of August 16, 1950 (15 F. R. 5643), it is ordered as follows:

The following-described public lands in Wyoming are hereby classified as necessary and suitable for the purpose and, excepting any mineral deposits therein, are withdrawn from all disposal under the public-land laws and reserved, subject to valid existing rights, for the use of the general public as an addition to Stock Driveway Withdrawal No. 188, Wyoming No. 31:

SIXTH PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 35 N., R. 84 E.,
Sec. 32, N½NE¼ and SE¼NE¼;
Sec. 33, SW¼NW¼.

The areas described aggregate 160 acres.

Any mineral deposits in the lands shall be subject to location and entry only in the manner prescribed by the Secretary of the Interior in accordance with the provisions of the aforesaid act of January 29, 1929, and existing regulations.

The order of the Assistant Secretary of the Interior, dated July 6, 1944, which modified Stock Driveway Withdrawal No. 188, Wyoming No. 31, is hereby revoked as to the following-described land:

SIXTH PRINCIPAL MERIDIAN

T. 35 N., R. 84 W.,
Sec. 19, NE¼NW¼.

The area described contains 40 acres.

This revocation is made in furtherance of an exchange under section 8 of the said act of June 28, 1934, as amended, by which the offered land will by this order become a part of Stock Driveway Withdrawal No. 188. This action is, therefore, not subject to the provisions contained in the act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747; 43 U. S. C. 279-284), as amended, granting preference rights to veterans of World War II and others.

[Docket No. 9692]

ST. JOSEPH VALLEY BROADCASTING CORP. (WJVA)

ORDER CONTINUING HEARING

In re application of St. Joseph Valley Broadcasting Corporation (WJVA), South Bend, Indiana, for renewal of license; Docket No. 9692, File No. BP-1877.

The Commission having under consideration a motion, filed by the applicant herein on April 26, 1951, requesting a continuance of the hearing presently scheduled for May 1, 1951 at South Bend, Indiana; and

It appearing, that the purpose of the requested continuance is to allow the applicant time in which to secure Commission consideration of a Petition for Consolidation and Enlargement of the Issues herein; and

It further appearing, that counsel for the Commission has informally waived the notice and time of filing requirements of § 1.745, and that this order conforms to the decision tentatively arrived at in a Prehearing Conference held on April 25, 1951; and

It further appearing, that a grant of the motion will facilitate the clarification of the issues upon which this application is to be heard and will thus conduce to the orderly dispatch of the Commission's business and to the ends of justice; now therefore,

It is ordered, This 27th day of April 1951, that the motion for continuance is granted, and the hearing on the above-entitled matter is continued to a date to be fixed by further order herein.

In re application of Wayne M. Nelson (WHIP), Mooresville, North Carolina, for construction permit; Docket No. 9926, File No. BP-7835.

The Commission having under consideration a petition filed on April 25, 1951, on behalf of Wayne M. Nelson requesting that the hearing herein, presently scheduled for May 11, 1951, be continued for a period of approximately sixty days; and

It appearing, that Commission counsel has waived the four-day requirement of § 1.745 of the Commission's rules and regulations so as to permit immediate consideration of said petition, and has consented to a grant thereof; and good cause having been shown therefor:

It is ordered, This twenty-seventh day of April 1951, that the petition of Wayne M. Nelson for a continuance is hereby granted and the hearing herein is hereby continued to July 11, 1951.

[Docket No. 9955]

EDWARD A. ELLIS

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In the matter of Edward A. Ellis, applications for amateur radio station and operator licenses; Docket No. 9955.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of April 1951;

The Commission having under consideration the applications of Edward A. Ellis for a new amateur radio operator and amateur station license; and the Commission also having under consideration the records and files relating to amateur operator and station licenses heretofore issued to the said Edward A. Ellis;

It appearing, that the said records and files contain numerous complaints regarding the conduct of the applicant and the manner in which he operated the amateur radio station or stations heretofore licensed to him by the Commission;

It further appearing, that, in view of the aforementioned complaints, the Commission is unable to find that a grant of the applications now under consideration would serve public interest, convenience, or necessity;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to authority vested in the Commission by the provisions of section 303 (l) and 309 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the above-entitled applications are hereby designated for hearing (at a time and place to be specified in a subsequent order of the Commission) upon the following issues:

1. To determine whether, in view of the applicant's past record as an amateur radio operator, his character is such as to qualify him to operate a new amateur radio station;

2. To determine the purposes for which the proposed radio station will be used and whether the operation of the station will be in accordance with the rules, regulations, laws, and treaties governing amateur radio stations.

3. To determine, in the light of the evidence adduced under the foregoing issues, whether public interest, convenience, or necessity would be served by grant of the application.

It is further ordered, That a copy of this order be transmitted by registered mail, return receipt requested, to Edward A. Ellis, 22 Beals Street, Brookline, Massachusetts.

BRAZOSPORT BROADCASTING CO. AND BRAZORIA BROADCASTING CO.

ORDER DESIGNATING APPLICATION FOR CONSOLIDATED HEARING ON STATED ISSUES

In re applications of Kelly Bell and J. C. Stallings, d/b as Brazosport Broadcasting Company, Freeport, Texas, Docket No. 9956, File No. BP-7910; King H. Robinson and Wayne E. Marcy, d/b as Brazoria Broadcasting Company, Freeport, Texas, Docket No. 9957, File No. BP-8042; for construction permits.

At a session of the Federal Communications Commission held at its offices in Washington, D. C., on the 25th day of April 1951;

The Commission having under consideration the above-entitled applications requesting simultaneous adjacent channel operation in the same city (Freeport, Texas); the Brazosport Broadcasting Company to be operated on the frequency 1490 kilocycles, 250 watts power, unlimited time and the Brazoria Broadcasting Company to be operated on the frequency 1460 kilocycles, 500 watts power, daytime only;

It is ordered, That, pursuant to section 309 (a) of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, the said applications are designated for hearing in a consolidated proceeding commencing at 10:00 a. m. on June 18, 1951, at Washington, D. C., upon the following issues:

1. To determine the legal, technical, financial and other qualifications of the applicant partnerships and their partners to operate the proposed stations.

2. To determine the areas and populations which may be expected to gain or lose primary service from the operation of the proposed stations, and the character of other broadcast service available to such areas and populations.

3. To determine the type and character of program service proposed to be rendered and whether it would meet the requirements of the populations and areas proposed to be served.

4. To determine whether the operation of the proposed stations would involve objectionable interference with any other existing broadcast stations, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

5. To determine whether the operation of the proposed stations would involve objectionable interference, each with the other, or with the services proposed in any other pending applications for broadcast facilities, and, if so, the nature and extent thereof, the areas and populations affected thereby, and the availability of other broadcast service to such areas and populations.

6. To determine whether the installation and operation of the proposed stations would be in compliance with the Commission's rules and standards of Good Engineering Practice Concerning Standard Broadcast Stations.

7. To determine on a comparative basis which, if either, of the applications in this consolidated proceeding should be granted.

TEXAS GAS TRANSMISSION CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 1, 1951.

Take notice that on April 6, 1951, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation (Applicant), a Delaware corporation with its principal place of business at 416 West Third Street, Owensboro, Kentucky, filed an application for a certificate of convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of a sales metering station near Leland, Mississippi, for the sale and delivery of natural gas to Mississippi Power & Light Company for resale to ultimate consumers thru lateral lines and distribution systems to be constructed by the Deer Creek Natural Gas District (stated on information to be a public corporation formed by several municipalities).

Applicant proposes to sell natural gas to Mississippi Power & Light Company on a firm basis pursuant to a Service Agreement dated March 27, 1951. Estimated daily requirements of the systems to be served are stated to be: 594 Mcf during the first year of operations and increasing to 829 Mcf during the fifth year of operations.

The estimated capital cost of the proposed facilities is $5,116.44, which will be paid for out of funds on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 21st day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

REPUBLIC LIGHT, HEAT AND POWER CO., INC.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 1, 1951.

Take notice that Republic Light, Heat and Power Company, Inc. (Applicant), a New York corporation with its principal place of business at Buffalo, New York, filed an application on April 18, 1951, for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the construction and operation of a compressor station near Caledonia, New York, consisting of one 165 hp. gas engine driven compressor unit, and appurtenant facilities.

Applicant states that the described facilities will increase the volumes of natural gas being supplied its Ontario District through purchases from New York State Natural Gas Corporation. The proposed 150 hp. unit will handle a maximum of 2,500 Mcf daily with a suction pressure of 100 psi and a discharge pressure of 278 psi.

Estimated over-all cost of the facilities in $35,000.00 which will be paid for from current funds.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 21st day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

[Docket No. G-1676]

SOUTHERN NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 1, 1951.

Take notice that Southern Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Delaware corporation having its principal place of business at Watts Building, Birmingham, Alabama, filed on April 23, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities described as follows:

(1) A new 4,050 hp. compressor station and appurtenances to be located in the Gwinville gas field, Jefferson Davis County, Mississippi.

(2) A new 8,400 hp. compressor station and appurtenances to be located at Enterprise, Clarke County, Mississippi.

(3) A new 7,000 hp. compressor station and appurtenances to be located at Gallion, Hale County, Alabama.

(4) Approximately 20 miles of 8⅝ inch pipeline extending from a point near Applicant's Perryville compressor station to the Millhaven gas field, Ouachita Parish, Louisiana.

(5) Approximately 33 miles of 24-inch triple loop line extending from a point on the discharge side of the Perryville compressor station to the Pioneer header in West Carroll Parish, Louisiana, together with an 860 feet crossing of the Boeuf River, consisting of four 12¾-inch pipelines.

(6) Approximately 7 miles of 24-inch triple loop line between the discharge side of the Onward compressor station and the east bank of the Little Sun Flower River in Sharkey County, Mississippi.

(7) Approximately 1,070 feet of 12¾-inch pipeline and 1,070 of 18-inch pipeline connecting the suction and discharge headers of McConnell compressor station to Applicant's line at a point north of McConnell's station.

(8) Approximately 108 miles of 14-inch line, including crossings at Ocmulgee, Oconee and Savannah Rivers, from Bass Junction to Augusta, Georgia, to replace a 10¾-inch pipeline of approximately the same length previously authorized by the Federal Power Commission in Docket No. G-1308.

(9) Appropriate line taps, meter stations, and pressure regulating and appurtenant facilities for the delivery and sale of natural gas to the following communities: Deer Creek Natural Gas District (FPC Docket No. G-1632), Raleigh, and Mize, Mississippi; Bren and Centerville, Fayette, Greensboro, Albertville, Newbern, Hanceville, Fort Payne, and Rainbow City, Alabama; Austell and Powder Springs, Bowdon, Dallas, Dalton, Summerville, Trion, Fort Valley, Thomson, and Villa Rica, Georgia.

If this application is approved, Applicant will not construct the following facilities previously authorized by the Federal Power Commission in Docket No. G-1308:

(1) 21 miles of 24-inch triple loop between the Perryville station and Pioneer junction.

(2) 14.4 miles of 24-inch triple loop between the Onward compressor station and the Big Sunflower River.

(3) Compressors of 4,000 hp. at the Onward station.

(4) Compressors of 2,600 hp. at the Pickens station.

Upon completion of all the facilities described above, the total maximum daily delivery capacity of Applicant's system will be approximately 670,000 Mcf. The proposed additional delivery capacity is to meet the increased requirements of Applicant's present market, to supply the requirements of certain other customers to whom service has been authorized or directed as more fully set forth in Federal Power Docket Nos. G-1463, G-1308, and G-1435, and also to provide service to the additional communities named above.

The estimated approximate total over-all capital cost of the facilities proposed to be constructed is $13,641,000. Applicant proposes to provide interim financing of the cost of construction of the facilities to be completed in 1951 through bank loans.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 21st day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File No. 70-2935]

UTAH POWER & LIGHT CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 30th day of April A. D. 1951.

Utah Power & Light Company ("Utah Power"), a registered holding company, having filed an application with this Commission pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 with respect to the following proposed transactions:

Utah Power proposes to purchase from the Village of Arco, Idaho ("Arco"), a municipal corporation existing under the laws of the State of Idaho, the electrical distribution lines and facilities owned by Arco for a cash consideration of $70,000 and also proposes to purchase from Arco for a cash consideration of $30,000, a transmission line owned by Arco. In addition, Utah Power will pay Arco the actual net cost of additions to the property made between January 31, 1950, and the date of the transfer.

Said application having been filed on March 19, 1951; notice of said filing having been given in the manner prescribed by Rule U-23 under said act; the Commission having received a request from Lost River Electric Cooperative, Inc. ("Lost River") that it be permitted to intervene to oppose said application and that a hearing be held thereon; the Commission having given an opportunity to Lost River to submit an offer of proof setting forth the facts and matters which Lost River might expect to show if a hearing should be held; the Commission having also invited the views of the Village of Arco and the Idaho Public Utilities Commission; and

Lost River having submitted an offer of proof stating in substance that if a hearing were held it would offer evidence tending to show that it has offered a larger price for the distribution system than that offered by Utah Power; that its service, if it purchased the property, would be superior to service by Utah Power; that if it purchased the property it would be able to extend service to some 43 potential customers who otherwise would not be served; and that if Lost River purchased the property it would obtain the benefits of low-cost hydro power not available to Utah Power; and

The Idaho Public Utilities Commission having advised this Commission that in its judgment the proposed sale of the property to Utah Power is in the public interest; and

The Commission having fully considered the offer of proof submitted by Lost River, and having considered the views of the Idaho Public Utilities Commission and various communications, statements and representations submitted by members of The Board of Trustees of the Village of Arco, by various residents of the area and by Utah Power; and

The Commission having concluded that under the limitations of its statutory jurisdiction the statements set forth in the offer of proof of Lost River, assuming that they were fully supported by facts in evidence at a hearing, would not warrant the Commission, under the standards of the act, in disapproving the application of Utah Power to acquire the Arco properties, and having therefore concluded that the request for a hearing and for intervention by Lost River should be denied and the application of Utah Power granted;

The Commission finding with respect to the application of Utah Power that all of the applicable statutory standards are satisfied and that there is no basis for any adverse findings, and deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interests of investors and consumers that said application be granted;

It is hereby ordered, That the requests by Lost River Electric Cooperative, Inc., that it be permitted to intervene in this matter and that the Commission direct the holding of a hearing on the application of Utah Power herein be and the same hereby are denied.

It is further ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act, that said application of Utah Power be, and the same hereby is, granted, effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

LONG ISLAND LIGHTING CO.

ORDER GRANTING APPLICATION AND PERMITTING DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 2d day of May A. D. 1951.

Long Island Lighting Company ("Long Island"), an operating public utility company and formerly a public utility holding company, which is registered as a public utility holding company, having filed an application-declaration, as amended, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") regarding the following transactions:

Long Island proposes to issue 524,949 additional shares of its common stock without par value pursuant to a subscription rights offering to its common stockholders of record at the close of business on May 2, 1951 at the rate of one share of new common stock for each six shares held, at the price of $13.00 per share. The subscription rights, which are to be issued on the basis of one right for each share held, are to be evidenced by warrants. No fractional shares will be issued in exchange for rights. The warrants provide the persons subscribing for stock may direct the subscription agent to purchase additional rights required to complete a full share subscription or to sell rights in excess of full share subscriptions. In each case, the purchase or sale is to be at the company's expense, but may not exceed five rights for any single stockholder. Long Island also proposes to offer to its employees a non-transferable privilege to subscribe, at the subscription price, for the shares of the new common stock not issued upon the exercise of the rights to subscribe. This employee right of purchase is to be limited to a maximum of 200 shares for each employee. Such shares as remain after subscription by the stockholders and employees are to be available to stockholders under an over-subscription privilege of the warrants.

While the offer of shares of common stock will not be underwritten, Long Island, to facilitate the common stock offering, proposes to obtain the assistance of security dealers and to pay certain fees for their services. After requesting six investment banking houses to make proposals to act as Dealer Manager, Long Island selected Blyth & Co., Inc. as the Dealer Manager to form and manage a group of security dealers who are members of the National Association of Security Dealers. The base fee of Blyth & Co., Inc. is to be $4,000, in addition to which it is to be reimbursed for its reasonable out-of-pocket expenses including counsel fees.

Participating dealers (including Blyth & Co., Inc.) will receive from the Company 20 cents a share for each share of common stock delivered upon the exercise of rights where the name of the dealer appears upon the face of the warrant (or where the Company is satisfied that such fees should be paid). Such dealers will also receive 35 cents for each share of common stock purchased by the participating dealer from Blyth & Co., Inc., and resold in sales or national exchanges at prices of not less than the subscription price and not more than the last sale or offering price, whichever is greater, of the common stock in the previous session of the New York Stock Exchange plus an amount equivalent to the New York Stock Exchange commission on such sale. The amount payable on account of the subscription of any one stockholder is to be limited to $300 irrespective of the number of shares subscribed, but this limitation is not to apply to payments for shares issued on over-subscriptions. Blyth & Co., Inc. may purchase and exercise rights and sell to dealers the shares of common stock received therefrom.

The Public Service Commission of the State of New York has issued an order authorizing the proposed issuance and sale of common stock by Long Island.

Notice of the filing of this application-declaration, as amended, having been duly given in the form and manner prescribed by Rule U-23 promulgated pursuant to the act and the Commission not having received a request for a hearing and not having ordered a hearing thereon; and

The Commission finding with respect to this application-declaration, as amended, that the applicable statutory standards are satisfied, that it is not necessary to impose any terms and conditions other than those set forth below, and the Commission deeming it appropriate in the public interest and in the interest of investors and consumers that said application-declaration, as amended, be granted and permitted to become effective, subject to a reservation of jurisdiction over certain fees and expenses as hereinafter provided, and deeming it further appropriate to grant the request of Long Island that the Commission's order herein become effective forthwith:

It is ordered, Pursuant to Rule U-23 and the applicable provisions of the act that this application-declaration, as amended, be, and the same hereby is, granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24 and to the reservation of jurisdiction with respect to the payment of the fees and expenses of counsel for the Dealer Manager and the expenses of the Dealer Manager incurred, or to be incurred, in connection with the consummation of the proposed transactions.

By the Commission.

NATIONAL AVIATION CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 2d day of May A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that National Aviation Corporation (Applicant) has filed an application pursuant to sections 10 (f) and 17 (b) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 for an order granting exemption from the provisions of sections 10 (f) and 17 (a) of said act so as to permit Applicant to purchase from Hornblower & Weeks not more than $200,000 principal amount of Twelve Year 4½ Percent Convertible Debentures proposed to be issued by Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc.

National Aviation Corporation is a closed-end, non-diversified, management company registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940. Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc., has filed a registration statement under the Securities Act of 1933 (File No. 2-8938) with respect to the public distribution of $2,000,000 principal amount of Twelve Year 4½ Percent Convertible Debentures due May 1, 1963. Applicant has been informed that such proposed issue of said Debentures is to be underwritten by a syndicate of duly qualified underwriters, and that the firm of Hornblower & Weeks, 40 Wall Street, New York, New York, is to be a "principal underwriter" of said proposed issue. Otis A. Glazebrook, Jr., who is a director of Applicant is also a partner in the firm of Hornblower & Weeks. Therefore, the proposed purchase of debentures of Mid-Continent Airlines, Inc., by National Aviation Corporation during the existence of the underwriting or selling syndicate is prohibited by section 10 (f) of the act unless an exemption therefrom consistent with the protection of investors is granted by the Commission.

The proposed sale of such debentures to National Aviation Corporation is prohibited by section 17 (a) of the act unless, pursuant to section 17 (b), the Commission shall grant an exemption therefrom on evidence establishing that (1) the terms of the proposed transaction, including the consideration to be paid or received, are reasonable and fair and do not involve overreaching on the part of any person concerned; (2) the proposed transaction is consistent with the policy of National Aviation Corporation as recited in its registration statement and reports filed under the act and (3) the proposed transaction is consistent with the general purposes of the act.

Applicant has therefore filed an application pursuant to sections 10 (f) and 17 (b) of the act requesting an order granting exemption from the provisions of sections 10 (f) and 17 (a) of the act, and asserting that the proposed transaction meets the standards of the act and of section 17 (b) in particular.

For a more detailed statement of the matters of fact and law asserted, all persons are referred to said application which is on file in the offices of the Commission in Washington, D. C.

Notice is further given that an order granting the application, in whole or in part and upon such conditions as the Commission may deem necessary or appropriate, may be issued by the Commission on or at any time after May 14, 1951, unless prior thereto a hearing upon the application is ordered by the Commission, as provided in Rule N-5 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act. Any interested person may, not later than May 11, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., e. d. s. t., submit to the Commission in writing his views or any additional facts bearing upon this application or the desirability of a hearing thereon, or request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held thereon. Any such communication or request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C., and should state briefly the nature of the interest of the person submitting such information or requesting a hearing, the reasons for such request, and the issues

FEDERAL REGISTER

VOLUME 16 NUMBER 90

Washington, Wednesday, May 9, 1951

TITLE 3—THE PRESIDENT

EXECUTIVE ORDER 10242

PRESCRIBING REGULATIONS GOVERNING THE EXERCISE BY THE FEDERAL CIVIL DEFENSE ADMINISTRATOR OF CERTAIN ADMINISTRATIVE AUTHORITY GRANTED BY THE FEDERAL CIVIL DEFENSE ACT OF 1950

By virtue of the authority vested in me by the Federal Civil Defense Act of 1950, approved January 12, 1951 (Public Law 920, 81st Congress), hereinafter referred to as the Act, it is hereby ordered as follows:

PART I

SECTION 101. (a) The authority conferred upon the Federal Civil Defense Administrator, hereinafter referred to as the Administrator, by subsection 401 (b) of the Act to employ not more than 100 such part-time or temporary advisory personnel (including not to exceed 25 subjects of the United Kingdom and the Dominion of Canada) as are deemed necessary in carrying out the provisions of the Act, and by subsection 401 (c) of the Act to utilize such voluntary and uncompensated services by individuals as may from time to time be needed, shall be exercised by the Administrator in accordance with the regulations set forth in this part.

(b) In the exercise of such authority the Administrator shall be guided by the following policies:

(1) So far as possible, Federal operations under the Act shall be carried on by full-time, salaried employees of the Government, and appointments under this authority shall be limited to advisory or consultative positions only.

(2) Appointments to positions other than advisory or consultative shall be made only when the requirements of the position are such that the incumbent must personally possess outstanding experience and ability not obtainable on a full-time, salaried basis.

(3) In the appointment of personnel and in the assignment of their duties, the Administrator shall take steps to avoid, to as great an extent as possible, any conflict between the governmental duties and the private interests of such personnel.

(c) Insofar as it relates to personnel employed at the regional or local levels, the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsection 401 (c) of the Act to utilize voluntary and uncompensated services shall not be subject to the policies prescribed in subsection (b) hereof. Such authority may not be exercised, however, to fill positions at the regional or local levels subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended, unless in any particular instance the Administrator makes the determinations specified in section 102 hereof.

(d) Insofar as it relates to personnel employed in positions subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended, the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsection 401 (c) of the Act to utilize voluntary and uncompensated services shall not be delegated.

SEC. 102. Appointments of individuals, under the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsection 401 (c) of the Act to utilize voluntary or uncompensated services, to positions other than advisory or consultative (except such appointments to positions at the regional or local levels other than positions subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended), shall be supported by written certification by the Administrator:

(a) That the appointment is necessary and appropriate in order to carry out the provisions of the Act;

(b) That the duties of the position to which the appointment is being made require outstanding experience and ability;

(c) That the appointee has the outstanding experience and ability required by the position; and

(d) That the Administrator has been unable to obtain a person with the qualifications necessary for the position on a full-time, salaried basis.

SEC. 103. With respect to appointments made under the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsections 401 (b) and (c) of the Act specified in section 101 (a) of this order (except such appointments to positions at the regional or local levels other than

SEC. 104. All appointments under the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsections 401 (b) and (c) of the Act specified in section 101 (a) of this order shall be made under the terms of this part after the date of this order, and the appointments heretofore made under such authority shall be deemed for all purposes to have been made under this order upon compliance with the provisions of sections 102 and 103 of this part.

SEC. 105. At least once every three months, the Chairman of the United States Civil Service Commission shall survey appointments made under this part and shall report his findings to the President and make such recommendations as he may deem proper.

SEC. 106. Any person employed under the authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsections 401 (b) or (c) of the Act specified in section 101 (a) of this order is hereby exempted, with respect to such employment, from the operation of sections 281, 283, 284, 434, and 1914 of Title 18, United States Code, and section 190 of the Revised Statutes (5 U. S. C. 99), except as specified in the following subsections:

(a) Exemption hereunder shall not extend to the negotiation or execution, by an appointee under the Act, of Government contracts with the private employer of such appointee or with any corporation, joint stock company, association, firm, partnership, or other entity in the pecuniary profits or contracts of which the appointee has any direct or indirect interest.

(b) In the case of personnel employed under subsection 401 (b) of the Act, and of personnel other than those employed at the regional or local levels in positions not subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended, under subsection 401 (c) of the Act, exemption hereunder shall not extend to the prosecution by the appointee, or participation by the appointee in any fashion in the prosecution, of any claim against the Government involving any matter concerning which the appointee had any responsibility during his employment under this order, during the period of such employment and the further period of two years after the termination of such employment. In the case of personnel employed at the regional or local levels in positions not subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended, under subsection 401 (c) of the Act, exemption hereunder shall not extend to the prosecution by the appointee, or participation by the appointee in any fashion in the prosecution, of any claim against the Government growing out of any matter with respect to which the appointee was personally concerned in his official capacity during his employment under this order, during the period of such employment and the further period of two years after the termination of such employment.

(c) In the case of personnel employed under subsection 401 (c) of the Act, other than those employed at the regional or local levels in positions not subject to the Classification Act of 1949, as amended, exemption hereunder shall not extend to the receipt or payment of salary in connection with the appointee's Government service hereunder from any source other than the private employer of the appointee at the time of his appointment hereunder.

(d) Exemption from sections 434 and 1914 of Title 18, United States Code, shall not extend to persons employed under subsection 401 (b) of the Act.

PART II

SEC. 201. The authority conferred upon the Administrator by that portion of subsection 401 (c) of the Act which authorizes the utilization of the services of Federal agencies may be exercised by the Administrator in such manner, in accordance with his own discretion, as shall best serve to carry out the purposes of the Act, subject only to his obtaining the consent of the head of the Federal agency whose services are desired to be utilized.

PART III

SEC. 301. The authority conferred upon the Administrator by subsection 401 (c) of the Act, except that portion of the said subsection which authorizes the utilization of such voluntary and uncompensated services by individuals as may from time to time be needed, and that portion of the said subsection which authorizes the utilization of the services of Federal agencies, may be exercised by the Administrator in such manner, in accordance with his own discretion, as shall best serve to carry out the purposes of the Act.

PART IV

SEC. 401. The approval of the President is hereby given to the Administrator for the employment of retired personnel of the armed services, pursuant to the provisions of subsection 401 (a) of the Act.

Paragraph (b) of § 108.6, Immigrants; Forms 256a, I-151, I-152, and I-153, of Chapter I, Title 8 of the Code of Federal Regulations, is amended to read as follows:

(b) If an alien immigrant possessing Form 256a is excluded from the United States, data as to the exclusion shall be placed on that form by the chairman of the board of special inquiry. In appellate or similar proceedings, the record of hearing shall be submitted to the Central Office with Form 256a. In the event of an appeal to the Board of Immigration Appeals, the record relating to the alien shall be transmitted to the Board of Immigration Appeals for its consideration of the case. The district director having jurisdiction over the port of entry shall be notified of any action taken in the case by the Commissioner or the Board of Immigration Appeals. If appellate proceedings result in an order authorizing the alien's admission, the district director shall inform the Central Office of the date of the alien's actual admission, and upon receipt of such information the data as to admission shall be endorsed in the space indicated on Form 256a and the documents shall be disposed of in accordance with the procedure provided for in paragraph (a) of this section. If the record is not submitted to the Central Office in appellate or similar proceedings, Form 256a shall be retained at the port of entry until such time as the alien's deportation is effected. Thereafter the file, including Form 256a, shall be forwarded to the Central Office for disposition.

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter II—Civil Aeronautics Administration, Department of Commerce

[Amdt. 48]

PART 600—DESIGNATION OF CIVIL AIRWAYS

CIVIL AIRWAY ALTERATIONS

The civil airway alterations appearing hereinafter have been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Subcommittee and are adopted when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 600 is amended as follows:

1. Section 600.15 Green civil airway No. 5 (Los Angeles, Calif., to Boston, Mass.) is amended after "El Paso, Tex., radio range station" by adding the following: "excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States;"

2. Section 600.209 Red civil airway No. 9 (San Diego, Calif., to Winslow, Ariz.) is amended after "Yuma, Ariz., radio range station" by adding the following: "excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States;"

3. Section 600.226 is amended by changing the caption to read: "Red civil airway No. 26 (Syracuse, N. Y., to Allentown, Pa.)." and by revoking the portion which reads: "From the intersection of the southeast course of the North Philadelphia, Pa., radio range and the northeast course of the Philadelphia, Pa., radio range to the intersection of the southeast course of the North Philadelphia, Pa., radio range and the northeast course of the Millville, N. J., radio range."

PART 601—DESIGNATION OF CONTROL AREAS, CONTROL ZONES, AND REPORTING POINTS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

The control area, control zone and reporting point alterations appearing hereinafter have been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Subcommittee,* and are adopted when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to public interest, and therefore is not required.

Part 601 is amended as follows:

1. Section 601.15 Green civil airway No. 5 control areas (Los Angeles, Calif., to Boston, Mass.) is amended after the words "to the El Paso, Tex., omnirange station via the direct en route and 15° north altitude change radials" by adding the following: "excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States;"

2. Section 601.209 Red civil airway No. 9 control areas (San Diego, Calif., to Winslow, Ariz.) is amended after the words "to the Yuma, Ariz., omnirange station via the intersection of the San Diego 108° True en route radial and the Yuma 267° True en route radial" by adding the following: "excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States;"

3. Section 601.226 is amended by changing the caption to read: "Red civil airway No. 26 control areas (Syracuse, N. Y., to Allentown, Pa.)."

4. Section 601.639 is amended to read:

§ 601.639 Blue civil airway No. 39 control areas (Knoxville, Tenn., to the U. S.-Canadian Border). All of Blue civil airway No. 39.

5. Section 601.669 Blue civil airway No. 69 control areas (St. Louis, Mo., to Des Moines, Iowa) is amended by changing last portion to read: "Ottumwa, Iowa, omnirange station to the Des Moines, Iowa, omnirange station via the direct en route and 15° south altitude change radials and via the intersection of the Ottumwa 306° True radial and the Des Moines-Iowa City direct en route radial."

6. Section 601.1094 is amended to read:

§ 601.1094 Control area extension (Flint, Mich.). From the Flint, Mich., outer compass locator extending 5 miles either side of the 88° and 268° True courses of the outer compass locator to points 25 miles east and west of the outer compass locator.

7. Section 601.1112 is added to read:

§ 601.1112 Control area extension (Fort Dix, N. J.). Within a 7-mile radius of McGuire AFB, Fort Dix, N. J., extending 5 miles either side of the southwest course of the McGuire AFB radio range to a point 10 miles southwest of the radio range station, excluding the portion which overlaps Red civil airway No. 3, the Fort Dix, N. J., Danger Area and the Lakehurst, N. J., caution area.

8. Section 601.1140 is amended to read:

§ 601.1140 Control area extension (Youngstown, Ohio). All that area within a 15-mile radius of the Youngstown, Ohio, omnirange station including the area 5 miles either side of a bearing of 225° True extending from the Youngstown ILS outer compass locator to a point 25 miles southwest of the outer compass locator.

9. Section 601.1983 is amended by correcting the Columbus, N. Mex., 3 mile control zone to read:

Columbus, N. Mex.: CAA Intermediate Field, excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States.

10. Section 601.2028 is amended to read:

§ 601.2028 El Paso, Tex., control zone. Within a 5-mile radius of the El Paso International Airport extending 2 miles either side of the east course of the El Paso, Tex., radio range to the Hueco fan marker and extending 2 miles either side of the north course of the radio range to the Newman non-directional radio beacon, excluding the portion which lies outside the continental United States.

11. Section 601.2091 is amended to read:

§ 601.2091 Dayton, Ohio, control zone. Within a 5-mile radius of the Dayton Municipal Airport extending 2 miles either side of the west course of the Dayton radio range from the radio range station to the Verona fan marker, extending 2 miles either side of the southwest course of the Dayton ILS localizer from the localizer to a point 10 miles southwest of the outer compass locator, extending 2 miles either side of the northeast course of the ILS localizer from the localizer to a point 10 miles northeast of the Tipp City nondirectional radio beacon, and extending 2 miles either side of the 360° True radial of the Dayton omnirange from the omnirange station to a pont 10 miles north of the omnirange station.

12. Section 601.2098 is amended to read:

§ 601.2098 Flint, Mich., control zone. Within a 5-mile radius of the Bishop Airport, Flint, Mich., extending 2 miles either side of a bearing of 341° True from the airport to a point 10 miles northwest and extending 2 miles either side of a bearing of 268° True from the airport through the Flint outer compass locator to a point 10 miles west of the Flint outer compass locator.

13. Section 601.2125 is amended to read:

§ 601.2125 Terre Haute, Ind., control zone. Within a 5-mile radius of Hulman Field, Terre Haute, Ind., extending 2 miles either side of the northeast and southwest courses of the Terre Haute radio range to a point 10 miles southwest of the radio range station, and extending 2 miles either side of the 02° True radial of the Terre Haute omnirange from the airport to a point 10 miles north of the omnirange station.

14. Section 601.2127 is amended to read:

§ 601.2127 Youngstown, Ohio, control zone. Within a 5-mile radius of the Youngstown Municipal Airport extending 2 miles either side of the north course of the Youngstown radio range to a point 10 miles north of the radio range station, extending 2 miles either side of a bearing of 225° True from the Youngstown outer compass locator to a point 10 miles southwest, and extending 2 miles either side of the 359° True radial of the Youngstown omnirange from the omnirange station to a point 10 miles north.

15. Section 601.2227 is added to read:

§ 601.2227 Dover, Del., control zone. All that area within a 6-mile radius of the Dover, Del., Air Force Base, excluding that portion which overlaps danger areas.

16. Section 601.4223 is amended to read:

§ 601.4223 Red civil airway No. 23 (U. S.-Canadian Border to New York, N. Y.). The intersection of the northeast course of the Buffalo, N. Y., radio range and the southeast course of the Toronto, Ont., Canada, radio range; the intersection of the northeast course of the Allentown, Pa., radio range and the northwest course of the New York (La Guardia), N. Y., radio range; the Paterson, N. J., non-directional radio beacon.

17. Section 601.4226 is amended by changing the caption to read: "Red civil airway No. 26 (Syracuse, N. Y., to Allentown, Pa.)."

18. Section 601.4284 is amended to read:

§ 601.4284 Red civil airway No. 84 (Lafayette, La., to Montgomery, Ala.). Craig AFB radio range station, Selma, Ala.

[Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments Rent Reg., Amdt. 370]

PART 825—RENT REGULATIONS UNDER THE HOUSING AND RENT ACT OF 1947, AS AMENDED

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Amendment 375 to the Controlled Housing Rent Regulation (§§ 825.1 to 825.12), Amendment 34 to the Controlled Housing Rent Regulation for the Atlantic County Defense-Rental Area (§§ 825.61 to 825.72) and Amendment 370 to the Rent Regulation for Controlled Rooms in Rooming Houses and Other Establishments (§§ 825.81 to 825.92). Said rent regulations are hereby amended in the following respects:

1. The second unnumbered paragraphs of § 825.4 (c) and § 825.4 (e) are hereby amended to read as follows:

If the Expediter finds that the landlord or any successor landlord knew of his obligation to register and negligently failed or deliberately refused to do so, the rent received for any rental period commencing on or after the date of first renting shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by an order under § 825.5 (c) (1) or (6): Provided, however, That the order under § 825.5 (c) may relieve the landlord or any successor landlord of the duty to refund the excess rent for any rental period during which the landlord or any successor landlord neither negligently failed nor deliberately refused to register. The landlord or any successor landlord shall have the duty to refund only if the order under § 825.5 (c) is issued in a proceeding commenced by the Expediter within 3 months after the date of the filing of such registration statement. If a refund is required by the order under § 825.5 (c) such amount shall be refunded to the tenant within 30 days after the date of the issuance of the order unless the refund is stayed in accordance with the provisions of Rent Procedural Regulation 2 (Part 840 of this chapter).

2. The second unnumbered paragraphs of § 825.64 (c) and § 825.64 (e) are hereby changed in the same manner except that wherever reference is made to §§ 825.1 to 825.12 or any designated portion thereof the reference shall be to §§ 825.61 to 825.72 or the similarly designated portions thereof.

3. The second unnumbered paragraphs of § 825.5 (c) (1) and § 825.65 (c) (1) are amended to read as follows:

Where the maximum rent for said housing accommodations was originally established under paragraph (c), (d), (e), or (j) of section 4 of the Rent Regulation for Housing, issued pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, and the Expediter finds that the landlord or any successor landlord knew of his obligation to register and negligently failed or deliberately refused to do so, the rent received for any rental period commencing on or after July 1, 1947, shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by an order under this section: Provided, however, That the order under this section may relieve the landlord or any successor landlord of the duty to refund the excess rent for any rental period during which the landlord or any successor landlord neither negligently failed nor deliberately refused to register. The landlord or any successor landlord shall have the duty to refund only if the order under this section is issued in a proceeding commenced by the Expediter within 3 months after the date of the filing of such registration statement. If a refund is required by the order under this section such amount shall be refunded to the tenant within 30 days after the date of the issuance of the order unless the refund is stayed in accordance with the provisions of Rent Procedural Regulation 2 (Part 840 of this chapter).

4. The second unnumbered paragraph of § 825.85 (c) (1) is amended to read as follows:

Where the maximum rent for said room was originally established under paragraph (b) or (c) of section 4 of the Rent Regulation for Transient Hotels, Residential Hotels, Rooming Houses and Motor Courts, issued pursuant to the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942, as amended, or where the maximum rent is established under paragraph (c) or (d) of section 4 of this regulation, and the Expediter finds that the landlord or any successor landlord knew of his obligation to register and negligently failed or deliberately refused to do so, the rent received for any rental period commencing on or after July 1, 1948 shall be received subject to refund to the tenant of any amount in excess of the maximum rent which may later be fixed by an order under this section: Provided, however, That the order under this section may relieve the landlord or any successor landlord of the duty to refund the excess rent for any rental period during which the landlord or any successor landlord neither negligently failed nor deliberately refused to register. The landlord or any successor landlord shall have the duty to refund only if the order under this section is issued in a proceeding commenced by the Expediter within 3 months after the date of the filing of such registration statement. If a refund is required by the order under this section such amount shall be refunded to the tenant within 30 days after the date of the issuance of the order unless the refund is stayed in accordance with the provisions of Rent Procedural Regulation 2 (Part 840 of this chapter).

TITLE 29—LABOR

Chapter V—Wage and Hour Division, Department of Labor

PART 782—EXEMPTION FROM MAXIMUM HOURS PROVISIONS FOR CERTAIN EMPLOYEES OF MOTOR CARRIERS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to authority under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended (52 Stat. 1060, as amended, sec. 16 (c), 63 Stat. 920; 29 U. S. C. 201, 208 note) Part 782 is amended as follows:

1. Section 782.0 (a) is amended to read as follows:

§ 782.0 Introductory statement. (a) Since the enactment of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, the views of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division as to the scope and applicability of the exemption provided by section 13 (b) (1) of the act have been expressed in interpretations issued from time to time in various forms. This part, as of the date of its publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER, supersedes and replaces such prior interpretations. Its purpose is to make available in one place general interpretations of the Administrator which will provide "a practical guide to employers and employees as to how the office representing the public interest in enforcement of the law will seek to apply it."[1] The interpretations contained in this part indicate, with respect to the scope and applicability of the exemption provided by section 13 (b) (1) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, the construction of the law which the Secretary of Labor and the Administrator believe to be correct in the light of the decisions of the courts and of the Interstate Commerce Commission, and which will guide them in the performance of their administrative duties under the act unless and until they are otherwise directed by authoritative decisions of the courts or conclude, upon reexamination of an interpretation that it is incorrect. The interpretations contained in this part are interpretations on which reliance may be placed as provided in section 10 of the Portal-to-Portal Act,[2] so long as they remain effective and are not modified, amended, rescinded, or determined by judicial authority to be incorrect.

2. Section 782.7 is amended as follows:

a. In paragraph (a) footnote 75 is amended to read as follows:

[75] Compare the definitions from the Motor Carrier Act, quoted in footnotes 7-10, with the following definitions from section 3 of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended:

"(b) 'Commerce' means trade, commerce, transportation, transmission, or communication among the several States or between any State and any place outside thereof.

"(c) 'State' means any State of the United States or the District of Columbia or any Territory or possession of the United States."

b. The fourth sentence of paragraph (b) is amended to read as follows (Footnote 81 designated herein remains unchanged): "Transportation within a single State is in interstate commerce within the meaning of the Fair Labor Standards Act where it forms a part of a 'practical continuity of movement' across State lines from the point of origin to the point of destination."[81]

c. Paragraph (c) is amended to read as follows (Footnotes 88 and 89 designated herein remain unchanged):

(c) The wage and hours provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act are applicable not only to employees engaged in commerce, as defined in the act, but also to employees engaged in the production of goods for such commerce. Employees engaged in the "production" of goods are defined by the act as including those engaged in "handling, transporting, or in any other manner working on such goods, or in any closely related process or occupation directly essential to the production thereof, in any State."[87] Where transportation of persons or property by motor vehicle between places within a State falls within this definition, and is not transportation in interstate or foreign commerce within the meaning of the Motor Carrier Act because movement from points out of the State has ended or because movement to points out of the State has not yet begun, the employees engaged in connection with such transportation[88] are covered by the wage and hours provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act and are not subject to the jurisdiction of the Interstate Commerce Commission. Examples are: (1) Drivers transporting goods in and about a plant producing goods for commerce; (2) chauffeurs or drivers of company cars or busses transporting officers or employees from place to place in the course of their employment in an establishment which produces goods for commerce; (3) drivers who transport goods from a producer's plant to the plant of a processor, who, in turn, sells goods in interstate commerce, the first producer's goods being a part or ingredient of the second producer's goods; (4) drivers transporting goods between a factory and the plant of an independent contractor who performs operations on the goods, after which they are returned to the factory which further processes the goods for commerce; and (5) drivers transporting goods such as machinery or tools and dies, for example, to be used or consumed in the production of other goods for commerce. These and other employees engaged in connection with the transportation within a State of persons or property by motor vehicle who are subject to the Fair Labor Standards Act because engaged in the production of goods for commerce and who are not subject to the Motor Carrier Act because not engaged in interstate or foreign commerce within the meaning of that act, are not within the exemption provided by section 13 (b) (1).[89]

3 In § 782.8 (a), footnote 92 is amended to read as follows:

[92] See, in this connection, paragraph (b) of § 782.7.

These amendments shall become effective upon publication in the FEDERAL REGISTER.

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 5, Amdt. 2]

CPR 5—IRON AND STEEL SCRAP

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

EDITORIAL NOTE: The original document of Amendment 2 to Ceiling Price Regulation 5 (16 F. R. 3480), has been corrected in the following respects:

1. Item 46 has been corrected to read as follows:

46. Section 23 (b) (24) is amended by deleting the last sentence thereof.

2. Items 53 and 54 have been renumbered 51 and 52.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 33]

CPR 33—FERROTUNGSTEN, TUNGSTEN METAL POWDER, AND OTHER TUNGSTEN PRODUCTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Public Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Ceiling Price Regulation 33 is issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This ceiling price regulation establishes ceiling prices for ferrotungsten, tungsten metal powder (both carbon and hydrogen reduced), tungstic acid, tungstic oxide, ammonium para-tungstate, sodium tungstate crystals, and sodium tungstate anhydrous.

The products covered by this regulation are basic industrial materials essential in the defense program and to our civilian economy. These products, processed from tungsten concentrates, are the media through which tungsten is introduced into tool steels and other alloys, both ferrous and nonferrous, and they are raw materials for the manufacture of tungsten carbide used in cutting tools and wear resistant machinery parts; contact points for make-and-break electrical circuits used in automotive, telephonic, and other equipment; wire used in electric lamp filaments and electronic equipment; and various industrially important chemical compounds. Recent developments also make tungsten products extremely important as direct military materials. Generally, about 90 percent of the tungsten consumed in the United States, other than that used in direct military applications, goes into the production of ferrous alloys while 5 percent is used in the manufacture of tungsten carbide, 2 percent in the making of stellite (a nonferrous alloy used principally in cutting tools), 1.5 percent in electrical and electronic applications, and 1.5 in chemical and miscellaneous applications. In view of the industrial and military importance of the products covered by this regulation, it is imperative that their production be encouraged to the fullest extent possible consistent with the objectives of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

The cost of tungsten concentrates is the most important cost element in the manufacture of the products covered by this regulation. Data reflecting the operations of manufacturers in the period immediately preceding the outbreak of hostilities in Korea indicates that the cost of tungsten concentrates amounted to anywhere from 45 to 70 percent of the price of the products made therefrom. Although there was some variance in this factor between different products, there was little difference in the experience of producers making the same items. Under these circumstances, it is quite clear that the prices for the products must reflect, at least in some measure, any substantial increases in the cost of concentrates.

In the pre-Korean period makers of tungsten products paid anywhere from $18 to $25 per short ton unit for tungsten concentrates, with the largest consumers paying 20-21 dollars. After the beginning of military activities in Korea and the initiation of our defense program, the price of tungsten concentrates rose sharply. This upward movement was enhanced by the fact that our domestic production of concentrates falls far short of meeting our needs and supplies from the principal foreign producer, China, are no longer available to us. As a consequence, the average prices for concentrates paid by makers of ferrotungsten and other tungsten products during the base period specified in the General Ceiling Price Regulation (December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951) ranged between $28.50 and $65.00 per short ton unit with some purchases from foreign sources costing as much as $70.00 per unit. Although the prices for tungsten products during the GCPR base period were substantially above pre-Korea prices, they did not reflect fully the increase in the cost of raw materials which had occurred.

Ceiling Price Regulation 19, effective April 6, 1951, established a uniform ceiling price of $65.00 per short ton unit for tungsten concentrates. Since this action has substantially increased the cost of tungsten concentrates to the most important producers of tungsten products, it is necessary, in order to avoid any interruption in output, to adjust the ceiling prices for such products to reflect at least in some measure the higher cost of raw materials, and this ceiling price regulation accomplishes this result.

In formulating this regulation, the general principle followed was that of setting ceiling prices at a level which would permit the producers of the bulk of each tungsten product to obtain, over their current cost for tungsten concentrates calculated on the basis of the [2] Under Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (15 F. R. 3174), effective May 24, 1950 and pursuant to General Order No. 45A issued by the Secretary of Labor on the same date, interpretations of the provisions (other than the child labor provisions) of the Fair Labor Standards Act, as amended, are issued by the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division on the advice of the Solicitor of Labor, subject to the general direction and control of the Secretary. See 15 F. R. 3290."

Section 16 (c) of the Fair Labor Standards Amendments of 1949 (63 Stat. 910) provides:

"Any order, regulation, or interpretation of the Administrator of the Wage and Hour Division or of the Secretary of Labor, and any agreement entered into by the Administrator or the Secretary, in effect under the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, on the effective date of this act, shall remain in effect as an order, regulation, interpretation, or agreement of the Administrator or the Secretary, as the case may be, pursuant to this act, except to the extent that any such order, regulation, interpretation, or agreement may be inconsistent with the provisions of this act, or may from time to time be amended, modified, or rescinded by the Administrator or the Secretary, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of this act."

[87] Public Law 49, 80th Cong., 1st sess. (61 Stat. 84), discussed in Part 790 (statement on effect of Portal-to-Portal Act of 1947). See in this connection Reorganization Plan No. 6 of 1950 (15 F. R. 3174) and footnote 1, above.

ceiling price for such material established by CPR 19, a gross spread approximating that which they received during the period December 19, 1950–January 25, 1951. In view of the necessity of avoiding any action which might inhibit production of these essential materials, appropriate adjustment was made in the price so calculated for any product where it appeared that such price would not permit an adequate gross margin for producers of a substantial portion of the output. The ceiling prices established in this regulation will permit producers to recover most, if not all, of the increase in raw materials which they have sustained and it is believed that such prices will be adequate to enable them to maintain their operations at the high level required by the defense program.

All ceiling prices established in this regulation apply on a f. o. b. shipping point basis. Although in the past some producers customarily charged delivered prices on some sales of certain products, it appears that their freight absorption on any given transaction was exceedingly small in relation to the total cost to the buyer and that the administrative advantages of establishing ceiling prices on a uniform basis far outweigh any benefits which might be derived from restricting the limited number of sellers involved to their customary practices in this connection.

It must be emphasized that the action taken in this regulation is an interim measure designed only to avoid the threat to the continued production of these vital materials arising out of the increased cost of tungsten concentrates. The Office of Price Stabilization will undertake, in the near future, a study of the operations of the makers of tungsten products to determine whether any changes in the ceiling prices established by this regulation should be made under the policies and objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this ceiling price regulation are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable, the Director has given due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objectives of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

In formulating this ceiling price regulation, the Director consulted with industry representatives, including trade association representatives, and has given consideration to their recommendations.

The provisions of this ceiling price regulation and their effect upon business practices, cost practices, or means or aids to distribution in the industry have been considered. It is believed that no changes in such practices or methods have been effected. To the extent, however, that the provisions of the regulation may operate to compel changes in such practices or methods, such provisions are necessary to prevent circumvention or evasion of the regulation and to effectuate the policies of the act.

AUTHORITY: Sections 1 to 13 issued under sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105; 3 CFR 1950 Supp.

SECTION 1. Coverage of this regulation—(a) Products covered. This regulation establishes ceiling prices for ferrotungsten, tungsten metal powder (both carbon and hydrogen reduced), tungstic acid, tungstic oxide, ammonium para-tungstate, sodium tungstate crystals, and sodium tungstate anhydrous.

(b) Persons covered. This regulation applies to any person who sells the products covered by this regulation, including importers and exporters. It also applies to any person who buys such products in the regular course of trade or business.

(c) Geographical applicability. This regulation applies in the 48 States of the United States, its Territories and Possessions, and the District of Columbia.

SEC. 2. Prohibitions—(a) Against transactions above ceiling prices. (1) Regardless of any contract or other obligation, on and after the effective date of this regulation no person shall sell or deliver, and no person shall buy or receive in the regular course of trade or business, the products covered by this regulation at a price in excess of the applicable ceiling price established herein. No person shall offer, solicit, attempt, or agree to do any of the foregoing.

(2) Lower prices than the ceiling prices set forth in this regulation may be charged, demanded, paid or offered.

(b) Against tie-in transactions. No person shall sell any of the products covered by this regulation on condition (1) that the buyer purchase from any person any commodity or service, or (2) that the buyer sell to any person any commodity or service. No person who in the regular course of trade or business buys any of the products covered by this regulation shall participate in any such tie-in transactions.

(c) Against evasion. No person shall evade or circumvent the provisions of this regulation by direct or indirect methods in connection with the sale, purchase, delivery or transfer of any of the products covered by this regulation, alone or in conjunction with any other commodity, or by way of commission, service, or transportation charge or discount, premium, or other privilege, or by up-grading tie-in agreement, trade understanding or otherwise.

SEC. 3. General pricing provisions—(a) Pricing basis. In the case of products produced in the United States, its Territories or Possessions, the ceiling prices established in this regulation apply f.o.b. the point at which the products are loaded on a conveyance for transportation to the buyer. In the case of sales by an importer in which the products are transported overland directly to the buyer from a point in Canada or Mexico, the ceiling prices apply f.o.b. the freight station in the United States at or nearest the point at which the shipment enters the United States. In the case of all other sales by an importer, the ceiling prices apply f.o.b. the point in the United States, its Territories or Possessions at which the products are loaded on a conveyance for transportation to the buyer.

(b) Determination of quantity brackets. The pricing tables in this regulation set forth different ceiling prices for different quantity brackets. The quantity bracket applicable to any transaction shall be determined on the basis of the quantity contained in each shipment made to the purchaser.

(c) Packing. The ceiling prices established in this regulation apply to material packed in standard containers in accordance with the customary practice of the producer. If the buyer requests that material be packed in other than standard containers, the seller must apply to the Office of Price Stabilization for the establishment of a ceiling price in accordance with section 7 of this regulation.

SEC. 4. Ceiling prices for ferrotungsten—(a) Standard grade. (1) The ceiling price for standard grade ferrotungsten is the applicable price set forth in Table A of this paragraph.

(2) The prices set forth in Table A apply to ferrotungsten in sizes 1¼" by down, ⅜" by down, or ¼" by down. A premium for crushing to certain finer sizes may be charged in accordance with paragraph (b) of this section.

(3) "Standard grade ferrotungsten" means material which conforms to the following analysis:

	Percent
Tungsten	70–80
Carbon, maximum	.60
Phosphorus, maximum	.06
Sulphur, maximum	.06
Silicon, maximum	1.00
Manganese, maximum	.75
Copper, maximum	.10
Arsenic, maximum	.10
Antimony, maximum	.08
Tin, maximum	.10
The sum of arsenic, tin, and antimony, maximum	0.20

A premium for special analyses may be charged in accordance with paragraph (c) of this section.

TABLE A

Quantity of contained tungsten	Ceiling prices per pound of contained tungsten
10,000 pounds or more	$5.00
2,000 to 10,000 pounds	5.10
Less than 2,000 pounds	5.22

(b) Premium for crushing. When ferrotungsten sized finer than 20 mesh is required by a buyer's operations and crushing to such size is performed by the producer at the buyer's request, a premium not in excess of 20 cents per pound of contained tungsten may be charged, and paid, in addition to the applicable ceiling price set forth in paragraph (a) of this section.

(c) Premium for special analyses. When ferrotungsten with an analysis varying substantially from that for standard grade set forth in paragraph (a) of this section is required in a buyer's operations and is furnished by the producer at the buyer's request, a premium not in excess of 25 cents per pound of contained tungsten may be charged, and paid, in addition to the applicable ceiling price set forth in paragraph (a) of this section.

SEC. 5. Ceiling prices for tungsten metal powder—(a) Carbon reduced. The ceiling price for carbon reduced tungsten metal powder in the grades and analyses listed in Table B of this paragraph is the applicable price set forth in that table.

TABLE B

Grade and analysis	Quantity	Ceiling price per pound of powder
99 percent melting grade:
Minimum 98.5 percent W	1,000 pounds or more	$6.00
Maximum 0.25 percent C (free and combined)	Less than 1,000 pounds	6.15
Size 65 mesh by down
98.5 percent melting grade:
Minimum 98.5 percent W
Maximum 1.0 percent C	1,000 pounds or more	6.00
Maximum 0.3 percent Si	Less than 1,000 pounds	6.15
Maximum 0.5 percent Fe
Density—minimum 80 grams per cubic inch
Size 60 mesh

(b) Hydrogen reduced. The ceiling price for hydrogen reduced tungsten metal powder, containing a minimum of 99.9 percent W, when sold in any quantity, is $7.75 per pound of powder.

SEC. 6. Ceiling prices for other tungsten products. The ceiling price for each tungsten product listed in Table C of this section is the applicable price set forth in that table.

TABLE C

Product and analysis	Quantity	Price per pound of material
Tungstic acid:
Minimum 99.5 percent WO_3	Over 1,000 pounds	$4.30
Maximum 7.5 percent H_2O	300 to 1,000 pounds	4.50
	Less than 300 pounds	4.75
Tungstic oxide:	Over 1,000 pounds	4.65
Minimum 99.5 percent WO_3	300 to 1,000 pounds	4.85
	Less than 300 pounds	5.10

Sodium tungstate anhydrous:	Over 250 pounds	3.55
Minimum 78.7 percent WO_3	250 pounds	3.60
Maximum 0.5 percent H_2O	Less than 250 pounds	3.65

SEC. 7. Ceiling prices for grades, analyses, sizes, or special packing not included in sections 4, 5, or 6 of this regulation. The ceiling price for ferrotungsten, tungsten metal powder or other tungsten products covered by this regulation in a grade, analysis, size, or special packing for which a ceiling price cannot be determined under sections 4, 5, or 6 of this regulation shall be the price established by the Office of Price Stabilization upon application by the seller. An application for the establishment of a ceiling price under this section shall be filed with the Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., and shall set forth the following information: The name and address of the seller; a description of the product for which a ceiling price is to be established showing the special grade, analysis, size, or packing involved; the uses for which the product is purchased; and a proposed ceiling price. The ceiling price established by the Office of Price Stabilization under the provisions of this section shall be in line with the ceiling prices otherwise established in this regulation. A person who files an application in accordance with this section may sell the product covered thereby at a price not in excess of his proposed ceiling price provided that he agrees with the buyer that he will refund the amount, if any, by which the sales price exceeds the ceiling price established by the Office of Price Stabilization.

SEC. 8. Definitions. When used in this regulation, the term:

(a) "Exporter" means a person who sells a product covered by this regulation which is transported from a point in the United States, its Territories, or Possessions to a point outside thereof.

(b) "C" means carbon.

(c) "Fe" means iron.

(d) "H_2O" means water.

(e) "Si" means silicon.

(f) "W" means tungsten.

(g) "WO_3" means tungsten trioxide.

(h) "Importer" means a person who first sells a product covered by this regulation which is transported, either before or after sale, from a point outside of the United States, its Territories, or Possessions to a point inside thereof.

(i) "Person" includes an individual, corporation, partnership, association, or any other organized group of persons, or legal successor or representative of any of the foregoing; the United States or any agency thereof; and any other government or its political sub-divisions or agencies.

SEC. 9. Record-keeping requirements. (a) Every person covered by this regulation shall keep for inspection by the Director of Price Stabilization, for a period of two years, complete and accurate records of each sale or purchase of any product covered by this regulation showing: The date thereof; the name and address of the seller and buyer; the product sold or purchased and its grade and/or analysis and size; the quantity sold or purchased; the price charged; and the shipping point.

(b) Retention of an invoice issued in connection with the sale of a product covered by this regulation will be considered compliance with this provision if such invoice contains all the information listed above.

SEC. 10. Excise, sales, and similar taxes. Any person may collect, in addition to the ceiling prices established by this regulation, any excise, sales, or similar tax imposed upon him by reason of his sales of any of the products covered by this regulation if he is not prohibited by law from making such collection and if he states separately from his selling price the amount of the tax collected.

SEC. 11. Adjustable pricing. Nothing in this regulation shall be construed to prohibit any person making a contract or offer to sell a product covered by this regulation at (a) the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery or (b) the lower of a fixed price or the ceiling price in effect at the time of delivery. No person, however, may deliver or agree to deliver such product at a price to be adjusted upward in accordance with any increase in a ceiling price after delivery.

SEC. 12. Penalties. Persons violating any provision of this regulation are subject to the criminal penalties, civil enforcement actions, and suits for treble damages provided for by the Defense Production Act of 1950.

SEC. 13. Petitions for amendment. Any person seeking an amendment of this regulation may file a petition for amendment in accordance with the provisions of Price Procedural Regulation No. 1.

Effective date. This regulation shall become effective May 7, 1951.

NOTE: All record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

MICHAEL V. DISALLE,
Director of Price Stabilization.

DIR. 1—DETERMINATION OF ADJUSTMENT

EDITORIAL NOTE: In Federal Register Document 51-5189, appearing at page 3919 of the issue for Thursday, May 3, 1951, the original document has been corrected by deleting "of 1951" from section 2. As corrected section 2 reads as follows:

SEC. 2. Type of case where applicable. This direction applies to those cases where a packer was packing in cans (excluding cans made wholly of black plate) less than the customary volume of a particular product during either the second or third calendar quarters of his selected base calendar year.

TITLE 49—TRANSPORTATION

Chapter I—Interstate Commerce Commission

[Rev. S. O. 876]

PART 95—CAR SERVICE

REQUIREMENTS FOR LOADING OF LUMBER AND LUMBER PRODUCTS

At a session of the Interstate Commerce Commission, Division 3, held at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May A. D. 1951.

It appearing, that there is a shortage of freight cars suitable for the transportation of lumber and lumber products; that by reason thereof it is necessary in the interest of National Defense to regulate and control the use of such cars to assure the maximum utilization; in the opinion of the Commission an emergency exists in all sections of the country requiring immediate action to promote car service in the interest of the public and the commerce of the people: It is ordered, that:

§ 95.876 Requirements for loading of lumber and lumber products. (a) No carrier shall accept for transportation at point of origin, forward from point of origin, or transport within any terminal area, except to complete loading, any carload shipment of lumber or lumber products, in straight or mixed carloads, or in mixed carloads with other commodities, unless such car when forwarded from point of origin, or point at which car is stopped to complete loading, is loaded in accordance with one of the following requirements.

(1) The quantity loaded shall at least equal in weight the marked capacity in pounds as stenciled on the car, or as shown under the caption "Capacity" (not "Load Limit") in the Official Railroad Equipment Register, Agent M. A. Zenobia's ICC R. E. R. No. 299, supplements thereto or reissues thereof; or

(2) When the car is loaded to full visible capacity or so as to occupy and utilize all the practicable stowage space, but not to exceed the load limit.

(3) On cars to be stopped off to complete loading thereof, the lumber or lumber products loaded in, or on, the car at the first loading point must equal or exceed fifty percent (50%) of marked capacity of car used, and the car, when leaving the stop-off point, must be loaded as provided in subparagraphs (1) or (2) of this paragraph.

(b) Exemptions: The provisions of this section shall not apply to lumber or lumber products moving under and in accordance with "clean-out" or "remnant" rules published in applicable freight tariffs lawfully on file with this Commission or state railroad regulatory bodies.

(c) Definition: As used in this section the term:

(1) Carrier means any common carrier by railroad subject to the Interstate Commerce Act.

(2) Lumber and lumber products means any commodity listed in Appendix A made from native wood; Canadian wood; Philippine woods; Mexican pine; European pine, spruce or birch.

(d) Special and general permits; appointment of agent. (1) Paragraph (a) of this section shall be subject to any special or general permits issued by the Permit Agent named in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph, on application of the shipper.

(2) Howard S. Kline, Chief, Car Utilization Section, Bureau of Service, Interstate Commerce Commission, Room 5135 I. C. C. Building, Washington, D. C., is hereby designated and appointed as Permit Agent of the Interstate Commerce Commission with authority to issue special or general permits to meet exceptional circumstances, subject to the direction and supervision of the Director of the Bureau of Service.

(e) Application: (1) The provisions of this section shall apply to intrastate, interstate and foreign commerce, including commerce with insular possessions and the territories of Alaska and Hawaii.

(2) The provisions of this section shall apply to all shipments from points of origin as well as transit points, on and after the effective date of this section.

(3) This section shall apply to all freight cars subject to published demurrage charges on file with the Interstate Commerce Commission or State Commissions, except freight cars not suitable for interchange.

(f) Regulations suspended; announcement required: The operation of all rules, regulations and practices, insofar as they conflict with the provisions of this section, is hereby suspended and each railroad subject to this section, or its Agent, shall publish, file and post a supplement to each of its tariffs, affected hereby in substantial accordance with the provisions of Rule 9 (k) of the Commission's Tariff Circular No. 20 (§ 141.9 (k) of this chapter), announcing such suspension.

(g) Effective date: This section shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., May 7, 1951.

(h) Expiration date: This section shall expire at 11:59 p. m., September 30, 1951, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or annulled by order of this Commission.

It is further ordered, that this order vacates and supersedes Service Order No. 876 and that a copy of this order and direction be served upon the state railroad regulatory bodies of each State and upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement; and that notice of this order be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the FEDERAL REGISTER.

(Sec. 12, 24 Stat. 383, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 12. Interprets or applies sec. 1, 24 Stat. 379, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 1)

By the Commission, Division 3.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR

Bureau of Land Management

ALASKA

SMALL TRACT CLASSIFICATION NO. 40

APRIL 30, 1951.

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Director, Bureau of Land Management, under § 2.21 of Order No. 427 approved by the Secretary of the Interior August 16, 1950 (15 F. R. 5641), I hereby classify as hereinafter indicated under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938 (52 Stat. 609, 43 U. S. C. 682a), as amended the following described public lands in the Anchorage, Alaska Land District comprising approximately 6 small tracts embracing approximately 31.22 acres:

FOR LEASING AND SALE

FOR CABIN SITES

Seward Meridian

T. 5 N., R. 10 W.,
Sec. 33: Lots 2, 4.

The land above described is included in the second homestead entry of Ray F. Farnsworth, Anchorage 012402.

This order shall not become effective to change the status of such land or to permit the leasing thereof under the Small Tract Act of June 1, 1938, cited above, except upon the failure of the second homestead entry Anchorage 012402 mentioned above. In the event of the failure of said entry, the land will then become available for filings under the Small Tract Act, after due notice to be given by publication, subject to the preference right of veterans of World War II, accorded by the Act of September 27, 1944 (58 Stat. 747, 43 U. S. C. 279), and other qualified persons entitled to credit for service under the said act.

COMMERCIAL INSURANCE CO. OF NEWARK, N. J.

SURETY COMPANY ACCEPTABLE ON FEDERAL BONDS

MAY 3, 1951.

Under date of April 11, 1951, "Commercial Casualty Insurance Company", Newark, New Jersey, a New Jersey corporation, formally changed its name to that of "Commercial Insurance Company of Newark, N. J." A copy of the amended charter of the Commercial Insurance Company of Newark, N. J., duly certified by the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance of the State of New Jersey has been received and filed in the Treasury.

The change in the name of the company does not affect its status or liability with respect to any obligation in favor of the United States or in which the United States has an interest, which the Commercial Casualty Insurance Company may have undertaken pursuant to its authority under the act of Congress approved July 30, 1947 (6 U. S. C. 6-13), to qualify as sole surety on such obligations.

Hereafter the name of the company will appear as "Commercial Insurance Company of Newark, N. J.," on Treasury Form No. 356, which shows a list of the companies authorized to act as acceptable sureties on bonds in favor of the United States.

RELIANCE INSURANCE CO. OF PHILADELPHIA

SURETY COMPANY ACCEPTABLE ON FEDERAL BONDS

MAY 1, 1951.

A Certificate of Authority has been issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to the above company under the Act of Congress approved July 30, 1947, (6 U. S. C. 6-13), as an acceptable surety on Federal bonds. An underwriting limitation of $506,000.00 has been established for the company. Further details as to the extent and localities with respect to which the company is acceptable as surety on Federal bonds will appear in the next issue of Treasury Department Form 356, copies of which when issued, may be obtained from the Treasury Department, Bureau of Accounts, Section of Surety Bonds, Washington 25, D. C.

PREFERRED ACCIDENT INSURANCE CO. OF NEW YORK

SURETY COMPANY ACCEPTABLE ON FEDERAL BONDS; TERMINATION OF AUTHORITY

MAY 4, 1951.

Notice is hereby given that the certificate of authority issued by the Secretary of the Treasury to the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York, under the provisions of the act of Congress approved July 30, 1947 (6 U. S. C. 6-13), to qualify as sole surety on recognizances, stipulations, bonds and undertakings permitted or required by the laws of the United States, was revoked on April 30, 1951. The Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York received its initial authority to qualify as sole surety on bonds in favor of the United States on July 14, 1915.

Under an order entered in the Supreme Court of the State of New York, New York County, on April 30, 1951, the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of New York was directed to take possession of the property and to liquidate the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York as authorized and provided for by the Insurance Law of the State of New York.

Bond-approving officers and other agents of the Government charged with the duty of taking bonds, recognizances, stipulations or undertakings, are directed, pursuant to the provisions of section 4 of the Act of Congress approved July 30, 1947, to proceed immediately to secure new bonds or other obligations, where necessary and practicable, with acceptable sureties, in lieu of outstanding bonds or other obligations accepted by them on which the liability has not terminated and executed by the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York, or upon which the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York is obligated.

In order that there may be a coordinated record showing the status of outstanding bonds and obligations of the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York, or outstanding bonds and obligations upon which the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York, is liable as of April 30, 1951, in favor of the United States, bond-approving officers are requested, immediately upon the receipt of this circular, to carefully examine the records of their offices and report promptly to the Section of Surety Bonds, Bureau of Accounts, Treasury Department, Washington 25, D. C., all outstanding bonds accepted by them and executed by the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York or upon which the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York is obligated, on which the liability has not terminated.

It is also requested that the Section of Surety Bonds be advised as expeditiously as possible as to all facts, in detail, relating to any existing claim, or with respect to the occurrence of any event or the existence of any circumstance which may hereafter result in a claim against the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York. In furnishing information of this character, bond-approving officers will please give the name of the principal on the bond, the date and penalty of the bond and a brief statement of the nature of the claim, the circumstances out of which it arose, and the status of the claim at the time of the report. This information is desired solely for the information of the Treasury and all administrative matters in connection with such claims should be handled in accordance with regular procedure.

It is suggested that bond-approving officers and other agents of the Government review their activities to determine whether there are any outstanding claims against the Preferred Accident Insurance Company of New York on obligations which it may have executed in favor of the United States or upon which it may be obligated, and if so, take such action for the protection of the interests of the United States, as may be necessary.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION

[Docket No. G-1457]

NORTHERN INDIANA FUEL & LIGHT CO.

NOTICE OF AMENDED APPLICATION

MAY 2, 1951.

Take notice that Northern Indiana Fuel & Light Company (Applicant), an Indiana corporation with its principal office in Auburn, Indiana, filed on April 23, 1951, an amended application in the above docketed matter (original application filed July 28, 1950; published September 1, 1950, 15 F. R. 5939), pursuant to sections 7 (a) and 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for (1) an order directing Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle) to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with the facilities of Applicant and to sell natural gas to it from a point of connection of Panhandle's line near its Edgerton Station and (2) the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 33 miles of 8⅝-inch O. D. pipeline extending from Panhandle's Edgerton Compressor Station near Edgerton, Indiana, to a point of connection to be made on Applicant's system at Auburn, Indiana.

Applicant states it has been and is now rendering manufactured gas service in Auburn, Garrett, Altona, Avilla, and Kendallville, and proposes to connect its present distribution system serving the named communities with Panhandle's system and to serve in addition the communities of Woodburn, Harlan, Grabill, and Leo, which are adjacent to the proposed pipe line, and to also serve Spencerville, St. Joe, and Waterloo, all in the State of Indiana.

Applicant further states no undue burden will be placed upon Panhandle if Panhandle is ordered by the Commission to establish the requested connection; that Panhandle has an adequate supply of natural gas to fill Applicant's requirements, estimated to be 2,000 Mcf for the 1951-52 winter peak day.

The estimated over-all capital cost of the proposed construction is $609,000, for which financing plans are to be furnished.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 23d day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

[Docket No. G-1509]

MISSOURI CENTRAL NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF AMENDED APPLICATION

MAY 2, 1951.

Take notice that Missouri Central Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a Missouri corporation having its principal office in Macon, Missouri, filed on April 18, 1951, an amended application (original application filed October 16, 1950, published November 3, 1950, 15 F. R. 7403) pursuant to sections 7 (a) and 7 (c) of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, for (1) an order directing Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company (Panhandle) to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with the facilities to be constructed by Applicant, and to sell natural gas to it from a point of connection on Panhandle's line near Moberly, Missouri, and (2) the issuance of a certificate of public convenience and necessity authorizing the construction and operation of approximately 18 miles of 6-inch I. D., and 7 miles of 4-inch I. D. gas transmission pipeline extending from Moberly to Macon, Missouri, together with measuring and regulating stations and extensions to connect the same with its existing system in Macon, Missouri.

Applicant states the area proposed to be served with natural gas has a population of approximately 5,000; that the estimated number of customers to be served will increase from 615 in the first year to 1,155 in the fifth year, with the maximum day firm use increasing from 475 Mcf the first year to 1,036 Mcf the fifth year, and with annual sales increasing from 82,900 Mcf the first year to 345,500 Mcf the fifth year; that revenues from gas sales will increase from $73,739 in the first year to $201,685 in the fifth year.

Construction will be financed from the sale of first mortgage bonds in the amount of $400,000, second mortgage bonds in the amount of $45,000 and from the sale of 400 shares of 6 percent preferred stock with par value of $100 per share.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 23d day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

Docket No. G-1659

CITY OF AUBURN, ILL.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 2, 1951.

Take notice that the city of Auburn, Illinois (applicant), a municipal corporation of the State of Illinois, filed on April 6, 1951, an application pursuant to section 7 (a) of the Natural Gas Act, for an order directing Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line Company, a Delaware corporation with its principal office at Kansas City, Missouri, to establish physical connection of its transportation facilities with the facilities to be constructed and operated by applicant, and to sell natural gas to applicant for resale in the city of Auburn, Illinois, and environs.

Applicant proposes to construct and operate a local distribution system for the purpose of providing natural gas service to the inhabitants thereof; and for which purpose it is estimated approximately 750,000 Mcf of natural gas annually will be required. Panhandle Eastern's line is stated to be within two (2) miles of applicant's northerly corporate limits.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 23d day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

HOPE NATURAL GAS CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 2, 1951.

Take notice that Hope Natural Gas Company (Applicant), a West Virginia corporation, address, Clarksburg, West Virginia, filed on April 25, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act, as amended, authorizing the installation of one additional 1,100 horsepower gas engine compressor unit at its existing Cornwell Compressor Station located in Kanawha County, West Virginia, and the operation of said additional compressor unit as an auxiliary unit in applicant's natural-gas transmission pipeline system.

Applicant proposes, by means of the facilities hereinbefore described to avoid the necessity of a shutdown in the event repairs are necessary or a breakdown occurs in any of the existing 16 1,000 horsepower units now located at said Cornwell Compressor Station and which are now in operation at all times due to increased volumes of natural gas which Applicant receives from Tennessee Gas Transmission Company and local adjacent fields.

The estimated cost of the proposed facilities is $180,000. Applicant proposes to finance the construction of the proposed facilities from cash on hand.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 23d day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

IROQUOIS GAS CORP.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION

MAY 2, 1951.

Take notice that Iroquois Gas Corporation (Applicant), a New York corporation, of 45 Church Street, Buffalo, New York, filed on April 20, 1951, an application for a certificate of public convenience and necessity pursuant to section 7 of the Natural Gas Act authorizing the construction and operation of certain natural gas facilities described as follows:

(1) A new compressor station to be known as Porterville Station to consist of four 150 horsepower compressor units together with all necessary appurtenances and equipment, located on Hemstreet Road, Town of Elma, Erie County, New York.

(2) Approximately 4 miles of 12-inch pipeline extending northerly from a point on the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company pipeline in the Town of Wales, New York, to the proposed Porterville Compressor Station.

The application states that the proposed construction is a part of a general program to enable Applicant to store gas during the summer and during mild periods in the winter in order to meet increasing seasonal and peak load demands. The proposed construction will permit the coordinated development and use of Applicant's Bennington and Holland Storage Areas previously authorized in Docket No. G-1334.

The estimated total over-all capital cost of the proposed construction is $380,000 which will be financed by the issuance of long-term installment promissory notes to Applicant's parent company, National Fuel Gas Company.

Protests or petitions to intervene may be filed with the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C., in accordance with the rules of practice and procedure (18 CFR 1.8 or 1.10) on or before the 23d day of May 1951. The application is on file with the Commission for public inspection.

CALIFORNIA OREGON POWER CO.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR AMENDMENT OF LICENSE (MAJOR)

MAY 2, 1951.

Public notice is hereby given pursuant to the provisions of the Federal Power Act (16 U. S. C. 791a-825r), that The California Oregon Power Company, of Yreka, California, and Medford, Oregon, has filed application for amendment of the license for waterpower Project No. 1927 (Toketee) to include the following additional developments to be located on Clearwater River, tributary of North Umpqua River, in Douglas County, Oregon:

(1) Clearwater No. 1 development, consisting of a rock-filled timber crib diversion dam with free crest spillway section at river elevation 3,863, creating a pool with normal water level at elevation 3,883 feet; open conduit about 1.7 miles long, partly concrete lined canal and timber and concrete flume extending to a forebay; a steel penstock approximately 4,950 feet long; a powerhouse immediately upstream from the mouth of Mowich Creek containing a 21,000-horsepower turbine connected to a 15,000-kilowatt generator; a substation; a 132-kilovolt transmission line about 8 miles long to a switching station adjacent to the Toketee power plant; and appurtenant facilities; and

(2) Clearwater No. 2 development, consisting of a rock-filled timber crib diversion dam with free crest spillway section located immediately below the mouth of Mowich Creek creating a pool with normal water level at elevation 3,212 feet; conduit about 5.5 miles long, partly concrete lined canal, timber and concrete flumes, and tunnel extending to a forebay; a steel penstock about 1,300 feet long; a powerhouse at Toketee reservoir containing a 36,000-horsepower turbine connected to a 26,000-kilowatt generator; a substation; a short transmission tie line connecting the plant to the line between Clearwater No. 1 plant and Toketee plant; and appurtenant facilities.

The Licensee also requests inclusion in the license of a proposed access road about 9 miles in length connecting Clearwater No. 1 and No. 2 developments and extending through to connect with the Roseburg-Diamond Lake Highway.

Any protest against the approval of this application or request for hearing thereon, with the reasons for such protest or request and the name and address of the party or parties so protesting or requesting, should be submitted before June 12, 1951, to the Federal Power Commission, Washington 25, D. C.

SECURITIES AND EXCHANGE COMMISSION

[File Nos. 54-180, 59-94]

GREEN MOUNTAIN POWER CORP.

ORDER APPROVING AMENDED PLAN

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May A. D. 1951.

Green Mountain Power Corporation ("Green Mountain"), a subsidiary company of New England Electric System ("NEES"), a registered holding company, having filed an amended plan of reorganization under section 11 (e) of the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, together with an application for approval by the Commission of said amended plan and the transactions contemplated thereby under the applicable provisions of the act; and

Green Mountain having proposed, among other things, in said amended plan (a) the issue of 138,792 shares of new $10 par value common stock to the holders of the 46,264 shares of its presently outstanding preferred stock on the basis of three shares of new common stock in exchange for each share of preferred stock outstanding; (b) the issue and sale of 104,094 shares of new $10 par value common stock, for cash, to the public through underwriters, subject to the right of the preferred stockholders to subscribe for three additional shares of new common stock for each four shares of such stock received under (a) above; and (c) the compromise and settlement of intrasystem claims to be effected by the waiver by Green Mountain of possible claims against NEES and the relinquishment by NEES of any interest it may have in the equity of Green Mountain; and

The Commission having instituted proceedings under sections 11 (b) (2), 12 (f), 13, 15 (f) and 20 (a) of the act with respect to Green Mountain; having made as party respondents thereto NEES and certain of its subsidiary companies, namely, New England Power Company, Connecticut River Power Company and New England Power Service Company and having consolidated such proceeding with the proceeding on the plan; and

Green Mountain having requested in its plan an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 promulgated under the act; and

Green Mountain having requested the Commission upon its approval of said amended plan of reorganization to apply to an appropriate United States District Court for an order approving and enforcing said amended plan; and

The Commission having been requested to enter an order finding that the transactions proposed in said amended plan of reorganization are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act and that such order containing the recitals and specifications required by sections 371 and 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended; and

Public hearings having been held, after appropriate notice, in respect of said consolidated proceedings; the Commission having considered the record in this matter and having made and filed its findings and opinion herein:

It is ordered, Pursuant to section 11 (e) and other applicable provisions of the act, that the amended plan of reorganization be, and the same hereby is, approved, subject to the conditions contained in Rule U-24 and subject further to the reservations of jurisdiction hereinafter set forth;

It is further ordered, Pursuant to the applicable provisions of the act, that Green Mountain's request for an exemption from the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50 promulgated under the act be, and the same hereby is, granted, subject to the reservations of jurisdiction hereinafter set forth;

It is further ordered, That jurisdiction be, and the same hereby is, reserved with respect to (1) the price, spread and maintenance of competitive conditions in connection with the proposed sale of the new common stock, for cash, (2) the reasonableness of all fees and expenses in connection with these proceedings, (3) making such supplemental findings and taking such further action as the Commission may deem appropriate in connection with the amended plan of reorganization, the transactions incident thereto, and the consummation thereof and (4) the proceedings instituted by the Commission under sections 11 (b) (2), 12 (f), 13, 15 (f) and 20 (a) of the act.

It is further ordered, That this order shall become effective immediately upon issuance but shall not become operative to authorize the consummation of any of the transactions proposed in the amended plan until an appropriate United States District Court shall, upon application thereto, enter an order enforcing the provisions of the amended plan.

It is further ordered and recited, In view of the requirements of supplement R and section 1808 (f) of the Internal Revenue Code, as amended, that the transactions as specified and itemized below, proposed in said amended plan of reorganization, are necessary or appropriate to the integration, or simplification of the holding company system of which Green Mountain is a member and are necessary or appropriate to effectuate the provisions of section 11 (b) of the act:

1. The distribution by Green Mountain to its preferred stockholders in pursuance of its amended plan of 3 shares of common stock of Green Mountain for each share of preferred stock of Green Mountain now outstanding, and the issue of warrants to subscribe for additional shares of common stock.

2. All the transfers necessary to effect the foregoing distribution, including:

(a) The transfer by Green Mountain to its preferred stockholders or to the Agent of said preferred stockholders of certificates for 138,392 shares of common stock of Green Mountain.

(b) The issue to the preferred stockholders of Green Mountain or to the Agent for said preferred stockholders of warrants to subscribe to 104,094 additional shares of said common stock of Green Mountain.

(c) Upon exercise of said warrants the issue or transfer of said shares of common stock of Green Mountain aggregating 104,094 shares or any part thereof.

By the Commission.

OHIO EDISON CO.

SUPPLEMENTAL ORDER GRANTING AND PERMITTING APPLICATION-DECLARATION TO BECOME EFFECTIVE

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May 1951.

Ohio Edison Company ("Ohio"), a registered holding company and a public utility company, having filed an application-declaration and amendments thereto, pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 ("act") and certain rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, proposing, among other things, the issuance and sale at competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 of 150,000 shares of a new series of preferred stock, par value $100 per share, and the issuance and sale of 436,224 shares of additional common stock, par value $8 per share, pursuant to a subscription rights offering to its common stockholders, such offering to be underwritten with the underwriters to be chosen at competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50, the bidding to be with respect to the compensation to be paid by Ohio to the bidders for their services in underwriting the sale of the common stock, the price per share to the bidders to be the same price at which stockholders may subscribe; and

The Commission, by order dated April 18, 1951, having granted and permitted effectiveness to the application-declaration, subject to the conditions, among others, that the proposed issuance and sale of the preferred stock and common stock by Ohio should not be consummated until the results of the competitive bidding, pursuant to Rule U-50, have been made a matter of record in this proceeding and a further order entered with respect thereto, and jurisdiction having been reserved therein over all fees and expenses to be incurred in connection with the proposed transactions; and Ohio, on May 3, 1951, having filed a further amendment to said application-declaration in which it is stated that Ohio designated a subscription price of $29.25 per share for the additional shares of its common stock and invited bids, pursuant to the competitive bidding requirements of Rule U-50, with respect to the compensation to be paid the underwriters for purchasing the common stock not taken by subscriptions and having received the following bids:

Bidding group headed by—	Amount of compensation	Aggregate net proceeds[1]
Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane; Kidder, Peabody & Co.	$117,280.00	$12,642,272.00
Lehman Bros., Bear, Stearns & Co.	125,937.87	12,633,614.13
Morgan Stanley & Co.	143,055.00	12,615,657.00
The First Boston Corp.	165,000.00	12,594,552.00

[1] The contract with the underwriters provides, in effect, that in case any shares of common stock [purchased by them shall be sold prior to the expiration of 30 days] following the close of the subscription period for a price in excess of $30.75 the underwriters must pay to Ohio, in addition to the purchase price, a sum equal to one-half of such excess.

The amendment having further stated that Ohio has accepted the bid of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner & Beane and Kidder, Peabody & Co. for the common stock as set forth above; and the amendment having further stated that Ohio also invited bids for the purchase of the new preferred stock but that on April 26, 1951, in view of market conditions and the fact that it did not have immediate need for the proceeds from the sale of the new preferred stock, Ohio determined, pursuant to the reservation contained in the invitation for proposals, to postpone the time for the presentation and opening of proposals for the new preferred stock and immediately notified the representatives of all prospective bidders of such postponement, and said amendment having further stated that Ohio proposes to publish notice of any new date fixed by it for the presentation and opening of proposals for the purchase of the new preferred stock and to give telegraphic or telephonic notice of such date to each prospective bidder who has or shall have furnished a questionnaire, as proposed in the invitation, to the company, such notice to be given at least seven days prior to the date so fixed by the company, and that the company will permit the filing of questionnaires until a date two days prior to the date it may fix for the presentation and opening of proposals; and

The Commission having examined said amendment and having considered the record herein and finding no basis for imposing terms and conditions with respect to the price to be received for said common stock or the compensation to be paid the underwriters for their purchase of said stock, and that there is no basis for any adverse findings with respect to the postponement of the time for the presentation and opening of proposals for the new preferred stock, and finding that the record is incomplete with respect to the details of certain fees and expenses incurred in connection with the proposed transactions:

It is ordered, That the application-declaration, as further amended, be granted and permitted to become effective forthwith, subject to the condition that the jurisdiction heretofore reserved with respect to all fees and expenses and to the results of the competitive bidding pursuant to Rule U-50 for the new preferred stock, be, and the same hereby is, continued, all other reservations of jurisdiction being released, and subject, further, to the terms and conditions prescribed in Rule U-24.

By the Commission.

OHIO POWER CO. AND CENTRAL OHIO COAL CO.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May A. D. 1951.

Notice is hereby given that The Ohio Power Company ("Ohio Power"), an electric utility subsidiary company of American Gas and Electric Company, a registered holding company, and Central Ohio Coal Company ("Coal Company"), a non-utility subsidiary company of Ohio Power, have filed a joint application-declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and have designated sections 6 (b), 10, and 12 (b) of the act and Rule U-45 as being applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to said joint application-declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Coal Company proposes to issue and sell and Ohio Power proposes to acquire not to exceed 15,000 shares of Coal Company's capital stock from time to time prior to December 31, 1954, for a cash consideration of $100 per share, being the par value of such shares, or a total of $1,500,000.

Ohio Power proposes to advance to Coal Company not to exceed $4,000,000 on open account from time to time prior to December 31, 1954, such advances to bear interest at the initial rate of 3 percent per annum. Ohio Power expects that as a part of a financing program to be consummated within the next twelve months, it will issue some long-term unsecured indebtedness. In the event that such unsecured indebtedness bears an annual average interest rate other than 3 percent, the annual interest on the proposed advances to the Coal Company will be adjusted to equal such rate.

It is stated that the proceeds to be derived by the Coal Company from the proposed transactions will be used to pay the costs of construction of additional coal production facilities during the years 1951–1954.

The application-declaration states that no state commission has jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 15, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest, and the issues of fact or law raised by said application-declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 15, 1951, said application-declaration as filed, or as amended, may be granted and permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transactions as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

NOTICE OF FILING

At a regular session of the Securities and Exchange Commission, held at its office in the city of Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May A. D. 1951.

In the matter of The Ohio Power Company, Appalachian Electric Power Company, Central Coal Company, File No. 70-2615.

Notice is hereby given that The Ohio Power Company ("Ohio Power"), Appalachian Electric Power Company ("Appalachian"), both electric utility subsidiary companies of American Gas and Electric Company, a registered holding company, and Central Coal Company ("Coal Company"), a non-utility subsidiary company of both Ohio Power and Appalachian, have filed a joint declaration pursuant to the Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935, and have designated section 12 (b) of the act as being applicable to the proposed transactions.

All interested persons are referred to said joint declaration which is on file in the offices of this Commission for a statement of the transactions therein proposed, which are summarized as follows:

Ohio Power and Appalachian propose to advance not to exceed in the aggregate $2,500,000 to Coal Company on open account from time to time prior to December 31, 1954. Such advances are to be made in equal amounts by Ohio Power and Appalachian and will bear an initial interest rate of 3 percent per annum. Ohio Power and Appalachian expect that as part of a financing program to be consummated within the next twelve months, they will issue some long-term unsecured indebtedness. In the event that such unsecured indebtedness bears an annual average interest rate other than 3 percent, the annual interest rate on the proposed advances to the Coal Company will be adjusted to equal such rate.

It is stated that the proceeds from the proposed transaction will be used by the Coal Company to pay for the costs of construction of additional coal production facilities during the years 1951–54.

The joint declaration states that the State Corporation Commission of Virginia and the Public Service Commission of West Virginia have jurisdiction over the proposed transactions.

Notice is further given that any interested person may, not later than May 15, 1951, at 5:30 p. m., request the Commission in writing that a hearing be held on such matter, stating the reasons for such request, the nature of his interest, and the issues of fact or law raised by said declaration which he desires to controvert, or may request that he be notified if the Commission should order a hearing thereon. Any such request should be addressed: Secretary, Securities and Exchange Commission, 425 Second Street NW., Washington 25, D. C. At any time after May 15, 1951, said declaration as filed, or as amended, may be permitted to become effective as provided in Rule U-23 of the rules and regulations promulgated under the act, or the Commission may exempt such transaction as provided in Rules U-20 (a) and U-100 thereof.

ALCOHOL AND ANTI-FREEZE PREPARATIONS FROM SOUTH POINT, OHIO, TO OFFICIAL TERRITORY

APPLICATION FOR RELIEF

MAY 4, 1951.

The Commission is in receipt of the above-entitled and numbered application for relief from the long-and-short-haul provision of section 4 (1) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Filed by: L. C. Schuldt, agent, for carriers parties to N&W Ry. tariff I. C. C. No. 9424, pursuant to fourth-section order No. 9800.

Commodities involved: Denatured alcohol, methanol, and anti-freeze preparations, carloads.

From: South Point, Ohio.

To: Detroit, Mich., St. Louis, Mo., Buffalo, N. Y., and certain other points in official territory.

Grounds for relief: Circuitous routes.

Any interested person desiring the Commission to hold a hearing upon such application shall request the Commission in writing so to do within 15 days from the date of this notice. As provided by the general rules of practice of the Commission, Rule 73, persons other than applicants should fairly disclose their interest, and the position they intend to take at the hearing with respect to the application. Otherwise the Commission, in its discretion, may proceed to investigate and determine the matters involved in such application without further or formal hearing. If because of an emergency a grant of temporary relief is found to be necessary before the expiration of the 15-day period, a hearing, upon a request filed within that period, may be held subsequently.

By the Commission, Division 2.

[4th Sec. Application 26070]

COAL FROM MISSOURI TO IOWA

APPLICATION FOR RELIEF

MAY 4, 1951.

The Commission is in receipt of the above-entitled and numbered application for relief from the long-and-short-haul provision of section 4 (1) of the Interstate Commerce Act.

Filed by: L. E. Kipp, agent, for carriers parties to his tariff I. C. C. No. A-3456.

Commodities involved: Bituminous coal, carloads.

From: Mines in Missouri.

To: Broadmoor, Highland Park, Eagle Grove, Waterloo and La Porte, Iowa, and certain other points.

Grounds for relief: Circuitous routes and market competition.

Schedules filed containing proposed rates; L. E. Kipp's tariff I. C. C. No. A-3456, Supp. 83.

Any interested person desiring the Commission to hold a hearing upon such application shall request the Commission in writing so to do within 15 days from the date of this notice. As provided by the general rules of practice of the Commission, Rule 73, persons other than applicants should fairly disclose their interest, and the position they intend to take at the hearing with respect to the application. Otherwise the Commission, in its discretion, may proceed to investigate and determine the matters involved in such application without further or formal hearing. If because of an emergency a grant of temporary relief is found to be necessary before the expiration of the 15-day period, a hearing, upon a request filed within that period, may be held subsequently.

[Rev. S. O. 874, 2d Rev. General Permit 9]

DISTILLERS DRIED FEED, DISTILLERS SOLUBLES, BREWERS DRIED GRAINS, AND/OR DRIED SPENT GRAIN MASH

LOADING REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me in paragraph (d) of Revised Service Order No. 874 (16 F. R. 2040, 3133), permission is granted for any common carrier by railroad, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, to disregard the provisions of Revised Service Order No. 874 insofar as they apply to any car loaded with distillers dried feed, distillers solubles, brewers dried grains and/or dried spent grain mash because of the tendency of said commodities to heat, cake, and possible burning during summer months.

The waybills shall show reference to this general permit and any shipper of distillers dried feed, distillers solubles, brewers dried grains, and/or dried spent grain mash shall furnish the Permit Agent the dates forwarded, the car numbers, initials, weights, and destinations of the cars shipped; such information to be furnished on the first of each month.

This general permit shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., May 3, 1951, and shall expire at 11:59 p. m., September 15, 1951, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended, or revoked. This general permit vacates and supersedes Revised General Permit No. 9 on the effective date hereof.

A copy of this general permit has been served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as Agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement, and notice of this permit shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 2d day of May 1951.

HOWARD S. KLINE, Permit Agent.

CORN GLUTEN FEED, AND/OR CORN GLUTEN MEAL

LOADING REQUIREMENTS

Pursuant to the authority vested in me in paragraph (d) of Revised Service Order No. 874 (16 F. R. 2040, 3133), permission is granted for any common carrier by railroad, subject to the Interstate Commerce Act, to disregard the provisions of Revised Service Order No. 874 insofar as they apply to any car loaded with corn gluten feed and/or corn gluten meal when any consignor advises that service would be denied because of its inability to meet the minimum requirements because of tendency of commodity to cake and heat in warm weather.

The waybills shall show reference to this general permit and any consignor forwarding cars under this general permit shall furnish the Permit Agent the car numbers, initials, and destinations of the cars shipped under this permit, and also the car numbers, initials, and weights of all cars of corn gluten feed and/or corn gluten meal shipped; such information to be furnished on the first of each month.

This general permit shall become effective at 12:01 a. m., May 3, 1951, and shall expire at 11:59 p. m., September 15, 1951, unless otherwise modified, changed, suspended or revoked.

A copy of this general permit has been served upon the Association of American Railroads, Car Service Division, as Agent of the railroads subscribing to the car service and per diem agreement under the terms of that agreement, and notice of this permit shall be given to the general public by depositing a copy in the Office of the Secretary of the Commission, at Washington, D. C., and by filing it with the Director, Division of the Federal Register.

Issued at Washington, D. C., this 2d day of May 1951.

BAER CUSTODIAN CORP.

In re: Accounts maintained in the name of Baer Custodian Corporation, 67 Wall Street, New York 5, New York, and owned by persons whose names are unknown. F-63-1210.

Under the authority of the Trading With the Enemy Act, as amended, Executive Orders 9193, as amended, 9788 and 9989, and pursuant to law, after investigation, it is hereby found:

1. That the property described as follows: All property, rights and interests in the accounts identified in Exhibit A set forth below and by reference made a part hereof, together with

(a) Any other property, rights and interests which represent accumulations or accruals to, changes in form of, or substitutions for, any of the property, rights and interests in said identified accounts on October 2, 1950, and which are now held in other accounts being maintained as blocked or otherwise subject to the restrictions of Executive Order 8389, as amended, or regulations, rulings, orders or instructions issued thereunder, and

(b) Any and all rights in, to and under any securities (including, without limitation, bonds, coupons, mortgage participation certificates, shares of stock, scrip and warrants) and any and all declared and unpaid dividends on any shares of stock in any of said accounts, excepting from the foregoing, however, all lawful liens and setoffs of the respective institutions in the United States with whom the aforesaid accounts are maintained, is property within the United States;

2. That the property described in subparagraph 1 hereof is owned or controlled by, payable or deliverable to, held on behalf of or on account of, or owing to, or is evidence of ownership or control by persons, names unknown, who, if individuals, there is reasonable cause to believe are residents of a designated enemy country and which, if partnerships, associations, corporations, or other organizations, there is reasonable cause to believe are organized under the laws of a designated enemy country or on or since the effective date of Executive Order 8389, as amended, have had their principal places of business in a designated enemy country;

3. That the persons referred to in subparagraph 2 hereof are nationals of a designated enemy country; and it is hereby determined:

4. That to the extent that the persons referred to in subparagraph 2 hereof are not within a designated enemy country, the national interest of the United States requires that such persons be treated as nationals of a designated enemy country.

All determinations and all action required by law, including appropriate consultation and certification, having been made and taken, and, it being deemed necessary in the national interest,

There is hereby vested in the Attorney General of the United States the property described above, to be held, used, administered, liquidated, sold or otherwise dealt with in the interest of and for the benefit of the United States.

The terms "national" and "designated enemy country" as used herein shall have the meanings prescribed in section 10 of Executive Order 9193, as amended, and the term "designated enemy country" has reference to Germany or Japan.

Executed at Washington, D. C., on April 25, 1951.

For the Attorney General.

TITLE 6—AGRICULTURAL CREDIT

Chapter IV—Production and Marketing Administration and Commodity Credit Corporation, Department of Agriculture

Subchapter C—Loans, Purchases, and Other Operations

[1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, Supp. 1, Oats]

PART 601—GRAINS AND RELATED COMMODITIES

SUBPART—1951-CROP OATS LOAN AND PURCHASE AGREEMENT PROGRAM

A price support program has been announced for 1951-Crop Oats. The 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, 16 F. R. 1987, issued by the Commodity Credit Corporation and containing the general requirements with respect to price support operations for grains and related commodities produced in 1951, is supplemented as follows:

Sec.
601.951 Purpose.
601.952 Availability of price support.
601.953 Eligible oats.
601.954 Warehouse receipts.
601.955 Determination of quantity.
601.956 Determination of quality.
601.957 Maturity of loans.
601.958 Support rates.
601.959 Warehouse charges.
601.960 Settlement.

AUTHORITY: §§ 601.951 to 601.960 issued under sec. 4, 62 Stat. 1070, as amended; 15 U. S. C. Sup., 714b. Interpret or apply sec. 5, 62 Stat. 1072, secs. 301, 401, 63 Stat. 1051, 1054; 15 U. S. C. Sup., 714c; 7 U. S. C. Sup., 1447 1421.

§ 601.951 Purpose. Sections 601.951 to 601.960 state additional specific requirements which, together with the general requirements contained in the 1951 C. C. C. Grain Price Support Bulletin 1, 16 F. R. 1987, apply to loans and purchase agreements under the 1951-Crop Oats Price Support Program.

§ 601.952 Availability of price support. (a) Method of support. Price support will be available through farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and through purchase agreements.

(b) Area. Farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans and purchase agreements will be available wherever oats are grown in the continental United States, except that farm-storage loans will not be available in areas where the PMA State committee determines that oats cannot be safely stored on the farm.

(c) Where to apply. Application for price support should be made at the office of the PMA county committee which keeps the farm-program records for the farm.

(d) When to apply. Loans and purchase agreements will be available from the time of harvest through January 31, 1952, and the applicable documents must be signed by the producer—and delivered to the county committee not later than such date.

(e) Eligible producer. An eligible producer shall be an individual, partnership, association, corporation, or other legal entity producing oats in 1951 as landowner, landlord, tenant, or sharecropper.

§ 601.953 Eligible oats. At the time the oats are placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, the oats must meet the following requirements:

(a) The oats must have been produced in the continental United States in 1951 by an eligible producer.

(b) The beneficial interest in the oats must be in the person tendering the oats for loan or for delivery under a purchase agreement, and must always have been in him, or must have been in him and a former producer whom he succeeded before the oats were harvested.

(c) The oats must grade No. 3 or better. Feed oats and mixed feed oats will not be eligible.

(d) The oats must not grade Weevily, Smutty, Ergoty, Garlicky, Bleached, Thin or Tough, or be otherwise of low quality.

(e) If offered as security for a farm-storage loan, the oats must have been stored in the granary at least 30 days prior to their inspection for measurement, sampling, and sealing, unless otherwise approved by the PMA State committee.

§ 601.954 Warehouse receipts. Warehouse receipts representing oats in approved warehouse-storage to be placed under loan or delivered under a purchase agreement, must meet the following requirements:

(a) Warehouse receipts must indicate that the oats are insured, must be issued in the name of the producer, must be properly endorsed in blank so as to vest title in the holder, and must be issued on a warehouse approved by CCC under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement (insured by the warehouseman in accordance with the terms of the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement) or warehouses operated by eastern common carriers under tariffs approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission for which custodian agreements are in effect.

(b) Each warehouse receipt, or the warehouseman's supplemental certificate (in duplicate), properly identified with the warehouse receipt, must show: (1) Gross weight or bushels, (2) class, (3) grade, (4) test weight, and (5) any other grading factor(s) when such factor(s) and not test weight determine the grade.

(c) A separate warehouse receipt must be submitted for each grade of oats.

(d) The warehouse receipt may be subject to liens for warehouse charges only to the extent indicated in § 601.959.

§ 601.955 Determination of quantity. The quantity of oats placed under farm-storage loan may be determined either by weight or by measurement. The quantity of oats placed under a warehouse-storage loan or delivered under a farm-storage loan or under a purchase agreement shall be determined by weight.

When the quantity is determined by weight, a bushel shall be 32 pounds of oats. In determining the quantity of sacked oats by weight, a deduction of ¾ of a pound for each sack shall be made.

When the quantity of oats is determined by measurement, a bushel shall be 1.25 cubic feet of oats testing 32 pounds per bushel. The quantity so determined shall be adjusted for test weight by applying the applicable percentage as shown in the following table:

For oats testing	Percent
40 pounds or over	125
39 pounds or over, but less than 40 pounds	121
38 pounds or over, but less than 39 pounds	118
37 pounds or over, but less than 38 pounds	115
36 pounds or over, but less than 37 pounds	112
35 pounds or over, but less than 36 pounds	109
34 pounds or over, but less than 35 pounds	106
33 pounds or over, but less than 34 pounds	103
32 pounds or over, but less than 33 pounds	100
31 pounds or over, but less than 32 pounds	96
30 pounds or over, but less than 31 pounds	93
29 pounds or over, but less than 30 pounds	90
28 pounds or over, but less than 29 pounds	87
27 pounds or over, but less than 28 pounds	84

Since the percentage of dockage is not a grade factor in the case of oats, the quantity of oats will be determined without reference to dockage.

§ 601.956 Determination of quality. The grade, grading factors, and all other quality factors shall be determined in accordance with the methods set forth in the Official Grain Standards of the United States for Oats, whether or not such determinations are made on the basis of an official inspection.

§ 601.957 Maturity of loans. Loans mature on demand but not later than April 30, 1952.

§ 601.958 Support rates. Loans will be made, and oats delivered under purchase agreements will be purchased at the support rates set forth in this section. Both farm-storage and warehouse-storage loans will be made at the support rate established for the county in which the oats are stored. Support rates per bushel for oats grading No. 3, or better, are set forth below:

§ 601.959 Warehouse charges. Warehouse receipts and the oats represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement may be subject to liens for warehouse handling and storage charges at not to exceed the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement rates from the date the oats are deposited in the warehouse for storage.

Where the date of deposit (the date of the warehouse receipt if the date of deposit is not shown) on warehouse receipts representing oats stored in warehouses operating under the Uniform Grain Storage Agreement is on or before April 30, 1952, the storage charges per bushel shown in the following table shall be deducted in computing the amount of the loan or purchase price.

Date of deposit:	Amount of deduction (cents per bu.)

Apr. 9–Apr. 30	0

Warehouse receipts and the oats represented thereby stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers may be subject to liens for warehouse elevation (receiving and delivering) and storage charges from the date of deposit at rates approved by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

For oats stored in approved warehouses operated by Eastern common carriers, there shall be deducted in computing the loan or purchase price the amount of the approved tariff rates for storage (not including elevation) which will accumulate from the date of deposit to the program maturity date. The county committee shall request the PMA commodity office to determine the amount of such charges. Where the producer presents evidence showing that the elevation has been prepaid, the amount of the storage charges to be deducted shall be reduced by the amount of the elevation charge prepaid by the producer.

§ 601.960 Settlement—(a) Farm-storage loans. In the case of oats delivered to CCC from farm-storage under the loan program, settlement shall be made at the applicable support rate for the approved point of delivery. The support rate shall be applied to the total quantity of oats delivered.

If the oats under farm-storage loan are, upon delivery, of a grade and or quality for which no support rate has been established, the settlement value shall be the support rate established for the grade and or quality of the oats placed under loan, less the difference, if any, at the time of delivery, between the market price for the grade and or quality placed under loan and the market price of the oats delivered, as determined by CCC.

If farm-stored oats are delivered to CCC prior to April 30, 1952, upon request of the producer and with the approval of CCC, the loan settlement shall be reduced by the applicable rate of storage charges per bushel, determined according to the date of such delivery to CCC, as set forth in the table in § 601.959.

(b) Purchase agreement. Oats delivered to CCC under a purchase agreement must meet the requirements of oats eligible for loan. The purchase rate per bushel of eligible oats shall be the support rate established for the approved point of delivery, subject to deduction of warehouse charges in accordance with § 601.959.

(c) Track-loading. A track-loading payment of 2 cents per bushel shall be made to the producer on oats delivered to CCC on track at a country point.

Issued this 4th day of May 1951.

Vice President,
Commodity Credit Corporation.

Approved:

G. F. GEISSLER,
President,

TITLE 7—AGRICULTURE

Chapter III—Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Department of Agriculture

PART 301—DOMESTIC QUARANTINE NOTICES

SUBPART—WHITE-FRINGED BEETLE

WHITE-FRINGED BEETLE QUARANTINE REGULATIONS

On April 5, 1951, there was published in the FEDERAL REGISTER (16 F. R. 2972), a notice of proposed amendments of §§ 301.72–2, 301.72–3 (b), and 301.72–8 of the regulations supplemental to Notice of Quarantine No. 72 relating to white-fringed beetles (7 CFR 301.72 et seq., as amended, 15 F. R. 3716). After due consideration of all relevant matters presented and pursuant to the authority conferred upon me by the Plant Quarantine Act of 1912, as amended (7 U. S. C. 161), §§ 301.72–2, 301.72–3 (b), and 301.72–8 are hereby amended to read as follows:

§ 301.72–3 Regulated articles. • • •

(b) Articles the movement of which is regulated. Except as provided in administrative instructions, the movement of the following articles from any regulated area is regulated throughout the year:

(1) Soil, compost, manure, peat, muck, clay, sand, or gravel, whether moved independently of or in connection with or attached to nursery stock, plants, products, articles, or things, except that the movement of processed clay and washed or processed sand and gravel is not regulated.

(2) Nursery stock.

(3) Grass sod.

(4) Plant crowns or roots for propagation.

(5) Uncleaned grass, grain, and legume seed.

(6) Potatoes (Irish), when freshly harvested.

(7) True bulbs, corms, tubers, and rhizomes of ornamental plants, when freshly harvested or uncured.

(8) Hay and straw.

(9) Peanut shells and peanuts in shells.

(10) Seed cotton and cottonseed.

(11) Scrap metal and junk.

(12) Forest products, such as cordwood, stump wood, logs, lumber, timbers, posts, poles, and cross ties.

(13) Brick, tile, stone, concrete slabs, pipe, building blocks, and cinders.

(14) Other articles, products, or things, the movement of which may involve a hazard of spread of white-fringed beetles.

§ 301.72–8 Disinfesting vehicles, machinery, and other articles. When in the judgment of the inspector a hazard of spread of white-fringed beetles is involved, thorough cleaning, disinfestation, or other sanitary treatments of railway cars, trucks, other vehicles, machinery, implements, and other articles will be required by the inspector before they may be moved to points outside the regulated areas.

(Secs. 1, 3, 33 Stat. 1269, 1270, sec. 9, 37 Stat. 318; 7 U. S. C. 141, 143, 160. Interpret or apply sec. 8, 37 Stat. 318, as amended; 7 U. S. C. 161)

These amendments shall be effective May 10, 1951.

The purpose of these amendments is to add new territory to the regulated areas and to remove from regulation Clayton County, Georgia, and Robeson County, North Carolina, where no white-fringed beetles have been found for the last three years. Seed cotton and cottonseed, forest products and building materials are added to the list of regulated articles the interstate movement of which is regulated throughout the year. Prompt action on these changes is necessary in order to control the movement of articles from the infested areas, which might spread white-fringed beetles. Therefore, good cause is found, in accordance with section 4 (c) of the Administrative Procedure Act (5 U. S. C. 1003 (c)), for making the foregoing amendments effective less than 30 days after their publication.

Done at Washington, D. C., this 4th day of May 1951.

[SEAL] CHARLES F. BRANNAN,
Secretary of Agriculture.

2. Paragraph (c) of § 418.154 is amended with respect to wheat crops insured for 1951 to read as follows:

(c) Notwithstanding the provisions of paragraph (a) of this section the closing date for submitting applications in all counties with a March 31 closing date in Minnesota, Montana, North Dakota, and South Dakota is extended to April 21 for the 1951 crop year only.

3. Paragraph (f) of section 30 of the commodity coverage policy as shown in § 418.167 and paragraph (f) of section 30 of the monetary coverage policy as shown in § 418.168 are amended with respect to wheat crops insured for 1952 and succeeding crop years to read as follows:

30. Meaning of terms. • • •

(f) "New ground acreage", in all states except Montana, means any acreage which has not been planted to a crop in any one of the previous three crop years, except acreage in tame hay or rotation pasture during the previous crop year shall not be considered new ground acreage.

"New ground acreage" in Montana means any acreage which has not been planted to a crop in any one of the previous three crop years, except that acreage in tame hay or rotation pasture during the pervious crop year and acreage which has been properly summer fallowed the previous crop year in accordance with good farming practices in the area shall not be considered as new ground acreage.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on April 25, 1951.

3. Section 420.32 is amended to read as follows:

§ 420.32 Rounding of fractional units. In determining the coverage for the insurance unit the coverage (by area and by practice where applicable) for each crop on the insurance unit shall be rounded to dollars after each multiplication. The premium and the value of the total production shall be rounded to cents. Total production for each commodity shall be rounded to the applicable unit of measurement designated in the production schedule in the policy. The total insured acres (or applicable part thereof where different shares, practices or areas are involved) for each crop on an insurance unit shall be rounded to the unit of measurement for such acreage of that crop as shown on the county actuarial table, and other acreage figures for the crop shall be rounded to tenths of such unit of measurement. Computations shall be carried one digit beyond the digit that is to be rounded. If the last digit is 1, 2, 3, or 4, the rounding shall be downward. If the last digit is 5, 6, 7, 8, or 9, the rounding shall be upward.

4. Section 1 of the policy shown in § 420.33 is amended to read as follows:

1. Crops insured. The crops to be insured shall be those crops which are specified on the attached rider until changed pursuant to the provisions of this policy. If the insured plants any part of his insurable crops for purposes other than that shown on the attached rider, he shall submit with his acreage report a designation of any acreage so planted. Upon approval of the Corporation, the acreage used in computing the premium and total coverage shall not include acreage so designated. However, any production harvested from such acreage shall be considered as production on the insured acreage in determining any loss under the contract.

5. Section 24 of the policy shown in § 420.33 is amended by adding the following:

(i) "Harvest" with respect to any acreage of cotton means the removal (by manual or mechanical means) of an amount of cotton from the stalk which is equal in value (based on the predetermined price) to 10 percent or more of the coverage for such acreage.

6. Section 25 of the policy shown in § 420.33 is amended by designating the existing text as paragraph (a) and adding the following:

(b) The insured's annual premium for any year may be reduced 25 percent if he has had seven consecutive years of insured crops under a Federal crop insurance contract without a loss for which an indemnity was paid. Credit for consecutive years of good experience under any other existing Federal crop insurance contract will not be transferred to the multiple crop contract if the insured is eligible to receive a premium discount based on consecutive years of good experience or based on an accumulated balance of premiums over indemnities under such existing contract. Nothing in this paragraph shall create in the insured any right to a reduced premium.

7. Paragraph (b) of § 420.34 is changed to read as follows: "(b) the manner in which losses shall be determined including the method of providing any insurance protection against loss of quality."

8. The following section is added:

§ 420.35 Predetermined prices. For each insurable crop in each county, the Corporation shall establish a predetermined price for evaluating production. Predetermined prices so established shall be shown on the county actuarial table and shall be on file in the county office and may be revised from year to year as the Corporation may elect.

Adopted by the Board of Directors on April 25, 1951.

(Secs. 506, 516, 52 Stat. 73, 77, as amended; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 1506, 1516. Interpret or apply secs. 507–509, 52 Stat. 73–75; 7 U. S. C. and Sup., 1507–1509)

TITLE 14—CIVIL AVIATION

Chapter I—Civil Aeronautics Board

Subchapter A—Civil Air Regulations

[Civil Air Regs., Amdt. 26–12]

PART 20—PILOT CERTIFICATES

KNOWLEDGE, EXPERIENCE, AND SKILL REQUIREMENTS FOR PRIVATE PILOT RATING; PRIVATE GLIDER PILOT

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May 1951.

A study of accidents in 1948 and 1949 involving private pilots, which was recently conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, indicates the need for revision in our standards of aeronautical knowledge, experience, and skill for applicants for a private pilot rating. Pilot error was shown to be the principal or contributing cause of most of these accidents, owing, in the main, to the possession of insufficient information, instruction, or experience. Seventy-six percent of the accidents studied involved pilots with not more than 51 to 300 hours of flying experience. Their errors arose frequently in the course of cross-country flying while mishandling flight controls, or landing on or taking off from unsuitable terrain, or they were the result of faulty flight planning, especially in reckoning with weather, faulty navigation, or violations of Civil Air Regulations.

A number of the following regulations are intended to require applicant for a private pilot rating: (1) To pass a more comprehensive written examination, including questions on regulations affecting the safe operation of aircraft, and (2) to gain special instruction and experience in dealing with the problems attendant upon cross-country flight. It is believed that, consistent with the best interests of safety, these amendments will serve to reduce the number of accidents caused in whole or in part by pilot error by raising the required level of competence among private pilots.

In addition, certain of the following regulations, together with concurrent amendments of Parts 43 and 50, are intended to revise, as far as practicable, our standards of aeronautical knowledge, experience, and skill for applicants for private glider pilot ratings, so that they shall be consistent with international standards established under Amendment 65 of Annex 1 to the Convention on International Civil Aviation. The principal changes effected by these regulations concern an increase in the age minimum from 14 to 16 years and the inclusion of meteorology, theory of flight, and glider operating limitations among our knowledge requirements.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 20 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 20, as amended) effective August 1, 1951:

1. By amending § 20.20 (b) to read as follows:

§ 20.20 Age. • • •
(b) Glider. 16 years.

2. By amending § 20.24 to read as follows:

§ 20.24 Aeronautical knowledge—(a) Powered aircraft. An applicant for a powered aircraft rating shall have passed within the preceding 24 months a written examination based on Parts 43, 60, and 62 of the Civil Air Regulations and on practical aspects of cross-country flight planning, weather recognition, pilotage, dead reckoning, and general safety practices in the operation of aircraft.

(b) Glider. An applicant for a glider rating shall demonstrate a knowledge of such portions of Parts 43, 60, and 62 as are pertinent to glider operations and of aeronautical charts, meteorology in relation to glider flights, navigation and other instruments used in the operation of gliders, theory of flight, and glider operating limitations.

3. By amending § 20.25 to read as follows:

§ 20.25 Aeronautical experience—(a) Powered aircraft. Each applicant for a powered aircraft rating, whether he has obtained his flight experience in spinnable, non-spinnable, two-control, or three-control aircraft, shall have not less than 25 hours of solo flight time and 15 hours of dual instruction time given by a rated flight instructor: Provided, That if the applicant holds a private or commercial pilot certificate with a glider rating, he may receive credit for not more than 10 hours of the required solo flight time for equal flight time obtained in gliders. Each applicant shall in addition meet the requirements of subparagraphs (1) through (3) of this paragraph.

(1) At least 10 hours of the required solo flight time shall be cross-country flight time. Each solo cross-country flight shall include a landing at a point more than 25 miles from the point of departure, and at least one flight shall include a landing at a point more than 100 miles from the point of departure.

(2) After the applicant's first solo flight, at least 5 hours of dual instruction time shall be given in cross-country flying, of which not less than 3 hours shall be given before his first solo cross-country flight.

(3) Dual instruction time shall include instructions in the prevention of and recovery from power-on and power-off stalls entered from all normally anticipated flight attitudes.

(b) Glider. Each applicant for a glider rating shall have made at least 100 glider flights, or have acquired 10 hours of glider flight time including at least 50 glider flights. The total number of required flights shall include at least (1) 25 glider flights during each of which a 360° turn is made; (2) 1 hour of flight instruction in the recovery from stalls entered from all normally anticipated flight attitudes; (3) 2 hours in the aggregate during which the applicant is the sole occupant of the glider; and (4) at least 3 hours in a glider suitable for cross-country flight.

4. By amending § 20.26 to read as follows:

§ 20.26 Aeronautical skill. An applicant shall exercise reasonable judgment, coordination, and smoothness in the execution of all flight maneuvers, any of which, however, may be modified or eliminated if not consistent with the characteristics of the aircraft used in the flight test and if appropriate operation limitations are entered on the rating record. If an applicant's medical certificate shows a structural defect or limitation, such additional maneuvers and tests shall be required as may be necessary to demonstrate the competence of the applicant to pilot aircraft safely, and appropriate operation limitations shall be entered on the rating record. Except as thus provided, each applicant shall satisfactorily accomplish a practical examination with respect to the following procedures and maneuvers:

(a) Airplane. (1) Preflight inspection, starting, taxying, and run-up check of aircraft before take off;

(2) Planning of a cross-country flight to a specified destination, reckoning with weather conditions, fuel requirements, check points, estimated time of arrival, and available alternate airports, and accomplishing such portion of the planned flight, including change of course to an alternate airport, as is necessary to demonstrate proficiency in cross-country flying;

(3) Straight and level flight, left and right medium banked turns, left and right climbing and gliding turns at normal and at minimum controllable speeds, and recovery from power-on and power-off stalls entered from all normally anticipated flight attitudes;

(4) Turns while maintaining a constant radius, or track, around a point, or area, including a 720° turn in each direction in a banked attitude of more than 45°;

(5) Normal and cross-wind take-offs and landings following appropriate traffic control procedures of the airport involved, using power, flaps, and slips at the applicant's discretion for assistance in landing;

(6) Simulated emergencies, including one short or soft-field take-off, and one landing, if in single-engine aircraft, with engine throttled and using flaps, slips, or both, for assistance; or, if in multi-engine aircraft, in accordance with proper engine-out procedure.

(b) Glider. (1) At least 2 flights, one of which shall include a 360° approach to the right and one to the left, landing each time within 200 feet beyond a designated line or point;

(2) Recovery from stalls entered from all normally anticipated flight attitudes. (Stall maneuvers may be demonstrated in airplanes.)

(c) Rotorcraft. As prescribed by the Administrator appropriate to the type of rotorcraft used.

5. By amending § 20.40 (b) to read as follows:

§ 20.40 Aircraft rating competence. • • •

(b) A private pilot limited by his rating to nonspinnable airplanes may have this limitation removed by making application to the Administrator and by showing that he meets the experience requirements of § 20.25. In this case the dual cross-country instruction required need not have been received before any solo cross-country flight.

PART 22—LIGHTER-THAN-AIR PILOT CERTIFICATES

FREE BALLOON PILOT

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May 1951.

Concurrent with amendments of Parts 20, 43, and 50, this amendment effects changes in the Civil Air Regulations to conform to international standards established under the Convention on International Civil Aviation. This regulation is intended to implement Amendment 66 of Annex 1 to the Convention by reducing the age minimum of an applicant for a free balloon pilot certificate from 18 to 17 years and by requiring him to make 8 ascents of an average duration of 2 hours, including 6 ascents under proper supervision, of which 1 ascent while in control shall be to 10,000 feet, 2 ascents shall be at night, and 1 ascent as sole occupant of the ballon.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this rule, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 22 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 22, as amended) effective August 1, 1951:

By amending § 22.13 (a) and (g) to read as follows:

§ 22.13 Free balloon pilot certificate. • • •

(a) Age. Applicant shall be at least 17 years of age.

• • • • •

(g) Aeronautical experience. Applicant shall have made not less than 8 ascents of an average duration of 2 hours, including 6 ascents under the supervision of a certificated free balloon pilot, 1 ascent in control to an altitude of 10,000 feet under such supervision, 2 night ascents of an average duration of 2 hours each under such supervision, and 1 ascent as the sole occupant of the balloon.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 602, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[Supp. 3]

PART 27—AIRCRAFT DISPATCHER CERTIFICATES

REQUIREMENTS FOR APPROVED AIRCRAFT DISPATCHER COURSE

Proposed rules regarding compliance with § 27.7–1 were published on January 3, 1951, in 16 F. R. 14–16. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit data, views, or arguments. Consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. The following rules are hereby adopted. The section of the regulations being implemented is repeated here to assist the public in understanding how the Administrator's rules apply to it.

§ 27.7 Aeronautical experience. (a) Applicant shall have served in scheduled air carrier or scheduled military operations for 2 of the immediately preceding 3 years as:

(1) A pilot member of the crew; or

(2) A flight radio operator or ground radio operator; or

(3) A flight navigator; or

(4) A meteorologist in a dispatch organization dispatching aircraft; or

(5) A technical supervisor of aircraft dispatchers; or

(6) An assistant in dispatching of scheduled military aircraft; or

(b) Applicant shall have served for 2 of the immediately preceding 3 years as an air traffic controller; or

(c) Any combination of experience in paragraph (a), or in paragraphs (a) and (b) of this section, provided each is at least one year; or

(d) Applicant shall have served as an assistant in the dispatching of scheduled air carrier aircraft under the supervision of a certificated aircraft dispatcher for at least one year within the immediately preceding 2 years; or

(e) Applicant shall be a graduate of an aircraft dispatcher course approved by the Administrator.

§ 27.7–1 Requirements for approved aircraft dispatcher course (CAA rules which apply to § 27.7 (e)).—(a) General. Graduates of an aircraft dispatcher course approved by the Administrator are deemed to have met the aeronautical experience requirements for the aircraft dispatcher certificate. This means that they are accepted on equal terms with an applicant who has met any of the alternate minimum experience requirements provided for in § 27.7. For this reason it is essential that the requirements for approved aircraft dispatcher courses include adequate training facilities, and sufficient coverage of the subject matter to insure acceptable proficiency of persons applying for aircraft dispatcher certification as graduates of an approved course.

(b) Application for approval. The agency or applicant desiring approval of a flight dispatcher course must submit to the local agent 3 copies of the course outline, a description of the equipment and facilities to be used, and a list of instructors with their qualifications, together with a letter to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics requesting approval of the course of study. The letter requesting approval shall be submitted to the nearest regional office of the Civil Aeronautics Administration through the local Aviation Safety Agent.

(1) Training course outline. It is not mandatory that the training course outline have the subject headings arranged exactly as listed in the following example. Any arrangement of headings and subheadings will be satisfactory provided all the subjects listed in this section are included. Each general subject of the outline shall be broken down, in detail, showing the items to be covered. Additional subjects, especially those which are not closely associated with the training of aircraft dispatchers, may be listed so long as the hourly requirements devoted to the subjects are not included as a part of the basic minimum hours.

(2) Format of the training outline. The course outline submitted for approval shall be in loose-leaf form and shall include a table of contents and minimum coverage of the course material shall include the following:

(c) Facilities, equipment, and material. Applicant for authority to operate an approved aircraft dispatcher course of study shall have the following facilities, equipment, and materials:

(1) Facilities. Suitable classrooms, adequate to accomodate the largest number of students scheduled for attendance at any one time. Such classrooms shall be properly heated, lighted, and ventilated.

(2) Equipment and materials. Suitable devices for the teaching of simulated instrument flight, navigation, meteorology, and Morse Code, acceptable textbooks, operations manuals, wall maps, charts, blackboards, and visual aids of a quantity which will provide for each student the theoretical and practical aspects of aircraft dispatching.

(d) Instructors. (1) The number of instructors available for conducting the course of study shall be determined according to the needs and facilities of the applicant. However, the ratio of students per instructor shall not exceed 25 students for one instructor.

(2) At least one instructor who possesses a currently effective aircraft dispatcher certificate shall be available for coordination of the training course instruction.

(e) Revision of training course. Requests for revision of course outlines, facilities, and equipment shall be accomplished in the same manner established for securing approval of the original course of study. Revisions shall be submitted in such form that an entire page or pages of the approved outline can be removed and replaced by the revision.

The list of instructors may be revised at any time without request for approval, provided the minimum requirements are maintained and the local agent is notified.

(f) Credit for previous experience or training. A course operator may evaluate an entrant's previous experience or training and where the training or experience is provable and comparable to portions of the approved course curriculum, may, as each individual case warrants, allow credit for such, commensurate with accepted training practices. Where credit is allowed, the basis for allowance and the total hours credited shall be incorporated as a part of the student's records, provided for in paragraph (g) of this section.

(g) Student records and reports. Approval of a course shall not be continued in effect unless the course operator keeps an accurate record of each student, including a chronological log of all instructions, subjects covered, and course examinations and grades, and unless he prepares and transmits to the CAA not later than January 31 of each year, a report containing the following information:

(1) The names of all students graduated, together with school grades for aircraft dispatcher courses.

(2) The names of all students failed or dropped, together with school grades and reasons for dropping. (A sample form is included in Appendix A [1] for your guidance.)

(h) Quality of instruction. Approval of a course shall not be continued in effect unless at least 80 percent of the students who apply within 90 days after graduation are able to qualify on the first attempt for certification as aircraft dispatchers.

(i) Statement of graduation. Each student who successfully completes the approved aircraft dispatcher course shall be given a statement of graduation. An acceptable statement of graduation is:

CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION.
Washington 25, D. C.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that ---------- on (Name of graduate)
---------- successfully completed a course of training for aircraft dispatchers which is approved by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.
(Date of graduation)

Signed ----------
Title ----------
School ----------

(j) Change of ownership, name, or location—(1) Change of ownership. Approval of an aircraft dispatcher course shall not be continued in effect after the course has changed ownership. The new owner must obtain a new approval by following the procedure prescribed for original approval.

(2) Change in name. An approved course changed in name but not changed in ownership shall remain valid if the change is reported by the approved course operator to the local agent who will issue a letter of approval under the new name.

(3) Change in location. An approved course shall remain in effect even though the approved course operator changes location if the change is reported without delay by the operator to the local agent who will inspect the facilities to be used in the new location and, if they are found to be adequate, issue a letter of approval showing the new location.

(k) Cancellation of approval. Failure to meet or maintain any of the standards set forth herein for the approval or operation of an approved aircraft dispatcher course shall be considered sufficient reason for discontinuing approval of the course.

If an operator desires voluntary cancellation of his approved course, a letter requesting cancellation shall be directed to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics through the local agent.

(l) Duration. The authority to operate an approved aircraft dispatcher course of study shall expire twenty-four months after the last day of the month of issuance: Provided, That any such authorization which was granted prior to December 1, 1949, shall expire on December 31, 1951.

(m) Renewal. Application for renewal of an approved aircraft dispatcher course shall be made by letter addressed to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics through the local Aviation Safety Agent at any time within sixty days of the expiration date. Renewal of approval will depend on the course operator's meeting the current conditions of course approval and having a satisfactory record as a course operator.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 602, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552)

These rules shall become effective May 11, 1951.

[Supp. 4]

PART 34—FLIGHT NAVIGATOR CERTIFICATES

REQUIREMENTS FOR APPROVED FLIGHT NAVIGATOR COURSES

Proposed rules regarding compliance with § 34.6–1 were published on January 3, 1951, in 16 F. R. 16–17. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit data, views, or arguments. Consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. The following rules are hereby adopted. The section of the regulations being implemented is repeated here to assist the public in understanding how the Administrator's rules apply to it.

§ 34.6 Experience. (a) Applicant shall:

(1) Have at least 200 hours of satisfactory flight navigation including celestial and radio navigation and dead reckoning: Provided, That a pilot who has logged 500 hours of cross-country flight, of which 100 hours shall have been at night, may be credited with not more than 100 hours toward this experience; and

(2) Have satisfactorily determined his position in flight not less than 25 times by night by celestial observations and not less than 25 times by day by celestial observations in conjunction with other aids; or

(b) Applicant shall be a graduate of a flight navigator course approved by the Administrator.

§ 34.6–1 Requirements for approved flight navigator courses (CAA rules which apply to § 34.6 (b))—(a) General. A graduate of an approved flight navigator course is deemed to have met the minimum experience requirements for the flight navigator certificate. For this reason, it is essential that an approved course of training for flight navigators include sufficient coverage of the subject to insure the required minimum proficiency of applicants who apply for certification as graduates of an approved course.

(b) Application for approval. An agency or applicant desiring approval of a flight navigator course must submit to the local Aviation Safety District Office three copies of the course outline, a description of the facilities and equipment to be used, and a list of instructors with their qualifications, together with a letter to the Administrator requesting approval.

(c) Training course outline—(1) Format. The ground course outline and the flight course outline shall be combined in one loose-leaf binder and shall include a table of contents divided into two parts—ground course and flight course. Each part of the table of contents must contain a list of the major subjects, together with hours allotted to each subject and the total classroom and flight hours.

(2) Ground course outline. It is not mandatory that a course outline have the subject headings arranged exactly as listed in this subparagraph. Any arrangement of general headings and subheadings will be satisfactory provided all the subject material listed here is included and the acceptable minimum number of hours is assigned to each subject. Each general subject shall be broken down into detail showing items to be covered.

If any agency desires to include additional subjects in the ground training curriculum, such as international law, flight hygiene, or others which are not required, the hours allotted these additional subjects may not be included in the minimum classroom hours.

The following subjects with classroom hours are considered the minimum coverage for a ground training course for flight navigators:

Subject	Classroom hours
Civil Air Regulations	5
To include: Part 34. Part 40. Part 41. Part 42. Part 43. Part 60.
Meteorology	40
To include: Basic weather principles. Temperature. Pressure. Winds. Moisture in the atmosphere. Stability. Clouds. Hazards. Air masses. Frontal weather. Fog. Thunderstorms. Icing. World weather and climate. Weather maps and weather reports. Forecasting.
International Morse Code: Ability to receive code groups of letters and numerals at a speed of eight words per minute.
Navigation Instruments (exclusive of radio and radar)	20
To include: Compasses. Pressure altimeters. Air-speed indicators. Driftmeters. Bearing indicators. Aircraft octants. Instrument calibration and alignment.
Charts and Pilotage	15
To include: Chart projections. Chart symbols. Principles of pilotage.
Dead Reckoning	30
To include: Air plot. Ground plot. Calculation of ETA. Vector analysis. Use of computer. Search.
Absolute Altimeter with Applications	15
To include: Principles of construction. Operating instructions. Use of Bellamy's formula. Flight planning with average drift.
Radio and Long Range Navigational Aids	35
To include: Principles of radio transmission and reception. Radio aids to navigation. Government publications. Airborne D F equipment.

Subject	Classroom hours
Radio and Long Range Navigational Aids—Continued
To include: Errors of radio bearings. Quadrantal correction. Plotting radio bearings. ICAO Q code for direction finding. Loran. Consol.
Celestial Navigation	150
To include: The solar system. The celestial sphere. The astronomical triangle. Theory of lines of position. Use of the American air almanac. Time and its applications. Navigation tables. Precomputation. Celestial line of position approach. Star identification. Corrections to celestial observations.
Flight Planning and Cruise Control	25
To include: The flight plan. Fuel consumption charts. Methods of cruise control. Flight progress chart. Point-of-no-return. Equitime point.
Long Range Flight Problems	15
Total (exclusive of final examinations)	350

(3) Flight course outline. (i) A minimum of 150 hours of supervised flight training shall be given, of which at least 50 hours of flight training must be given at night, and celestial navigation must be used during flights which total at least 125 hours.

(ii) A maximum of 50 hours of the required flight training may be obtained in acceptable types of synthetic flight navigator training devices.

(iii) Training must be given in dead reckoning, pilotage, radio navigation, celestial navigation, and use of the absolute altimeter.

(iv) Flights should be at least four hours in length and should be conducted off civil airways. Some training on long range flights is desirable, but is not required. There is no limit to the number of students that may be trained on one flight, but at least one astrodome or one periscopic sextant mounting must be provided for each group of four students.

(d) Equipment. (1) Classroom equipment shall include one table at least 24" x 32" in dimensions for each student.

(2) Aircraft suitable for the flight training must be available to the approved course operator to insure that the flight training may be completed without undue delay. The approved course operator may contract or obtain written agreements with aircraft operators for the use of suitable aircraft. A copy of the contract or written agreement with an aircraft operator shall be attached to each of the three copies of the course outline submitted for approval. In all cases, the approved course operator is responsible for the nature and quality of instruction given during flight.

(e) Instructors. (1) Sufficient classroom instructors must be available to prevent an excessive ratio of students to instructors. Any ratio in excess of 20 to 1 will be considered unsatisfactory.

(2) At least one ground instructor must hold a valid flight navigator certificate, and be utilized to coordinate instruction of ground school subjects.

(3) Each instructor who conducts flight training must hold a valid flight navigator certificate.

(f) Revision of training course. (1) Requests for revisions to course outlines, facilities, and equipment shall follow procedures for original approval of the course. Revisions should be submitted in such form that an entire page or pages of the approved outline can be removed and replaced by the revisions.

(2) The list of instructors may be revised at any time without request for approval, provided the minimum requirement of paragraph (e) of this section is maintained.

(g) Credit for previous training and experience. (1) Credit may be granted by an operator to students for previous training and experience which is provable and comparable to portions of the approved curriculum. When granting such credit, the approved course operator should be fully cognizant of the fact that he is responsible for the proficiency of his graduates in accordance with paragraph (i) of this section.

(2) Where advanced credit is allowed, the operator shall evaluate the student's previous training and experience in accordance with the normal practices of accredited technical schools. Before credit is given for any ground school subject or portion thereof, the student must pass an appropriate examination given by the operator. The results of the examination, the basis for credit allowance, and the hours credited shall be incorporated as a part of the student's records.

(h) Student records and reports. Approval of a course shall not be continued in effect unless the course operator keeps an accurate record of each student, including a chronological log of all instruction, subjects covered, and course examinations and grades, and unless he prepares and transmits to the local Aviation Safety District Office not later than January 31 of each year, a report containing the following information:

(1) The names of all students graduated, together with their school grades for ground flight subjects.

(2) The names of all students failed or dropped, together with their school grades and reasons for dropping. (A sample form is included in Appendix A [1] for your guidance.)

(i) Quality of instruction. Approval of a course shall not be continued in effect unless at least 80 percent of the students who apply within 90 days after graduation are able to qualify on the first attempt for certification as flight navigators.

(j) Statement of graduation. Each student who successfully completes an approved flight navigator course shall be given a statement of graduation. An acceptable statement of graduation is:

[1] Not filed with the Federal Register Division.

[1] Not filed with the Federal Register Division.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that ------ ---------- on

(k) Change of ownership, name, or location—(1) Change of ownership. Approval of a flight navigator course shall not be continued in effect after the course has changed ownership. The new owner must obtain a new approval by following the procedure prescribed for original approval.

(2) Change in name. An approved course changed in name but not changed in ownership shall remain valid if the change is reported by the approved course operator to the local Aviation Safety District Office. A letter of approval under the new name will be issued by the regional office.

(3) Change in location. An approved course shall remain in effect even though the approved course operator changes location if the change is reported without delay by the operator to the local Aviation Safety District Office, which will inspect the facilities to be used in the new location. If they are found to be adequate, a letter of approval showing the new location will be issued by the regional office.

(l) Cancellation of approval. (1) Failure to meet or maintain any of the requirements set forth in this section for the approval or operation of an approved flight navigator course shall be considered sufficient reason for cancellation of the approval.

(2) If an operator should desire voluntary cancellation of his approved course, he should submit the effective letter of approval and a written request for cancellation to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics through the local Aviation Safety District Office.

(m) Duration. The authority to operate an approved flight navigator course shall expire 24 months after the last day of the month of issuance: Provided, That any such authorization which was granted prior to December 1, 1949, shall expire on December 31, 1951.

(n) Renewal. Application for renewal of authority to operate an approved flight navigator course may be made by letter to the local Aviation Safety District Office at any time within 60 days prior to the expiration date. Renewal of approval will depend upon the course operator meeting the current conditions for approval and having a satisfactory record as an operator.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply sec. 601, 602, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552)

These rules shall become effective May 11, 1951.

PART 35—FLIGHT ENGINEER CERTIFICATES

REQUIREMENTS FOR APPROVED FLIGHT ENGINEER COURSES

Proposed rules regarding compliance with § 35.6–1 were published on January 3, 1951, in 16 F. R. 17–19. Interested persons were afforded an opportunity to submit data, views, or arguments. Consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented. The following rules are hereby adopted. The section of the regulations being implemented is repeated here to assist the public in understanding how the Administrator's rules apply to it.

§ 35.6 Experience. Each applicant for a flight engineer certificate shall:

(a) Have had at least 3 years of diversified practical experience in the maintenance and repair of aircraft and aircraft engines, of which one year shall have been in the maintenance and repair of multiengine aircraft of a type used in air carrier operations and having engines rated at least at 800 horsepower each; or

(b) Be a graduate of at least a two-year specialized aeronautical training course in the maintenance, repair, and overhaul of aircraft and aircraft engines, of which at least six months shall be in the maintenance and repair of multiengine aircraft of a type used in air carrier operations and having engines rated at least at 800 horsepower each; or

(c) Have had at least 100 hours of flight experience in the duties of a flight engineer; or

(d) Have satisfactorily completed a course of ground and flight instruction in at least the items specified in § 35.7 which the Administrator has found adequate for the training of a flight engineer; or

(e) Have had at least 200 hours of flight time as pilot in command of an aircraft having 4 engines or more.

§ 35.6–1 Requirements for approved flight engineer courses (CAA rules which apply to § 35.6 (d))—(a) General. (1) Section 35.6 provides that an applicant for a flight engineer certificate shall have met certain specified experience requirements or be a graduate of a flight engineer course approved by the Administrator.

(2) Graduates of a flight engineer course approved by the Administrator are deemed to have met the experience requirements for the certificate. This means that they are accepted on equal terms with an applicant who has met the minimum experience requirements. For these reasons, it is essential that the requirements for approved flight engineer courses include adequate training facilities and sufficient coverage of the subject to insure acceptable proficiency of flight engineers who apply for certification as graduates of an approved course.

(b) Training course outline and application for approval—(1) Application for approval. The agency or applicant desiring approval of a flight engineer course must submit to the local CAA Aviation Safety District Office three copies of the course outline, a description of the facilities and equipment to be used, and a list of instructors with their qualifications, together with a letter to the Administrator requesting approval.

(2) Training course outline. (i) It is not mandatory that the training course outline have the subject headings arranged exactly as listed in the following example. Any arrangement of general headings and subheadings will be satisfactory provided all the subject material listed here is included. Each general subject of the outline shall be broken down in detail showing items to be covered.

(ii) A complete and separate course outline is required for each type of aircraft (Lockheed Constellation, Douglas DC–4, Douglas DC–6, Boeing 307, Boeing 377, etc.) for which approval of flight engineer training is requested.

(iii) Additional subjects, such as international law, flight hygiene, radio repair, flight radio operation, flight navigation, or others not closely associated with flight engineering, may not be included in hourly requirements of the approved training outline. If an operator desires to add such subjects to a training course outline, they shall be separated from the required flight engineer subjects, and the time devoted thereto shall not be applied toward meeting the established time minimums.

(3) Format of training outline. The ground course outline and the flight course outline shall be combined in one loose-leaf binder and shall include a table of contents divided into two parts, ground course and flight course. Each part of the table of contents must contain a list of the major subjects, together with hours allotted to each subject and the total classroom and flight hours.

(4) Ground course outline. The following subjects and classroom hours are considered the minimum coverage for the ground training portion of the flight engineer course:

Subject	Classroom hours
Theory of Flight and Aerodynamics	10
Basic Maintenance of Aircraft	20
Aircraft structures.
Aircraft systems.
Aircraft power plants.
Servicing methods and precautions.

Part 35.
Part 41.
Part 60.
Part 61.
Total required classroom instruction time	250

Theory of Flight and Aerodynamics, Basic Maintenance of Aircraft, and Civil Air Regulations need not apply to any specific type of aircraft. The remaining major headings must apply to the same type aircraft in which the student receives the required minimum hours of flight training.

(5) Flight course outline. The following subjects and flight training hours are considered the minimum coverage for the flight training portion of the flight engineer course:

Subject

Normal Flight Duties and Operation:
- Power control.
- Power computation.
- Temperature control.
- Normal engine operation analysis.
- Fuel system management.
- Cabin pressure control.
- Operation of all systems.
- Long range operation.
- Fuel consumption computation.

Recognition of Malfunctioning and Trouble Shooting:
- Analysis of abnormal engine operation.
- Analysis of trouble in all systems.
- Temporary repairs.

Emergency Flight Duties and Operation:
- Engine fire control.
- Aircraft fire control.
- Smoke control.
- Loss of power in each system.
- Gear and flap, extension, and retraction.
- Propeller feathering and unfeathering.
- Runaway propellers.

The minimum flight time shall be 25 hours.

The flight training curriculum must provide for the minimum of twenty-five hours of flight instruction in a specified type of aircraft having four engines or more. If a student is to receive flight training in more than one type aircraft, the flight time in one can not be applied to the flight time in another for the purpose of obtaining the required minimum.

To obtain credit for flight instruction time, the student must occupy the seat provided for the regular flight engineer on the aircraft being flown and must operate the controls in a manner which will provide experience in the subjects listed in the flight course outline. Student observation of another crew member or another student performing such duties or operations is not considered adequate training.

Only one student may be credited with flight time during any one period of flight. If two or more students are carried on the same flight, each student shall be credited only with the flight time he has actually spent at the controls under the supervision of a qualified flight engineer.

A maximum of twelve and one-half hours of the required flight training may be obtained in acceptable types of synthetic training devices. To be acceptable, the synthetic flight training device must closely resemble the flight engineer station of the airplane in which the flight training will be given. Such resemblance need not include external similarity between the trainer and the airplane; however, the flight engineer station, controls, and instrumentation should be installed in such a manner that the student will not require extensive familiarization upon entering the actual airplane.

Synthetic flight training devices must include the following instrumentation and equipment:

(i) All engine instruments and engine controls which are normally carried in the aircraft.

(ii) All instruments and controls required for operation of the aircraft systems, including electrical system, hydraulic system, vacuum system, and air pressure system (flight controls excepted).

(iii) An altimeter, an air-speed indicator, a rate of climb indicator, an outside air temperature gauge, and a clock.

(iv) Cabin supercharger controls and instruments identical to those used in the type of aircraft concerned.

The instruments must be coupled to the various controls in such a manner that all instruments will respond automatically and normally to adjustment of pertinent controls.

A method shall be provided to separately control each instrument in order to present indications of malfunctioning to the student.

(c) Equipment. (1) Classroom equipment shall include wall charts for each general system of the aircraft and its power plants.

(2) Aircraft suitable for the flight training must be available to the approved course operator to insure that the flight training may be completed without undue delay. The approved course operator may contract or obtain written agreements with aircraft operators for the use of suitable aircraft. A copy of the contract or written agreement with an aircraft operator shall be attached to each of the three copies of the course outline submitted for approval. In all cases, the approved course operator is responsible for the nature and quality of instructions given during flight.

(d) Instructors. (1) Sufficient classroom instructors must be available to prevent an excessive ratio of students to instructors. Any ratio in excess of 25 to 1 will be considered unsatisfactory.

(2) At least one instructor who possesses a valid flight engineer certificate must be available for coordination of ground course instruction.

(3) Instructors who conduct flight training must possess valid flight engineer certificates.

(e) Revision of training course. Requests for revisions to course outline, facilities, and equipment shall follow procedures for original approval of the course. Revisions should be submitted in such form that an entire page or pages of the approved outline can be removed and replaced by the revisions.

The list of instructors may be revised at any time without request for approval, provided the minimum requirement of paragraph (d) of this section is maintained.

(f) Credit for previous training and experience. (1) Credit may be granted by an operator to students for previous training and experience which is provable and comparable to portions of the approved curriculum. When granting such credit, the approved course operator should be fully cognizant of the fact that he is responsible for the proficiency of his graduates in accordance with paragraph (h) of this section.

(2) Where advanced credit is allowed, the operator shall evaluate the student's previous training and experience in accordance with the normal practices of accredited technical schools. Before credit is given for any ground school subject or portion thereof, the student must pass an appropriate examination given by the operator. The results of the examination, a summary of the experience or training used as a basis for credit allowance, and the hours credited shall be incorporated as a part of the student's records.

(g) Student records and reports. Approval of a course shall not be continued in effect unless the course operator keeps an accurate record of each student, including a chronological log of all instruction, attendance, subjects covered, credits granted, examinations and examination grades, and unless he prepares and transmits to the Civil Aeronautics Administration not later than January 31 of each year a report containing the following information:

(1) The names of all students graduated and date of graduation.

(2) The ground course grades of each student.

(3) The flight course grades of each student.

(4) The total ground course hours for each student.

(5) The total flight instruction time for each student.

(6) The names of all students failed or dropped, together with dates, school grades, and reasons for dropping. (A sample form is included in Appendix A [1] for your guidance.)

(h) Quality of instruction. The quality of instruction shall be such that at least eighty per cent of the students who apply within ninety days after graduation will be able to qualify on the first attempt for certification as flight engineer.

(j) Statement of graduation. Each student who successfully completes the approved flight engineer course shall be given a statement of graduation. An acceptable statement of graduation is:

CIVIL AERONAUTICS ADMINISTRATION,
Washington 25, D. C.

GENTLEMEN: This is to certify that _____ (Name of graduate) on _____ (Date of graduation) successfully completed a course of training for flight engineers which is approved by the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics.

Signed _____
Title _____
School _____

(j) Cancellation of approval. (1) The failure to meet or maintain any of the requirements established herein for the approval and operation of an approved course of study shall be considered sufficient grounds for cancellation of the approval to operate an approved course of study.

(2) If an approved course operator should desire voluntary cancellation of the course of study, he should submit a letter to the Administrator of Civil Aeronautics through the local agent requesting cancellation and surrendering his letter of approval.

(k) Change of ownership, name, or location—(1) Change of ownership. Approval of a flight engineer course shall not be continued in effect after the course has changed ownership. The new owner must obtain a new approval by following the procedure prescribed for original approval.

(2) Change of name or location. Approval of a flight engineer course shall not be continued in effect when there is a change in name or location of an approved course operation by the same owner, unless the change in name or location is reported immediately by the owner to the local Aviation Safety office and the standards established in this manual are maintained, in which case a letter of approval showing the new name or location will be issued to the operator.

(l) Duration. The authority to operate an approved flight engineer training course shall expire twenty-four months after the last day of the month of issuance: Provided, That any such authorization granted prior to December 1, 1949, shall expire on December 31, 1951.

(m) Renewal. Application for renewal of an approved flight engineer training course may be made by letter to the Administrator through the local Aviation Safety Agent at any time within sixty days prior to the expiration date. Renewal of approval will depend upon the course operator meeting the current conditions for approval and having a satisfactory record as an operator.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 602, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552)

These rules shall become effective May 11, 1951.

PART 43—GENERAL OPERATION RULES

KNOWLEDGE, EXPERIENCE, AND SKILL REQUIREMENTS FOR PRIVATE PILOT RATING; GLIDER AND FREE BALLOON PILOTS

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May 1951.

Consistent with concurrent amendments of Parts 20, 22, and 50, this amendment effects changes in the General Operation Rules relating to requirements for first solo, flight area limitations, and recent flight experience. These regulations result in part from a recent CAA accident study and in part from public approval of certain international standards established under the Convention on International Civil Aviation, particularly those in Amendments 65 and 66 of Annex 1.

Under these regulations a student pilot may not operate an aircraft in solo flight until he has passed a written examination on certain provisions of the Civil Air Regulations which include those of Part 62 with respect to notice and reports of accidents and missing aircraft. Nor may a student pilot operate an aircraft outside a local flying area unless he has had at least 15, previously 10, solo flight hours, or is deemed competent by an approved air agency, and in addition, has received at least 3 hours of dual cross-country instruction. Finally, under these regulations, no person shall pilot an aircraft carrying passengers unless within the preceding 90 days he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop in the kind of aircraft to be flown. In respect of the operation of gliders carrying passengers in aero-tow flight, it is expressly provided that no person shall pilot a glider in such operation unless within the preceding 12 months he has made at least 6 aero-tow flights aggregating 1 hour, during which the foregoing take-off and landing requirements are met.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 43 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 43, as amended) effective August 1, 1951:

1. By amending § 43.53 (a) to read as follows:

§ 43.53 Requirements for first solo. • • •

(a) He has passed a written examination on the pertinent provisions of this part, Part 62, and those of Part 60 of the Civil Air Regulations relating to visual flight rules.

2. By amending § 43.54 (a) and (b) to read as follows:

§ 43.54 Flight area limitations. • • •

(a) He has had 15 solo flight hours, or, if enrolled in and receiving flying instruction from an approved air agency, he is deemed competent by such agency, and

(b) He has received at least 3 hours of dual cross-country instruction from a flight instructor, and his student pilot certificate has been appropriately endorsed by such instructor.

3. By amending § 43.68 (a) to read as follows:

§ 43.68 Recent flight experience. • • •

(a) General. No person shall pilot an aircraft carrying passengers unless within the preceding 90 days he has made at least 5 take-offs and landings to a full stop in aircraft of the same category, class, and type of aircraft to be flown. No person shall pilot a glider carrying passengers in aero-tow flight unless within the preceding 12 months he has made at least 6 aero-tow flights aggregating 1 hour during which the foregoing take-off and landing requirements are met.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interpret or apply secs. 601, 602, 607, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, 1011; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552, 557)

PART 50—AIRMAN AGENCY CERTIFICATES

KNOWLEDGE, EXPERIENCE, AND SKILL REQUIREMENTS FOR PRIVATE PILOT RATING

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 3d day of May 1951.

Consistent with concurrent amendments of Parts 20, 22, and 43, this amendment of Part 50 is intended to change certain current curriculum requirements in primary flying schools. This amendment eliminates the current flight time requirements in respect to spinnable and nonspinnable airplanes and, instead, provides for a minimum of 35 hours of flight time applicable to training in all airplanes. This change, among others affecting pilot qualifications, resulted from a recent study of aviation accidents conducted by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, and is believed necessary in the interest of safety.

Interested persons have been afforded an opportunity to participate in the making of this amendment, and due consideration has been given to all relevant matter presented.

In consideration of the foregoing the Civil Aeronautics Board hereby amends Part 50 of the Civil Air Regulations (14 CFR Part 50, as amended) effective August 1, 1951:

By amending § 50.13 (a) to read as follows:

§ 50.13 Flying school curriculum. • • •

(a) Primary flying school.

(1) Airplanes—35 hours of flight time.

(2) Helicopters—35 hours of flight time,

(3) Gliders—8 hours of flight time.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies secs. 601, 602, 607, 52 Stat. 1007, 1008, 1011; 49 U. S. C. 551, 552, 557)

PART 60—AIR TRAFFIC RULES

DANGER AREA ALTERATIONS

The danger area alterations appearing hereinafter have been coordinated with the civil operators involved, the Army, the Navy, and the Air Force, through the Air Coordinating Committee, Airspace Subcommittee, and are adopted when indicated in order to promote safety of the flying public. Compliance with the notice, procedures, and effective date provisions of section 4 of the Administrative Procedure Act would be impracticable and contrary to the public interest, and therefore is not required. Title 14, § 60.13-1 is amended as follows:

1. The El Centro, California, area, published on April 21, 1949, in 14 F. R. 1913, is amended by changing the "Designated Altitudes" column to read: "Surface to unlimited".

2. The Fort Ord, California, area, published on April 21, 1949, in 14 F. R. 1913, and amended on November 10, 1950, in 15 F. R. 7548, is further amended by changing the "Description by Geographical Coordinates" column to read: "Beginning at lat. 36°41'49" N, long. 121°45'19" W; SE to lat. 36°37'35" N, long. 121°41'17" W; SSW to lat. 36°34'54" N, long. 121°43'01" W; westerly to lat. 36°34'30" N, long. 121°47'40" W; counter-clockwise along the arc of a circle 3 miles in radius, centered at lat. 36°35'30" N, long. 121°50'30" W, to lat. 36°38'00" N, long. 121°50'20" W; westerly to lat. 36°38'15" N, long. 121°51'45" W; NNE to lat. 36°42'00" N, long. 121°49'45" W; SE to lat. 36°40'59" N, long. 121°48'49" W; easterly to lat. 36°41'49" N, long. 121°45'19" W, point of beginning".

3. The Trona, California, area, published on April 21, 1949, in 14 F. R. 1913, and amended on November 3, 1949, in 14 F. R. 6676, is further amended by changing the "Time of Designation" column to read: "Continuous".

4. The Osage City, Kansas, area, published on June 23, 1949, in 14 F. R. 3393, is deleted.

5. The Scenic, South Dakota, area, published on April 21, 1949, in 14 F. R. 1913, and amended on August 1, 1950, in 15 F. R. 4914, is further amended by changing the "Designated Altitudes" column to read: "Surface to 40,000 feet".

6. The Corpus Christi, Texas, area, published on April 21, 1949, in 14 F. R. 1913, is amended by changing the "Description by Geographical Coordinates" column to read: "Beginning at lat. 27°49'20" N, long. 97°00'00" W; southerly, 3 nautical miles from and parallel to the shoreline to lat. 26°15'00" N, long. 97°07'20" W; due W to long. 97°26'00" W; NNW to lat. 27°17'30" N, long. 97°48'30" W; WSW to the E edge of Amber Airway No. 4 at lat. 27°16'30" N, long. 97°51'15" W; northerly and northeasterly along the E edges of Amber Airway No. 4 and Blue Airway No. 30 to lat. 27°42'00" N, long. 97°33'00" W; counterclockwise along the arc of a circle 3 miles in radius, centered at Cuddihy Field (lat. 27°43'15" N, long. 97°30'30" W) to lat. 27°40'30" N, long. 97°29'40" W; NE to lat. 27°47'00" N, long. 97°20'00" W; ENE to lat. 27°49'30" N, long. 97°07'30" W; counterclockwise along the arc of a circle 3 miles in radius, centered at Port Aransas Airport (lat. 27°49'45" N, long. 97°04'30" W) to lat. 27°49'30" N, long. 97°01'30" W; easterly to lat. 27°49'20" N, long. 97°00'00" W, point of beginning".

7. The Maili Point, Island of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, area, published on April 29, 1950, in 15 F. R. 2435, is deleted.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984, as amended; 49 U. S. C. 425. Interprets or applies sec. 601, 52 Stat. 1007, as amended, 49 U. S. C. 551)

This amendment shall become effective on May 10, 1951.

PART 291—CLASSIFICATION AND EXEMPTION OF IRREGULAR AIR CARRIERS

OPERATIONAL LIMITATIONS ON EXERCISE OF TEMPORARY EXEMPTION BY LARGE IRREGULAR CARRIERS; EXTENSION OF EFFECTIVE DATE

Adopted by the Civil Aeronautics Board at its office in Washington, D. C., on the 4th day of May 1951.

Further postponement of the effective date of Amendment No. 1 to Part 291 has been requested by the Senate Select Committee on Small Business in order that it may have an opportunity to complete the hearings currently in progress, on the matter of the effect and impact Amendment No. 1 may have on the Large Irregular Carriers, and to issue its report. By Amendment No. 1, adopted March 2, 1951 with an original effective date of April 6, 1951, the Board modified the operational limitations on the exercise of the temporary exemption to engage in air transportation granted to the Large Irregular Carriers pursuant to Part 291 and section 416 (b) of the Civil Aeronautics Act. These operational limitations relate to the number, frequency and regularity of flights conducted by such Large Irregular Carriers. Since adoption of Amendment No. 1 on March 2, 1951, the Senate Select Committee on Small Business has already on one occasion requested a postponement of the effective date of Amendment No. 1, so that it might complete its studies of the irregular air carrier problem. The more recent request of the Senate Select Committee on Small Business was for a postponement of an additional thirty (30) days. In view of this request, the Board has concluded that it should postpone the effective date of Amendment No. 1 until June 5, 1951.

For the reasons stated above notice and public procedures hereon are impracticable. Since no additional burden is imposed on any person, the postponement may be made effective without prior notice.

The Civil Aeronautics Board hereby changes the effective date of Amendment No. 1 to Part 291 from May 6, 1951 to June 5, 1951.

(Sec. 205, 52 Stat. 984; 49 U. S. C. 425)

By the Civil Aeronautics Board.

[SEAL] M. C. MULLIGAN,
Secretary.

Chapter VIII—Office of Housing Expediter

[Rent Procedural Reg. 2, Amdt. 6]

PART 840—PROCEDURE

SERVICE OF PAPERS

Amendment 6 to Rent Procedural Regulation 2. Rent Procedural Regulation 2, (§§ 840.101 to 840.153) is hereby amended in the following respect:

The last unnumbered paragraph of § 840.136 is amended to read as follows:

In any proceeding under § 840.109 involving more than one tenant or in any proceeding involving public housing operated by the United States or by a state or any of its political subdivisions or by any agency of the foregoing the landlord may be required to serve notices, orders and other process and papers on the tenants affected in the manner prescribed by the Area Rent Director and to prepare and file such appropriate evidence of such service as may be required.

(Sec. 204, 61 Stat. 197, as amended; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup. 1894)

This amendment shall be effective as of May 10, 1951.

Issued this 7th day of May 1951.

TIGHE E. WOODS,
Housing Expediter.

PART 373—LICENSING POLICIES AND RELATED SPECIAL PROVISIONS

PART 398—PRIORITY RATINGS AND SUPPLY ASSISTANCE ASSIGNED BY OIT

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

1. Part 373 Licensing policies and related special provisions is amended in the following particulars:

a. Two new sections (§§ 373.22 and 373.23) are added thereto to read as follows:

§ 373.22 Special provisions for exportations to Switzerland. License applications for export of commodities to Switzerland must be accompanied by a true copy of the blue import certificate issued the Swiss importer by the Swiss Federal Department of Public Economy, Division of Commerce, Import and Export Control, covering the proposed exportation from the United States.

NOTE: This certificate provides that the Swiss importer has pledged himself directly to import the commodities into the Swiss customs territory and that any reexportation of these goods is prohibited. (See § 372.9 of this chapter with respect to submission of true copies of documents to the Office of International Trade.)

This requirement for submission of Swiss Certificates does not alter the requirement for statements from the Swiss ultimate consignee (and purchaser, if different from the ultimate consignee) in accordance with § 372.3 of this chapter. In addition, shipments to Switzerland remain subject to § 381.4 of this chapter requiring a statement on the shipper's export declaration, bill of lading, and commercial invoice, to the effect that the commodities are licensed by the United States for ultimate destination Switzerland and that diversion contrary to U. S. law is prohibited.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of May 15, 1951.

§ 373.23 Special provisions for exportations to Sweden. Each applicant for a license to export commodities to Sweden shall show, in item 5 of the application, Form IT–419, the number of the import license or other import authorization upon which his application is based.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of May 1, 1951.

b. Section 373.51 Supplement 1: Time schedules for submission of applications for licenses to export certain Positive List commodities is amended by adding at the end thereof submission dates with respect to certain applications for the third and fourth calendar quarters, 1951, as follows:

THIRD AND FOURTH QUARTERS, 1951

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B. No.	Commodity	Submission dates: Third quarter	Submission dates: Fourth quarter
	Steel mill products
600700-610800	Steel mill products, except carbon steel	May 7–May 15, 1951	June 1–June 15, 1951
	Carbon steel products [1]	May 7–May 15, 1951	July 2–July 16, 1951
	Aluminum and manufactures
620000-630998	Aluminum and manufactures [1]	May 7–May 15, 1951	July 2–July 16, 1951
	Copper and manufactures
640100-642500	Copper and manufactures [1]	May 7–May 15, 1951	July 2–July 16, 1951
	Electrical Machinery and Apparatus
706810	Building wire and cable	May 7–May 15, 1951	July 2–July 16, 1951
706830	Weatherproof and slow-burning wire
706850	Insulated copper wire, n.e.s.[2]

[1] These submission dates were published in Current Export Bulletin No. 617, dated April 27, 1951.
[2] These submission dates were published in Current Export Bulletin No. 618.

These submission dates apply to applications for all types of validated licenses, including project licenses.

Accordingly, project license applicants and licensees who propose to export any of the commodities listed above against third quarter quotas must file Form IT–375 with the Office of International Trade on or before May 15, 1951.

2. Part 398 Priority ratings and supply assistance assigned by OIT is amended by adding thereto two new sections (§§ 398.2 and 398.3) to read as follows:

§ 398.2 Serial numbers for mines, smelters and mineral processing plants abroad—(a) Delegation of authority. Pursuant to Mineral Order 7 of the Defense Minerals Administration, Department of the Interior, the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, is authorized to assist any person operating a mine (other than petroleum, solid fuels and natural gas), a non-ferrous smelter, or mineral processing plant, located in any foreign country other than those listed in § 398.1 (c), to obtain a serial number therefor.

NOTE: The purpose of Mineral Order 7 of the Defense Minerals Administration is to provide, by serialization of mines (other than petroleum, solid fuels and natural gas), non-ferrous smelters, and mineral processing plants, the requisite information to enable the Defense Minerals Administration adequately to provide priority and allocation assistance under its programs relating to the maintenance and acquisition of facilities, machinery, equipment, and operating supplies by the mining industry. Serial numbers will be assigned to those mines, smelters and mineral processing plants which have a significant interest to the United States.

(b) Definitions. For purposes of this section:

(1) "Person" means any individual, corporation, partnership, or association, and includes any agency of the United States, or any other government or citizen thereof.

(2) "Producer" means any person operating a mine (other than petroleum, solid fuels and natural gas), a non-ferrous smelter, or mineral processing plant.

(3) "Mine" means an operation (whether underground, open-pit, quarry, or dredging), conducted for the primary purpose of extracting minerals (except solid fuels, petroleum and natural gas), and includes prospecting enterprises for the discovery, exploration or development of new or additional mining projects.

(4) "Smelter" means a mill producing non-ferrous metals by smelting or refining.

(5) "Mineral processing plant" means a plant engaged in the beneficiation or concentration of ores.

(c) Submission of requests, content. On or before June 1, 1951, producers operating mines, smelters, and mineral processing plants located in foreign countries, except Canada and countries for which the Economic Cooperation Administration is claimant agency (listed in § 398.1 (c)), shall file directly, or through an exporter or other person in the United States, a request for serialization. The request for serialization need be submitted only once. The request shall consist of the following:

(1) The information described in Defense Minerals Administration Form MF–100, in quadruplicate. In lieu of filing information required under items 8, 9, and 12 of Form MF–100, the producer may submit copies of his latest published financial report. Producers of 50 tons or less per week of crude ore need answer only items 1, 3, 10, and 16 in Form MF–100, or, in lieu thereof, may submit the following information by letter:

(i) What are the chief mine, mill or smelter products? What are the by-products, if any?

(ii) For each mine, mill, smelter, refinery, pit, quarry, and drilling operation, give the distance and direction from nearest town and shipping point.

(iii) Production:

Item	Kind of product	1948 total	1949 total	1950 total	Present average monthly
Quantity of product mined or quarried (short tons, long tons, or pounds)
Quantity of product milled or beneficiated (specify unit of measure)
Quantity and grade of product sold or shipped (specify unit of measure)

(iv) State number and classes of labor (miners, muckers, millmen, etc.) of men employed during a recent representative payroll period.

(2) A statement, in quadruplicate, of the actual distribution, to the United States and to each foreign country (domestic deliveries within the country of origin and foreign shipments), of the production from the mine, smelter, or mineral processing plant, by plant, by weight, grade, metal or mineral content, or other specifications, for each product for the years 1949, 1950, and the first three months of 1951, and the estimated distribution during the last nine months of 1951.

(3) A statement, in quadruplicate, of the pertinent facts which determine why the production from the mine, smelter, or mineral processing plant has been so distributed and will be so distributed as set forth in subparagraph (2) of this paragraph. (For example: Need for dollar exchange; international distribution or trade agreements; requirement of producing country for distribution of stated quantities therein; etc.)

NOTE: Persons exporting commodities to mines, smelters, and mineral processing plants are requested to notify such producers of DMA Mineral Order 7 and these provisions. To avoid duplication, the producers should be advised that they need submit this information only once, either directly or through one person in the United States.

Copies of DMA Mineral Order 7 and DMA Form MF–100 may be obtained from any field office of the Department of Commerce or the Bureau of Mines, Department of the Interior, or from such agencies in Washington 25, D. C., and from the Economic Cooperation Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

(d) Where to submit requests. Requests for serialization shall be filed with the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C., if the mine, smelter, or mineral processing plant is located in a foreign country other than Canada and countries for which the Economic Cooperation Administration is claimant agency (listed in § 398.1 (c)). If located in a country for which ECA is the claimant agency, producers should consult with the Economic Cooperation Administration, Washington 25, D. C. If located in Canada, producers should consult with the Canadian Division of the National Production Authority, Department of Commerce, Washington 25, D. C.

(e) Action on requests received by OIT. Requests for serialization received by the Office of International Trade, Department of Commerce, will be presented to the Defense Minerals Administration together with the recommendations of the OIT as to the appropriate action on the request. The Office of International Trade will notify persons requesting a serial number of the action taken on their requests. The Economic Cooperation Administration will take corresponding action for the area of its responsibility.

§ 398.3 DO (priority) ratings for replacement parts and accessories for machinery and equipment (MRO) for export—(a) Authority. The National Production Authority has authorized exporters to apply DO ratings for procurement of replacement parts and accessories for machinery and equipment to the extent quotas are approved by the Office of International Trade, for export to all foreign countries except Canada. Direction 2 to NPA Regulation 4 sets forth complete details concerning this authority and the manner by which these quotas will be approved by the Office of International Trade.[1]

(b) Submission of Form IT–818. The statement to be submitted to the Office of International Trade pursuant to section 5 of Direction 2 to NPA Regulation 4, shall be made on Form IT–818,[2] in duplicate.

NOTE: Exporters are cautioned that section 7 of Direction 2 to NPA Regulation 4 must be read in connection with section 10; section 7 applies to commodities covered by outstanding validated export licenses and to commodities which may be exported under a general license; section 10 applies to commodities whose proposed export requires a validated license and points out that no person may use the DO-97 rating until a license covering the proposed exportation has been issued by the Office of International Trade.

This part of the amendment shall become effective as of May 3, 1951.

PART 399—POSITIVE LIST OF COMMODITIES AND RELATED MATTERS

FOOD, CLOTHING, BLANKETS AND BEDDING

Section 399.1 Appendix A—Positive List of Commodities is amended in the following particulars:

The following commodities are added to the Positive List:

Dept. of Commerce Schedule B No.	Commodity	Unit	Processing code and related commodity group	GLV dollar value limits	Validated license required
	WHEAT AND GRAIN PRODUCTS, N. E. S.
99660	Commodities exported for relief or charity by individuals or private welfare organizations, religious and educational institutions and bodies, foreign governments and political subdivisions thereof, international agencies (United States, foreign, and international), except for exports of used clothing by such agencies, which are limited to shipments of used clothing and bedding and used clothing by governmental agencies, as provided under these specific Schedule B numbers:
99670	Food	[Export controls applicable to each commodity under these classifications are those which apply to the commodity when exported regularly under its individual Schedule B number.]
99680	Clothing
99690	Blankets and bedding

This amendment shall become effective as of April 27, 1951.

AUTHORITY: §§ 412.000 to 412.504 issued under sec. 3, 62 Stat. 259; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 1193.

§ 412.000 Scope of part. This part sets forth the general policies of the Departments with respect to providing property for use by contractors in connection with military procurement and sets forth applicable contract clauses.

SUBPART A—GENERAL

§ 412.100 Scope of subpart. This subpart contains definitions of terms used in this part and a statement of general policy.

§ 412.101 Definitions. As used in this part, the terms in §§ 412.101–1 to 412.101–8 have the meaning stated therein.

§ 412.101–1 Property. The term "property" includes all physical property, both real and personal. For the purpose of this part, it consists of and is treated under three separate categories—material, special tooling, and industrial facilities.

§ 412.101–2 Government property. The term "Government property" means all property owned by or leased to the Government, or acquired by the Government under the terms of a contract, except that property to which the Government has acquired a lien or title solely as a result of partial, advance or progress payments shall not for the purposes of this part be classified as Government property. With this exception, it includes both Government-furnished property and contractor-acquired property, which are defined as follows:

(a) "Government-furnished property" is property in the possession of or acquired directly by the Government and delivered or otherwise made available to the contractor; and

(b) "Contractor-acquired property" is property procured or otherwise provided by the contractor for the performance of a contract, pursuant to the terms of which title is vested in the Government.

The term "provide" as used in this part in such phrases as "Government-provided property" and "property provided by the Government" shall include both the furnishing by the Government and the acquisition by the contractor as defined in this section.

§ 412.101–3 Contractor-furnished property. The term "Contractor-furnished property" means all property used by the contractor in the performance of a contract other than Government property as defined in § 412.101–2.

§ 412.101–4 Material. The term "material" means such property as may be incorporated into or attached to the end products to be delivered to the Government or as may be consumed or expended in the performance of a contract. It includes, but is not limited to, raw and processed material, parts, components, assemblies, expendable small tools, and consumable supplies.

§ 412.101–5 Special tooling. The term "special tooling" means property of such specialized nature that its use, without substantial modification of alteration, is limited to the production of the particular supplies or the performance of the particular services for which acquired or furnished. It includes, but is not limited to, jigs, dies, fixtures, molds, patterns, special taps, special gauges, and special test equipment.

§ 412.101–6 Industrial facility. The term "industrial facility" means property, other than material and special tooling, of use for the performance of a contract or subcontract for supplies or services. It includes, but is not limited to, real property and rights therein, including buildings, structures and improvements, and machinery, equipment, furniture, vehicles, and machine tools and other production equipment.

§ 412.101–7 Non-severable industrial facility. The term "non-severable industrial facility" means an industrial facility which, after erection or installation, cannot be removed without substantial loss of value or damage thereto, or to the premises where installed.

§ 412.101–8 Facilities contract. The term "facilities contract" means a contract under which industrial facilities are provided by the Government for use in connection with the performance of a separate contract or contracts for supplies or services.

§ 412.102 General policy.

§ 412.102–1 Materials. It is the general policy of the Armed Services that contractors will furnish all materials required for the performance of Government contracts. Exceptions to this policy may be made by a procuring activity when it is determined that it will be in the best interest of the Government to furnish materials in a particular case, or with respect to a particular type of procurement, by reason of economy, standardization, expediting production, or other circumstances.

§ 412.102–2 Special tooling. It is the general policy of the Armed Services that a Department shall furnish special tooling under its control and determined by it to be available, when such furnishing does not interfere with essential production or program schedules and the cost of such furnishing is less than the cost to the Government of the contractor acquiring or furnishing new special tooling. In determining the cost to the Government of furnishing special tooling to a contractor, consideration shall be given to:

(a) The cost of the preparation of such special tooling and the shipment thereof to the plant of the contractor;

(b) The cost of adapting such special tooling to meet the requirements of the contract;

(c) The cost incident to any delays which may be occasioned; and

(d) The cost of new special tooling.

§ 412.102–3 Facilities. It is the general policy of the Armed Services that contractors will furnish all facilities required for the performance of Government contracts. However, subject to and within the limitations of existing authority, facilities may be provided by the Government for use by Contractors when such providing is considered necessary to meet essential production or program schedules, or when otherwise considered by the Secretary of the Department concerned to be in the best interest of the Government.

§ 412.103 Control of Government property. The "Manual for Control of Government Property in Possession of Contractors", is Appendix B to this subchapter and is incorporated into and made a part thereof.

§ 412.104 Effective date. This part shall be compiled with on and after 1 May 1951, and the contract clauses set forth in this part shall be inserted, wherever applicable, in all contracts executed as of a date on or after May 1, 1951 or with respect to which procurement is initiated on or after April 1, 1951. Compliance with this part, and the use of the contract clauses set forth herein, are authorized from the date of issuance.

SUPART B—MATERIAL

§ 412.200 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies governing material furnished by a Department in connection with the performance of contracts for supplies or services.

§ 412.201 Fixed-price contracts. Where supplies or services are contracted for on a fixed-price basis, material may be furnished to the contractor by a Department in accordance with the policy stated in § 412.102. Where a contract is to be entered into as a result of formal advertising, material to be furnished by the Government shall be set forth in the Invitation for Bids. At any time after a fixed-price contract has been entered into, whether as a result of formal advertising or negotiation, the contract may be amended by the parties to provide for the furnishing of Government material or to increase the amount to be furnished, provided the Government receives adequate consideration for such amendment. Pursuant to the clause set forth in § 412.502, the Government may decrease the material furnished or to be furnished under the contract, with equitable adjustment, if appropriate, in the delivery terms, price, or other contractual provisions affected thereby. When a Contracting Officer determines that a contemplated decrease in material would render it inequitable to require performance of the contract, in lieu of issuance of a notice in writing providing for such a decrease, he may, in accordance with departmental procedures, terminate the contract, in whole or in part, pursuant to the clause entitled "Termination for the Convenience of the Government."

§ 412.202 Cost-reimbursement type contracts. Where supplies or services are contracted for on a cost-reimbursement basis, material may be furnished to the contractor by a Department in accordance with the policy stated in § 412.102. At any time after a cost-reimbursement type contract has been entered into, the contract may be amended by the parties to provide for the furnishing of Government material, or to increase or decrease the amount to be furnished under the contract, with equitable adjustment, if appropriate, in delivery terms, fixed-fee, or other contractual provisions affected thereby.

§ 412.203 Disposal. Disposal of residual Government material shall be in accordance with applicable regulations issued by the Departments pursuant to the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949.

SUBPART C—SPECIAL TOOLING

§ 412.300 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies governing the acquisition, furnishing and disposition of special tooling required for the performance of contracts for supplies or services.

§ 412.301 Fixed-price procurement; Government-furnished special tooling. Where supplies or services are contracted for on a fixed-price basis special tooling required for performance of the contract may be furnished to the contractor by a Department in accordance with the policy stated in § 412.102–2. Where a contract is to be entered into as a result of formal advertising, special tooling to be furnished by the Government shall be stated in the Invitation for Bids. At any time after a fixed-price contract has been entered into, whether as a result of formal advertising or negotiation, the contract may be amended by the parties to provide for the furnishing by the Government of special tooling, or to increase the Government-furnished special tooling, provided such furnishing or increase is for the benefit of the Government and the Government receives adequate consideration for such amendment. Pursuant to the clause set forth in § 412.502, the Government may decrease the special tooling furnished or to be furnished under the contract, with equitable adjustment, if appropriate, in the delivery terms, price, or other contractual provisions affected thereby. When a Contracting Officer determines that a contemplated decrease in special tooling would render it inequitable to require performance of the contract, in lieu of issuance of a notice in writing providing for such a decrease, he may, in accordance with departmental procedures, terminate the contract, in whole or in part, pursuant to the clause entitled "Termination for the Convenience of the Government."

§ 412.302 Fixed-price procurement; contractor-furnished or acquired special tooling. Where special tooling required for the performance of a fixed-price contract for supplies or services is not furnished by the Government, newly made or acquired special tooling may be furnished or acquired by the contractor under one of the following arrangements:

(a) The contract may provide for the acquisition of such special tooling by the contractor and the delivery thereof to the Government as an end item under the contract. In any such case, the rights of the parties in special tooling shall be governed by the provisions of the contract and the schedule.

(b) Where the contract does not provide for delivery of such special tooling as an end item under the contract, such special tooling shall be treated as follows:

(1) To the extent that such special tooling is usable solely for the production of supplies or parts, or for the performance of services, which supplies, parts or services are peculiar to the needs of the Government, and the entire cost, or a substantial portion of the cost, of such special tooling has been taken into account in arriving at the contract price, the clause set forth in § 412.504 shall be used.

(2) To the extent that such special tooling is usable for the production of supplies or parts, or for the performance of services, which are not peculiar to the needs of the Government, there may be taken into account in the negotiation of the contract price only such charge for such special tooling as is determined to be properly allocable to the particular contract and as is determined to constitute a proper consideration for the use thereof. No special tooling clause is prescribed or required with respect to such special tooling. In exceptional cases the head of the procuring activity concerned may authorize the contracting officer to take into account the entire cost of special tooling that is not usable solely for the production of supplies or parts, or the performance of services, which are peculiar to the needs of the Government. In such cases the contract clause set forth in § 412.504 shall be appropriately modified to describe the items or categories of special tooling covered thereby.

§ 412.303 Fixed-price procurement; general policy on acquiring special tooling. In deciding whether special tooling should be acquired by the Government as a separate end item under the contract or schedule, or in exercising the Government's rights under the special tooling clause set forth in § 412.504, or such clause as modified under § 412.302 (b) (2), the Contracting Officer shall take into consideration the following factors:

(a) The current or probable future need of the Government for the items of special tooling involved.

(b) The residual value of such items.

(c) Administrative and other expense incident to preparation, handling and storage of such items.

(d) The probable cost of reproduction of such items in event of future procurement.

(e) The probable cost of making such items available in the event of future procurement, and the probable reduction in price of such future procurement.

(f) The amount offered by the contractor for the right to retain such items.

§ 412.304 Fixed-price procurement; special tooling furnished or acquired by subcontractors. In the event the prime contractor enters into subcontracts or issues any purchase orders, the performance of which involves the use of special tooling to be furnished or acquired by the subcontractor or vendor, there will be included in such subcontracts or purchase orders appropriate provisions to the extent required by paragraph (k) (or by alternate paragraph (k)) of the special tooling clause set forth in § 412.504 giving the prime contractor rights comparable to those granted to the Government by such clause.

The prime contractor shall exercise his rights in such special tooling for the benefit of the Government in accordance with any directions issued by the Contracting Officer, who shall be guided by the policies set forth in § 412.303.

§ 412.305 Cost-reimbursement type (Government-furnished special tooling). Where supplies or services are contracted for on a cost-reimbursement basis, special tooling may be furnished to the contractor by a Department in accordance with the policy stated in § 412.102–2. At any time after a cost-reimbursement type contract has been entered into, the contract may be amended by the parties to provide for the furnishing by the Government of special tooling, or to increase or decrease the amount to be furnished under the contract, with equitable adjustment, if appropriate, in delivery terms, fixed-fee, or other contractual provisions affected thereby. Special tooling furnished by the Government or acquired by the Contractor shall be subject to the provisions of the Government Property Clause set forth in § 412.503.

§ 412.306 Disposal of Government-owned special tooling. Special tooling furnished by the Government, or to which the Government has taken title under the applicable contract clause, may be disposed of in accordance with applicable regulations issued by the Departments pursuant to the Federal Property and Administrative Services Act of 1949.

SUBPART D—INDUSTRIAL FACILITIES

§ 412.400 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth policies governing industrial facilities provided by the Government for use by contractors in the performance of contracts for supplies or services.

§ 412.401 Award of supply contracts. Contracts for supplies or services based upon the use of industrial facilities to be provided by the Government should not be awarded until the scope and magnitude of the facilities required have been determined and authorized by the Department concerned.

§ 412.402 Separate facilities contract. Industrial facilities shall be provided only under a facilities contract separate from any related contract for supplies or services, except that industrial facilities may be provided under suitable clauses in a supply or service contract which incorporates the applicable provisions of this subpart:

(a) When the cumulative total acquisition cost (actual or estimated) of the industrial facilities provided to a contractor at one plant or general location does not exceed $50,000; or

(b) When the contract is for the performance of construction work; or

(c) When the contract is for the performance of work within establishments or installations operated by the Government.

§ 412.403 Single facilities contract. Except as otherwise provided under § 412.402, or unless in accordance with Departmental procedures the Contracting Officer determines it to be impracticable, all industrial facilities provided by a procuring activity for use by a contractor at any one plant or general location shall be governed by a single facilities contract, amended from time to time as necessary, covering only the facilities at that plant or general location, except that the Contracting Officer may authorize the temporary use of a portion of the facilities at a location other than that covered by the contract. Except for such temporary use, and except for facilities for the performance of subcontracts under construction contracts or under contracts for work within establishments or installations operated by the Government, industrial facilities provided to a subcontractor shall be provided pursuant to a separate contract or lease between the Government and the subcontractor.

§ 412.404 [Reserved.]

§ 412.405 Title. Each facilities contract shall provide that title to all industrial facilities furnished to the contractor shall remain in the Government, and that title to industrial facilities acquired by a contractor the cost of which is reimbursable to the contractor shall vest in the Government at the earliest practicable time.

§ 412.406 Non-severable industrial facilities. It is the policy of the Armed Services that non-severable industrial facilities shall be located on land owned or controlled by the Government, unless the head of a procuring activity determines that such location is not feasible. If the head of a procuring activity determines that location on land not owned or controlled by the Government is necessary he may authorize such location, subject to the limitations set forth in § 412.406–1.

§ 412.406–1 Non-disposable non-severable facilities. Non-severable industrial facilities which are of such a nature as not to be disposable to third parties (other than the contractor) for commercial or industrial operations, after the Government's need therefor has ceased, may be located on other than Government owned or controlled land only under the following circumstances:

(a) The contractor agrees (to the extent authorized by law) that he will purchase the facilities upon the expiration of the facilities contract, or at any time prior thereto, at a price equal to the acquisition cost of the facilities less depreciation at the rate or rates specified in the facilities contract (which rate or rates shall take into consideration the estimated useful life of the facilities), or credit an amount equal to such price against any amounts due the contractor under the facilities contract; or

(b) The estimated useful life of the facilities will not extend beyond the expiration of the facilities contract or the completion of the work for which the facilities were provided; or

(c) The Secretary concerned specifically approves other provisions as being in the interest of national defense.

§ 412.406–2 Abandonment of facilities and restoration of premises. The Government shall have the right to abandon in place all such non-severable industrial facilities located on land not owned or controlled by it, and in such event shall not be subject to any obligation to restore or rehabilitate the premises of the contractor, unless otherwise provided in the contract with the prior approval of the head of a procuring activity. The authority of the head of a procuring activity to grant such approval shall not be delegated.

§ 412.407 Right of contractor to use. Each facilities contract shall limit the right of the contractor to use the industrial facilities to the performance of the contracts specified or otherwise identified in the facilities contract or added thereto by amendment. Such use may be without charge to the contractor, provided:

(a) The contractor is not thereby placed in a favored competitive position.

(b) The Government receives adequate consideration through reduced cost for the supplies or services or otherwise. Such reduced cost may be established in the initial negotiation of new contracts, or by the readjustment of prices (including fixed-fees and allowable costs) of existing contracts, or by price redetermination in the case of negotiated fixed-price contracts where the saving to the contractor cannot be accurately forecast.

When use without charge to the contractor is not advisable because of the competitive aspect, administrative difficulties, or other considerations, the contract shall require the contractor to pay a fair and reasonable use charge. Such fair and reasonable use charge shall be established on the basis of sound commercial practice, including any prevailing commercial rates, and shall be such as to prevent the contractor from obtaining an unfair competitive advantage by reason thereof. As to personal property and equipment with respect to which there are no prevailing rates, the use charge shall be at the rate of not less than 1 percent per month of the original acquisition cost of such property or equipment.

§ 412.408 Maintenance. Each facilities contract shall require the contractor, without cost to the Government thereunder, to protect, preserve, maintain and repair the facilities provided thereunder, in accordance with sound industrial practice, until relieved of responsibility therefor. However, when authorized by the Department concerned, such contract may provide for:

(a) A specified degree of protection, preservation, maintenance and repair that is less than sound industrial practice as to any part or parts of the facilities as are determined by the Department concerned to be non-essential to future utilization of the facilities as a whole; and

(b) Reimbursement by the Government for the cost of protecting, maintaining, preserving and repairing facilities not authorized for use by the contractor; and

(c) Reimbursement by the Government for repairs, replacements, and restoration performed by the contractor when such repairs, replacements and restoration are in excess of normal maintenance and are directed or approved by the Contracting Officer.

Nothing in this section shall limit a contractor's rights with respect to costs properly allocable under other contracts.

§ 412.409 Identification and records. Each facilities contract under which industrial facilities are provided by the Government shall require the contractor, without cost to the Government thereunder, to maintain adequate property control records and a system of identification of such industrial facilities in accordance with the provisions of the "Manual for Control of Government Property in Possession of Contractors," as in effect on the date of the contract. Nothing in this section shall limit a contractor's rights with respect to costs properly allocable under other contracts.

§ 412.410 Late delivery, diversion and substitution. Each facilities contract shall provide that:

(a) The Government shall not be liable to the contractor for damages or loss of profit by reason of non-delivery or of any delay in the delivery of industrial facilities to be provided by the Government. Provisions for appropriate equitable adjustment should be made in supply or service contracts which may be affected by any such non-delivery or delay.

(b) The Government shall have the right, when it is determined by the Department concerned to be in the best interest of the Government, to direct—

(1) Delivery of any industrial facility or facilities acquired by or furnished to the contractor under the contract to locations other than those specified in the contract; and

(2) Assignment, to the Government or to third parties, of purchase orders or subcontracts of the contractor for any industrial facility or facilities covered by the contract.

Provisions for appropriate equitable adjustment should be made in supply or service contracts which may be affected by such changes or modifications.

(c) The Government shall have the right to furnish any of the industrial facilities, in lieu of acquisition thereof by the contractor. Provisions will be made for reimbursement to the contractor, in such event, of proper costs incurred by it in connection with acquiring such facilities, including the cost of terminating purchase orders or subcontracts therefor.

§ 412.411 Risk of loss or damage and liability. Each facilities contract—

(a) Shall provide that the contractor shall not be liable for any loss or damage to the industrial facilities, or for expenses incidental to such loss or damage, except that the contractor shall be responsible for any such loss or damage (including expenses incidental thereto):

(1) Which results from any risk other than an excepted peril as that term is defined in paragraph (f) (i) (B) of the clause in § 412.502;

(2) Which results from a risk expressly required to be insured under the facilities contract, but only to the extent of the insurance so required to be procured and maintained, or to the extent of insurance actually procured and maintained, whichever is greater;

(3) Which results from a risk which is in fact covered by insurance or for which the contractor is otherwise reimbursed, but only to the extent of such insurance or reimbursement;

(4) Which results from willful misconduct or lack of good faith on the part of any of the contractor's directors or officers, or on the part of any of its managers, superintendents, or other equivalent representatives who has supervision or direction of (i) all or substantially all of the contractor's business, or (ii) all or substantially all of the contractor's operations at the industrial facility if such facility is a complete plant or unit, or (iii) all or substantially all of the contractor's operations at any one plant or separate location in which such industrial facilities are installed or located, or (iv) any separate or complete major industrial operation in connection with which the facilities are used; or

(5) Which results from (i) a failure of the contractor, due to willful misconduct or lack of good faith on the part of any of its directors, officers, or other representatives mentioned in subparagraph (4) of this paragraph, to maintain and administer, in accordance with sound industrial practices, a program for the maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of the industrial facilities, so as to assure their full availability and usefulness at all times, or (ii) a failure of the contractor to take all reasonable steps to comply with all written directions or instructions which the Contracting Officer may prescribe as reasonably necessary for the protection of the industrial facilities; and may also include additional provisions for liability in specific cases, in which case such additional provisions shall be included, or specifically referred to, in the general liability clause.

(b) Shall require the contractor to hold the Government harmless against claims for injury to persons or damage to property of the contractor or others arising from the contractor's possession or use of the industrial facilities, provided, however, that so long as there is in effect one or more contracts for supplies or services which require the use of such facilities, the provisions of such contracts shall govern the assumption of liability for such claims arising out of or related to the performance of each such contract and involving the possession or use of Government provided industrial facilities.

(c) Shall require the contractor to carry insurance in accordance with Part 409 of this subchapter.

Where justified by the circumstances of any particular contract, the Department concerned may require the contractor to assume greater risks than those enumerated in paragraph (a) of this section.

§ 412.412 Unusable or unneeded facilities. Each facilities contract shall provide that within 30 days after any industrial facility is determined by the contractor to be lost, damaged, destroyed, no longer usable, or no longer needed for the performance of Government contracts, the contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer thereof. Disposition of suchs damaged, destroyed, no longer usable or no longer needed facilities will be made in accordance with § 412.415.

§ 412.413 Termination of facilities contracts.

§ 412.413–1 Termination by the Government. (a) Each facilities contract shall provide that the Government shall have the right, upon notice, to terminate such contract with respect to all or any part of the facilities covered thereby, or to terminate or limit the contractor's right to use any or all of such facilities. Provisions for equitable adjustment should be made in supply or service contracts which may be affected by such termination or limitation of right to use.

(b) A facilities contract shall be terminated by the Department concerned when the facilities covered thereby are no longer required for the performance of Government contracts, unless such termination is detrimental to the Government's interest.

§ 412.413–2 Termination by the contractor. (a) Each facilities contract covering Government-furnished facilities shall provide that the contractor shall have the right to terminate the contract at any time, upon reasonable notice, with respect to all such facilities covered thereby, or, by agreement with the Contracting Officer, with respect to a substantial portion of such facilities.

(b) Termination at the option of the contractor shall not relieve the contractor of any of its obligations or liabilities under any supply or service contract affected thereby.

§ 412.414 Standby provisions. A facilities contract may include appropriate provisions for maintenance or storage of the industrial facilities, or other suitable standby provisions, upon completion or termination in whole or in part of such contract or of the contractor's right to use any or all of the facilities covered thereby.

§ 412.415 Disposition. Except as to those non-disposable, non-severable industrial facilities, for which specific provision is made in § 412.406, the disposition of industrial facilities shall be in accordance with applicable regulations issued by the Departments pursuant to statutory authority. Each facilities contract shall provide that within the period specified in the contract following the effective date of partial or complete termination, the contractor will account for all facilities with respect to which the contract is terminated. Within ninety (90) days after the contractor accounts for the facilities, the Contracting Officer will notify the contractor as to disposition thereof. The contractor will be required to prepare, protect, remove or ship the facilities as directed by the Contracting Officer. Provision may be made for equitable reimbursement to the contractor for expenses so incurred. If the Contracting Officer fails to notify the contractor as to disposition of the facilities within the ninety (90) day period, herein provided, the contractor may, upon reasonable notice to the Government, remove and store elsewhere at Government risk and expense those facilities located within the plant of the contractor.

SUBPART E—CONTRACT CLAUSES

§ 412.500 Scope of subpart. This subpart sets forth uniform contract clauses pertaining to Government property provided for use in connection with the performance of contracts for supplies or services.

§ 412.501 Applicability. (a) As used in this subpart, the term "fixed-price contract for supplies or services" shall mean any contract (1) entered into either by formal advertising or by negotiation, including purchase orders in an amount exceeding $1,000, but excluding letter contracts, letters of intent, preliminary notices of award and amendments or modifications to contracts or purchase orders; (2) at a fixed-price (with or without provision for price redetermination, escalation, or other form of price adjustment) as covered in §§ 402.402 to 402.404 inclusive of this subchapter; and (3) for supplies or services other than the construction, alteration, or repair of buildings, bridges, roads, or other kinds of real property.

(b) As used in this subpart, the term "cost-reimbursement type contract for supplies or services" shall mean any contract (other than a letter contract, letter of intent, preliminary notice of award, or amendment or modification of a contract) entered into by negotiation on a cost or cost-plus-a-fixed-fee basis as covered in §§ 402.404 to 402.406 inclusive of this subchapter, for supplies or services other than the construction, alteration, or repair of buildings, bridges, roads, or other kinds of real property.

§ 412.502 Government-furnished property clause for fixed-price contracts. The following clause shall be used in fixed-price contracts for supplies or services under which a Department is to furnish to the contractor, material, special tooling, or such industrial facilities as may be furnished under § 412.402 (a).

GOVERNMENT-FURNISHED PROPERTY

(a) The Government shall deliver to the Contractor, for use in connection with and under the terms of this contract, the property which the schedule or the specifications state the Government will furnish (hereinafter referred to as "Government-Furnished property"). The delivery or performance dates for the supplies or services to be furnished by the Contractor under this contract are based upon the expectation that Government-Furnished property of a type suitable for use will be delivered to the Contractor at the times stated in the schedule or if not so stated in sufficient time to enable the Contractor to meet such delivery or performance dates. In the event that Government-Furnished property is not delivered to the Contractor by such time or times, the Contracting Officer shall, if requested by the Contractor, make a determination of the delay occasioned the Contractor thereby, and shall grant to the Contractor a reasonable extension of time in respect of such delivery or performance dates. The Government shall not be liable to the Contractor for damages or loss of profit by reason of any delay in delivery of or failure to deliver any or all of the Government-Furnished property, except that in case of such delay or failure, upon the written request of the Contractor, an equitable adjustment shall be made in the delivery or performance dates, or price, or both, and in any other contractual provision affected thereby, in accordance with the procedures provided for in the clause of this contract entitled "Changes".

(b) By notice in writing the Contracting Officer may decrease the property furnished or to be furnished by the Government under this contract. In any such case, upon the written request of the Contractor, an equitable adjustment shall be made in the delivery or performance dates, or price, or both, and in any other contractual provisions affected by such decrease, in accordance with the procedures provided for in the clause of this contract entitled "Changes."

(c) Title to the Government-Furnished property shall remain in the Government. Title to Government-Furnished property shall not be affected by the incorporation or attachment thereof to any property not owned by the Government, nor shall such Government-Furnished property, or any part thereof, be or become a fixture or lose its identity as personalty by reason of affixation to any realty. The Contractor shall maintain adequate property control records of Government-Furnished property in accordance with the provisions of the "Manual for Control of Government Property in Possession of Contractors" dated March 1951.

(d) The Government-Furnished property shall, unless otherwise provided herein, be used only for the performance of this contract.

(e) The Contractor shall maintain and administer, in accordance with sound industrial practice, a program for the maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of Government-Furnished property, until disposed of by the Contractor in accordance with this clause. In the event that damaged or defective Government-Furnished property is delivered to the Contractor, or any other damage occurs to Government-Furnished property the risk of which has been assumed by the Government under this contract, the Government shall replace such items or the Contractor shall make such repair of the property as the Government directs; provided, however, that if the Contractor cannot effect such repair within the time required, the Contractor may reject such property. The contract price includes no compensation to the Contractor for the performance of any repair or replacement for which the Government is responsible, and an equitable adjustment will be made in the contract price for any such repair or replacement of Government-Furnished property made at the direction of the Government. Any repair or replacement for which the Contractor is responsible under the provisions of this contract shall be accomplished by the Contractor at its own expense.

The following provision (f) is for use in advertised fixed-price contracts:

(f) Unless otherwise provided in this contract, the Contractor, upon delivery to it of any Government-Furnished property, assumes the risk of, and shall be responsible for, any loss thereof or damage thereto except for reasonable wear and tear and except to the extent that such property is consumed in the performance of this contract.

The following provision (f) is for use in negotiated fixed-price contracts:

(f) (i) Except for loss, destruction or damage resulting from a failure of the Contractor due to willful misconduct or lack of good faith of any of the Contractor's managerial personnel as defined herein, to maintain and administer the program for the maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of the Government-Furnished property, as required by paragraph (e) hereof, and except as specifically provided in clause(s) ——— of this contract, or in the clause or clauses of this contract designated in the Schedule, the Contractor shall not be liable for loss or destruction of or damage to the Government-Furnished property (A) caused by any peril while the property is in transit off the Contractor's premises, or (B) caused by any of the following perils while the property is on the Contractor's or subcontractor's premises, or on any other premises where such property may properly be located, or by removal therefrom because of any of the following perils:

(I) Fire; lightning; windstorm, cyclone, tornado, hail; explosion; riot, riot attending a strike, civil commotion; vandalism and malicious mischief; sabotage; aircraft or objects falling therefrom; vehicles running on land or tracks, excluding vehicles owned or operated by the Contractor or any agent or employee of the Contractor; smoke; sprinkler leakage; earthquake or volcanic eruption; flood, meaning thereby rising of a body of water; hostile or warlike action, including action in hindering, combating, or defending against an actual, impending or expected attack by any government or sovereign power (de jure or de facto), or by any authority using military, naval, or air forces, or by an agent of any such government, power, authority, or forces; or

(II) Other peril, of a type not listed above, if such other peril is customarily covered by insurance (or by a reserve for self-insurance) in accordance with the normal practice of the Contractor, or the prevailing practice in the industry in which the Contractor is engaged with respect to similar property in the same general locale.

The perils as set forth in (A) and (B) above are hereinafter called "excepted perils."

The term "Contractor's managerial personnel" as used herein means the Contractor's directors, officers and any of its managers, superintendents, or other equivalent representatives who have supervision or direction of (I) all or substantially all of the Contractor's business; (II) all or substantially all of the Contractor's operation at any one plant or separate location at which the contract is being performed; (III) a separate and complete major industrial operation in connection with the performance of this contract.

(ii) The Contractor represents that it is not including in the price hereunder, and agrees that it will not hereafter include in any price to the Government, any charge or reserve for insurance (including self-insurance funds or reserves) covering loss or destruction of or damage to the Government-Furnished property caused by any excepted peril.

(iii) Upon the happening of loss or destruction of or damage to any Government-Furnished property caused by an excepted peril, the Contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer thereof, and shall communicate with the Loss and Salvage Organization, if any, now or hereafter designated by the Contracting Officer, and with the assistance of the Loss and Salvage Organization so designated (unless the Contracting Officer has directed that no such organization be employed), shall take all reasonable steps to protect the Government-Furnished property from further damage, separate the damaged and undamaged Government-Furnished property, put all the Government-Furnished property in the best possible order, and furnish to the Contracting Officer a statement of: (A) the lost, destroyed and damaged Government-Furnished property (B) the time and origin of the loss, destruction or damage, (C) all known interests in commingled property of which the Government-Furnished property is a part, and (D) the insurance, if any, covering any part of or interest in such commingled property. The Contractor shall be reimbursed for the expenditures made by it in performing its obligations under this subparagraph (iii) (including charges made to the Contractor by the Loss and Salvage Organization, except any of such charges the payment of which the Government has, at its option, assumed directly), to the extent approved by the Contracting Officer and set forth in a Supplemental Agreement.

(iv) With the approval of the Contracting Officer after loss or destruction of or damage to Government-Furnished property, and subject to such conditions and limitations as may be imposed by the Contracting Officer, the Contractor may, in order to minimize the loss to the Government or in order to permit resumption of business or the like, sell for the account of the Government any item of Government-Furnished property which has been damaged beyond practicable repair, or which is so commingled or combined with property of others, including the Contractor, that separation is impracticable.

(v) Except to the extent of any loss or destruction of or damage to Government-Furnished property for which the Contractor is relieved of liability under the foregoing provisions of this clause, and except for reasonable wear and tear or depreciation, or the utilization of the Government-Furnished property in accordance with the provisions of this contract, the Government-Furnished property (other than property permitted to be sold) shall be returned to the Government in as good condition as when received by the Contractor in connection with this contract, or as repaired under paragraph (e) above.

(vi) In the event the Contractor is reimbursed or compensated for any loss or destruction of or damage to the Government-Furnished property, caused by an excepted peril, it shall equitably reimburse the Government. The Contractor shall do nothing to prejudice the Government's rights to recover against third parties for any such loss, destruction or damage and, upon the request of the Contracting Officer, shall at the Government's expense, furnish to the Government all reasonable assistance and cooperation (including the prosecution of suit and the the execution of instruments of assignment in favor of the Government) in obtaining recovery.

(vii) [Where applicable] In the event any aircraft are to be furnished under this contract, any loss or destruction of, or damage to, such aircraft or other Government-Furnished property occurring in connection with operations of said aircraft will be governed by the clause of this contract captioned "Flight Risks," to the extent such clause is, by its terms, applicable.

(g) The Government shall at all reasonable times have access to the premises wherein any Government-Furnished property is located.

(h) Upon the completion of this contract, or at such earlier date as may be fixed by the Contracting Officer, the Contractor shall submit, in a form acceptable to the Contracting Officer, inventory schedules covering all items of Government-Furnished property not consumed in the performance of this contract (including any resulting scrap), or not theretofore delivered to the Government, and shall deliver or make such other disposal of such Government-Furnished property, as may be directed or authorized by the Contracting Officer. Recoverable scrap from Government-Furnished property shall be reported in accordance with a procedure and in such form as the Contracting Officer may direct. The net proceeds of any such disposal shall be credited to the contract price or shall be paid in such other manner as the Contracting Officer may direct.

(i) Directions of the Contracting Officer and communications of the Contractor issued pursuant to this Clause shall be in writing.

§ 412.503 Government property clause for cost-reimbursement type contracts. The following clause shall be used in cost-reimbursement type contracts for supplies or services, under which a Department is to furnish the contractor, or the contractor is to acquire for the account of the Government, material, special tooling, or industrial facilities (within the policy set forth in § 412.402 (a)).

GOVERNMENT PROPERTY

(a) The Government shall deliver to the Contractor the property described in the Schedule or the Specifications at the times stated therein, or if not so stated in sufficient time to enable the Contractor to perform this contract. If any of such property is not delivered to the Contractor by such time or times, the Contracting Officer, upon written request of the Contractor, shall equitably adjust the time of performance of this contract. In no event shall the Government be liable to the Contractor for damages or loss of profit by reason of any delay in or failure to deliver any or all of the items set forth in the Schedule or Specifications.

(b) Title to all property furnished by the Government shall remain in the Government. Title to all property purchased by the Contractor, for the cost of which the Contractor is entitled to be reimbursed as a direct item of cost under this contract, shall pass to and vest in the Government upon delivery of such property by the vendor. Title to other property, the cost of which is reimbursable to the Contractor under this contract, shall pass to and vest in the Government upon (i) issuance for use of such property in the performance of this contract, or (ii) commencement of processing or use of such property in the performance of this contract, or (iii) reimbursement of the cost thereof by the Government, which ever first occurs. All the items to be furnished by the Government, as set forth in the Schedule or Specifications, together with all property acquired by the Contractor title to which vests in the Government under this paragraph, are subject to the provisions of this clause and are hereinafter collectively referred to as "Government Property."

(c) Title to the Government Property shall not be affected by the incorporation or attachment thereof to any property not owned by the Government, nor shall such Government Property, or any part thereof, be or become a fixture or lose its identity as personalty by reason of affixation to any realty. The Contractor shall maintain adequate property control records of the Government Property and shall identify the Government Property as such in accordance with the provisions of the "Manual for Control of Government Property in Possession of Contractors" dated March 1951, which is incorporated herein by reference.

(d) The Government Property provided or furnished pursuant to the terms of this contract shall, unless otherwise provided herein, be used only for the performance of this contract.

(e) The Contractor shall maintain and administer in accordance with sound industrial practice, a program for the maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of Government Property so as to assure its full availability and usefulness for the performance of this contract. The Contractor shall take all reasonable steps to comply with all appropriate directions or instructions which the Contracting Officer may prescribe as reasonably necessary for the protection of Government Property.

(f) (i) The Contractor shall not be liable for any loss of or damage to the Government Property, or for expenses incidental to such loss or damage, except that the Contractor shall be responsible for any such loss or damage (including expenses incidental thereto) (A) which results from willful misconduct or lack of good faith on the part of any of the Contractor's directors or officers, or on the part of any of its managers, superintendents, or other equivalent representatives, who has supervision or direction of (I) all or substantially all of the Contractor's business, or (II) all or substantially all of the Contractor's operations at any one plant or separate location in which this contract is being performed, or (III) a separate and complete major industrial operation in connection with the performance of this contract; or (B) which results from a failure on the part of the Contractor, due to the willful misconduct or lack of good faith on the part of any of its directors, officers, or other representatives mentioned in subparagraph (A) above, to maintain and administer, in accordance with sound industrial practice, the program for maintenance, repair, protection and preservation of Government Property as required by paragraph (e) hereof, or which results from a failure on the part of the Contractor to take all reasonable steps to comply with any appropriate written directions of the Contracting Officer under paragraph (e) hereof; or (C) for which the Contractor is otherwise responsible under the express terms of clause(s) ——— of this contract, or of the clause or clauses designated in the Schedule; or (D) which results from a risk expressly required to be insured under this contract, but only to the extent of the insurance so required to be procured and maintained, or to the extent of insurance actually procured and maintained, whichever is greater; or (E) which results from a risk which is in fact covered by insurance or for which the Contractor is otherwise reimbursed, but only to the extent of such insurance or reimbursement; provided that, if more than one of the above exceptions shall be applicable in any case, the Contractor's liability under any one exception shall not be limited by any other exception.

(ii) The Contractor shall not be reimbursed for, and shall not include as an item of overhead, the cost of insurance, or any provision for a reserve, covering the risk of loss of or damage to the Government Property, except to the extent that the Government may have required the Contractor to carry such insurance under any other provision of this contract.

(iii) Upon the happening of loss or destruction of or damage to the Government Property, the Contractor shall notify the Contracting Officer thereof, and shall communicate with the Loss and Salvage Organization, if any, now or hereafter designated by the Contracting Officer, and with the assistance of the Loss and Salvage Organization so designated (unless the Contracting Officer has designated that no such organization be employed), shall take all reasonable steps to protect the Government Property from further damage, separate the damaged and undamaged Government Property, put all the Government Property in the best possible order, and furnish to the Contracting Officer a statement of (A) the lost, destroyed and damaged Government Property, (B) the time and origin of the loss, destruction or damage, (C) all known interests in commingled property of which the Government Property is a part, and (D) the insurance, if any, covering any part of or interest in such commingled property. The Contractor shall make repairs and renovations of the damaged Government Property or take such other action, as the Contracting Officer directs.

(iv) In the event the Contractor is indemnified, reimbursed, or otherwise compensated for any loss or destruction of or damage to the Government Property, it shall use the proceeds to repair, renovate or replace the Government Property involved, or shall credit such proceeds against the cost of the work covered by the contract, or shall otherwise reimburse the Government, as directed by the Contracting Officer. The Contractor shall do nothing to prejudice the Government's right to recover against third parties for any such loss, destruction or damage and, upon the request of the Contracting Officer, shall, at the Government's expense, furnish to the Government all reasonable assistance and cooperation (including the prosecution of suit and the execution of instruments of assignment in favor of the Government) in obtaining recovery.

For use where applicable:

(v) In the event any aircraft are to be furnished under this contract, any loss or destruction of, or damage to, such aircraft or other Government Property occurring in connection with operations of said aircraft will be governed by the clause of this contract captioned "Flight Risks," to the extent such clause is, by its terms, applicable.

(g) The Government shall at all reasonable times have access to the premises where any of the Government Property is located.

(h) The Government Property shall remain in the possession of the Contractor for such period of time as is required for the performance of this contract unless the Contracting Officer determines that the interests of the Government require removal of such property. In such case the Contractor shall promptly take such action as the Contracting Officer may direct with respect to the removal and shipping of Government Property. In any such instance, the contract may be amended to accomplish an equitable adjustment in the terms and provisions thereof.

(i) Upon the completion of this contract, or at such earlier date as may be fixed by the Contracting Officer, the Contractor shall submit to the Contracting Officer in a form acceptable to him, inventory schedules covering all items of the Government Property not consumed in the performance of this contract (including any resulting scrap), or not theretofore delivered to the Government, and shall deliver or make such other disposal of the Government Property as may be directed by the Contracting Officer. Recoverable scrap shall be reported in accordance with a procedure and in such form as the Contracting Officer may direct. The net proceeds of any such disposal approved by the Contracting Officer shall be credited to the cost of the work covered by the contract or shall be paid in such manner as the Contracting Officer may direct.

(j) Unless otherwise provided herein, the Government shall not be under any duty or obligation to restore or rehabilitate, or to pay the costs of the restoration or rehabilitation of the Contractor's plant or any portion thereof which is affected by the removal of any Government Property.

(k) Directors of the Contracting Officer and communications of the Contractor issued pursuant to this clause shall be in writing.

The following alternative subparagraph may be used in cost contracts, as defined in § 402.405, for research and development, in lieu of subparagraph (f) (i) as set forth above:

(i) Except as otherwise specifically provided herein the Contractor shall not be liable for any loss of or damage to the Government Property unless such loss, or damage results from willful misconduct or lack of good faith on the part of any of the Contractor's directors or officers or other representatives having supervision or direction of all or substantially all of the Contractor's business or all or substantially all of the Contractor's operations at any one plant, laboratory, or separate location in which this contract is to be performed.

§ 412.504 Special tooling clause for fixed-price contracts. The following clause shall be used in fixed-price contracts for supplies or services (except contracts for experimental, developmental, or research work) for the performance of which the contractor furnishes special tooling, under the conditions set forth in § 412.302 (b) (1), but is not for use in contracts in which special tooling is called for as a separate item in the schedule (see § 412.302 (a)).

SPECIAL TOOLING

(a) The term "special tooling" as used in this clause, includes all jigs, dies, fixtures, molds, patterns, special taps, special gauges, special test equipment, and other special articles of equipment and manufacturing aids acquired or manufactured by the Contractor for use in the performance of this contract, and replacements thereof, which are of such a specialized nature that, without substantial modification or alteration, their use is limited to the production of such supplies or parts hereof, or the performance of such services, called for by this contract, as are peculiar to the needs of the Government. The term does not include: (i) items of tooling or equipment heretofore acquired by the Contractor, or replacements thereof, whether or not altered or adapted for use in the performance of this contract; (ii) items of tooling or equipment which are usable for the production of supplies or parts thereof, or for the performance of services, which are not peculiar to the needs of the Government, or (iii) general or special machine tools or similar capital items.

(b) The Contractor agrees not to use any items of special tooling except in the performance of this contract, or except as otherwise provided by this clause, without prior written approval of the Contracting Officer. The Contractor may, with the approval of the Contracting Officer, use the special tooling in the performance of other contracts with the Government, or subcontracts under Government contracts, provided that the Contractor agrees not to include in the price or prices for any such contracts or subcontracts, involving the use of such special tooling, the cost of such tooling or any allowance or charge to cover depreciation or amortization which has previously been charged against this contract.

(c) As and when any substantial portion of usable special tooling is no longer needed by the Contractor for the performance of this contract, and of other Government contracts and subcontracts as to which approval has been obtained under paragraph (b) above, the Contractor shall promptly notify the Contracting Officer thereof, and shall furnish to the Contracting Officer a list of the products, parts or services for the manufacture or performance of which such special tooling was used or designed. Upon completion or termination of all work under this contract, or of this contract and other Government contracts and subcontracts as to which approval has been obtained under paragraph (b) above, the Contractor shall furnish a final list in the same form covering all items not previously reported under this paragraph. Special tooling which has become obsolete as a result of changes in design or specification need not be reported, except as provided for in paragraph (d).

(d) In the event of any changes in design or specifications which affect interchangeability of parts, the Contractor shall, unless otherwise agreed to by the Contracting Officer, give the Contracting Officer notice of any part which is not interchangeable with the new or superseding part and the usable special tooling for each part covered in such notice shall be retained by the Contractor subject to the provisions of paragraph (f), pending disposition under paragraph (f).

(e) At the time it furnishes any list or notice under (c) or (d) above, the Contractor may designate those items of special tooling (either specifically or by listing the particular products, parts, or services for which such items were used or designed) which it desires to retain, together with a written offer: (i) to retain any or all of such items, free and clear of any Government interest, for an amount designated therein, which should ordinarily not be less than the then fair value of such items (which fair value takes into account, among other things, the value of such items to the Contractor for use in further work by it); or (ii) to retain any or all such items for such period of time and subject to such terms and conditions as may be agreed to by the parties hereto subject to ultimate retention or disposition of such items in accordance with paragraph (f) hereof.

(f) Within 90 days after receipt of any list or notice under paragraph (c) or (d) hereof, or such further period as may be agreed upon by the parties, the Contracting Officer shall furnish to the Contractor: (i) a list specifying the particular products, parts, or services for which the Government may require special tooling, together with a request that the Contractor transfer title and deliver to the Government all usable items of special tooling which were used or designed for the manufacture or performance of any designated portion of such products, parts, or services, and which were on hand when production of such products or parts, or performance of such services, ceased; or (ii) an acceptance or rejection of any offer made by the Contractor under paragraph (e) above, or a request for further negotiation with respect thereto; or (iii) subject to the provisions of paragraph (j) hereof, a direction to the Contractor to sell, or to dispose of as scrap, for the account of the Government, any or all of the special tooling covered by such list; or (iv) a statement with respect to any or all of the special tooling covered by such list that the Government has no further interest therein and waives its rights therein; or (v) any combination of the foregoing, as the circumstances warrant. The Contractor shall promptly comply with any request by the Contracting Officer under this paragraph to transfer title to any items of special tooling, and shall, subject to the provisions of paragraph (j) hereof, (1) immediately prepare such items for shipment by proper packaging, packing, and marking, in accordance with any instructions which may be issued by the Contracting Officer, and shall promptly deliver such items to the Government, as directed by the Contracting Officer, or (2) if a storage agreement has been entered into, prepare such items for storage in accordance therewith, as directed by the Contracting Officer. Any items of special tooling so delivered or stored shall be accompanied by such operation sheets or other appropriate data as are necessary to show the manufacturing operations or processes for which such items were used or designed. If the Contracting Officer has requested further negotiations under (ii) of this paragraph, the Contractor agrees that it will enter into such negotiations in good faith with the Contracting Officer. Any items of special tooling which are not disposed of by transfer of title and delivery to the Government under this paragraph, or by acceptance of an offer of the Contractor made under paragraph (e), or of such offer as modified in the course of negotiations, shall be disposed of in the manner set forth in (iii) or (iv) of this paragraph.

(g) If the Contracting Officer accepts an offer of the Contractor to retain any items of special tooling, or if any such items are sold to third parties or disposed of as scrap, the net proceeds shall: (i) be deducted from the amounts due to the Contractor under the contract and the contract amended accordingly; or (ii) be otherwise paid as the Contracting Officer may direct.

(h) The Contractor agrees that it will follow its normal industrial practice in maintaining property control records on all the special tooling, and that it will make such records available for inspection by the Government at all reasonable times. The Contractor further agrees that, to the extent practicable, it will identify by appropriate stamp, tag or other mark all special tooling subject to this clause.

(i) The Contractor agrees that between the date any usable items of special tooling are no longer needed by it, within the meaning of this clause, and the date of final disposition of such items under this clause, it will take all reasonable steps necessary to maintain the identity and existing conditions of such items, unless the Contracting Officer has directed that such items be disposed of as scrap or has given notice under (f) (iii). The Contractor shall not be required to keep any such items in place.

(j) Any preparation of items for shipment required of the Contractor under paragraph (f) of this clause, or any disposal as scrap under paragraph (f) (iii), or any action required of the Contractor under paragraph (i), shall be taken pursuant to written instructions of the Contracting Officer, which shall (i) provide for an equitable adjustment of the contract price to cover any additional cost, to the Contractor, not taken into account in the negotiation of this contract, of complying with such instructions, which adjustment shall be made in accordance with the procedure set forth in the clause of this contract entitled "Changes," or (ii) otherwise provide for payment to the Contractor of any such additional cost. Any failure of the Contracting Officer to issue the Contractor specific disposition instructions shall be construed as an instruction to the Contractor to take the action required under paragraph (i) with provision for equitable adjustment or payment as provided for above.

The following paragraph relating to subcontracts shall be used in cases where the Contracting Officer deems the use of such paragraph to be necessary in order to protect the Government's interest in special tooling which may be acquired under such subcontracts:

(k) The Contractor agrees that, in placing any subcontracts or purchase orders under this contract which involve the use of special tooling, the full cost of which is charged to such subcontract or purchase order, it will include therein appropriate provisions to obtain rights comparable to those granted to the Government by this clause, and agrees that it will exercise such rights for the benefit of the Government, as the Contracting Officer may direct.

In appropriate cases, the following alternative clause, relating to subcontracts may be used:

(k) The Contractor agrees that, in placing any subcontracts or purchase orders under this contract which involve the use of special tooling, the full cost of which is charged to such subcontract or purchase order, it will to the extent consistent with its normal business practice include appropriate provisions therein to obtain rights comparable to those granted to the Government by this clause, and agrees that it will exercise such rights for the benefit of the Government, as the Contracting Officer may direct.

PART 413—INSPECTION AND ACCEPTANCE

Sec.
413.000 Scope of part.
413.001 Effective date of part.
413.002 General policy.
413.003 Inspection requirements.
413.004 Points of inspection.
413.005 Responsibility of inspection.
413.006 Acceptance.
413.007 Joint procedures.
413.008 Contract provisions.

AUTHORITY: §§ 413.000 to 413.008 issued under sec. 3, 62 Stat. 259; 50 U. S. C. App. Sup., 1193.

§ 413.000 Scope of part. This part deals with requirements for the inspection and acceptance of supplies and services purchased by any procuring activity for itself or for any other activity of the same or any other Department.

§ 413.001 Effective date of part. This part shall be effective with respect to contracts executed on and after January 1, 1951.

§ 413.002 General policy. In arranging for inspection, maximum consideration will be given to the utilization of the inspection services of any other Department to assure that inspection operations are carried out in the most economical fashion consistent with the best interests of the Government. Supplies or services shall be inspected by or under the supervision of an inspector representing the Government unless otherwise expressly provided in the contract. Provisions of this part shall apply to all purchases made by each Department and, where appropriate, to purchases from Government-owned or operated facilities.

§ 413.003 Inspection requirements. Inspection is the examination by the Government of supplies (as defined in § 400.201–8 of this subchapter and including, when appropriate, raw materials, components and intermediate assemblies) and services to determine whether such supplies and services are in conformance with the requirements of the contract. Inspection shall be conducted in accordance with (a) provisions of the contract, (b) this subchapter and (c) procedures prescribed by the purchasing Department. A manufacturer's certificate or other statement of quality or quantity may be considered at the discretion of the purchasing Department or procuring activity, a proper element in determining whether supplies and services are in conformance with the contract, but shall not be considered as eliminating the necessity for inspection. When a public exigency will not permit all required inspection, or the nature or monetary value of the supplies or services does not justify the cost of complete required inspection, the purchasing Department or procuring activity may reduce inspection to a level consistent with the stated circumstances. When the contract provides for inspection at source, pursuant to procedures prescribed by each respective Department supplies may be shipped prior to inspection, if the contractor agrees that such shipment will be made at its risk.

§ 413.004 Points of inspection. Inspection on behalf of the Government shall be conducted in all cases prior to acceptance, except as otherwise permitted by this part. To the extent practicable, inspection of supplies shall be made at such times and places (including the period of manufacture and including subcontractors' plants) as are necessary to determine that the supplies will conform to the contract. Ordinarily, inspection of supplies should be conducted at source but may be conducted at such other designated points wherever the best interest of the Government so requires.

§ 413.005 Responsibility for inspection. Inspection is the responsibility of the procuring activity concerned. Inspection at destination will normally be arranged by the activity requiring the supplies. The activity responsible for inspection may utilize the inspection services of other procuring activities or other activities of the same or any other Department or executive agency as provided under § 413.002. Except as may be mutually agreed to by the Departments concerned, each Department shall bear the cost, without reimbursement, of such inspection as it may perform for itself or any other Department.

§ 413.006 Acceptance. Acceptance is the act of an authorized agent of the Government by which the Government acknowledges and agrees that the supplies or services are in conformance with the contract as to quality and quantity. Depending upon the provisions of the contract, acceptance may be effected prior to delivery, at the time of delivery, or after delivery. Passage of title does not necessarily occur at the time of acceptance. Inspection prior to acceptance shall be for the convenience of the Government and should not be construed as indicating acceptance. Acceptance is the responsibility of the procuring activity subject to procedures prescribed by the purchasing Department, or as otherwise authorized by this subchapter. Where desirable, for reasons of urgency or economy, supplies which fail to meet all contract requirements may be accepted under special circumstances, subject to equitable adjustment of the contract price or such other adjustments as may be provided for by the contract. If as a result of inspection supplies are not accepted, they will be returned to the contractor or held for his disposition at no cost to the Government.

§ 413.007 Joint procedures. All inspection of supplies by the Military Departments shall be in accordance with the applicable standards promulgated by the Department of Defense. Such standards include, without limitation, sampling procedure, statistical quality control needs, gage design, use and care, policies relative to exchange of services, methods of interpreting specifications, uniform test terminology, and standardized forms.

§ 413.008 Contract provisions. The contract clauses required for use in connection with this part are set forth in Part 406 of this subchapter.

APPENDIX A—ARMED SERVICES BOARD OF CONTRACT APPEALS CHARTER AND RULES

Effective 1 May 1949—Modified 30 June 1949

PART 1—CHARTER

1. There is hereby created, as a joint board of the Departments of the Army, Navy and Air Force, the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, which shall be responsible directly to the Secretary of the Army, the Secretary of the Navy, and the Secretary of the Air Force, jointly, for the proper performance of the delegated authority hereinafter conferred. The Board shall operate under general policies established or approved by the Munitions Board.

2. The Board initially shall consist of 12 members who shall be persons trained in the law. The full-time members of the Army Board of Contract Appeals and of the Navy Board of Contract Appeals, currently serving on the effective date of this memorandum, are hereby designated members of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals. There shall be a president of the Board. The chairmen of the Army, Navy and Air Force panels of the Board (as hereinafter described) shall each in that order serve as the president of the Board on a yearly rotational basis, the term of the first president to terminate at the end of the first full fiscal year after the effective date of this memorandum. In the absence of the president, the panel chairman next in order of succession shall act as president. If it shall be determined at any time that additional members of the Board are necessary in order to process appeals with reasonable dispatch, the president of the Board, with the advice of the panel chairmen, shall recommend to the pertinent Assistant and Under Secretaries of the three Departments for appointment such additional members of the Board as are deemed necessary, and shall similarly make recommendations for the filling of any vacancy on the Board. Appointments will be made by joint action of the pertinent Assistant and Under Secretaries of the three Departments.

3. There shall be three panels of the Board. One of the panels shall be known as the Army Contract Appeals Panel, and shall consist of such members of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals as shall be assigned to the panel by the Under Secretary or the Assistant Secretary of the Army, whichever is appropriate, who shall also designate the chairman of said panel; one of the panels shall be known as the Navy Contract Appeals Panel, and shall consist of such members of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals as shall be assigned to the panel by the Under Secretary or the Assistant Secretary of the Navy, whichever is appropriate, who shall also designate the chairman of said panel; and one of the panels shall be known as the Air Force Contract Appeals Panel, and shall consist of such members of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals as shall be assigned to the panel by the Under Secretary or the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force, whichever is appropriate, who shall also designate the chairman of said panel. The president of the Board may assign members (other than the chairman) from one panel to duty with another panel on a temporary basis as the workload of the particular panels may require. Each of the departmental panels shall function under the supervision of its panel chairman.

4. The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals is hereby designated and shall act as the authorized representative of the respective Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force in hearing, considering and determining as fully and finally as might each of the Secretaries (a) appeals by contractors from decisions on disputed questions by contracting officers or their authorized representatives or by other authorities pursuant to the provisions of Armed Services contracts requiring the decision of appeals by the head of a Department of the Armed Services or his duly authorized representative or board, or pursuant to the provisions of any directive whereby the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services has granted a right of appeal not contained in the contract; (b) appeals by Armed Services contractors pursuant to section 13 (c) (1) (i) and section 17 (c) of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944. When an appeal is taken pursuant to a disputes clause in a contract which limits appeals to disputes concerning questions of fact, the Board may nevertheless in its discretion hear, consider, and decide all questions of law necessary for the complete adjudication of the issue. Unless the contract provides otherwise, when in the consideration of an appeal it appears that a claim for unliquidated damages is involved therein, the Board shall, insofar as the evidence permits, make findings of fact with respect to such claims without expressing opinion on questions of liability.

5. When a contract requires the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services, personally, to render a decision on the matter in dispute, the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals, in accordance with the procedure set forth in paragraph 6, shall make findings and recommendation to the Secretary of the Department with respect thereto.

6. The president of the Board shall be responsible for assigning appeals to the departmental panels for decision. In general, appeals shall be assigned to the panel of the Department whose contract or procurement is directly involved. Each of the three panels of the Board shall act in divisions which shall normally consist of three or more members of the panel, to be selected by the chairman of the panel. A majority of the members of a division shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of the business of the division and the decision of a majority of the division shall constitute the decision of the panel and of the Board, provided that all three panel chairmen signify that in their opinion a review by the full Board is not required; if a majority of the members of a division are unable to agree on a decision, or if one or more panel chairmen do not waive review by the full Board, determination of the appeal shall be made by a majority of the members of the full Board.

7. It shall be the bounden duty and obligation of the members of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals to decide appeals to the best of their knowledge and ability in accordance with applicable contract provisions, and in accordance with the law pertinent thereto.

8. The Board shall have all powers necessary and incident to the proper performance of its duties, and with the approval of the pertinent Assistant and Under Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force shall adopt its own methods of procedure, and rules and regulations for its conduct and for the preparation and presentation of appeals and issuance of opinions. The Board is authorized to communicate directly with any person whomsoever in regard to any matter which relates to the business of the Board. The Departments shall jointly or severally maintain an adequate staff of military and or civilian legal and clerical personnel who shall prepare and present the contentions of the Departments in relation to appeals filed with the Board. It shall not be necessary for the Board, unless it otherwise desires, to communicate with more than one trial attorney in each of the three Departments concerning the preparation and presentation of appeals and the procurement of all Department records deemed by the Board to be pertinent thereto.

9. Any member of the Board or any examiner, designated by the president of the Board with the concurrence of the chairman of the pertinent panel, shall be authorized to hold hearings, examine witnesses, receive evidence and argument, and report the evidence and argument to the designated division of the panel for consideration and determination of the appeal.

10. A vacancy in the Board or any panel or division thereof shall not impair the powers nor affect the duties of the Board, panel, or division, nor of the remaining members of the Board, panel, or division, respectively. In the absence of a panel chairman the member present on the panel having seniority in service as a member of a Department Board of Contract Appeals shall serve as acting chairman of the panel.

11. The Board shall have a seal bearing the following inscription:

Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals

This seal shall be affixed to all authentications of copies of records, and to such other instruments as the Board may determine.

12. There shall be a recorder of the Board, who shall be a person trained in the law. He shall be appointed by the president of the Board. Each Department will provide such materials, facilities, and nonmember clerical and professional personnel to its respective panel as may be required by the panel in the performance of its duties as a panel of the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals. The salaries of the members and of the nonmember personnel as orginally assigned to the Board shall be borne by the respective Departments upon the basis of an original agreement between the three Departments. The apportionment may be reconsidered from time to time but not more often than once per year. In each case heard the expense of transcripts, travel, and per diem of members, and the expense of witnesses required by the Government shall be absorbed by the Department which executed the contract under which the appeal was taken.

13. The Board will submit to the respective Secretaries of the three Departments and the Chairman of the Munitions Board, during the month of July of each year, a report containing an account of its transactions and proceedings for the preceding fiscal year. During each calendar month the Board shall forward a report of its proceedings for the preceding calendar month to the pertinent Assistant and Under Secretaries of the Departments and the Chairman of the Munitions Board. Such reports shall disclose the number of appeals received, cases heard, opinions rendered, current reserve of pending matters, and such other information as shall be deemed pertinent by the president of the Board or requested by the Assistant or Under Secretaries.

14. All appeals pending before the Army Board of Contract Appeals and the Navy Board of Contract Appeals upon the effective date of this memorandum, upon which hearings have not been held, will be referred for necessary action to the appropriate panel of the Board herein constituted. In relation to appeals which have been heard by said boards, but of which determination has not been accomplished, said boards shall continue to function as originally constituted until final determination of such appeals.

15. This memorandum will become effective 1 May 1949.

PART 2—RULES

Preface to Rules

The Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals is the authorized representative[1] of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force in hearing, considering and determining as fully and finally as might each of the Secretaries.

(a) Appeals by contractors from decisions on disputed questions by contracting officers or their authorized representatives or by other authorities pursuant to the provisions of Armed Services contracts requiring the determination of appeals by the head of a Department of the Armed Services or by his duly authorized representative or board, or pursuant to the provisions of any directive whereby the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services has granted a right of appeal not contained in the contract;

(b) Appeals by Armed Services contractors pursuant to section 13 (c) (1) (i) and section 17 (c) of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944.

When an appeal is taken pursuant to a disputes clause in a contract which provides only for appeals from decisions on questions of fact, the Board may in its discretion hear, consider and decide all questions of law necessary for the complete adjudication of the issue. Unless the contract provides otherwise, when in the consideration of an appeal it appears that a claim for unliquidated damages is involved therein, the Board, insofar as the evidence permits, makes findings of fact with respect to such claims without expressing opinion on questions of liability.

When a contract requires the Secretary of a Department of the Armed Services, personally, to render a decision on the matter in dispute, the Board submits its findings and recommendations to the Secretary of the Department.

There are three panels of the Board—the Army, Navy, and Air Force panels. In general, appeals are assigned for decision to the panel of the Department whose contract or procurement is directly involved. Each of the panels acts in divisions, which normally consists of three or more members of the panel. Hearings may be held by a division, by a designated member, or by a duly authorized examiner. The decision of a majority of a division constitutes the decision of the panel and of the Board, provided that all three panel chairmen signify that in their opinion a review by the full Board is not required. If a majority of the members of a division do not agree upon a decision, or if one or more panel chairmen do not waive review by the full Board, determination of the appeal is made by a majority of the members of the full Board.

Proceedings Preliminary to Hearings

1. Appeals, how taken. Notice of an appeal must be in writing, and the original, together with two copies, may be filed with the contracting officer from whose decision the appeal is taken. The notice of appeal must be mailed or otherwise filed within the time specified therefor in the contract or allowed by applicable provision of directive or law.

2. Notice of appeal, contents of. A notice of appeal should indicate that an appeal is thereby intended, and should identify the contract (by number), the Department and agency or bureau cognizant of the dispute, the decision from which the appeal is taken, the date of the decision, the contractual provisions concerned in the dispute, the nature of the dispute, and the relief sought by the appeal. Specific facts and argument in support of the appeal, complete in reasonable detail, should either be included in the notice of appeal, or submitted directly to the Board within 30 days of the filing of the notice of appeal, or within such longer period of time as may be allowed by the Board. A suggested form of notice of appeal is attached hereto[2] but the notice of appeal may be in the form of a letter or in any other form which presents the necessary information. The notice of appeal should be signed personally by the contractor taking the appeal, or by an officer of the appellant corporation or member of the appellant firm, or by the contractor's duly authorized representative.

3. Time of filing, endorsement of. When a notice of appeal in any form has been received by the contracting officer from whose decision the appeal is taken, he shall endorse thereon the date of mailing or the date of receipt if otherwise filed and promptly forward the notice of appeal to the Board.

4. Preparation and inspection of appeal file; trial briefs—a. Preparation. When the Board has received the original notice of appeal the Board will promptly advise the contractor and contracting officer of the receipt thereof. Within a reasonable time thereafter the contracting officer shall compile and transmit to the Board copies of all documents pertinent to the appeal, including the following:

(1) The findings of fact and the decision from which the appeal is taken.

(2) The contract and pertinent plans, specifications, amendments, and change orders.

(3) Correspondence between the parties and other data material to the appeal.

(4) Transcripts of any testimony taken during the course of the proceedings on the matter in dispute prior to the filing of the notice of appeal to this Board.

(5) Such additional information as the contracting officer may consider material, or as may be designated by the Board, subject, however, to the provisions of subparagraph (6) hereof.

(6) This file shall not contain confidential intradepartmental or interdepartmental correspondence or documents or information of a classified nature. Material documents of a confidential or classified nature may be forwarded separately to the Trial Attorney for the Government.

b. Inspection. Such appeal file shall be available for inspection by the appellant at the offices of the Board. Prior arrangements for inspection of the file should be made with the Recorder of the Board.

c Trial briefs. Counsel for the Government shall thereafter file with the Board a memorandum asserting the factual and legal issues which counsel for the Government considers may be involved in a hearing upon the appeal. A copy of the memorandum shall be forwarded by counsel for the Government to the contractor, who shall have 20 days, or such longer time as the Board may allow, in which to submit a reply memorandum. The case will thereafter be in order for hearing.

5. Motions to dismiss. Since the Board can take valid action only within the limits of its authority, the question of lack of authority may be raised by a motion to dismiss. Motions by Government counsel to dismiss should be filed, if possible, prior to notice of hearing, but the Board may at any time find it necessary to recognize its lack of authority to proceed in a particular case. Whether or not a case shall be set down for hearing in the first instance solely on a motion to dismiss shall be within the Board's discretion, under all the circumstances of the case. In appropriate cases, either with or without a hearing on the motion to dismiss, the Board may reserve judgment upon the motion pending a hearing on the merits.

6. Service of papers. Service of papers in all proceedings pending before the Board may be made personally, or by mailing the same in a sealed envelope, registered, return receipt requested, with postage prepaid, addressed to the party upon whom service shall be made, and the date of the registry receipt shall be the date of service. Waiver of the service of any papers may be noted thereon or on a copy thereof, or on a separate paper, signed by the parties or their attorneys and filed with the Board. When any party has appeared by attorney, service upon the attorney will be deemed proper service upon such party.

Hearings

7. Where held. Hearings will be held at the office of the Board unless it is otherwise ordered by the Board. Hearings will not ordinarily be held elsewhere, but the Board will consider a request for a hearing at another location if compelling reasons are presented and the request is filed with the Board before notice of hearing has been issued.

8. Notice of hearings. The Contractor and the representative of the Government shall be given at least 15 days' notice of the time and place of hearing.

9. Submission by Contractor without a hearing. If the Contractor does not wish to appear or be represented at a hearing, he shall so advise the Board. In such event appellant may submit a brief within 20 days after the assigned date of hearing, or within such other period of time as may be allowed by the Board.

10. Absence of parties or counsel. The unexcused absence of a party or his authorized representative at the time and place set for the hearing will not be the occasion for delay. In such event the hearing will proceed and the case will be regarded as submitted by the absent party.

11. Nature of hearing. Hearings will be as informal as may be reasonably allowable and appropriate under all the circumstances. The contractor and contracting officer or their representatives may offer at a hearing such evidence[3] or argument as they deem appropriate, subject however to the exercise of reasonable discretion by the presiding member, or the duly authorized examiner as the case may be, in supervising the extent and manner of presentation of such evidence and argument. Letters or copies thereof, affidavits, or other evidence, not ordinarily admissible under the generally accepted rules

[1] Pursuant to joint directive of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy and Air Force effective 1 May 1949 establishing the Armed Services Board of Contract Appeals.

[2] See exhibit 1.

[3] For procedure to be followed in taking depositions, see exhibit 2.

of evidence, may be received in evidence in the discretion of the presiding member or the duly authorized examiner. The weight to be attached to evidence presented in any particular form will be determined by the Board in the exercise of reasonable discretion under all the circumstances of the particular case. The parties may, by stipulation in writing filed with the Board, agree upon the facts or any portion thereof involved in the appeal, and the stipulation may be regarded and used in evidence at the hearing; the parties may also stipulate the testimony that would be given by a witness if the witness were present. The Board may, however, in such cases, require additional evidence.

12. Examination of witnesses. Witnesses before the Board, a designated member thereof, or a duly authorized examiner will be examined orally under oath, unless the facts are stipulated or the Board or designated member thereof or duly authorized examiner shall otherwise order. If the testimony of a witness is not given under oath the Board, a designated member thereof, or a duly authorized examiner, may, if it seems expedient, warn the witness that his statements may be subject to the provisions of Title 18 U. S. C., Secs. 287, 1001; section 19 of the Contract Settlement Act of 1944 (41 U. S. C. Sec. 119), and any other provisions of law imposing penalties for knowingly making false representations in connection with claims against the United States or in any matter within the jurisdiction of any department or agency thereof.

13. Copies of papers. When books, records, papers, or documents have been received in evidence, a true copy thereof or of such part thereof as may be material or relevant may be substituted therefor.

14. Withdrawal of exhibits. After a decision has become final, the Board may, upon request, permit the withdrawal of original exhibits, or any part thereof, by the party entitled thereto.

15. Briefs. All briefs shall be filed within 20 days after conclusion of the hearing, or within such other period of time as may be allowed by the Board.

16. Transcript of proceedings. Testimony and argument at hearings shall be reported verbatim, unless the Board otherwise orders. Transcripts of the proceedings shall be supplied to the parties at such rates as may be fixed by contract between the Board and the reporter. If the proceedings are reported by an employee of the Government, the contractor may receive transcripts upon payment to the Government at the same rates as those set by contract between the Board and the independent reporter.

Representation

17 An appellant may appear before the Board in person, may be represented by counsel, or by any other duly authorized person.

Findings and Decisions

18 Findings and decisions of the Board will be made in writing, and authenticated copies thereof will be forwarded simultaneously to both parties. The rules of the Board and all final opinions and orders issued by the Board in the determination of cases shall be available to public inspection at the offices of the Board in Washington, D. C.

Motions for Rehearing

19. A motion for rehearing or reconsideration, if filed by either party, shall set forth specifically the ground or grounds relied upon to sustain the motion, and shall be filed within 20 days from the date of the receipt of a copy of the decision of the Board by the party filing the motion.

Definitions

20 As used in these rules the term "contracting officer" includes any officer or other authority whose decision may be reviewed by the Board pursuant to the joint directive of the Secretaries of the Army, Navy, and Air Force effective 1 May 1949.

Approved this 17th day of June 1949.

EXHIBIT 2—PROCEDURE TO BE FOLLOWED IN TAKING DEPOSITIONS

1. Reason for taking. A deposition may be taken and read, whenever in the discretion of the Board, the presiding member, or the duly authorized examiner, it appears that the ends of justice will be served thereby.

2. (a) Before whom taken. Depositions to be read in evidence before the Board or any division thereof may be taken before and authenticated by any officer, military or civil, authorized by the laws of the United States or by the laws of the place where the deposition is taken, to administer oaths.

(b) Form and return of deposition to Board. Each deposition should show the docket number and the caption of the proceeding, the place and date of taking, the name of the witness, and the party by whom called. The officer taking a deposition should enclose the original deposition and exhibits, in a sealed packet, with postage or other transportation prepaid, and forward the same to the Army Services Board of Contract Appeals.

3. Notice to take. When either party desires to take a deposition, unless the parties shall stipulate as to the time when and place where the deposition is to be taken and the name of the officer before whom it is to be taken and the name and address of the witness, such party should give to the opposite party at least 15 days' notice of the time when and the place where such deposition will be taken and the name and address and official title of the officer before whom it is proposed to take the deposition, as well as the name of the witness. A deposition may be taken either upon written interrogatories or upon oral examination, as may be specified in the notice. If the deposition is to be taken upon written interrogatories, copies thereof should accompany the notice to take depositions. If the opposite party desires to submit cross interrogatories, the cross interrogatories should be served upon the party giving the notice within 10 days from the receipt of the notice to take the deposition.

4. (a) Deposition not considered until offered. Testimony taken by deposition will not be considered until offered and received in evidence.

(b) Introduction of deposition by opposite party. A deposition taken by one party may be introduced by the opposite party, but the whole deposition must be offered unless otherwise stipulated by the parties or directed by the Board.

APPENDIX B—MANUAL FOR CONTROL OF GOVERNMENT PROPERTY IN POSSESSION OF CONTRACTORS

PART I—INTRODUCTION

101 Scope of manual. This manual sets forth basic requirements to be observed by the Departments of the Army, Navy and Air Force, for establishing and maintaining control over Government property furnished to or acquired by contractors pursuant to the terms of their contracts.

102. Effective date. This manual shall be complied with on and after 1 May 1951.

103. Applicability of manual. This manual applies to all types of contracts leases, and bailments, pursuant to which Government property is furnished to or acquired by a contractor.

104. Definitions. As used in this manual the following terms have the meanings shown:

104.1 Contract Administrator. The term "Contract Administrator" means the individual duly designated by appropriate authority in the military departments to administer the contract. In the case of the Army and Air Force, this is a Contracting Officer, and in the Navy, the authorized representative of the Contracting Officer having administrative cognizance over the contract.

104.2 Government Property. The term "Government Property" means all physical property owned by or leased to the Government, or acquired by the Government under the terms of a contract, except that property to which the Government has acquired a lien or title solely as a result of partial, advance or progress payments shall not for the purpose of this section be classified as Government Property. With this exception, it includes both Government-furnished property and Contractor-acquired property, which are defined as follows:

(a) "Government-furnished property" is property in the possession of or acquired directly by the Government and delivered or otherwise made available to the Contractor, and

(b) "Contractor-acquired property" is property procured or otherwise provided by the Contractor for the performance of a contract, pursuant to the terms of which title is vested in the Government.

The term "provide" as used in this section in such phrases as "Government provided property" and "property provided by the Government" shall include both the furnishing by the Government and the acquisition by the Contractor as defined in this paragraph 104.2.

104.3 Industrial facility. The term "industrial facility" means property, other than material and special tooling, of use for the performance of a contract or subcontract for supplies or services. It includes, but is not limited to, real property and rights therein, including buildings, structures and improvements, and plant equipment as defined in paragraph 104.6.

104.4 Industrial property. The term "industrial property", as distinguished from military property, means any Contractor-acquired or Government-furnished property, as defined in paragraph 104.2 of this manual. It includes materials, special tooling and industrial facilities employed in the performance of a contract or subcontract for supplies or services.

104.5 Material. The term "material" means such property as may be incorporated into or attached to the end products to be delivered to the Government or which may be consumed or expended in the performance of a contract. It includes, but is not limited to, raw and processed material, parts, components, assemblies, expendable small tools, and consumable supplies.

104.6 Plant equipment. The term "plant equipment" means personal property consisting of machinery, equipment, furniture, vehicles, machine tools, and other production equipment, used or capable of use in the manufacture of supplies or in the performance of services or for any administrative or general plant purpose. The term does not include special tooling as defined in 104.11.

104.7 Property account. The term "Property Account" means the official records of the Government Property provided to a Contractor by a Department, which are established and maintained under the provisions of this manual in accordance with departmental procedures. Separate property accounts will be maintained either on an individual contract basis or Contractor basis.

104.8 Property Administrator. The term "Property Administrator" means the Government representative who is responsible to the Contract Administrator for reviewing the Contractor's industrial property control procedures, for checking the records maintained by the Contractor for Government-furnished and Contractor-furnished property, for making usage checks of industrial property, and for the maintenance of such Government property records as are required by this manual.

104.9 Salvage. The term "salvage" means property which is recovered for further use. In addition, this term includes property which, because of its worn, damaged, deteriorated, or incomplete condition, or specialized nature, has no reasonable prospect of sale or use as serviceable property without major repairs or alterations, but which has some value in excess of its material content.

104.10 Scrap. The term "scrap" means property in such condition that it has no reasonable prospect of being sold except for its material content.

104.11 Special tooling. The term "special tooling" means property of such specialized nature that its use, without substantial modification or alteration, is limited to the production of the particular articles or performance of the particular services for which acquired or furnished. It includes, but is not limited to jigs, dies, fixtures, molds, patterns, special taps, special gauges, and special test equipment.

104.12 Stock record. The term "stock record" means a perpetual inventory form of record which shows the quantities received and expended, and the balance on hand with respect to each item of material and special tooling.

PART II—GENERAL PROVISIONS

200 Scope of part. This part sets forth (i) the duties and responsibilities of Government representatives and contractors charged with the control of Government Property, (ii) the sources from which Government Property may be received or acquired, and (iii) the manner in which Government Property will be controlled, both physically and administratively.

201 Duties and responsibilities of the Contract Administrator with respect to the control of Government Property. (a) The function of the Contract Administrator with respect to the control of Government Property is to insure that the Contractor complies with the provisions of the contract and this manual pertaining to Government Property and that the Government's interests therein are fully protected at all times. He shall require the Contractor to (i) exercise reasonable care and proper usage of all Government Property, (ii) establish and maintain adequate records therefor and (iii) maintain controls that will assure the recording of all debits and credits to the property record as hereinafter defined.

(b) It is incumbent upon the Contract Administrator to familiarize himself with the provisions of this manual and the contract involved.

(c) He shall require the Contractor to correct all deficiencies in complying with the provisions of the contract and this manual pertaining to Government Property.

(d) He shall take proper action with respect to recommendations of the Property Administrator relating to usage or control of Government Property.

(e) He shall make appropriate written findings with respect to the Contractor's liability for Government Property lost, damaged, destroyed, or unreasonably consumed in production, as may be required by this manual.

202. Designation of Property Administrator. (a) A Property Administrator shall be designated for each Government contract involving Government Property. In appropriate cases the Contract Administrator may be assigned the additional duty of Property Administrator.

(b) When a Contractor is engaged simultaneously in the performance of contracts for more than one procuring activity, one Property Administrator may be designated for all contracts upon mutual agreement of the procuring activities concerned.

(c) Assistant Property Administrators for specific contracts may be appointed in accordance with the procedures of each Department.

(d) Property Administrators may be civilian or military personnel.

(e) The Property Administrator will not be required by virtue of his duty or Property Administrator to post a bond.

203. Duties and responsibilities of the Property Administrator. (a) The Property Administrator shall familiarize himself with the provisions of this manual and the contract provisions pertaining to Government Property.

(b) He shall, as the authorized representative of the Contract Administrator, insure compliance with the contract requirements relative to Government Property and insure fulfillment of all obligations imposed by this manual.

(c) He shall examine the documents, including but not limited to consumption or usage reports, adjustment reports, reports of spoilage or shrinkage, sales, shipments, transfers, etc., recorded by the Contractor in the property account, to the extent necessary to establish the correctness and completeness of such records.

(d) It shall be his responsibility to determine whether the Contractor is using Government Property for the purposes authorized by the contract, and whether the Contractor is exercising the degree of care in the handling of Government Property prescribed in the contract.

(e) He shall make usage checks to determine the reasonableness of the consumption and expenditure of Government Property. Control records shall be utilized in the performance of the usage survey and, to the extent necessary, selective physical inspections of Government Property shall be made in the appropriate stages of production.

(f) He shall periodically examine all property records to determine whether such records reflect the status of Government Property and indicate compliance with the provisions of the contract and applicable directives. He shall report promptly in writing to the Contract Administrator any noncompliance by the Contractor with the contract provisions and applicable directives.

(g) He shall advise the Contract Administrator on all property matters.

204. Duties and responsibilities of the Contractor. The Contractor shall be directly responsible for and accountable for all Government Property in accordance with the provisions of the contract. The Contractor shall maintain and make available such records as are required by Part III of this manual and must account for all Government Property until relieved of responsibility therefor in accordance with the procedures as set forth in Part IV of this manual. Liability for loss, damage, or excessive use of property in a given instance will necessarily depend upon all the circumstances surrounding the particular case and must be considered and determined in accordance with the provisions of the contract. The Contractor shall furnish all necessary data substantiating any request for discharge from responsibility.

205. Sources from which Government property may be furnished or acquired.

205.1 Military installations or other Contractors' plants. Government Property may be shipped to a Contractor from military installations or plants of department contractors.

205.2 Direct purchase by the Contractor. Direct purchases shall be subject to a determination by the Contract Administrator that the items are allocable to the contract involved and are reasonably necessary therefor. For purposes of property control within the scope of this manual, it shall be considered that property purchased by a Contractor, for which reimbursement is to be requested, becomes Government Property upon its receipt by the Contractor. This provision shall not be deemed to alter or modify contractual provisions relating to passage of title.

205.3 Withdrawal from Contractor-owned stores. For purposes of property control, within the scope of this manual, property withdrawn from Contractor-owned stores, for direct charge to the contract, shall be considered Government Property at the time of approval of the claim for reimbursement, or at the time of issuance for use of such property for the performance of the contract, whichever is earlier.

205.4 Contract provisions, termination, contract changes. Pursuant to specific contractual provisions, or as a result of termination of a contract, or change orders issued under a contract, the Government may acquire title to property.

205.5 Advance, progress, or partial payments. Pursuant to the terms of a contract the Government may acquire title to property upon the making of advance, progress, or partial payments to the Contractor. Property to which the Government has acquired a lien or title solely as a result of partial, advance, or progress payments shall not be subject to the provisions of this manual.

206. Segregation or commingling of Government property and contractor's property. Ordinarily Government Property, particularly material, will be segregated and kept physically separate from Contractor-owned property at all times. There will be occasions, however, where commingling of property would be advantageous to the Government. Commingling may be allowed in the following types of cases:

(a) Where a production line is engaged solely in Government work, Contractor and Government special tooling and plant equipment may be commingled. Normally no approval is required for commingling in this category, but the Contract Administrator may prohibit it at his discretion if it is considered not to be in the best interest of the Government.

(b) Where Government-furnished special tooling or plant equipment is held by a Contractor in storage, pending its use under a production contract, the Contract Administrator may give permission in writing for commingling with Contractor property.

(c) Where approved by the Contract Administrator in connection with research and development contracts.

(d) Any commingling, other than that set forth herein, may be permitted by the Contract Administrator upon the approval of the cognizant department in accordance with departmental procedures.

207. Physical inventories.

207.1 Before termination or completion. It shall be the responsibility of the Contract Administrator to review and approve the type and frequency of physical inventories to be taken. In this respect, he may accept and approve in writing the Contractor's established procedures if he determines that they adequately protect the interests of the Government and are in conformity with applicable regulations.

207.2 Upon termination or completion. Upon termination or completion of a contract, a physical inventory adequate for disposal purposes shall be required of all Government Property applicable to the contract in the custody, control or possession of the Contractor.

207.3 Joint physical inventories or selective checks under 207.1 and 207.2. (a) The Contract Administrator may, at his discretion, require physical inventories to be taken jointly by his designated representatives and the Contractor.

(b) In lieu of a joint physical inventory, selective checks of the inventory being taken by the Contractor may be made when the Contract Administrator determines that such procedure is more economical and will adequately protect the interests of the Government. When selective checks are used they must embrace a representative number of items in the account and must adequately cover, by class and price range, all Government Property involved.

207.4 Quantitative and monetary control. As directed or required by proper authority, the Contractor's physical inventories shall be prepared on both a quantitative and monetary basis and classified by categories such as material, special tooling, plant equipment, etc.

207.5 Discrepancies. Any discrepancies disclosed as a result of inventorying will be adjusted in accordance with the provisions of Part III and Part IV of this manual.

PART III—RECORDS TO BE MAINTAINED

301. General. (a) In order satisfactorily to perform work under a Government contract, a Contractor must maintain some form of control records for all Government Property, whether furnished to or acquired by a Contractor for the account of the Government. It is the Government's policy to designate and use such records as the official contract records, and not to maintain duplicate property control records, other than those required by paragraph 303, and other than such industrial facility records as may be required by the respective departments. Exceptions to this policy may be authorized by the respective departments in special circumstances, such as where the administrative expense of maintaining Government personnel at the Contractor's plant or providing frequent official visits to the plant would exceed the cost of maintaining Government records or otherwise not be in the best interest of the Government.

(b) The Contractor's property control records and procedures shall be reviewed and approved in writing by the Contract Administrator at the inception of the contract. Any necessary corrective action will be required of the Contractor prior to approval.

(c) The official records shall be kept in such condition that at any stage of completion of the work under a contract the status of Government Property may be readily ascertained.

(d) Separate property records for each contract are desirable but a consolidated property record may be maintained provided that the consolidated record provides the information set forth in paragraph 304.

(e) Property records shall be established for any usable components which are permanently removed from items of Government Property, as a result of modification, or otherwise.

(f) Special tooling and equipment fabricated from materials which are the property of the Government will be appropriately recorded immediately upon fabrication. Special tooling and equipment fabricated from materials which are the property of the Contractor will be appropriately recorded at the time title passes to the Government.

(g) Departmental policies will govern the establishment of monetary levels below which individual item records of plant equipment will not be required.

302. Pricing. Property records shall show a unit price for each item.

(a) The unit price of Contractor-acquired property shall be determined in accordance with the system established by the Contractor in conformance with sound accounting principles and consistently applied.

(b) The unit price of Government furnished property shall be determined by the Government and furnished to the Contractor.

303. Records to be maintained by Government personnel.

303.1 Records of specific contracts where property is involved. (a) Where a contract provides for the use of Government Property a copy of the contract shall be made available or furnished to the Property Administrator.

(b) The Property Administrator shall maintain a record of each contract assigned to him for property administration. That record shall contain the following minimum information:

(i) Contract number and name of Contractor.

(ii) Type of contract (CPFF, fixed price, research and development, etc.)

(iii) End item to be produced or services to be performed, and the points of inspection and acceptance.

(iv) Record of amendments and changes pertaining to Government Property.

(v) Listing and type of all subcontracts which involve Government Property.

(vi) Provisions of contract pertaining to liability of the Contractor for loss, damage or improper use of Government Property.

(vii) Record of Contract Administrators and dates of tenure.

(viii) Record of Property Administrators and dates of tenure.

(ix) Record of Plant Representatives (or Officers-in-Charge) and dates of tenure.

(x) Record of written approval of Contractor's property control procedures.

(xi) Record of deviations granted in property procedures. (The deviations granted shall be in accordance with procedural regulations issued by each department.)

(xii) Record of property audits and inspections performed by the responsible agencies in each department.

(xiii) Records of property inspections during production and usage checks performed.

(xiv) Record of any deficiencies found in property control and the corrective action taken.

(xv) Interim and final clearance data for Government Property.

(xvi) A written statement from the Contractor listing the names of personnel authorized to receipt for Government Property for the Contractor.

(c) The Contractor shall furnish the Property Administrator a written receipt for all Government-furnished property. In this connection the Property Administrator shall maintain for each contract a file of all documents evidencing receipt of Government-furnished property by the Contractor.

(d) The Property Administrator shall maintain for each contract a file containing copies of all instruments affecting relief from responsibility for Government Property.

303.2 Control records to be maintained. The Property Administrator shall maintain a system of file control that will permit the ready location of any document that he is required by this section to maintain.

303.3 Record of completed products. The Property Administrator shall maintain a record of all completed products produced under the contract, based upon authenticated receiving reports or processed vendors' shipping documents, as follows:

(a) When there is no lapse of time between Government inspection and acceptance of the completed products and shipment from the plant site, the records shall, as a minimum, consist of a summarization of quantities accepted and shipped. When end items are accepted by the Government and stored with the Contractor the record shall show the quantities stored and location.

(b) Some contracts provide that completed products are to be retained by the Contractor for further use under the contract. Upon acceptance of such items they shall be considered to be "Government-furnished property" and shall be recorded as prescribed in paragraph 304.

304. Records to be maintained by the Contractor.

304.1 Records of material. All Government material furnished to the Contractor, as well as all other material, title to which has passed to the Government, by reason of allocation from Contractor-owned stores, or by reason of purchase by the Contractor for direct charge to a Government contract, or otherwise, shall be recorded in accordance with the Contractor's property control system, as follows:

(a) Contractor's property control system. Except where a simple item record may be used in accordance with (d) below, the Contractor's property control system shall be such as to provide the following information:

(i) Contract number.
(ii) Nomenclature or description of item.
(iii) Quantity received.
(iv) Quantity issued.
(v) Balance on hand.
(vi) Posting reference.
(vii) Date received or issued.
(viii) Unit price.
(ix) Location.
(x) Disposition action taken.

(b) Consolidated stock record. Where a Contractor has more than one Government contract, under which Government Property is provided, a consolidated record for materials may be authorized, provided the total quantity of any item is allocated to each contract by contract number and each requisition of property from the Contractor's stores is charged to the contract on which the property is to be used. The supporting document or issue slip shall show the contract number or equivalent code designation to which the issue is charged.

(c) Custodial records. Custodial records shall be maintained for tool crib items, guard force items, protective clothing and other items issued for the use of individuals in the performance of their work under the contract.

(d) Simple item record. A simple item record is a form of property control record which shows receipts of property by unit or cumulatively, properly referenced, in accordance with departmental procedures;

(i) The Contract Administrator may authorize this method of property control for Government Property charged through overhead, including but not limited to items used in manufacturing or maintenance, office supplies, etc.

(ii) This method of property control may be used for research and development contracts.

304.2 Records of special tooling. The Contractor's property control system shall be such as to provide the following minimum information regarding each item of Government owned special tooling:

(a) Contract number or equivalent code designation.
(b) Nomenclature or description of item.
(c) Identification number and item on which used.
(d) Quantity received or fabricated.
(e) Voucher reference.
(f) Location.
(g) Disposition action taken.
(h) Unit price or group price.

304.3 Records of plant equipment. Plant equipment shall be accounted for by individual item except as provided in subparagraphs (a) and (b) below. The form of property records to be maintained for plant equipment shall be prescribed by the respective departments and will include as a minimum the information prescribed by Exhibit A.

(a) Record of accessory and auxiliary equipment. Individual records for accessory and auxiliary equipment which is attached to or otherwise a part of an item of plant equipment and which is required for its normal operation need not be maintained, but the description of such accessory and auxiliary equipment shall be entered on the respective plant equipment records. The term "Accessory Item" is defined as an item which facilitates or enhances the operation of an item of plant equipment but is not essential for its operation. Examples of accessory items are operating controls on overhead traveling cranes, and remote control devices. The term "Auxiliary Item" is defined as an item without which the parent item of plant equipment could not operate. Examples of auxiliary items are motors used to drive pumps and machine tools.

(b) Record of manufacturing systems. Where plant equipment and accessory type items are assembled and interconnected to form a single operating unit designed to perform continuously the same manufacturing process, such equipment may, for property and inventory control purposes, be grouped and reported as a single item of plant equipment on one plant equipment record in lieu of an individual record for each component comprising the item of plant equipment. This does not preclude the requirement for completely describing the component items nor does it preclude the use of more than one plant equipment record when additional space is required.

304.4 Records of real property. Records of real property shall consist of maps, drawings, plans and specifications supplemented, where necessary, to reflect building installations such as heating, electrical, sanitary, ventilating, drainage, sprinkler systems, etc. Appropriate changes will be made to the records to reflect alterations, additions, or extensions to real property. Where the maps, drawings, plans, and specifications do not adequately reflect descriptive data as to building installations, supplemental records will be maintained. The foregoing records (a) will be complete, (b) will show the original cost of the property and improvements, and the cost of changes and additions thereto, and (c) will be appropriately indexed.

304.5 Records of scrap. The Contractor shall maintain separate or consolidated records of all scrap or salvage generated. These records may be in accordance with the Contractor's system of scrap or salvage control, if approved in writing by the Contract Administrator, who shall take into consideration the need for protecting the Government's interest in the proration, disposition and allocation of proceeds resulting therefrom.

305. Numbering property accounts. A property account, consisting of records maintained either by a Contractor or Government personnel, shall be assigned a property account number.

PART IV—MISCELLANEOUS PROVISIONS

401. Identification. All Government Property shall be recorded and identified as such by the Contractor promptly upon receipt, and it shall remain so identified so long as it remains in the custody, control or possession of the Contractor.

401.1 Extent of identification. (a) As a general rule, all Government material shall be identified as Government Property except in these cases where:

(i) No materials of the same type at the same location are owned by the Contractor, his employees, or other contracting agencies.

(ii) Adequate physical control is maintained over tool-crib items, guard force items, protective clothing and other items issued for use by individuals in the performance of their work under the contract.

(iii) Property is of bulk type or by its general nature of packing or handling precludes adequate marking, as may be determined by the Property Administrator.

(iv) Where property is commingled, as authorized by paragraph 206 hereof.

(b) Government-owned special tooling will be marked with the letters "U. S." or other Government-ownership designation, such as U. S. Army (Navy) (Air Force), unless it is determined that such marking will damage the tool or is otherwise impracticable. The marking and identification procedures may be expanded by the department having cognizance over the tooling to include end item reference, drawing number, and such other information as may be desirable in any given case.

(c) Unless already marked in accordance with these instructions, all Government-owned plant equipment, including industrial reserve plant equipment, shall be marked by the Contractor with an identification number, except when the size of the equipment or the nature of the material from which it is made makes it impracticable. When for the above reasons an item of plant equipment cannot be marked with an identification number, it will be assigned an identification number for record purposes, which number shall be shown on the plant equipment property record. Once an identification number has been affixed to an item of plant equipment, the identification will be permanent and will not be changed so long as the equipment remains under the control of the Department of Defense. Identification shall be effected by affixing a metal, fibre, plastic or other plate directly to the equipment; by using indelible ink, acid or electric etch, steel dies, or any other legible, permanent, conspicuous, and tamperproof method. Identification shall consist of the following markings:

(i) A suitable indication of Government-ownership such as the words "U. S. Army (Navy) (Air Force) Property", or the abbreviation "USA", "USN", or "USAF".

(ii) A two-part identification number consisting solely of numerals except as provided in (iii) below. The first part shall be the property account number, and the second part shall be a serial number. In case plant equipment furnished by the Government is already identified as property of the Department of Defense, no change shall be made in the markings.

(iii) In the case of items included within a standard departmental registration system, for example, automotive, construction, or weight-handling equipment, application for a proper registration number will be made to the cognizant department, which number shall be used in lieu of any other identification number.

401.2 Recording identification numbers. Assigned property identification numbers will be recorded on all applicable receiving documents, shipping documents, and other documents pertaining to the property accounts.

402. Contractor's responsibility and liability.

402.1 Contractor's responsibility. A Contractor shall be responsible for all Government Property in his custody or control in accordance with the terms of the contract. The Contractor may be relieved of responsibility for Government Property by any of the following methods, subject in any case to specific contract provisions or specific instructions of the Contract Administrator within the scope of the contract:

(a) Consumption of property in the performance of the contract. To the extent that the Property Administrator determines that property has been consumed or expended for proper purposes and in reasonable amounts in the performance of the contract, the Contractor shall be relieved of responsibility for such property.

(b) Retention by the Contractor. This may occur when the contract is completed, terminated or otherwise amended during the performance of the contract. The Contractor shall be relieved of responsibility for all property which has been retained by the Contractor, provided that the Government shall have approved the retention and shall have been reimbursed therefor in accordance with the terms of the contract or applicable regulations.

(c) Sale of property. The Contractor shall be relieved of responsibility for Government Property sold pursuant to the instructions of the Contract Administrator, in accordance with applicable regulations, provided, however, that the proceeds from such sale shall have been received by or credited to the Government.

(d) Shipment of Government Property from a Contractor's plant. The Contractor shall be relieved of responsibility when Government Property is shipped from the Contractor's plant pursuant to the instructions of the Contract Administrator.

(e) Written advice of Contract Administrator. The Contractor shall be relieved of responsibility for Government Property lost, damaged, destroyed, or consumed, in excess of that normally anticipated in the manufacturing or processing operation, as the result of appropriate action by the Contract Administrator to determine the liability of the Contractor, provided such determination is furnished to the Contractor in writing and the Government shall have been adequately reimbursed when appropriate.

402.2 Contractor's liability. Subject to the terms of the contract, the Contractor may be liable when shortages of Government Property are disclosed or when Government Property is lost, damaged, or destroyed, or when there is evidence of unreasonable use or consumption of Government Property as measured by the allowances provided for by the terms of the contract or the appropriate bill of materials.

(a) The Property Administrator will require the Contractor to report to him all cases of loss, damage, or destruction of Government Property in its possession, as soon as such fact becomes known. The Property Administrator will forward such report to the Contract Administrator, together with his own report of the facts of the case and his recommendations thereon. If the Contract Administrator is the Contracting Officer, he will thereupon determine the Contractor's liability; otherwise he will forward the papers to the Contracting Officer, who will make such determination. In making any such determination, consideration will be given to the reports and recommendations submitted and to any additional facts which the Contractor may submit. The Contractor and the Property Administrator shall be furnished with a written copy of such determination. A copy shall be held in the files of the Contract Administrator.

(b) When inventory adjustments or usage checks disclose consumption of property which is considered unreasonable by the Property Administrator, or when instances of losses, damages to, or destruction of Government Property, which have not been reported by the Contractor, are discovered by the Property Administrator, he shall prepare a statement of the items and amount of loss involved. This statement shall be furnished the Contractor for investigation and written justification. Further procedure shall be in accordance with that prescribed in subparagraph (a) above.

(c) When completed products or end items are lost, destroyed, or damaged beyond repair while such property is in the physical possession or control of the Contractor, the action prescribed in subparagraph (a) above will be required.

(d) Where it has been determined that the Contractor is liable to the Government by reason of the loss, damage or destruction of Government Property, a letter of advice from the Contract Administrator shall be considered a valid credit to the official Government Property records, provided:

(i) When the Contractor pays by check, the letter of advice will identify the check received by number, date and amount.

(ii) When settlement is made by offset against amounts due the Contractor on a public voucher, the letter of advice will cite the actual voucher (Form 1034) on which the deduction is made.

(iii) When collection of the claim against the Contractor is to be made by the fiscal office designated for the contract, the letter of advice will have attached thereto a copy of the document used by the Contract Administrator to notify the fiscal office to effect collection.

(e) When property is rendered unserviceable by damages thereto, the letter of advice from the Contract Administrator will be considered a valid credit to the Government Property account when supported by or appropriately cross-referenced to shipping documents or listing covering proper disposition of the unserviceable items.

402.3 Shipment and receipt of Government-furnished property. In the case of Government Property shipped to a Contractor's plant from a military installation or from another Contractor's plant, the Contractor becomes responsible therefor upon delivery of the property to his plant. The shipping activity shall furnish the Property Administrator, who is responsible for the receiving Contractor's property account, with copies of the documents necessary to permit the property account to reflect the transaction. On receipt of the property the Contractor shall furnish the Property Administrator with documented evidence of such receipt. The Property Administrator shall take the action necessary to insure that his records of these transactions are complete. (See pars. 203 and 204.)

403. Control of scrap and salvage.

403.1 Sources. Scrap originating from Government Property includes, but is not limited to, the following:

(a) Cutting and processing waste, such as chips, cuttings, borings, turnings, short ends, circles, trimmings, clippings, and remnants.

(b) Spoiled partially manufactured materials, parts and assemblies, including parts and assemblies damaged in handling or installation.

(c) Materials and supplies and small tools and special equipment, when worn out or damaged beyond repair, used packaging materials, and nonreusable containers.

(d) Unusable materials generated in the performance of overhaul or conversion contracts.

403.2 Salvage. A salvage procedure shall be established by the Contractor whereby all Government Property that can be salvaged shall be recovered and returned to Government stock.

403.3 Approval of scrap procedure by the Contract Administrator. The Property Administrator shall review the Contractor's procedures relating to the physical control of scrap and records relating thereto and he shall report his findings to the Contract Administrator. If the Contract Administrator determines that the Contractor's scrap procedures and records are adequate to protect the Government's interest, he shall approve same in writing and furnish the Contractor and Property Administrator a copy of his approval. If the Contract Administrator determines that corrective measures are necessary to protect the Government's interests, he shall so advise the Contractor and the Property Administrator and the Contractor shall accomplish such corrective measures prior to approval by the Contract Administrator. The Property Administrator will from time to time assure, by actual inspection and selective checks, that the approved procedures are effectively carried out. Where the Property Administrator considers the approved procedures for the control of scrap to be inadequate for any reason, he will report the facts in writing to the Contract Administrator. The Contract Administrator will consider each such report and issue appropriate written instructions to both the Contractor and the Property Administrator.

403.4 Minimum essential requirements of Contractor's scrap procedures. The Contractor's scrap procedures must include the following:

(a) Appropriate inspection and study to determine the possibility of reworking or converting for use the scrap resulting from operations under the contract.

(b) Prompt accumulation of all scrap generated and storage thereof under adequate protection.

(c) Recording the scrap data on appropriate records to provide the basis for control by weight or other unit of measure.

(d) Sorting of scrap, including the segregation of the various metals to prevent contamination.

(e) Recording of scrap shipments out of the plant.

403.5 Segregation of scrap and salvage. Where the Contractor is engaged in work involving both Government-owned and Contractor-owned materials from which scrap of a uniform nature is produced, the physical segregation of Government-owned and Contractor-owned scrap and salvage may be impracticable. In such cases, the Contract Administrator shall require proration of such basis as will result in equitable recovery by the Government.

404. Auditing property accounts. Records of Government Property shall be audited by the departments as frequently as conditions warrant, and upon termination or completion of the contract. These audits will include records maintained by the Contractor and such records as may be maintained by Government personnel in connection with such property. The Property Administrator and the Contractor shall make all property records, including correspondence related thereto, available to the auditors.

TITLE 32A—NATIONAL DEFENSE, APPENDIX

Chapter III—Office of Price Stabilization, Economic Stabilization Agency

[Ceiling Price Regulation 11, Amendment 1]

CPR 11—RESTAURANTS

MISCELLANEOUS AMENDMENTS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Amendment 1 to Ceiling Price Regulation 11 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

This amendment to Ceiling Price Regulation 11 is issued for the purpose of clarifying certain provisions of the regulation; and to provide certain operators with an adequate base period for determining "food cost per dollar of sales".

The revision of section 4 accomplishes two purposes. First, it makes it clear that a restaurant not in operation for an entire twelve month period ending June 30, 1950, shall use as a base period that portion of the period ending June 30, 1950, during which it was in operation. However, in such cases the food cost ratio must be computed on an annual basis since there is an insufficient base period to use a monthly basis. Second, the regulation now provides that an operator who opened a restaurant a few days prior to July 1, 1950, must compute his food cost ratio by using a base period of only a few days, while an operator who opened a restaurant a few days after July 1, 1950, may use the period between July 1, 1950, and April 1, 1951, during which he was in operation as a base period for determining his food cost ratio. Available facts indicate that some operators fall into the category where they must use only a few days of operations as a base period. Therefore, the Director of Price Stabilization finds that a revision is appropriate to provide for an adequate base period for those operators. This revision gives an operator in operation for less than a full four month period prior to the twelve month period ending June 30, 1950, the option of using as his base period the first full four month period he was in operation instead of using that portion of time he was in operation prior to July 1, 1950. Of course, in such cases the food cost ratio must be computed as if on an annual basis.

The revision of section 6 follows the pattern of revised section 4 with regard to a restaurant in operation for less than a full four month period prior to April 1, 1951.

Section 9 of the regulation specifically exempts restaurant sales from the regulation if such sales are made by certain designated organizations. Paragraph (c) of this section, exempting restaurants owned or operated by charitable, religious or cultural organizations, is meant to refer specifically to those organizations exempt from the payment of income tax under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, section 9 (c) is being amended so as to remove any further ambiguity.

At the time this regulation was issued, it seemed advisable to include a provision governing the method to be used in pricing combination meals. It now appears that such a provision serves no purpose since the regulation otherwise provides that restaurants must maintain their base period ratio of "food cost per dollar of sales," and are frozen at their ceiling prices for service charges. The combination meal requirement does, however, curtail the flexibility of day to day restaurant operations to some extent. Therefore, section 3 (e) of the regulation is being deleted.

In the formulation of this amendment, special circumstances have rendered impractical consultation with official advisory committees, including trade association representatives; however, the provisions of this amendment incorporate the recommendations of persons representing substantial segments of the industry. In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, the provisions of this Amendment are generally fair and equitable and are necessary to effectuate the purposes of Title IV of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

So far as practicable the Director of Price Stabilization gave due consideration to the national effort to achieve maximum production in furtherance of the objective of the Defense Production Act of 1950; to prices prevailing during the period from May 24, 1950, to June 24, 1950, inclusive; and to relevant factors of general applicability.

AMENDATORY PROVISIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 11 is amended in the following respects:

1. Subparagraph (2) of paragraph (a) of section 4 is amended to read as follows:

(2) A statement whether you elect the entire calendar year 1949 or the entire twelve month period July 1, 1949, to June 30, 1950, as your base period, and whether you want to compute your ratio on a monthly basis. Once you have chosen your base period and whether to compute your ratio on a monthly or annual basis, you may not change your base period option. If you were not in operation for the entire twelve month period ending June 30, 1950, you shall use as your base period that portion of the period ending June 30, 1950, during which you were in operation and compute your ratio as if on an annual basis. In the event the portion of time you were in operation during the twelve month period ending June 30, 1950, is less than a full four month period you may, at your option, instead of using that portion of time you were in operation prior to July 1, 1950, use as your base period the first full four month period that you were in operation and compute your ratio as if on an annual basis.

2. Paragraph (a) of section 6 is amended to read as follows:

(a) For restaurants in operation between July 1, 1950, and April 1, 1951. If you did not operate an eating or drinking establishment prior to July 1, 1950, but you were in operation between July 1, 1950, and April 1, 1951, you shall use as your base period for determining the "food cost per dollar of sales" the total period of time prior to April 1, 1951, that you were in operation, and compute your ratio as if on an annual basis. In the event the portion of time you were in operation prior to April 1, 1951, is less than a full four month period you may, at your option, instead of using as your base period that portion of time during which you were in operation prior to April 1, 1951, compute your base period "food cost per dollar of sales" in the same manner as provided in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of paragraph (b) and paragraph (c) of this section. If you exercise such option, the four month period of operation specified in subparagraphs (1) and (2) of this section shall be the months of April, May, June, and July, 1951, and in the statement filed pursuant to section 4, you shall state whether you elect your actual period of operations prior to April 1, 1951, or the full four month period provided for by this option, as your base period. If you exercise such option, you shall submit, within twenty-five days after July 31, 1951, to your OPS office the information required in section 4 based on your experience during the months of April, May, June, and July, 1951.

3. Paragraph (c) of section 9 is amended to read as follows:

(c) Religious, charitable and other organizations. Restaurants owned or operated by corporations, and any community chest, fund, or foundation, organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable, scientific, literary, or educational purposes, or for the prevention of cruelty to children or animals, recognized as such by the Bureau of Internal Revenue and exempt from the payment of income tax under section 101 (6) of the Internal Revenue Code, where no part of the net earnings of the restaurants inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual, and the net profits of the restaurants, if any, are devoted to such purposes;

4. The present paragraph (e) of section 3 is deleted.

5. Present paragraphs (f) and (g) of section 3 are redesignated as paragraphs (e) and (f), respectively.

(Sec. 704, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong. Interpret or apply Title IV, Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong., E. O. 10161, Sept. 9, 1950, 15 F. R. 6105, 3 CFR, 1950 Supp.)

Effective date. This amendment is effective May 8, 1951.

NOTE: The record-keeping and reporting requirements of this regulation have been approved by the Bureau of the Budget in accordance with the Federal Reports Act of 1942.

EDWARD F. PHELPS, JR.,
Acting Director of Price Stabilization.

[Ceiling Price Regulation 18, Rev. 1]

CPR 18—MANUFACTURERS' PRICES FOR WOOL YARNS AND FABRICS

Pursuant to the Defense Production Act of 1950 (Pub. Law 774, 81st Cong.), Executive Order 10161 (15 F. R. 6105), and Economic Stabilization Agency General Order No. 2 (16 F. R. 738), this Revised Ceiling Price Regulation 18 is hereby issued.

STATEMENT OF CONSIDERATIONS

Ceiling Price Regulation 18 established a formula under which manufacturers of woolen and worsted yarns and fabrics determined their ceiling prices at April–June 1950 levels plus increases in certain costs up to December 31, 1950.

Unlike many other commodities, wool prices have sharply increased since December 31, 1950. Although this increase was recognized at the time of the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 18, the December 31 date was chosen at that time in light of the fact that many mills owned wool at costs below those prevailing on that date. Ceiling Price Regulation 18 provided ceiling prices, for such mills, which reflected a margin above such inventory.

It was expected, moreover, that the December 31, 1950 limitation would have an impact on spiraling prices of wool. Within the two weeks subsequent to the issuance of Ceiling Price Regulation 18, wool prices dropped 21% from the high point reached during the first week of April 1951. The wool futures market reflected this decline, as it dropped the allowable 10¢ limit for seven consecutive days after the opening of the commodity exchange for wool on April 9, 1951. The price of wool did not recede, however, to December 31 levels After several fluctuations the market became firm at about 18% below the April peak and is now about 6% above December 31 levels. The same trend has been noted in the wool futures market, where the price of May contracts has become steady at 20¢ above the lowest point reached during the decline which followed the opening of the exchange on April 9, 1951.

Because of the present level of wool prices, it has become clear that the margins of many mills would be wiped out, or reduced below a fair and equitable level, should they be required for any length of time, to use ceiling prices which reflected wool prices at December 31, 1950 levels. It is true that mills which have not yet exhausted inventories of wool purchased before December 31, would not reach this position for some time. On the other hand, the vast majority of smaller mills whose limited financial resources dictated a rapid inventory turnover, would soon find themselves in a serious loss position upon the exhaustion of their small inventory.

This revised regulation modifies Ceiling Price Regulation 18 by allowing a manufacturer to adjust his pre-Korea base period price by increases between the base period cost of wool, tops and noils to him and the price of wool specified in a definitive list of ceiling prices established in Ceiling Price Regulation 35. This is a generally fair and practicable means of measuring increased costs of wool, taking into account both purchases which may have been made above the definitive list and purchases which have been made since the pre-Korea period at costs substantially below that list.

In view of the countless varieties of wool wastes and reused and reprocessed wools, a definitive list of ceilings on such commodities has not yet been issued. Manufacturers using such materials may adjust their pre-Korea prices by increases in cost to them of such materials between the base period and the ceiling price of their supplier on March 15, 1951 under the applicable regulations of this office. Similar provision has been made for cost increases of manufacturing materials other than wool or wool wastes. Furthermore, pre-Korea prices may also be adjusted for increases in unit labor costs up to March 1, 1951. This date was selected as one which would reflect labor cost increases granted since the end of the base period and falling within the limitations imposed by the Wage Stabilization Board while at the same time excluding wage increases not yet approved by the Board.

Extending the December 31st date on materials and labor will result in increases in manufacturers' ceiling prices but will not effect indefinite cost escalation. The pegging of wool costs to a fixed level should be instrumental in the prevention of further increases in prices of wool on world markets. At the same time it is anticipated, on the basis of the limited data now available that the new ceiling prices should restore the operating margins of manufacturers to approximately the same dollar-and-cents level as those prevailing during the year preceding the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

The single base period, March 24 to June 24, 1950, provided for in Ceiling Price Regulation 18, was found to be unrepresentative for many product lines. Since a large number of the products sold by woolen and worsted mills are seasonal in nature, limiting manufacturers to only one base period produced seasonal price distortions. During any one base period, there are many out-of-season products sold in limited quantities at prices which do not reflect a normal margin. Reports of the Bureau of the Census show that the production of various categories of worsted and woolen yarns and fabrics varies considerably from season to season. Consequently, this revised regulation permits the manufacturer of wool yarns and fabrics to choose, for each of his major categories of products, any one of the four calendar quarters prior to June 24, 1950, as a base period from which to apply the allowable adjustments. By allowing this selection for different categories of goods, this revised regulation will more nearly conform to the pricing pattern of the industry. If during the base period chosen for a category, no price can be established on a particular yarn or fabric, any other one of the permitted calendar quarters, may be selected as a base period.

The formula for computing material and labor cost adjustments to be applied to base period prices differs in some respects from that prescribed in Ceiling Price Regulation 22, the General Manufacturers' Regulation. In this revised regulation, the adjustment of pre-Korea prices is limited to the unit cost method. This method was adopted because the other methods permitted in Ceiling Price Regulation 22, if applied to woolen and worsted products, might tend to discourage the production of inexpensive, highly competitive products and encourage a shift to more expensive specialty lines. After consultation with representatives of both large and small manufacturers, it was determined that the use of a unit cost basis for adjustments would be within the scope of the accounting procedure and records normally maintained by manufacturers of woolen and worsted products.

The methods prescribed in this revised regulation by which manufacturers are to select base period prices and material costs have been changed from those in the original CPR 18. Sellers who quote prices from printed price lists, may, instead of selecting the highest contract price as a base period price, use the prices quoted on their price lists. If a seller uses such a list to establish a base period price, prices on that list must be used for all yarns or fabrics in the same category. The use of price lists to establish base period prices will bring about a more normal relationship between the prices of a multi-product firm. The base period cost of raw materials, is, under this revised regulation, the average cost of material invoiced to the manufacturer during the 30 days prior to the end of the base period. If no deliveries were made during these 30 days, provision has been made for the use of a supplier's delivery price to establish a base period raw materials cost. The redefining of base period material costs to reflect average invoice costs rather than highest contract prices will establish base period costs more nearly representative of the actual cost of materials upon which the base period prices for yarns or fabrics were fixed.

A provision for the adjustment of individual hardship cases has been included in this revised regulation. This provision, which is the same as in Ceiling Price Regulation 22, is designed to allow application for relief in cases where the ceiling prices established under this regulation result in an over-all operating loss. It is not intended to provide a higher level of prices for manufacturers whose loss position is not the result of the ceiling prices fixed under this revised regulation, but is due rather to unusual and temporary seasonal factors or to inefficiencies of operation.

The coverage of this revised regulation has been extended to manufacturers of types of wool products excluded from the original Ceiling Price Regulation 18. The change of cut-off dates for wool wastes, manufacturing materials, and labor, the definitive list of wool ceiling prices issued concurrently with this order, and the allowance of a selection of base periods, have made it possible to include in the regulation spinners of wool carpet yarns, manufacturers of wool felts, and manufacturers of other non-apparel fabrics who were not covered in the original regulation.

It should be noted that this revised regulation is not intended as the final pricing action of the Office of Price Stabilization in the area of wool yarns and fabrics. The issuance of the present regulation is required to prevent disastrous effects upon production and distribution which would be caused by the necessarily time consuming process of collecting the relevant data upon which to predicate a tailored regulation. By easing the immediate pressures, this revised regulation will provide the time needed to work out a more precise and suitable system of price control.

In the judgment of the Director of Price Stabilization, taking into account all the foregoing circumstances, the provisions of this revised regulation, and the ceiling prices established, are generally fair and equitable and will effectuate the purposes of the Defense Production Act of 1950.

COVERAGE

SECTON 1. What this revised regulation does. This revised regulation fixes ceiling prices for sales of wool yarn or fabric (see definition, section 25) by manufacturers. It applies in the 48 States and the District of Columbia. During the period between the issuance of this revised regulation and June 11, 1951, you may use either this revised regulation, the General Ceiling Price Regulation or Ceiling Price Regulation 18. On and after June 11, 1951, you must use this revised regulation. This revised regulation shall not apply to deliveries under a military contract or subcontract for yarn or fabric exempted by Supplementary Regulation 1, as amended, to the General Ceiling Price Regulation.

CEILING PRICES FOR YARNS OR FABRICS DEALT IN BETWEEN JULY 1, 1949, AND JUNE 24, 1950

SEC. 2. General description of method. Your ceiling price for sale of a yarn or fabric which you sold or offered for sale between July 1, 1949, and June 24, 1950, is your base period price for a unit (pound of yarn, yard of fabric) of the yarn or fabric adjusted for increases (or decreases) in the cost of your materials and labor. Sections 3 to 5 tell you how to compute your ceiling price for a particular yarn or fabric.

SEC. 3. How to obtain your base period price.—(a) Base period. Select as your base period April 1 through June 24, 1950, or any previous calendar quarter ended not earlier than September 30, 1949. Whatever base period you select must be used for all yarns or fabrics in the same category. If, however, you did not make a written contract, or a written offer, to sell a particular yarn or fabric in that category during that base period, and if you had no price list in effect during that base period, you may use for that yarn or fabric any other base period permitted under this paragraph (a).

(b) Category. The following are the only categories you are permitted to use for the purposes of this revised regulation:

Men's and boys' wear fabrics.
Women's and children's wear fabrics.
Blankets.
Non-apparel fabrics other than blankets.
Knitting yarns.
Weaving yarns.
Carpet yarns.

(c) Base period price. (1) Find the class of purchaser which, during your base period for the category in which the yarn or fabric falls, contracted in writing to buy from you the largest dollar amount of yarns or fabrics in the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced. Then find the highest price at which you contracted in writing to sell that yarn or fabric to that class of purchaser. (Exclude sample quantity contracts.)

(2) If you did not contract in writing to sell that yarn or fabric during the base period which you selected, find the highest unit price at which you made a written offer to sell that yarn or fabric during the base period. This written offer must have been made to the class of purchaser to whom you sold, in the base period, the largest dollar amount of yarn or fabric in the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced.

(3) If, however, during the base period which you select you issued a written price list to your salesmen in your customary manner and (i) within thirty days subsequent to its issuance contracted in writing to make substantial deliveries of any of the listed items at the prices in the list, and (ii) thereafter made such deliveries within the period of time customarily allowed in your trade for processing and shipment, you may use, instead of the price found in (1) or (2) above, the listed price, for a unit of the yarn or fabric, to the class of purchaser which during the base period contracted in writing to buy from you the largest dollar amount of all yarns or fabrics in the same category as the yarn or fabric to be priced. If, however, you use a price list for one yarn or fabric on the list, you must use the listed price for all yarns or fabrics in the same category on that list.

The price found in this paragraph (c) is your "base period price" for sales to your largest class of purchaser. If your base period price includes any excise, sales or other similar tax which is not separately stated, you must follow the instructions contained in section 14 of this revised regulation. If your base period price is expressed as a list price less discounts, you should reduce it by the amount of the discount and, once you have determined your ceiling price under section 5, add the necessary amount to reflect the same discount.

SEC. 4. How to obtain your total material and labor cost adjustment.—(a) Manufacturing material and cost of labor. (1) You will need to become familiar with the terms "manufacturing material" and "cost of labor" in this section. "Manufacturing material" refers to a material other than wool and wool waste (see definitions, section 25), entering directly into the yarn or fabric being priced or used directly in the manufacturing processes from which the yarn or fabric results, together with packaging materials, containers (other than returnable containers), purchased fuel, steam or electric energy, and subcontracted industrial services which are directly related to the manufacture of the yarn or fabric. It does not include materials or sub-contracted industrial services used in replacing, maintaining or expanding your plant and equipment, nor other materials or supplies the use of which is not directly dependent upon the rate at which you manufacture the yarn or fabric being priced.

(2) "Cost of labor" means the cost of labor that enters directly into the product and is paid at hourly or piece rates. In addition it includes the cost of labor for factory supervision, packaging and handling, ordinary maintenance, repair of plant or equipment, materials control, and testing and inspection. It may include the equivalent, on an hourly or piece rate basis, of so-called fringe benefits (for example, pension contributions for current work, paid vacation and insurance programs). It does not include the cost of labor for general administration, sales, advertising, research, major repairs or replacement of plant or equipment and expansion of plant or equipment.

(3) In computing the cost of labor and manufacturing materials for a unit of yarn or fabric under this revised regulation, you shall allocate the permitted labor and manufacturing material costs according to your customary accounting method. The same method must be used in all calculations of unit costs of labor and manufacturing material.

(b) Material cost adjustment. Find the physical amount of each grade of wool, each kind of wool waste, and each manufacturing material regularly used in a unit of that yarn or fabric and multiply that amount by your dollars-and-cents difference (determined according to the instructions in subparagraphs (1) to (5) below) between the "base period" unit cost and the "terminal" unit cost of that grade of wool, kind of wool waste, and manufacturing material. Add together the increases (or decreases) you have calculated for wool, wool waste and manufacturing material to obtain the total cost-of-materials adjustment for a unit of that yarn or fabric.

(1) "Base period" cost. (i) Your base period unit cost of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material is the average net price per unit of wool, wool waste or manufacturing material shown on invoices for deliveries of such materials to you within thirty days prior to the end of your base period provided they were pursuant to contracts bearing firm prices entered into within sixty days prior to the end of your base period. You obtain this average net price by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the material during the 30-day period by the total number of units of the material delivered to you during such period.

(ii) If you had no deliveries of wool, wool waste or manufacturing material (other than wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material which you import directly from a seller not subject to the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization) during the 30 days prior to the end of your base period, you may use as the base period cost of that wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material, the highest price at which your customary source of supply delivered such material to a member of the class of purchaser in which you fall, within thirty days prior to the end of your base period provided such delivery was pursuant to a contract bearing a firm price entered into within sixty days prior to the end of your base period. If you had no deliveries of wool, wool waste, or manufacturing material, which you import directly from a seller not subject to the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization, during the thirty days prior to the end of your base period, you may use as the base period cost of that wool, wool waste or manufacturing material, the net price per unit of the material stipulated in the last written contract for the material which you entered into prior to the end of your base period, provided that it was entered into not more than sixty days prior thereto.

(2) "Terminal cost". (i) Your "terminal" unit cost of wool (other than cashmere, vicuna, camels hair, and wool used in the manufacture of carpet yarns) is the price for that wool established in Ceiling Price Regulation 35.

(ii) Your "terminal" unit cost of wool waste, cashmere, vicuna, camels hair, wool used in the manufacture of carpet yarns, and manufacturing material (other than purchased yarn and other than those materials which you import directly from a seller not subject to the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization) is the ceiling price on March 15, 1951, for sales of such commodities by your customary source of supply, under the regulation of the Office of Price Stabilization which is applicable to such sales.

(iii) Your "terminal" unit cost of purchased yarn is the ceiling price, under this regulation, for sales of such yarn by your customary source of supply.

(iv) Your "terminal" unit cost of the wool waste, cashmere, vicuna, camels hair, wool used in the manufacture of carpet yarns, and manufacturing material, which you import directly from a seller not subject to the regulations of the Office of Price Stabilization, is the average net price per unit of such material shown on invoices for deliveries of such material to you within thirty days prior to March 15, 1951, provided they were pursuant to contracts bearing firm prices entered into within sixty days prior to March 15, 1951. You obtain this average net price by dividing the net amount you paid for all deliveries of the material during the 30-day period by the total number of units of the material delivered to you during such period. If you had no deliveries of such wool waste, cashmere, vicuna, camels hair, wool used in the manufacture of carpet yarns, or such manufacturing material, during the thirty days prior to March 15, 1951, you may use as the "terminal" unit cost of such material, the net price per unit of the material stipulated in the last written contract for the material which you entered into prior to March 15, 1951, provided that it was entered into not more than sixty days prior thereto.

(3) If none of the foregoing is available to you for either or both the "base period" cost or "terminal" cost of wool, wool waste or manufacturing material, you may apply to the Consumer Soft Goods Division, Office of Price Stabilization, Washington 25, D. C., for an appropriate increase in the cost of the wool, wool waste, or manufacturing material for use in your calculations. If you make such an application, you must refer specifically to this paragraph and state why it is applicable; you must describe the yarn or fabric being priced and the material; you must propose the amount of increase per unit of the material you consider appropriate based upon increases you have been able to compute under this section 4 (b) for similar materials; you must set forth in detail supporting reasons for your proposed increase; and you must state the base period price of the yarn or fabric and the ceiling price you propose. You must file this application before using the increase you propose. Although you need not await a reply from the Director of Price Stabilization, he may at any time disapprove the increase you propose, stipulate the amount of increase which he will approve or request additional information.

(4) In computing your increase in the cost of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material, take waste credits according to your customary accounting procedure.

(5) If in a fabric you are pricing you use yarn which you spin yourself, you shall, in determining your materials cost adjustment for that fabric, use, instead of the difference in the "base period" and "terminal" cost of that yarn, the difference in the "base period" and "terminal" cost of the wool or wool waste used in that yarn.

(c) Labor cost adjustment. Find the increase between the end of your base period and March 1, 1951, in your cost of labor per unit of that yarn or fabric. This is your labor cost adjustment. If, for a particular yarn or fabric, you computed your material cost adjustment for wool on the basis of increases in the cost of wool top, you must compute your labor cost adjustment on the basis of increases in the cost of labor for converting top into a unit of that yarn or fabric.

(d) Total material and labor cost adjustment. Add together the material and labor cost adjustments you have calculated per unit of that yarn or fabric. This gives you your total material and labor cost adjustment.

SEC. 5. How to obtain your ceiling price. Add the total material and labor cost adjustment to the base period price of a unit of that yarn or fabric found in section 3. This gives you your ceiling price for a unit of that yarn or fabric to the same class of purchaser as the one which you used in determining your base period price. To this ceiling price apply the provisions of section 15 (conditions of sale and classes of purchaser). Before you deliver a yarn or fabric at a ceiling price fixed by this section, you must file the report required by section 21. An example of the method used in sections 3, 4 and 5 is set forth as Example A, following section 6.

CEILING PRICES FOR YARNS OR FABRICS SIMILAR TO THOSE DEALT IN BETWEEN JULY 1, 1949 AND JUNE 24, 1950

SEC. 6. How to determine your ceiling price for a yarn or fabric similar to one you sold or offered for sale between July 1, 1949, and June 24, 1950. (a) Sections 3, 4 and 5 tell you how to determine your ceiling price for a yarn or fabric which you dealt in between July 1, 1949, and June 24, 1950. You may wish to obtain a ceiling price for a yarn or fabric which, although not identical, is similar to one in which you dealt during that period. One yarn is similar to another, regardless of differences in color or put-up, if the first yarn is the same size or count as the second yarn and has a "terminal" cost (see section 4 (b) (2)) of wool, wool waste and manufacturing material which does not vary by more than 10 percent from the "terminal" cost of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material, of the second yarn. One fabric is similar to another, regardless of differences in color or pattern, if the first fabric has the same weave as the second fabric; contains the same total number of ends and picks per finished inch; the same yarn sizes; weight per yard; width and finish; and has a "terminal" cost of wool wool waste, and manufacturing material which does not vary by more than 10 percent from the "terminal" cost, of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material, of the second fabric.

(b) (1) To obtain a ceiling price for such a yarn or fabric take the ceiling price fixed in section 5 for the similar yarn or fabric in which you dealt between July 1, 1949, and June 24, 1950, and adjust that ceiling price by the dollars-and-cents difference in the "terminal costs" of materials in the two yarns or fabrics. This gives you your ceiling price for the same class of purchaser you used to establish your base period price for the similar yarn or fabric. To this ceiling price apply the provisions of section 15 (conditions of sale and classes of purchaser).

(2) If the "terminal" cost of materials of one varies by the following percentages from the "terminal" cost of materials of the second, you need not adjust the ceiling price of the similar yarn or fabric: Woolen yarns and fabrics, 4% or less; combination woolen and worsted yarns and fabrics, 3% or less; worsted yarns and fabrics, 2% or less. If, however, you avail yourself of this privilege you may not increase the ceiling price of the similar yarn or fabric to obtain ceiling prices for other yarns or fabrics in cases where the terminal costs of materials do not vary by more than the above stated percentages.

EXAMPLE B—EXAMPLE OF SECTION 6 COMPUTATION

1. Assume that you are making the same fabric as the above (Example A) except that whereas in June you used the raw material blend as given in the above example, you now are substituting 60's top for the 64's and 58's French rolls for 64's French rolls.
2. Compute the "terminal" cost of materials used as if the blend were exactly the same:
   - 0.665 pounds of 64's top @ $4.13 ---- $2.746
   - 0.275 pounds of 60's wool @ $3.29 ---- .905
   - 0.225 pounds of 64's French rolls @ $1.74 ---- .392
   - "Terminal" cost of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material ---- 4.043
3. Compute the "terminal" cost of materials which you are currently using or plan to use in the fabric.
   - 0.665 pounds of 60's top @ $4.00 ---- 2.660
   - 0.275 pounds of 60's wool @ $3.29 ---- .905
   - 0.225 pounds of 58's French rolls @ $1.46 ---- .329
   - "Terminal" cost of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material ---- 3.894
4. Difference between "terminal" cost, as figured in 2, above, and "terminal" cost actually used, as in 3 above. (Note that this variation is less than 10 percent but more than 3 percent of the blend cost) ---- .149
5. Subtract the $0.149 differential from the net ceiling price as shown in Example A (9) above ($5.636 - 0.149) and the ceiling price for this fabric is ---- 5.487
6. Adjust to round off to nearest 2½ cents, to take account of cash discount and discounts to such classes of purchasers as shown in Example A (10) through (12), above.

CEILING PRICES FOR YARNS OR FABRICS COMPARABLE TO THOSE DEALT IN BETWEEN JULY 1, 1949 AND JUNE 24, 1950

SEC. 7. General description of method. If you want to sell a yarn or fabric for which you cannot establish a ceiling price under section 5 or 6, but which is comparable to a yarn or fabric for which you can establish a ceiling price under section 5, your ceiling price for such yarn or fabric is determined by applying to the "computed cost" of the yarn or fabric you are pricing, the percentage markup over the "computed cost" of the comparable yarn or fabric (using the ceiling price under this revised regulation for the comparable yarn or fabric). This method is set forth in sections 8, 9 and 10.

SEC. 8. How to obtain your "computed" cost. Find the "terminal" cost (see section 4 (b) (2)) of wool, wool waste, and manufacturing material used in a unit of yarn or fabric. Add to this the cost of labor in a unit of that yarn or fabric, computed at March 1, 1951, wage rates. The result is the "computed cost" of that yarn or fabric.

SEC. 9. How to select a comparable yarn or fabric. (a) From yarns or fabrics in the same category as the yarn or fabric being priced, select those yarns or fabrics for which you can establish ceiling prices under section 5, and which are comparable to the yarn or fabric being priced. One yarn is comparable to another regardless of differences in color or put-up, if the first does not vary from the second in respect of size or count by more than 10 percent, and is manufactured from substantially the same blends of raw material. One fabric is comparable to another fabric, regardless of differences in weave, color or pattern, if the first is manufactured from substantially the same blends of raw material as the second, and does not vary from the second by more than 10 percent in respect of any of the following elements: the sum of ends and picks per finished inch; weight per finished yard; and yarn sizes.

(b) Of the comparable yarns or fabrics, the yarn or fabric to be used in pricing under this section shall be the first of the following which is available to you:

(1) A yarn or fabric you are presently manufacturing whose "computed cost" (see section 8) is the same as or lower than the "computed cost" of the yarn or fabric you are pricing;

(2) A yarn or fabric you are presently manufacturing whose "computed cost" is next higher than the "computed cost" of the yarn or fabric you are pricing.

SEC. 10. How to obtain your ceiling price. (a) Compute, in accordance with the method prescribed in sections 3, 4, 5, and 6, the ceiling price of the yarn or fabric you have selected under section 9 (b).

EXAMPLE A—EXAMPLE OF SECTION 5 COMPUTATIONS

1. Base period chosen for men's wear category ---- Apr 1–June 24 1950
2. Highest base period price per yard of 15 oz. worsted warp, wool-filled men's wear fabric (taken from a contract with a cutter), $3.85, with 2% cash discount ---- $3.773
3. Raw materials per unit
   - (i) 0.665 lb. 64's average top per finished yard.
   - (ii) 0.275 lb. 60's wool per finished yard.
   - (iii) 0.225 lb. 64's French rolls per finished yard.
   - Cost of 64's top per pound:
     - "Terminal" cost ---- 4.13
     - "Base period" cost ---- 2.35
     - Increase ---- 1.78
   - Cost of 60's wool per pound:
     - "Terminal" cost ---- 3.29
     - "Base period" cost ---- 1.70
     - Increase ---- 1.59
   - Cost of 64's French rolls per pound:
     - "Terminal" cost ---- 1.74
     - "Base period" cost ---- .97
     - Increase ---- .77
   - 5. Top cost increase per finished yard (.665 x $1.78) ---- 1.183
   - Wool cost increase per finished yard (.275 x $1.59) ---- .437
   - Rolls cost increase per finished yard (.225 x $0.77) ---- .173
   - Total cost of materials increase ---- 1.793
   - Increase in waste credits per yard between base period and date of computation[1] ---- 0.100
   - Total cost of materials increase adjusted for increase in waste credits ---- 1.693
6. Cost of labor per unit:
   - March 1, 1951 ---- .850
   - End of base period ---- .700
   - Cost of labor increase per unit ---- .150
7. Cost of other manufacturing materials per unit:
   - "Terminal" cost ---- .080
   - "Base period" cost ---- .060
   - Other manufacturing materials increase ---- .020
8. Total unit cost increase ---- 1.863
9. Net ceiling price before adjustment for cash discount ---- 5.636
10. New ceiling price to cutters before rounding off ---- 5.751
    (2% cash discount—5.636 .98)
11. Round off to nearest 2½ cents and new ceiling price to cutters is ---- [2] 5.750
12. Assume that you normally sell to jobbers at $0.05 discount off cutters' prices.
    New ceiling price to jobbers ---- [2] 5.700
